Denise,

I got this thread forwarded to me and I didn't see you on any of the emails.

I don't know if you need to take any action. It may just be an FYI.

Gents,
I'm confident that the brig is doing business the right way, but in order to demonstrate that to interested parties we need the following info:

1) Orders identifying/classifying Quantico as a PCF;
2) Orders (DoD, SecNav, MCO) defining mission/role of PCF; and
3) ACA Standards applicable to an PCF.

We will need help to analyze the difference between our standards and the ACA standards.

We are going to need this info ASAP to ensure we provide the proper standard of review for the Article 138 complaint that is headed to SecNav. LtCol Francis -- please get with CWO5 Galaviz on these items. Thanks again,
V/r,
VA

MajGen Ary, Sir, it is safe to safe that our facilities meet a majority, if not all of the ACA standards however, because the ACA has various levels of accreditation/certification (dependant on the mission of the facility) and the recent change of the Quantico's mission from a post-trial confinement facility to a strictly pre-trial facility we have not obtained the appropriate standards material from the ACA. It would be difficult at best for me to say what percentage of the ACA standards Quantico currently meets since accreditation requires compliance with close to 400+ individual standards. I wish I had a more definitive answer.

Sir, I will ask Abel to jump on this. From our discussions this morning I understand the process will be several months in duration, but I will let Abel chime in and provide better info...Abel has been through this process with some of our facilities...V/R Jan

Jan,
Thanks. The first email in this string noted that we do not have a copy of the ACA standards. I believe we need to see the current standards to determine whether our practices substantially comply with them. Can we get a current copy and do you know how long the accreditation process takes? Talk soon,
V/r,
VA

Sir,

Abel and I just came out of a hour and a half with Mr. Hogue and his folks in re Manning. Mr. Hogue is meeting this afternoon with the DOD COS. Part of those discussions centered on ACA accreditation and Quantico. In a nutshell, as you know, we do not have ACA accreditation for Quantico; however, the facility does meet or exceed most of the standards. We think it appropriate to begin pursuing that accreditation. This is something I will engage in a conversation with Dan Choike. Lots of other good ideas were generated which we need to share with all relevant parties.

I think some of those ideas are better discussed via telephone.

I need to put some stuff together, but will give you a call later this afternoon, if you are available.

V/R Jan

Jan,

Inquiries on Manning have turned to general inquiries on the Quantico brig. We're going to have to be ready to answer them.

The attached DODD and the SECNAVINST require that: "To the greatest extent possible, national accreditation standards issued by the American Correctional Association shall be followed in determining corrections policies and administering correctional facilities and functions."

According to the below email from CWO5 Galaviz, our facilities are not accredited and since they are not accredited, we do not maintain a copy of the ACA standards. In a quick review of the inquiries/reviews conducted by Maj Zelek and CWO5 Galaviz, I did not see a discussion of the ACA standards and how our treatment of Manning comports or departs from the ACA standards.

I have asked LtCol Francis to follow up on these issues to determine what standards we are using to defend the performance of the Quantico PCF. I believe we will need these answers ASAP given the interest in this case.

Talk soon,

Sir,

I just spoke to CWO5 Galaviz. He told me the closest DoD confinement facility that is ACA accredited is Norfolk.

Sir,

Attached are the documents you requested from PSL. The first attachment is Zelek's inquiry. The second is Galaviz response to the Art. 138 complaint. The third is the DoDD that directs that Quantico serve as the PTC facility for our region. The applicable paragraph is 4.7. According to Galaviz, Quantico is the PTC facility for all the military services in the NCR because there is no other DoD confinement facility near this area. The last attachment is the DON Corrections Manual.

Per the below, Quantico brig is not ACA certified and PSL does not possess the requested ACA manuals.

Sir, I will follow up this email with a phone call. Since the Quantico facility is not ACA accredited, there are no documents to support this. Additionally, because our facilities are not currently ACA accredited, we do not have copies of the updated Standards books requested in question (4).

CWO5 Galavis,

Just spoke to Col Ewers, DSJA to CMC. He received a recent RFI. He wanted me to locate the following things and get a copy:

1) Document that states Quantico is the consolidated brig for NCR;

2) The reviews that were done of the Quantico brig by Major Zelek and yourself in reaction to an Art. 138 complaint;

3) Document that indicates Quantico Brig is accredited with the American Correctional Association;

4) Copy of two Manuals listed on ACA website - (1) Adult Local Detention facilities and (2) Small Facilities.

Thanks.
