JOINT PERSONNEL RECOVERY CENTER

PART I. INTRODUCTION

A. (TS) BACKGROUND

 In this capacity, the JPRC would be the coordination authority and focal point for all post-SAR recovery matters.

B. (TS) SCOPE

1. Tied in to JPRC activities was the establishment of evasion and escape procedures, which were disseminated to all aircrews.

PART II. INCEPTION OF JPRC

~~A. (TS) COMMITTEE ON PRISONERS AND DETAINEES~~

In June 1965, the Embassy Mission Council in Saigon established a Committee on Prisoners and Detainees with membership composed of representatives from each element of the Country Mission Team. Under Embassy chairmanship, the Committee was given the primary responsibility for formulating policy recommendations and coordinating actions relating to US military prisoners and civilian detainees held by the Viet Cong^(VC) in South Vietnam. The Committee was also tasked to formulate policy recommendations to the Mission on the following additional categories of detained persons: US prisoners held by the Democratic Republic of Vietnam (DRV) in North Vietnam; and third country civilian detainees and military prisoners held by the VC in South Vietnam, except non-US civilians. The Committee was further tasked to initiate necessary liaison with Vietnamese authorities and to coordinate any necessary Mission action that might be required concerning US prisoners or detainees in third countries, specifically Laos.*

~~B. (TS) JOINT RECOVERY CENTER~~

1. (S) Acting on the recommendations of the Committee, and with the concurrence of the Mission Council, the Ambassador, General Maxwell Taylor, established a Joint Recovery Center (JRC), which would:

- a. Be manned by individuals provided by the Department of Defense (DOD), US Overseas Mission (USOM), US Information Service (USIS), the Embassy, and [REDACTED]
- b. Be directly responsible to the Ambassador for all operational matters.
- c. Coordinate operations in adjacent areas, particularly Laos, with the appropriate embassy or command.

2. (TS) In speaking to the DOD manning requirement for the JRC, the Ambassador indicated the need for 10 professionally qualified military representatives. Further, it was recommended that the DOD assign a USAF colonel having the technical qualifications and command experience as the JRC's Director.

3. (TS) The Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) requested that the Joint Chiefs of Staff take appropriate action to furnish the requested officer, if the Joint Chiefs of Staff concurred. The Joint Chiefs of Staff, in turn, requested comments and recommendations concerning command arrangements and designation of the JRC.* CINCPAC concurred in the establishment of a recovery center, manning and command arrangements, and the terms of reference. CINCPAC suggested the term JPRC be used to mean Joint Personnel Recovery Center since the term JRC was presently used to designate the Joint Reconnaissance Center (JRC) within the J-3 Directorate, Joint Chiefs of Staff.

4. (TS) Upon reviewing the prisoner recovery problem in Southeast Asia, COMUSMACV, in September 1965, indicated that, in close cooperation with the American Embassy [REDACTED] an aggressive program to determine the location of, and assist American prisoners held by the VC, the DRV, and the Pathet Lao had been initiated. With the concurrence of the American Embassy, COMUSMACV withdrew the request for appointment of a Director for the JRC indicating that the officer would be provided from available personnel.

C. (TS) JOINT PERSONNEL RECOVERY CENTER (JPRC)

1. (TS) During an evasion and escape (E&E) planning conference at CINCPAC Headquarters in December 1965, a recommendation was made that a recovery center be established in Southeast Asia which would include personnel recovery operations after search and rescue (SAR) efforts had been terminated. It was visualized, by CINCPAC, that the functions of the JRC, then operating in Vietnam, would be absorbed within this new organization. A general concept of a possible arrangement for post-SAR recovery operations envisioned by CINCPAC would be as follows:

a. Recovery operations would involve forces and/or activities varied both as to parent organization and location. The locale of recovery operations might include South Vietnam, North Vietnam and Laos. Therefore, to maximize the effectiveness of such operations, COMUSMACV would be designated as coordinating authority for post-SAR matters.

b. COMUSMACV would establish a Personnel Recovery Center to aid in his coordination authority role. The center would serve as a focal point for the collection and collation of all information and intelligence bearing on personnel recovery, and would plan and coordinate the operational aspects of recovery/assistance of US/Allied personnel detained/held prisoner by, or evading enemy forces.

c. Actual conduct of recovery operations would continue to be a function of the department/agency or Service component to which forces engaged in specific recovery operations were assigned.

d. Diplomatic arrangements for exchange of prisoners and release of personnel would continue to be a function of the State Department.

2.(TS) CINCPAC requested comments from COMUSMACV on the possible arrangement outlined above, and submission of proposed terms of reference (TOR) for the Center. CINCPAC indicated that the TOR should recognize the requirement for appropriate coordination with the various US Chiefs of Mission and with the representatives of US departments and agencies within the Mission. Further, the TOR should also recognize Commander-in-Chief, Pacific Air Force (CINCPACAF) functions and responsibilities for SAR matters, as established by

CINCPAC INSTRUCTION 3130.10 of 25 June 1965 and the functions of the Southeast Asia SAR Center which CINCPAC directed be established in March 1966.*

3. (TS) The terms of reference, pertaining to the establishment of a JPRC, proposed by COMUSMACV and coordinated with the 7th Air Force, and the US Embassy, Saigon, were as follows:

"a. PURPOSE: The purpose of the JPRC is to establish a capability within MACV Studies and Observations Group (MACSOG) for personnel recovery operations subsequent to termination of search and rescue (SAR) efforts.

"b. RESPONSIBILITIES: MACSOG will be responsible for operating the JPRC, for collating intelligence data pertaining to detained/missing personnel recovery planning, and for conducting operations related to the recovery of US and allied personnel detained by unfriendly forces within SEASIA.

"c. FUNCTIONS:

"(4) Performs liaison and coordination with US and allied Departments and Agencies to insure maximum utilization of available resources and to achieve minimum reaction time for launching recovery operations.

"(5) Monitors and coordinates operations with agencies external to MACSOG during execution of approved plans.

"d. FORCES:

"(1) Primary forces for recovery operations will be those assigned to MACSOG; however, these forces will be augmented by MACV component forces as required for specific operations.

"(2) If US forces, in addition to those currently under MACV control, are required for recovery operations, they will be requested from CINCPAC. If feasible, they will be placed under operational control of MACSOG for the operations.

"(3) If cases arise in which the use of MACSOG or MACV component forces are not advisable, the use of indigenous forces is indicated, and MACV is tasked to accomplish the mission, MACSOG would act as the coordinating authority for MACV. Advice and assistance will be furnished by MACSOG as requested and appropriate.

"e. RELATIONSHIPS:

"(1) The JPRC will function as an element of MACSOG, under the command and control of COMUSMACV.

"(2) Areas of operation and appropriate coordinating agencies are as follows:

"(a) South Vietnam: coordination affected with USEMB, Saigon.

"(b) Laos: Coordination affected with USEMB, Bangkok and approved by USEMB, Vientiane and CINCPAC prior to initiation of operations.

"(c) North Vietnam and Cambodia: Coordination with USEMB, Bangkok or USEMB, Saigon and approved by CINCPAC prior to initiation of operations.

"(d) Red China: Not envisaged at this state of development."

In providing CINCPAC with the above proposed TOR, COMUSMACV noted that as of 15 June 1966, a total of 315 personnel, predominantly US were either detained or missing. COMUSMACV further indicated that the rising total from 22 in 1964 to 172 in 1965 and to the mid-June 1966 figure of 315 personnel illustrated the rapid increase resulting from expanded US and allied operations.

4. (TS) In September 1965, the Joint Chiefs of Staff approved the following terms of reference as proposed by CINCPAC and concurred in by the American Embassies in Bangkok, Vientiane and Saigon:

"...Terms of Reference

"a. PURPOSE: The purpose of the JPRC is to establish a capability within COMUSMACV for personnel recovery operations subsequent to termination of search and rescue (SAR) effort. COMUSMACV is designated the coordinating authority for post-SAR recovery matters in South Vietnam, North Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand.

"b. FUNCTIONAL RESPONSIBILITY: COMUSMACV will be responsible for operation of the JPRC, which will perform the following functions:

"(5) Coordinate and establish liaison with US and allied departments and agencies to insure maximum utilization of available resources and to achieve minimum reaction time for launching recovery operations.

"(6) Monitor and coordinate operations with agencies external to COMUSMACV during execution of approved plans.

"c. FORCES: Primary forces for recovery operations will be those assigned to COMUSMACV.

"(1) If US forces in addition to those currently under COMUSMACV operational control are required for recovery operations, supporting forces will be requested from CINCPAC. CINCPAC will specify command and control arrangements at the time arrangements at the time supporting forces are designated.

"(2) In cases where indigenous forces are utilized, COMUSMACV will act as the coordinating authority and provide advice and assistance as requested and appropriate.

"d. COMMAND RELATIONSHIPS:

"(1) The JPRC will function as an element under the command and operational control of COMUSMACV.

"(2) Areas of operation and appropriate coordinating agencies are as follows:

"(a) South Vietnam: Recovery operations will be coordinated with the American Embassy, Saigon prior to initiation.

"(b) Laos: Recovery operations will be coordinated with the American Embassy, Saigon and American Embassy, Vientiane and approved by CINCPAC prior to initiation.

"(c) Thailand: Recovery operations entering Thai airspace, staging from or through Thailand, or utilizing Thailand based forces will be coordinated with the American Embassy, Bangkok prior to initiation.

"(d) North Vietnam and Cambodia: Recovery operations will be coordinated with the American Embassy Saigon and approved by CINCPAC prior to initiation. Coordination with American Embassy Vientiane will be effected when overflight of Laos if involved.

"(e) Communist China: Not envisioned at this time."

CINCPAC, in providing authority and guidance to COMUSMACV in establishing the JPRC, requested their plans for early activation of the center in accordance with the above TOR."

D. (TS) JPRC ACTIVATION

1. (TS) The JPRC was established on a temporary basis within MACSOG, by COMUSMACV on 29 August 1966, and officially activated on 17 September 1966 upon receipt of the authority message from CINCPAC. [REDACTED] on temporary additional duty from the 13th Air Force, initially served as Chief, JPRC. Upon activation, the following personnel were assigned to the center:

Grade	Title
O6	Chief, JPRC
O4	[REDACTED]
O4	Operations & Plans Officer
E5	[REDACTED]
E5	Clerk-Typist
E3	Clerk-Typist

2. (TS) Early in September 1966, the JPRC effected coordination and established a communications link with the Joint Search and Rescue Center (JSARC) and the 7th Air Force for the purpose of having these activities forward to the JPRC all pertinent data on downed airmen and results of SAR efforts. This data would then be closely monitored by the JPRC to determine if and when MACSOG or other assets could be utilized in recovery operations.

3. (TS) COMUSMACV determined, that, as a separate staff element of MACSOG, the JPRC would be responsible [REDACTED] to insure complete utilization of all CINCPAC resources and capabilities. Any initial conceptual planning would be the responsibility of the JPRC, and when MACSOG resources were utilized in recovery operations, the operational planning and execution would be the responsibility of the MACSOG Staff. Further, operational control and execution would be performed in the same manner as other MACSOG operations. When other than MACSOG resources were used to effect recovery, operational control would be as prescribed by the TOR.

PART III. JPRC HISTORY - 1966

A. ~~(TS)~~ JPRC ACTIVATION

1. (TS) On 22 September 1966, COMUSMACV sent a message of notification of activation of the JPRC to military and State Department agencies operating within the CINCPAC area of responsibility. The message stated that the purpose of the JPRC was to establish a capability within MACV for personnel recovery operations subsequent to termination of SAR effort. Further, it would also serve as the coordination authority and focal point for all post-SAR recovery matters in South Vietnam, North Vietnam, Laos, Cambodia and Thailand. COMUSMACV listed the following functions that the JPRC would perform:

d. Prepare basic operational procedures and plans for the recovery or assistance of detained US or allied personnel.

e. Coordinate and establish liaison with US and Allied departments and agencies to insure maximum utilization of available resources, and to achieve minimum reaction time for launching recovery operations.

f. Monitor and coordinate operations with agencies external to MACV during execution of approved plans.

2. ~~(TS)~~ COMUSMACV requested all message addressees to forward to Headquarters, MACV, JPRC by the most expeditious method, and on a continuing basis, all data pertaining to missing or detained personnel in Southeast Asia.*

* ~~(TS)~~ COMUSMACV Msg, 220938Z Sept 1966

~~TOP SECRET~~

3. (TS) COMUSMACV also advised the major military commands 1 under MACV of the activation of the JPRC, and indicated that the 2 nickname BRIGHT LIGHT had been assigned for JPRC messages. 3 For the JPRC to accomplish its purpose, COMUSMACV requested 4 the following data be passed to the JPRC by the most expeditious 5 means. 6

- a. Information concerning missing and/or captured personnel. 7
- b. Alleged or confirmed locations of prisoner of war (POW) 8 camps or holding areas. 9
- c. Information which would indicate the policies of any 10 of the hostile forces toward the handling of Allied prisoners. 11

Subordinate commands were also apprised of means by which they could 12 communicate directly with the center, and COMUSMACV directed that 13 no element of the command would initiate operations designed solely 14 or primarily for the release of captured personnel without coordination 15 and approval of the JPRC.* 16

F. (TS) POLITICAL RESTRICTIONS ON RECOVERY OPERATIONS

1. (TS) A problem area was noted by COMUSMACV, in November 1966, relative to the amount of coordination required when conducting cross-border recovery operations. An example was given of an operation which involved an airman downed in Laos which required recovery teams to be staged through an Air Base located in Thailand. It was felt that the time required to effect coordination with the American Embassies in Saigon, Vientiane, and Bangkok, and also CINCPAC in order to launch a cross-border recovery seriously limited the capability of the JPRC to respond promptly. It was further noted that the blanket authority granted by CINCPAC to conduct operations for evading or escaped airmen in NVN without prior CINCPAC approval would help alleviate this situation.*

2. (TS) The following specific recovery operation is cited to illustrate the impediments to immediate reaction and restrictions in the use of MACV recovery assets occasioned by the system of coordination required.

→ "a. On 23 September 1966, the JPRC was advised that a beeper signal was heard in the Lactian panhandle area. Although voice contact could not be established, instructions to turn off the beeper were promptly complied with on two occasions. The location of the beeper and time frame of the signal correlated most closely with a [REDACTED] who went down in this general vicinity on 12 September. On 24 September, the JPRC requested the area be visually searched by low level, prop driven aircraft. That night a strobe light was reported in the vicinity of the previously reported beeper signal.

"b. The American Embassy, Laos, was queried on 24 September concerning [REDACTED]

(TS) COMUSMACV Msg, 011138Z Nov 1966

~~TOP SECRET~~

"c. [REDACTED]

"d. In addition to the excessive delay, the [REDACTED] search conducted [REDACTED] pointed out these weaknesses in the planning and conduct of the operation: ←

"(1) All the team members [REDACTED]. Also, the search team made contact with local villagers, and questioned them concerning the downed airman. This seems particularly unwise for two reasons:

"(a) It alerted the local populace to the possibility that a US airman might be down in the area.

"(b) If [REDACTED] were observing the team from hiding, this act could only reinforce any idea he might have had that there were unfriendly forces. It is entirely possible that [REDACTED] might have seen the search team, but successfully evaded it in the belief that it was composed of unfriendly forces. ←

"(2) The search team committed by the American Embassy, Laos was not specifically trained in search/recovery operations. The team MACV had in standby status had been specifically trained to perform this function. The upshot was that a team [REDACTED]

"(3) While the loyalty of the search team used in this operation is not being questioned, it seems unlikely that it could be as highly motivated as a team led by elite US personnel searching for a fellow countryman.

"(4) Finally, the American Embassy, Laos, took cognizance of the fact that the pilot might be hiding and refusing to expose himself until he saw an occidental face. On 1 October, COMUSMACV received a message from the Embassy suggesting that a team led by US personnel be dispatched for a final search. In light of the amount of time which had elapsed since any signal had been received, plus the search activities which had been conducted in the area, COMUSMACV felt it was highly unlikely that the airman would still be in this vicinity and the team was not dispatched.

"e. It may never be known conclusively whether [REDACTED] or indeed any US airman, was in fact down at this location. By the same token it will never be known whether or not the MACV search team was successful. However, it seems apparent that the best resources available were not used in this operation. This is difficult to countenance where the lives of American airman might be at stake." ←

"(TS) MACSOG Supplemental Data Sheet, Subj: Political Restrictions on Military Cross-Border Operations, dated 8 October 1966

~~Q. (TS) OPERATIONS, 1966~~

1. (TS) Upon activation in September 1966, the JPRC immediately commenced recovery operations. Generally speaking, these operations took one of two forms. One was the raid-type operation against known or suspected enemy prisoner of war (POW) camps. The other type of operation conducted by the center involved the search of an area where personnel who were evading, or who had escaped, were known or strongly suspected to be hiding.*

2. (TS) In October 1966, JCS stated a need for current and timely E&E and PW information. CINCPAC, in turn, requested that COMUSMACV prepare a weekly message BRIGHT LIGHT report to cover activities to that date. For the purposes of future analysis, a chronology of recovery operations and other related incidents reported by the JPRC during 1966 follows. The information provided is taken directly from the weekly MACV BRIGHT LIGHT message reports which were prepared by the JPRC.

a. Operations, 17 September-31 October 1966

(1) First Recovery Operation

(a) On 24 September, SAR notified the JPRC that US planes had heard and fixed a beeper at [REDACTED] on the morning of 23 September. They advised that the area had been searched with negative results and that they were suspending their efforts. JPRC, after evaluation and collation of all available data on aircrew members down in the vicinity, determined beeper transmission could have been F-105 pilot, USAF [REDACTED] reported downed 12 September, at a point approximately 45 nm north of reported beeper fix.

(2) JPRC requested that a low-level visual reconnaissance be flown the night of 24 September. The mission was flown and a strobe observed for approximately four to five seconds.

(3) A BRIGHT LIGHT team was immediately alerted and approval to launch the team requested from CINCPAC, AMEMB Vientiane and AMEMB Bangkok, as it was planned that the team would be launched from Nakhon Phanom. Approval was received from CINCPAC and AMEMB Bangkok, but AMEMB Vientiane denied approval to launch team stating that they had resources capable of performing operation.

(4) AMEMB Vientiane launched search team on 26 September. Search continued until 3 October with negative results. Operation terminated as of this date.

b. Second Recovery Operation

(1) On 29 September, an F-4C was reported downed at [REDACTED]. One pilot was recovered by SAR and the other pilot's parachute was in sight, but the pilot had not been recovered. On 30 September, SAR notified the JPRC and requested assistance.

(2) After securing necessary approval, a BRIGHT LIGHT team was launched. The body of [REDACTED] was recovered at approximately 011635H October 1966. The body was recovered at [REDACTED] which is in NVN rather than at [REDACTED] as reported, which is in Laos.

(3) Pilot's death apparently caused by fall of approximately 100 feet when he released himself from parachute harness during the night of 29 September.

c. Operation CANASTA 572

(1) At 120149Z October 1966, a Navy A-1 call sign, CANASTA 572 was downed in the vicinity of [REDACTED]. Voice contact was made with the pilot and his exact location determined, but rescue efforts on 13 and 14 October were not successful due to the fact that some enemy were in the area, and to inability to get sling to pilot through heavy foliage. JPRC was called for assistance on 14 October.

~~TOP SECRET~~

(2) A BRIGHT LIGHT team was readied and launched that evening. It arrived on the carrier, INTREPID, at approximately midnight and was prepared to launch at first light, 15 October. Weather on 15 October was such that it was not feasible to launch the operation.

(3) The team was helo-lifted to the area of the downed airman and landed at a point approximately 800 meters from his last known location at 160930H Oct. Plan was to sweep toward pilot in skirmish formation. At a point approximately 100 meters from target, team encountered a large trail under jungle canopy. This trail was taken under surveillance. After approximately 15 minutes, an NVN uniformed patrol, obviously engaged in search, approached the team to within 10 meters and the team leader thought they had been detected. The patrol was engaged and all four members were killed. As team was compromised, team leader requested exfiltration.

(4) During exfiltration, one helicopter was hit by ground fire and eventually lost. Three team members (one US, two VN) were wounded when the helicopter was hit. Wounds were not serious.

(5) Electronic and visual search of the area was continued for several days with negative results.

d. Operation CRIMSON TIDE

(1) On 30 August 1966, a 17 year old VC rallied to Chieu Hoi. Interrogation revealed that on 25 August 1966, he had observed an American Negro prisoner being held by the VC. He gave a detailed description of the location of the prison site. Aerial photography of the area was requested and flown, but yielded nothing conclusive. The rallier was reinterrogated on 28-29 September, and based on information acquired in this interrogation, low-level photography was requested. AF combat cameraman, using hand-held camera from O-1 aircraft, obtained excellent photographs. On 9 October 1966, the photos were flown to photographs. On 9 October 1966, the photos were flown to

Can Tho and shown to the rallier, who positively identified the prison area. The rallier agreed to a polygraph test, which was administered on 11 October. Results of the test indicated rallier probably was telling the truth. Final arrangements were made with the Senior Corps Advisor to conduct a raid.

(2) On 18 October, a company-sized recovery force was heliborne to the prison site. Contact with the VC was made, but no US personnel were recovered. Interrogation of two VC seized during the raid produced no information concerning US prisoners.

(3) Inasmuch as source accompanied the raiding force and accurately pointed out fortifications and areas where booby traps were located, it appears he was telling the truth.

e. Operation SWITCH-I

(1) On 12 October, JPRC received a spot report to the effect that a Vietnamese woman had escaped from a VC prison camp at approximately 112300H October. She reported that this camp contained eight Americans and 22 ARVN prisoners. On 13 October, JPRC received TALK QUICK request from G-2, I PFORCEV, requesting authority to launch a recovery operation utilizing a Special Forces B team and elements of the 1st Cavalry Division. Authority was granted and a member of the JPRC was sent to Phu Cat to monitor the operation.

(2) Upon arriving at Phu Cat, JPRC representative found that information which 1st Cavalry Division had concerning camp was considerably different than that originally received by JPRC. Deputy Division Commander also said that JPRC-trained forces should be used for the operation rather than 1st Cavalry forces.

(3) JPRC is of the opinion that information presently available is far too incomplete and contradictory to justify recovery operation. J-2 assistance in obtaining additional information was requested. Information obtained indicates that prisoners are not now at reported location, if indeed, they ever were. It seems highly doubtful that this operation will materialize.

f. Operation SWAP

(1) On 13 October 1966, G-2 III MAP advised that a Catholic priest near Hue had been contacted by the VC regarding possibility of exchanging two American prisoners held by them for a VC Captain and a VC Lieutenant. JPRC contacted AMEMB Saigon, and it was decided that it would be desirable to secure VC officers for the exchange from prisoners recently captured by US forces and not yet turned over to ARVN control. G-2 at I FFORCEV was contacted and asked to screen prisoners from Operation IRVING for possible VC officers who could be used in the exchange. They indicated shortly thereafter that two such prisoners had been located, and G-2 III MAP was instructed to proceed with negotiations.

(2) When JPRC received details on prisoners selected by I FFORCEV, they were found not to be suitable. After consulting the AMEMB Saigon and MACV PM, it was decided to task J-2 with providing appropriate enemy prisoners. They currently are trying to locate same.

(3) The priest has been contacted and indicates he has been in contact with the VC, who have clarified their terms for the exchange. The priest says he would like to have the negotiations handled by the ICRC wa word of his participation has leaked and he feels his life might be in danger. AMEMB Saigon was contacted and advised that ICRC participation was not possible. This word has been passed to the field. JPRC has advised intelligence officers in the field to try to keep the negotiations open until suitable prisoners for an exchange can be located.

The [REDACTED] has arranged a meeting with the priest for 31 October. Future of this operation is very much in doubt.

g. Operation RIP TIDE

(1) On 16 September, a Vietnamese source reported that he knew the location of three American being held prisoner on a sampan just inside the Cambodian border. The squad leader who is in charge of the prison guard is the source's brother-in-law according to the source and is interested in defecting. Source stated he was willing to go back to prison boat and bring out further proof of the fact that Americans are being held there.

(2) On 17 September, representative of JPRC met with source, and gave source a letter to take to prisoners and a small camera with which to take prisoners' pictures. Source departed for prison boat that day. During period following source's departure from Saigon, the area in which the prison boat purportedly is located was heavily flooded making travel in that region extremely difficult.

(3) Aerial photography of the area described by source was requested and has been flown. A boat which answers description provided by source has been located on photographs approximately one kilometer inside the Cambodian border.

(4) On 12 October, source alleges he received camera containing pictures of prisoners as well as letters from prisoners from his brother-in-law, the VC squad leader in charge of the prison guard. Source further alleges that as he was departing the area where these items were passed to him, he was challenged by two VC who had followed him. They threw a grenade in his boat, which sank along with camera and letters, according to source. Source was wounded in leg, but managed to escape and ultimately was hospitalized at Can Tho.

(5) Source was contacted [REDACTED] shortly after being discharged from the hospital. He provided all information at his disposal concerning prison camp, but stated he did not feel he should attempt contact with his brother-in-law again. He stated, however, that perhaps contact could be established with the VC squad leader through his, the source's, mother-in-law. He stated VC squad leader was still interested in defecting.

(6) Another letter to the prisoners has been prepared. At the present time, an attempt is being made to place this letter in the hands of source's mother-in-law.

h. Operation FIRST LETTER

(1) On 26 October, JPRC was notified by CB III MAF that aerial photo taken on 25 October revealed an extended parachute with the [REDACTED] nearby. Comparative photography taken 13 October, revealed no evidence of either parachute or letter. Position of sighting was approximately one kilometer north of the DMZ.

(2) A BRIGHT LIGHT team was alerted and SAR was asked to perform visual reconnaissance of the area. Two SAR A-1s, accompanied by one BRIGHT LIGHT team member, performed visual reconnaissance for two hours. Negative sightings were made, and the mission terminated when one of the aircraft received 15 hits from automatic weapons fire in the search area.

(3) Further efforts have been suspended pending additional indications that airmen might be evading in the area. At present time, this is considered unlikely.

1. Operation SHARK

(1) At approximately 1810H, 27 October, an F-105 went down in the [REDACTED]. A forward air controller working in the area in conjunction with a SHINING BRASS operation established voice contact with the downed airman.

(2) A radio message was sent to Dak To requesting helicopter be sent for a recovery operation. Two UH-1B gunships and one armed helicopter were dispatched.

(3) The pilot was located when he fired three pen gun flares. Utilizing his landing light, the unarmed UH-1B picked the pilot up at approximately 1900 hours.

(4) The helos returned and landed at Dak To. The recovered pilot was then flown to Pleiku in an O-1E aircraft.

(5) No contact with enemy forces was made during the recovery operation. The operation was carried out in coordination with the SAR mission commander in the Crown aircraft.

4. (TS) Recovery Operations, 1-9 Nov 1966*

a. Operation SWITCH-I. Further efforts have been suspended pending receipt of additional information concerning possible location of US prisoners.

b. Operation SWAP

(1) On 31 October 1966, the Catholic priest was interviewed. He was advised that his efforts were appreciated and he would be given names of VC prisoners as soon as they could be obtained. The priest stated he will continue to try and do his best to obtain the release of the Americans.

(2) It appears the channel for a possible exchange remains open; however, it is doubtful that Province Officials have authority to exchange prisoners. The J-2 is having difficulty locating suitable VC prisoners.

c. Operation RIP TIDE. A Vietnamese source departed Saigon in an attempt to give another letter to the mother-in-law (ML) of the VC squad leader. Source reports ML is afraid to carry the letter to the wife of the VC, who lives in Cambodia. Efforts now being made to have wife travel to SVN to obtain letter and give it to her husband, the VC squad leader. It is not yet known if the wife will agree to give her husband the letter.

d. Operation FIRST LETTER. No additional evidence has been received to indicate that airmen may be evading in the area. This operation was terminated.

e. Operation CANASTA 572. Operation CANASTA was terminated.

f. Fourth Recovery Operation. On 8 November, an observation aircraft was downed by hostile fire in SVN. Observer was recovered by SAR. He reported PAC was dead. On 9 November, 7th Air Force requested an attempt be made to recover the body. On that date, body was recovered by a SHINING BRASS recovery team.

g. Operation DOUBLE TALK. Interrogation of a rallier on 1 November indicated nothing of JPRC interest; however, reinterrogation on 7 November indicated alleged current location of several US prisoners. Observation flight on 9 November did not confirm the suspected area. Attempt will again be made on 10 November to locate the area. If this observation confirms the rallier's data, JPRC will assume planning and coordination action soonest.

5. () Recovery Operations, 10-13 Nov 1966

a. Operation SNAP

- (1) On 10 November 1966, the Hue [REDACTED] submitted the names of two VC prisoners as possible candidates for the prisoner exchange being negotiated by the Catholic priest. Review of background of these prisoners indicates they meet qualifications as laid down by VC who have been in contact with priest.
- (2) VC prisoners currently being held by 1st ARVN Division who have agreed to hold them only until 17 November.
- (3) JPRC advised Hue [REDACTED] to contact Catholic priest soonest and provide him names and background of VC prisoners.

- (4) Deputy Senior Advisor, I Corps was instructed to contact 1st ARVN Division and attempt to make arrangements for them to retain prisoners beyond 17 November date, if exchange negotiations continue beyond that date.

c. Operation DOUBLE TALK

(1) Rallier was reinterviewed on 12 November. A trained photo interpreter was on hand to assist in pinpointing location of POW camps from aerial photos. Although results not entirely conclusive, enough positive identification of land marks obtained to look promising.

(2) On 14 November, a request was made to 7th Air Force for both low-level aerial photography with a hand held camera and medium-level strip photography of suspected POW camp area. Both of these missions have been fragged and will be flown as soon as weather permits.

(3) Arrangements have been made to have rallier undergo polygraph examination.

d. Operation LATE NIGHT

(1) On 10 November, JPRC notified by 1st Bde 101st Abn Div that three former VC prisoners had been recovered at

[REDACTED]

(2) Interrogation of one former detainee disclosed that he had been held prisoner at a camp located two to six kilometers southwest of the point where he was taken into custody by US troops. He stated that the camp contained 115 to 180 prisoners and was guarded by 10 to 30 VC. He volunteered to lead US forces to the camp.

(3) 1st Bde requested permission to exploit this information and permission was granted verbally by TALK QUICK on 10 November and by message on 11 November. Additionally, JPRC provided information on all holdings concerning prison camps in that vicinity.

(4) In view of large number of prisoners allegedly being held in this camp, it is thought highly unlikely that American POWs being detained there. If evidence of US prisoners develops, however, have requested that JPRC be notified soonest in order that representative may be sent to observe operation.

a. Operation SWAP

(1) This operation received a major setback when the two VC prisoners selected as candidates for the exchange, escaped from 1st ARVN Division custody on the night of 13 November.

(2) Messages were immediately dispatched to the G-2's of I FFORCEV and the III MAP to be on the alert for VC captives in their areas of operation who might be suitable subjects for the proposed prisoner exchange. These VC prisoners, when and if located and identified, are to remain in US custody throughout the period of negotiations.

b. Operation RIP TIDE. No new developments since last report. A status report from the person who acts as intermediary between JPRC and the VC squad leader's wife is expected soon.

c. Operation DOUBLE TALK

(1) The rallier reporting the prison camp information underwent a polygraph examination on 16 November. Polygraph results show no deception indicated.

(2) The aerial photography of the suspected prison camp area which was requested on 14 November was not flown during the reporting period due to persistent bad weather in that area. The photo missions have been fraggged, however, and will be flown at the first opportunity.

d. Operation LATE NIGHT

(1) On 15 November, the 1st Bde, 101st Abn Division informed the JPRC that their forces had overrun a sizeable deserted VC prison camp in the vicinity of [REDACTED]. The prison camp had been very hastily abandoned as evidenced by the fact that weapons, foodstuffs and medical supplies were left behind by the fleeing VC.

H. (TS) JPRC EVALUATION, 1966

1. (TS) During the period 1-13 November 1966, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] a member of the Special Operations Division, Special Assistant for Counterinsurgency and Special Activities, Joint Chiefs of Staff, made an inspection trip to Vietnam. One of the purposes of the inspection was to assess the operational status of the JPRC. Following the trip, in a Memorandum for the Record, he made the following observations concerning the status of the JPRC:

a. The JPRC was operating as a major component of MACSOG, and reporting to COMUSMACV through MACSOG. The Center was located in MACSOG Headquarters in Saigon, and the organizational location of the Center seemed to be both logical and efficient since much [REDACTED] was derived from MACSOG resources, and the bulk of the operational forces which were being used to assist in personnel recovery were assigned to MACSOG.

b. The Center was serving as the primary focal point for [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] In turn, MACSOG recommended action by exant MACSOG resources to COMUSMACV. No target had been found against which resources outside of MACSOG were required. If such a target developed in the future, COMUSMACV could directly assess deployed US units with the mission, under such command and control arrangements as were deemed appropriate.

c. It is imperative that reaction time be held to the absolute minimum if successful recovery operations involving escape or evading personnel are to be conducted. When recovery operations are mere extensions of SAR efforts, it would appear the the JPRC (COMUSMACV) should have the authority to conduct recovery operations without prior approval from the various Embassies. The regional approach, involving timely coordination, is not acceptable for operations designed to recover the evadee or escapee. "

~~TOP SECRET~~

5. (TS) Aircrew Briefings. As a continuing policy in 1967, JPRC representatives presented 26 briefings on the JPRC mission, organization and personnel recovery capabilities to Aircrews and E&E personnel attached to the 7th Air Force, 7th Fleet, and Army aviation groups operating in SEASIA.*

6. (TS) [REDACTED]

C. (TS) REWARD PROGRAM

1. (TS) Acting on a proposal submitted by the JPRC, CINCPAC in April 1967 recommended that the Joint Chiefs of Staff approve a Reward Money Program for the recovery and return of missing US personnel in Laos and NVN. It was envisioned that the Reward Money Program would supplement the current Blood Chit Program then in effect in SEASIA. (The Blood Chit is a small cloth chart depicting an American flag and a statement printed in several languages to the effect that anyone assisting the bearer to safety will be rewarded.)

2. (TS) Essentially, the Reward Program offered immediate monetary rewards to any person in Laos or NVN who, in any way, helped US airmen or other missing personnel. This help would range from actually returning US airmen to friendly control, to providing information or other evidence which would reveal the status or disposition of US missing persons. The amount of money to be offered would be determined by the JPRC after reviewing the facts concerning each recovery but would be limited to a maximum of $2,000 to be paid to Laotians and a maximum of $5,000 to be paid to Vietnamese. Proposed reward scales for Laos/NVN were:

A. $2,000/$5,000 for returning a US missing person to friendly control.

b. $250/$500 for providing information leading to the recovery of missing US personnel by friendly forces.

c. $200/$400 for returning a deceased US missing person to friendly control.

d. $160/$250 for providing information which would lead to the recovery of a deceased US missing person.

e. $100/150 for providing information, or returning equipment, which revealed the disposition or status of missing US personnel.

3. (TS) As envisioned by CINCPAC, the program would be widely publicized by the use of leaflets and radio broadcasts from the Voice of Freedom and the Voice of America. The psychological objectives of this program were to induce the inhabitants in various areas of Laos and NVN to support the program by helping downed airmen and missing persons to return to friendly control, and to furnish information and to return equipment or other evidence revealing the status of US missing persons and which led to their recovery by friendly forces.*

4. (TS) The Joint Chiefs of Staff, upon approving the program in June 1967; further approved a recommendation that it include Cambodia as well as Laos and NVN.*

5. (TS) MACV-PD and JUSPAA developed leaflets to disseminate information on the reward program, and in July and August 36 million of these leaflets were dropped from aircraft in NVN and 3.5 million were dropped in Laos. In October, an additional two million revised leaflets were dropped in NVN. In December, the Royal Laotian Government denied the United States permission to use a Laotian language reward leaflet. The reason given for the denial was that such a leaflet would acknowledge US presence in Laos which might be exploited by the opposition and produce "psychological shock" among Lao troops who would compare rewards for Americans with efforts expended for their own recovery. At the end of 1967, two other leaflet programs were under development; one for the Vietnamese-Cambodian border, and one for selected areas in SVN. Tab 3 is an English Version of leaflet prepared for SVN.

6. (TS) Rewards were paid to the following individuals in 1967 in accordance with the provisions of the Reward Program:

a. Two Montagnard villagers near Pleiku for assisting [REDACTED] in returning to US control after he survived the crash of an OH-23 helicopter on 8 September.

b. A Chieu Hoi, [REDACTED] a former VC interrogator, was rewarded for identifying [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] as prisoners of the VC.

c. A reward was paid to four Vietnamese fishermen who recovered and returned to US control the body of a member of the 199th Light Infantry Brigade who had drowned during a combat operation.

~~D. (TS) FULTON RECOVERY SYSTEM~~

1. (TS) In February 1967, the JPRC conducted exercises employing the Fulton Recovery System (SKYHOOK) in order to determine if this retrieval system would give the Center a capability of recovering personnel in denied areas in which recoveries had not previously been attempted.

2. (TS) Encouraged by the demonstrated capabilities of the System, the Center initiated a briefing program on the use of the SKYHOOK to aircrews in SEASIA. At the same time, Fulton Recovery Kits were prepositioned for subsequent delivery by high performance aircraft to downed aircrews.

3. (TS) In an attempt to recover two crewmen who were shot down 30 miles southwest of Hanoi, NVN, a Fulton Recovery Kit was dropped to these pilots on 21 May 1967 during recovery operation GAMBLER. Although the kit landed with 100 yards of one of the pilots, it was recovered by North Vietnamese, and the Fulton Recovery operation was aborted.

4. (TS) As a consequence of Operation GAMBLER and other operations, the following appraisal was made of the SKYHOOK recovery concept:

"The Fulton Recovery System has proven to be of doubtful use in the recovery of aircrews downed in hostile environments. If SAR forces are unable to recover downed airmen due to the presence of hostile troops, automatic weapons, antiaircraft artillery, etc., it is extremely unlikely that the use of the Fulton System will succeed where they have failed. The drop of a Fulton kit to a downed aircrew may give away their position, and the amount of time required to retrieve and activate the kit gives hostile forces ample time to locate and capture the aircrew, or prepare an ambush for the aircraft making the pick-up."

E. (TS) RECOVERY PROCEDURES IN LAOS

1. (TS) A Joint Memorandum of Agreement (see Tab 4) was initiated by the American Embassy, Vientiane and concurred in by the JPRC and the 7th Air Force in August 1967. The Agreement set forth procedures to be followed and tasks to be accomplished relative to the post-SAR recovery procedures for airmen downed in Laos.

2. (TS) Procedures and tasks that were set forth in the Agreement are summarized below:

a. Procedures

(1) In normal circumstances, SAR missions in Laos are accomplished by the air rescue resources of the 7th and 13th Air Forces based in Thailand and deployed in forward areas of Laos.

(2) Occasionally, when special circumstances warrant, rescue is effected under [REDACTED] with air support assets either from Thailand or from Laos.

(3) It is only when the above resources are unable to accomplish a rescue that the JPRC is brought into action.

F. (TS) OPERATIONS, 1967

1. (TS) Recovery operations engaged in by the JPRC during 1967 were predominantly the prisoner of war (POW) type within SVN. Of the 19 of this type in 1967, 12 POW recovery operations did not progress beyond the planning stages due to insufficient intelligence or information on POW camps that proved to be false upon detailed analysis.

2. (TS) In the 1967 Command History, COMUSMACV outlined the problem areas involved in POW recovery operations as follows:

"a. To date, the greatest problem has been in obtaining sufficient accurate data with which to plan and initiate PW recovery operations. This problem is a result of the following factors:

"(1) VC security of PW camps is excellent; they are usually located in inaccessible areas which are under VC control.

"(2) U.S. PWs are segregated from other PWs and are usually kept in small groups of no more than five men.

"(3) U.S. PWs are frequently moved, apparently as a matter of routine.

"(4) Indications are that a number of U.S. PWs have been taken to Cambodia where information collections is difficult.

"b. In an attempt to solve these problems, JPRC has taken the following steps:

"(1) Contact has been made with the Provincial Reconnaissance Unit (PRU), Saigon. The PRU employ small indigenous reconnaissance teams under U.S. leadership that have the capability to operate in VC controlled areas, not normally accessible to U.S. personnel or indigenous sources employed by the U.S. intelligence community. At the end of 1967 the PRU were involved in two potential recovery operations.

"(2) JPRC has

In addition, newly arrived intelligence personnel now receive a JPRC briefing at an orientation course sponsored by the 525th MI Group."

3. (TS) Following is a chronology of recovery operations conducted and other related activities during 1967. The information is taken directly from the weekly MACV BRIGHT LIGHT reports which were prepared by the JPRC. In certain instances, operations which were initiated in 1966 are continued in this chronology.

a. Operations, 2-8 Jan 67*

(1) Operation SWAP. No change.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE

(a) On 6 Jan, [REDACTED] wife of the Vietnamese who was injured while previously attempting to confirm the US PWs presence traveled to Saigon. She advised that [REDACTED] the guard on the prison boat, had stolen several weapons and when this was discovered, he fled to another area in Cambodia. [REDACTED] has kept in contact with the camp situation through cutouts and has learned his successor, [REDACTED] who is a good friend, would like to rally to SVN. [REDACTED] is willing, within reason, to aid in rescuing the US personnel. [REDACTED] believes [REDACTED] will cooperate.

(b) The previous letter has been rendered unusable by continuous handling. A new letter was given to [REDACTED] who will give the letter to her husband who will give it to [REDACTED]. She departed Saigon on 7 Jan.

(3) Operation DOUBLE TALK. No change. Weather continues to hold up ground recce of suspected PW camp.

(4) Operation GREEN PATCH. Low level recce was flown and pilots reported that what appeared as a code letter in aerial photos looked like a natural formation consisting of a ditch and rocks. Additional photography has been requested, but has not been flown due to adverse weather conditions.

(5) Operation HOT SNAP. On 2 Jan, 1st Air Cav Div launched a prisoner recovery operation vicinity [REDACTED] Light VC contact was made, but no evidence was found which would suggest the presence of US PWs either then or in the recent past. Revised figure of US personnel captured on 27 Dec is one. The other five persons previously reported missing have been accounted for. A JPRC representative was on hand to monitor the entire operation which has terminated.

b. Recovery Operations, 9-15 Jan 1967

(1) Operation SWAP. No change.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE. No change.

(3) Operation DOUBLE TALK. At 131025H Jan 67, patrol 3A1 was inserted in vicinity of coordinates [REDACTED] and established a radio relay station. At 131700H patrol 3F was inserted in vicinity of coordinates [REDACTED] and moved to vicinity [REDACTED] where they established a night position. At 140930H, patrol 3F commenced moving east from night position and established an operation vicinity [REDACTED]. At 141220H, patrol 3F sighted four prisoners with full packs and one guard moving south. They returned heading north at 141250H with empty packs. No Americans have been sighted. Surveillance and reconnaissance will continue.

(4) Operation GREEN PATCH. Adverse weather conditions continue to hamper photo mission. Photos will be taken as soon as weather improves.

c. Recovery Operations, 16-22 Jan 1967

(1) Operation SWAP. No change.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE. No change.

(3) Operation DOUBLE TALK. Marine patrol 3F was led to the POW camp by [REDACTED] the source, on 16 Jan. The camp [REDACTED] consisted of three huts, one on west side of trail and two on east as previously described by Lap. The huts were partially destroyed and the cap had not been used for at least one month. [REDACTED] positively identified the camp. The patrol became engaged in firefight while trying to take pictures of the camp and were forced to leave the area. Patrol was extracted by hoist through heavy canopy of virgin forest vicinity [REDACTED] at 161515H Jan 67. Helos and men under sporadic small arms fire during extraction. Patrol killed two VC during the operation and captured one rifle. The patrol suffered no casualties. Comments of team indicate [REDACTED] performed in excellent manner. He has been paid a total of VN $15,000 and has been returned to a Chieu Hoi Center. This operation is terminated.

(5) Operation MONGRAL AIR. On 20 Jan, JPRC received notification from 13th Recce Tech that [REDACTED] has been readout on photography flown 19 July. Location is [REDACTED] Immediate visual recce was ordered and flown on 20 Jan. Recce pilots report letter seems to be formed of foliage which is either growing or very recently cut. Pilots also report letter appears to be man-made. A survival kit containing food, water, a radio and flares was prepared by 7th AF and flown to Udorn on 20 Jan. On 21 Jan, JPRC notified that JLG had reported that letter was there when their forces were pushed out of the area, some time ago. Additionally, debrief of pilots who flew visual recce revealed that letter constructed of growing elephant grass. Operation terminated on receipt of this information and interested agencies notified.

d. Recovery Operations, 23-29 Jan 1967

(1) Operation SWAP. No change.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE. No change.

(3) Operation CANOPY SHADE. [REDACTED] was sighted from a photo readout by the 432 RTS, Udorn, 25 Jan, vic [REDACTED] NVN. 7th AF SOG was tasked 26 Jan for visual recce and additional photo recce of sightings. A SHINING BRASS team was alerted 26 Jan for possible infiltration into area of sighting. Necessary coordination made with ANEKS, Saigon, Vientiane, Bangkok to preposition team at Nakhon Phanom and stage through LIMA SITE 36. Negative results from photo and visual recce. Mission was refraged 28 Jan and readout of photos indicated object sighted was natural growth. Operation terminated 28 Jan.

(4) Operation TEAMSTER. [REDACTED] sighted 270618Z [REDACTED]. Fire sighted in vic code letter. FL, Udorn, Thai, alerted. JLG indicated they had assets in close proximity of sighting that could be used if photo/visual recce positive. Photo recce flown on 28 Jan produced negative results. Aircrews flying Neil aircraft made visual recce into target area on 28 Jan. They received ground fire and reported no sighting of code letter. Code letter apparently removed and enemy in area. Speculate that evadees captured. Operation terminated 29 Jan 67.

e. Recovery Operations, 30 Jan-5 Feb 1967

(1) Operation SWAP. This operation remains at a standstill due to lack of suitable VC prisoners for possible exchange. The Senior Advisor to the 1st ARVN Infantry Division is of the opinion that this unit is perhaps not cooperating fully in the attempt to secure the VC prisoners. He reasons that this attitude may stem from the fact that certain 1st ARVN Division Officers may be resentful of the fact that their counsel and aid were not solicited at the outset of this operation and that, in fact, all planning was taking place without their knowledge. He is of the further opinion, however, that disclosure of sufficient information to secure ARVN support would very probably result in a compromise of the Catholic priest acting as the go-between in these negotiations and place his life in jeopardy. In light of this, the Senior Advisor recommends that disclosure of information concerning the operation be withheld from 1st ARVN Division officials until such time as suitable VC prisoners become available. JPRC concurs in this recommendation. In view of the virtual impasse outlined above and the length of time which has elapsed since this operation began, JPRC sees little chance for success of this operation.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE. No word has been received from Ngia, the original source of the information concerning this POW camp, or his wife, who departed Saigon on 7 Jan with the letter to the US POWs. There is no further progress to report on this operation.

(3) Operation SYCAMORE. Two separate intelligence reports dated 7 Jan 67 and 19 Jan 67 indicated the presence of a POW camp in the vicinity of [REDACTED]. Either two or three US POWs are allegedly being held in this camp. Aerial photography was flown on 29 Jan, but was not useful due to cloud cover of target area. The mission was reflown on 2 Feb. Photo interpreter readout of this photography reveals a strong possibility of the fact that a camp of some sort had indeed existed at this locale, but that it has recently been abandoned. On 5 Feb, an intelligence report dated 2 Feb was received which indicated that the camp at [REDACTED] had been moved to [REDACTED] on 28 Jan. Aerial photography of this new location is on order. If the photography reveals a possible prison camp at the reported location, one of two courses of action will be taken: (a) If the photography readout reveals a strong probability that a camp exists at this location, a recommendation to launch an operation will be submitted; (b) if the photography is inconclusive, an attempt will be made to infiltrate an agent into the area to obtain more definite information. Both sites mentioned are very near the Cambodian border.

f. Recovery Operations, 6-12 Feb 1967*

(1) Operation SWAP No change.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE. [REDACTED] the original source is having trouble with his leg and requested permission to turn the letter over to a friend, [REDACTED] for an attempted delivery to the US POWs. Permission was granted.

(3) Operation SYCAMORE. Additional aerial photography has been requested. Photography mentioned in last report was flown and readout reveals very promising area at extreme edge of strip covered which is several hundred meters west of location provided by source. Location of what appears to be POW camp is [REDACTED] This is approximately 150 meters into RVN from Cambodian border.

(4) Operation TOMAHAWK

(a) An O-1 was downed 061200H Feb vicinity [REDACTED] [REDACTED] Covering aircraft had good voice contact with downed airman; however, voice contact was terminated when airman advised he had to evade hostiles. Later voice contact was reestablished and SAR helo effected pick-up of downed airman and was immediately taken under intense ground fire. It exploded and crashed into karst at [REDACTED] One PJ was thrown clear by the blast and was able to deploy his chute. A second JOLLY GREEN picked up the PJ. There was no evidence of other survivors.

[REDACTED] Low level visual recon was requested for first light on 13 Feb. Concurrently 7/13 was prepared to drop one of the prepositioned JPRC survival bundles.

(c) Visual recon at 200 feet reveals letter was formed by flare chute canopies and there was no evidence to indicate the the chute had been prepositioned by an evader. The area did not appear to be occupied and no emergency signals were observed. Operation was terminated.

g. Recovery Operations, 13-19 Feb 1967*

(1) Operation SWAP. No change.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE. [REDACTED] the original source, returned to 135th MI Grp, Can Tho, on 17 Feb. He had with him an untranslated letter and a map of the suspected POW compound. These documents were dispatched to JPRC arriving 18 Feb. Documents given to OP-34 for translation.

briefed G-3, IIFORCEV on 15 Feb and were directed to contact 1 25th Infantry Division. Approximately 1700, 15 Feb intelli- 2 gence was received by JPRC which indicated the POW camp was 3 not in the area it was originally thought to be, but in 4 Cambodia. Aerial photography flown on 15 Feb verified a lack 5 of populace and livable huts in area of interest but did 6 indicate people that farm area live in a village just across 7 the Cambodian border. Further information revealed that a 8 friendly operation was scheduled to take place in the area on 9 19 and 20 Feb. FFVII and 25th Infantry Division were noti- 10 fied that the operation was temporarily suspended. Operation 11 will be suspended until further intelligence reports pinpoint 12
the location of the POWs. 13

(4) Operation ANGLER. On 9 Feb, JPRC received a Spot 14
Report on the location of a VC POW camp in vicinity of 15
[REDACTED] Two US prisoners are allegedly being held in the 16 ← camp. Aerial photography of the target area was received on 17 10 Feb, and passed to the 149th MI Group, the originators of 18 the Spot Report, for attempted annotation by the source of 19 information. The 149th MI Group Special Agent returned to 20 Saigon on 19 Feb with detained annotation of the aerial 21 photography. The source claims to have seen the US POWs as 22 recently as 5 Feb, and enjoys a reliability rating of C. The 23 information obtained has been rated 2. It should be noted 24 that these are field ratings, not official J-2 ratings. 25

(5) Operation WIGWAM. Sighting of approximately 200 26
US/ARVN prisoners was made in the vicinity of [REDACTED] on 27 ← 12 Feb. This sighting was unusual in that four separate 28 sources were involved. Coordination was made with MAC COC 29 on 18 Feb and a TWX dispatched to III MAF requesting that a 30 recon team be placed in the area to pinpoint the location of 31 the suspected POW camp. III MAF was requested to take medium 32 level photography of the area to identify if possible the 33 suspected POW camp as well as LZs and other pertinent data 34 necessary to mount a POW raid operation. 35

Although rescue efforts were being continued JSARC requested JPRC alert forces in the event a ground effort became necessary.

[REDACTED] OP-35 was alerted and preliminary arrangements made to launch a HORNET Force into the area as early as possible on 17 Feb. At approximately 1730H, JSARC notified JPRC that the downed pilot had been recovered. A few minutes later, JPRC received a reply [REDACTED] at first light 17 Feb. JPRC prepared a message [REDACTED] congratulating them on the dispatch with which they had responded to the situation and also on the timely notification to JPRC. Operation terminated.

b. Recovery Operations, 20-26 Feb 1967*

(1) Operation SWAP. No change.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE. The letter and map have been translated and provided no additional information to confirm or refute data already in JPRC possession. They were prepared by [REDACTED] Attempt is being made now to have a confrontation with [REDACTED] was formerly the head guard on the prison sampan. (3) Operation SYCAMORE. Large scale friendly operations in area precluded additional progress. Upon completion of friendly operation an assessment of the area will be made and future action will be determined at that time.

(4) Operation WIGWAM. Four separate reports of prisoner sightings have emanated from vicinity [REDACTED] Sources were reinterviewed and the information did not appear as valid as initially assumed; however, III MAF had aerial photography flown in suspect area. It was inconclusive, due to the dense jungle canopy. III MAF will infiltrate a ground recce team in area to confirm or deny the alleged camp location.

(5) Operation ANGLER. After reviewing aerial photography of the suspected camp area as annotated by the source, a JPRC representative went to III MAF. Source was polygraphed and no deception was noted. Additional low level photography was flown and readout of the area failed to disclose any of the items previously annotated by the source on initial photography. This area is heavily forested; however, it did raise some doubt as to whether it was in fact the target area. Source will return to the area carrying a concealed radio beacon. If the prisoners are still in the area, the beacon will be left at a predetermined distance and direction from the camp. Electronic recce will be flown after source has had time to put the beacon in place.

(6) Operation BLUE ROPE. On 23 Feb JPRC received notification from 7/13 AF that the [REDACTED] was observed at [REDACTED] Visual and photo recce was flown and visual produced negative results. (2) Operation RIP TIDE. Attempts to contact [] the original head guard of the prison sampan, and arrange for him to come to Saigon for detailed debriefing are still in progress.

(3) Operation SYCAMORE

(a) On 5 Mar 67, a returnee, [] was interrogated by Special Forces Unit B-32 in the vicinity of Tay Ninh. During the initial interrogation the source claimed to have been assigned to the security force of the camp which is the objective of this operation. He confirmed previous reports of 25 ARVN prisoners and the general location of the camp.

(b) The source was brought to Saigon on 9 Mar for more comprehensive interrogation. During this interrogation, the source stated that the only US PWs he had ever seen were a group of 10 US PWs being moved into Cambodia for eventual return to US control.

(c) Because the information concerning US PWs conflicts sharply with previous information, both the interrogator and the JPRC representative were of the opinion that the source might very possibly be telling less than all he knows. In an effort to refute or confirm this opinion, the source was polygraphed on 12 Mar. Results of the polygraph indicate no attempted deception on the part of the source.

(d) Preparation are underway to insert indigenous agent resources of the 5th Special Forces Group to re-check the suspected area.

(4) Operation WIGWAM operation. The new report places the PW camp approximately one kilometer south of the original location, but agrees with the original report in other particulars. This most recent report contains a detailed sketch of the camp complex as well as the route followed by the sources as they left the camp. The sources have agreed to lead friendly forces to the camp area.

(b) A call was placed to G-2, III MAF, on 11 Mar and attention was invited to this latest intelligence report. G-2, III MAF indicated that the report would be evaluated for possible action.

(5) Operation ANGLER. A homer beacon has been procured and will be concealed in a walking stick to be carried into the camp area by the original source of the information on the camp. The beacon has a battery life of eight days and will not be activated until source has reconfirmed the presence of the US PWs in the camp.

(6) Operation CHINOOK

(a) On 10 Mar, a message was received from G-2, US Army Ryukyus. The message stated that the debrief of [REDACTED] had narrowed the location of the prison camp from which they were released to five possible locations. All locations lie within a six square kilometer area. The message also stated that a detailed overlay and summary would be forwarded as soon as possible.

(b) JPRC has ordered aerial photography of the suspected camp site area and hopes to have this on hand for immediate collation when the overlay and summary arrive.

k. Recovery Operations, 13-19 Mar 1967*

(1) Operation SWAP. No change. In light of lack of progress on this operation over a protracted period of time, it is being placed in the inactive files and will not be mentioned in future reports unless significant developments warrant its inclusion.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE

(a) The original source of information on this PW camp, [REDACTED] returned to Chau Doc and reported through the Sector Intel analyst. He complained that he had not been paid recently.

(b) This was the first indication received by JPRC that [REDACTED] was receiving pay for supplying information. A check with the VN Army officer who had been acting as go-between with [REDACTED] indicated that he had indeed been receiving pay, and in rather amiable amounts. This places the validity of his information in an entirely different light.

(c) The VN Army officer and the 135th MI Group were both contacted and mutual agreement was reached that control of [REDACTED] would be passed to the 135th MI Gp. The first order of business now will be to attempt to persuade [REDACTED] to submit to a polygraph examination.

(3) Operation SYCAMORE

(a) Arrangements were made with Det B-57, 5th Special Forces Group, to infiltrate two of their indigenous agent assets into the area in an attempt to relocate the POW camp.

(b) All indications are that the camp has been moved into Cambodia due to close proximity of US military operations to the originally suspected camp site.

(4) Operation WIGWAM

(a) On 18 Mar, JPRC received a report from G-2 III MAF. The report indicated that two recon teams, one from 5th Special Forces Group and one from III MAF, had completed a thorough search of all target areas. Though there were many well-used trails in the area, no evidence of a POW camp was discovered.

of a POW camp was discovered.

~~TOP SECRET~~

(b) The teams have successfully exfiltrated, and this operation is terminated.

(5) Operation ANGLER

(a) The homer beacon device was concealed within a section of bamboo of the sort which a Montagnard might logically carry. It was turned over to the case officer on 17 March.

(b) The case officer estimates that it will take two days to get the device to the source and an additional eight days for the source to walk into the POW camp area. An additional two days will be allowed to elapse before electronic reconnaissance will begin.

(6) Operation CHINOOK

(a) Aerial photography of the suspected camp site areas has been received. Preliminary readout is inconclusive.

(b) Combined Intelligence Center, Vietnam (CICV) is in the process of preparing a complete study of the target area to include enemy OB.

(c) The overlay and summary of the [REDACTED] debriefing are expected momentarily.

1. Recovery Operations, 20-26 Mar 1967*

(1) Operation RIP TIDE

(a) [REDACTED] the original source of the PW information, has been turned over to the 135th MI Group. He is currently being interviewed in detail and is scheduled to be polygraphed on 3 Apr.

(b) Unconfirmed data learned by JPRC representative while at Can Tho indicates some discrepancy around [REDACTED] original injury. It is anticipated that the current interviews and polygraph exam will dictate how and if [REDACTED] will be retained.

(2) Operation SYCAMORE

(a) Two indigenous agents were infiltrated by helo vicinity [REDACTED] at last light on 20 Mar. After limited recce they were discovered and moved into a heavily forested area.

(b) They spent the night in the forest and moved into a large elephant grass field adjacent to the forest. They were taken under hostile fire and requested exfiltration. Successful exfiltration was effected approximately 211800 Mar under heavy hostile fire.

(c) Currently, the situation is being reevaluated and a new plan will be developed which will reinsert indigenous personnel in the alleged PW camp area.

(3) Operation ANGLER. An unexpected delay was encountered when the Montagnard carrying the walking stick, with the homing beacon, was bitten by a snake. He is recovering but a delay has been incurred. It is anticipated the source will not arrive in the target area until approximately 2 April. His determination of PWs in the area should be completed about 4 April, at which time he will depart the area.

(4) Operation CHINOOK

(a) Aerial photography readout reveals some of the debriefing information from [REDACTED] correlates well; however, the jungle canopy is quite dense and precludes more complete location of the camp area.

(b) A representative from 441st MI Det, Okinawa who was in on the debriefings at Okinawa is enroute RVN. He is intimately familiar with the area and situation. After his arrival, the overall situation will be evaluated with a view toward launching a recovery type operation.

(5) Operation CHEYENNE

(a) [REDACTED] report was received which indicated approximately 100 US POWs located vicinity [REDACTED] Although there is no confirming data available, action has been taken to attempt to debrief source in detail. Signal electronic agencies have been alerted to maintain a listening watch for traffic concerning the suspect area.

(b) Since the reliability of the source and validity of the information has not yet been determined, the next action will be contingent upon the results of the source's detailed debriefing and the signal intelligence agencies.

m. Recovery Operations, 27 Mar-2 Apr 1967*

(1) Operation RIP TIDE

(a) [REDACTED] the original source of the PW camp information, was polygraphed earlier than initially anticipated.
The results of the exam were inconclusive; however, there did appear to be some validity in [REDACTED] statement concerning the PWs.

(b) Plans are being made to bring [REDACTED] to Saigon for additional detailed debriefings and another polygraph examination. Time frame for these confirming checks has not been determined.

(2) Operation SYCAMORE. Planning is underway to insert indigenous agents in the area at night by parachute when an agent team is available.

(3) Operation ANGLER. The Montagnard carrying the walking stick containing the homing beacon departed for the PW camp on 27 Mar. It was anticipated he would be in the PW camp area about 2 Apr. The electronic surveillance of the beacon will be flown for the first time on 3 Apr.

(4) Operation GREY BULL (Previously Reported as CHINOOK)

(a) Representative from 441st MI Det, Okinawa, arrived 28 Mar.

(b) Aerial photography of the area confirms some of the details furnished by [REDACTED] while some items such as trails and location of huts are not confirmed. This may be due to the heavy foliage in the area or possibly confusion by [REDACTED]

(c) IIFPV was briefed on 29 Mar. They designated 5th SFG to conduct a raid on the camp provided additional confirming data could be obtained. A SF indigenous agent was inserted and returned with the information that hostiles were in the area. He was not able to confirm the presence of the US PWs.

(d) Based upon the information from the SF agent and other evaluations, a recommendation will be made to IIFPV that a personnel recovery operation be attempted.

(5) Operation CHEYENNE. No change.

n. Recovery Operations, 3-9 Apr 1967*

(1) Operation RIP TIDE. [REDACTED] the original source of the PW camp information, will be flown to Saigon 10 Apr. He will be debriefed in detail and another polygraph examination will be administered. Further operational planning, if appropriate, will be based on results of the debriefing.

(2) Operation SYCAMORE

(a) Two indigenous agents from Special Forces assets were infiltrated by parachute from a helo on 3 Apr. Helo was radar vectored to the DZ.

(b) The agents encountered no difficulties and accomplished the ground recce; however, it was subsequently determined they were infiltrated in the wrong area. On 5 Apr, they were exfiltrated. Further efforts to insert indigenous agents in the area are being planned.

(3) Operation ANGLER

(a) The Montagnard carrying the walking stick containing the homing beacon learned through inquiries in the suspected camp area that the PWs were moved from [REDACTED] to an unknown location.

(b) Further attempts to find the PWs, utilizing the same source, will continue. This operation will no longer be considered active unless additional information is obtained.

(4) Operation GREY BULL. A raid was conducted on the suspected PW camp on 6 Apr by 5th SPF. A thorough sweep of the area revealed nothing. Obviously, this was not the camp although the raid did occur at the location as derived from map back-tracking based upon debriefings of [REDACTED]. This operation is suspended pending receipt of further information.

(5) Operation CHEYENNE. No change.

o. Recovery Operations, 10-16 Apr 1967*

(1) Operation RIP TIDE

(a) [REDACTED] the original source of the PW information, has been debriefed in detail and polygraphed. There was no evidence of deception noted during the polygraph and the agent handler is of the opinion that [REDACTED] is sincere in his efforts. [REDACTED] motivation appears to be the desire to assure his financial future.

(b) [REDACTED] has never observed the PWs nor has he been inside the camp. He believes that [REDACTED] who is currently assumed to be in charge of the VC prison guards, would be willing to assist in recovering the PWs. [REDACTED] has no legitimate reason to be away from the camp in excess of 24 hours without his absence arousing suspicion.

(c) [REDACTED] former VC squad leader, is thought to be in Phnom Penh; however, his wife is living in a Cambodian village near the RVN border. Current plans call for [REDACTED] to learn [REDACTED] actual location, through [REDACTED] wife, and attempt to bring [REDACTED] to Saigon for a detailed debriefing. At this time, [REDACTED] cannot furnish adequate information for purposes of planning a recovery operation.

(b) [REDACTED] will attempt to determine current VC attitude toward a prisoner exchange.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE

(a) [REDACTED], the original source of the PW information, is preparing to travel to Phnom Penh. He will attempt to bring [REDACTED] the former VC guard squad leader, to Saigon for debriefing. Currently, documentation is being prepared for [REDACTED] so he may travel to Saigon from Phnom Penh. Upon return from Phnom Penh, [REDACTED] will stop at the village of [REDACTED] uncle. (b) No word has been received from [REDACTED] concerning current VC attitude toward the exchange.

(3) Operation SYCAMORE

(a) A coded agent of Det B-57, 5th SF Gp was infiltrated into the general target area. He did not, however, succeed in checking on the prime suspect locations.

(b) Although the agent did not personally see any US PWs during the course of his reconnaissance, he was told of a VC hospital in the general vicinity of his search which is used to treat wounded US PWs. The US PWs are reportedly held at the hospital only until sufficiently recovered to travel at which time they are moved to a permanent PW camp in Cambodia. (b) This operation is terminated.

(6) Operation DEEP SIX

(a) Just before midnight on 24 April, JPRC received a message from Commander, Task Group 77.0 indicating that an A6A was down at [REDACTED]. The crew of two had successfully ejected, were seen on the ground and had been in voice contact with their wingman. They were last seen making their way to an area of good cover and concealment located approximately $\frac{1}{2}$ mile from the point at which they landed. CTG 77.0 indicated that when and if voice contact with the downed crew was reestablished, he would request activation of a BRIGHT LIGHT team.

(b) A BRIGHT LIGHT team was placed on alert at Rue Phu Bai, and a Navy CIA aircraft and crew were standing by at Tan Son Nhut to transport the team to the carrier Kitty Hawk.

(c) Because of extensive enemy OB in the area of the downed crew, plus the fact that it appeared to be beyond the range of SAR helos, JPRC recommended to CTG 77.0 that a more realistic plan would be to attempt the recovery with the Fulton Recovery System (SKYHOOK) equipped HC-130. A Combat Spear crew was placed on alert at Nha Trang, and 7 AF placed two F4Cs on alert at Danang to effect a high speed drop of the Fulton kit which had been packed in an M4A container.

(d) At the suggestion of Combat Spear crewmen, the operation was planned as follows:

1. After voice contact was established, a Fulton kit would be dropped to the downed crew at last light of that day. The delivery aircraft would notify the downed crew to expect pickup at a predesignated time during that night.

2. At the predesignated time, the Combat Spear aircraft would make their pickup run. They would be covered by appropriate MIG CAP, and coordinated strike missions would be flown in the area at the pickup time.

(e) No further electronic contact could be re-established with the downed crew and, upon receipt of CINCPAC message prohibiting use of EC-130 due to the high risk area, the operation was terminated.

(f) This operation is thought to have been quite worthwhile as it provided a realistic exercise in mission planning and of the alerting system.

r. Recovery Operations, 1-7 May 1967*

(5) Operation NEARLY

(a) In early May, a Revolutionary Development (RD) Cadre Advisor, stated one of his personnel had made contact, through several cut-outs, with a VC officer who wished to rally to the GVN with 13 US PWs. Further that he desired to be rewarded for the returned US personnel. All contacts were made in IV CTZ.

(b) A meeting with the wife of the VC officer was arranged for 6 May but she did not show up. On 9 May, she appeared and stated she would be at Chau Doc on 13 May with proof of the identities of the PWs. Further, she was to have her husband's plan which would reveal the details concerning the release. She did not know where the release would take place, nor was it known if it would be necessary to engage a hostile force to effect the release.

(c) MACV tasked SA IV CTZ to effect a recovery operation, upon obtaining the information from the wife of the VC, if it looked feasible.

(d) On 12 May, the female source arrived, one day early, without any evidence of the US PWs allegedly being held by her husband. She stated attempts were made to contact her husband for the information, and details of the release, but due to the amount of activity on the SVN/Cambodian border she was unable to make contact.

(e) Although this operation is considered terminated, the female source was advised how to contact representatives from the 135th MI Group but that she should only make contact when she possesses evidence of the PWs.

(1) Operation SWAP

(a) Absolutely no evidence can be located which would indicate that two US PWs have recently escaped VC control. Barring the extremely unlikely possibility that the two have been in evasion status since early May without making contact with friendly forces, it must be concluded that the reported escape was spurious information.

(b) If the above is true, some credence is lent to the hypothesis that this may be [REDACTED] way of terminating his contacts with US personnel.

(c) In light of the above, this operation is being dropped from the active list pending receipt of further information which would warrant its reactivation.

(2) Operation RIP TIDE. No change.

(3) Operation SYCAMORE. No change.

(4) Operation CHEYENNE. Since no progress has been made on this operation since it was begun in mid-March, it is being dropped from the active list pending further developments which would warrant its reactivation.

(5) Operation GAMBLER

(a) In the late morning hours of 19 May (190311Z) an A6A from the carrier ENTERPRISE, call sign Raygun 502, was shot down 30NM SW of Hanoi. Both crewmen ejected successfully, landing at [REDACTED]. Their point of landing was near the center of [REDACTED] but while this is excellent terrain for evasion, it lies well within the SAM envelope and is considered a high threat area.

(b) Voice contact was made with the downed crewmen. It was discovered that the pilot was uninjured, but that the bombardier/navigator (B/N) had suffered a badly broken leg. No rescue operation was attempted from the east 1 utilizing Navy SAR resources due to the existence of the 2 high threat area all the way from the coast to the target 3 area. Assistance from JPRC was requested. 4

(c) JPRC notified the Joint Search and Rescue Center 5 (JSARC) at Tan Son Nhut, and asked that feasibility for 6 launch of a SAR effort from the west utilizing USAF-SAR 7 resources be studied. A plan for launch of SAR assets to 8 be covered by multiple air strikes taking place simultaneously 9 in the same area was devised. Commander 7AF, vetoed this 10 plan on grounds that the area was too well defended to risk 11
SAR assets. 12

(d) JPRC presented a plan which called for the drop of 13
Fulton Recovery System (SKYHOOK) kits by high performance 14 aircraft. If the drop was made successfully, an attempt 15 would be made for a SKYHOOK pick up at a pre-determined time 16 the night following the drop. The plan was approved for 17 execution late in the evening of 20 May. A JPRC representa- 18 tive was dispatched to DaNang, the base from which the drop 19 mission would launch, to act as operation coordinator. 20

(e) A flight of AF F4Cs was launched on the morning of 21
21 May to effect the drop. Contact was established with 22 the B/N of the downed crew, and a successful drop accomplished 23 at approx 210320Z. A total of three M4A containers were 24 dropped. Two containers carried a two man Fulton ground 25 station and the third, survival equipment. The two M4As 26 containing the Fulton gear landed approx 100 yds from the 27 downed crewman. The survival container landed approx 200 28 yds from his position. The downed man indicated that although 29 he was injured, he thought he would be able to make his way 30 to the Fulton gear. 31

(f) The Combat Spear aircraft which would attempt the pick up was launched on schedule at 211141Z. The plan called for high performance aircraft to make a final flight over the target area a few hours prior to the scheduled pick up time, make a last minute check on the situation of the downed crewmen, and inform them of the precise time the pick up would be attempted. A flight of F4C's was launched for this purpose, and upon contacting the B/N of the downed crew, were informed that all three of the containers had been recovered earlier by North Vietnamese. The Combat Spear aircraft was notified of this development, and aborted at 211337Z. Before departing the area, an F4C aircraft dropped a container of survival equipment in the vicinity of where he had last seen one of the downed crewmen's strobe light.

(g) Meetings were held on the night of 21 May and again on the morning of 22 May with representatives of JPRC, 7AF and 7th Fleet present, in an effort to determine what further action could be taken. Consensus was that no further recovery action seemed feasible at this time, due proximity hostile forces.

(h) A total of three flights were flown over the area of the downed aircrew on 22 May. Negative contact of any sort was made. This operation is terminated.

(6) Other Activities. The body reported recovered in last week's report has been positively identified through dental records as that of [REDACTED] carried as missing since 12 May 66.

(5) Operation SWAP

(a) A source who wishes his identity to remain unknown, has reported that [REDACTED] (the presumed PWs) are dead and he knows of no escape attempts whatever. The bodies are reportedly located near Hue.

(b) Followup is being made to determine the details of the deaths and location of the bodies with a view toward recovery action.

(6) Operation GRENADE

(a) Information was received on 10 June from the 135th MI Group at Can Tho that two US PWs were being held vicinity of [REDACTED]. The source of the information was captured by the VC on 3 Jan 1967 and escaped at 1900 on 6 June 1967. The source stated the two US were brought into the camp on 3 June 67 and were there at the time of his escape.

(b) Aerial photography was flown on the afternoon of 9 June and the sources description of the camp was verified by the photo interpreter. It was still inhabited at that time.

(c) A JPRC representative was dispatched to Can Tho on 10 June for additional debriefing of the source and to obtain the photography.

(d) MAC COC was briefed on 11 June and the Senior Advisor IV CTZ was tasked by COC to determine the feasibility of an operation.

(e) If an operation is feasible it is anticipated that it will be conducted on 12 or 13 June.

(3) Operation ANGLER. Source was not dispatched on 9 June 1 as planned. Unknown to JPRC, III MAF was awaiting instructions 2 from MACV to proceed with the operation. Instructions have been 3 issued to evaluate and determine the feasibility of the operation 4 in the new area and this is in process at the present time. 5
The source will not be dispatched until a concept of action 6 has been determined which can be acted on expeditiously. 7

(4) Operation SWAP. No change. 8

(5) Operation GRENADE 9

(a) The operation was deemed feasible and the Senior 10 Advisor, IV Corps Tactical Zone (CTZ) elected to conduct the 11 operation the night of 12 June. The concept was to insert 12 a Seal Team by helicopter during the hours of darkness, 13 conduct the raid at first light, then exfiltrate by helicopter. 14
The 9th ARVN Recon Company was the standby reaction force 15 with the 43rd ARVN Battalion on one hour alert. 16

(b) During a last visual reconnaissance the afternoon 17 of 12 June a discrepancy was noted in the area described by 18 the source and that which was photographed. Another area 19 was determined to be the correct target area. A 24 hour 20 delay was called to permit photography and re-planning. 21

(c) The concept remained the same and the plan was 22 executed on 13 June with the insertion of the Seal Team at 23 2359 hours. The team made contact at 0630 hours with 5 VC. 24
Results - 1 VC KIA, 2 WIA. No friendly casualties. Several 25 huts were destroyed, one resulting in a secondary explosion. 26
The search disclosed no US or ARVN PWs. The Team successfully 27 exfiltrated at 140708 Jun 67. 28

getting into the target area, determined that this was not 30

(1) Operation RIP TIDE. Additional low level oblique photography of the area was obtained. [REDACTED] was confronted with this photography and picked out the same area for the PW camp that had been previously picked by photo interpreters. The area is very heavily vegetated and no man made construction is visible. [REDACTED] will return to [REDACTED] on 27 June to obtain precise measurements from landmarks to the huts allegedly containing the PWs.

(a) This operation commenced to develop 10 June 67 when JPRC received information through 5th SFG that four US PWs were being held just inside Cambodia at coordinates [REDACTED]. Source is a PRU reconnaissance unit member who poses as a trader along the border. The information was provided by several Cambodian traders who stated that there had been seven US PWs but three had been taken away to an unknown destination. The PRU source personally observed the house (known as [REDACTED] house) from a distance of 300 yards but did not see the US PWs due to a high fence around the house.

(b) This information tallied with previous information furnished by CRD, Reg IV in March and April from another source that this same house is used as a temporary detention point and way station. It is also alleged that the house is used for high level VC briefings. This source is a Cambodian businessman who lives in the area. On 7 April the source saw four US PWs at [REDACTED]. They were being displayed in the area for propaganda purposes.

(c) Another sighting reported two US PWs kept in this vicinity for several hours and then moved to an unknown destination.

(d) CRD, Reg IV and 5th SFG were requested to continue the collection effort. Their combined effort, using the PRU agent, disclosed that the four US PWs reported on 10 June were seen by a trader to be taken into the house on 6 or 7 June and they were moved by vehicle north on Route 93 at 0600 hours, 11 Jun 67. They had been detained there approximately five days.

(e) Current status is as follows:

1. A detailed description of the house and surrounding vicinity has been received.

2. Oblique photography has been flown but not as yet received by JPRC.

3. Surveillance has been increased to permit the earliest possible report of the renewed presence of US PWs in order to be able to launch a recovery operation within the detention pattern time frame of one to four days.

(a) On 27 Jun 67, JPRC received information that a platoon of the HOA HAO reinforced by 400 Khmer Seral fought a VC unit in Cambodia on 20 and 21 Jun 67. The VC lost and the Khmer Seral gained custody of nine US PWs; five Caucasian and four Negros. They are being held approximately 20 km inside Cambodia opposite Tinh Bien District, Chau Doc Province.

(b) The source departed on 27 Jun to obtain photographs and identities of the PWs with the suggestion that if data proves satisfactory he can arrange a meeting along the border.

(c) Information has been furnished CRD, Reg IV, as to the amount of money that may be paid for each returned PW and, upon the return of the source, a JPRC representative will go to Chau Doc to assist in negotiating the details of the release.

(1) Operation RIP TIDE

(a) Late on 7 July, [REDACTED] the source, was returned to Saigon. On 8 July, the following information was passed to JPRC: [REDACTED] the former prison guard commander, has now been transferred from the munitions factory back to guard duty at the PW camp. The camp has been moved some 1,000 meters north of its previous location. There are now six US PWs in the camp, all in relatively good health. [REDACTED] is most anxious to return to GVN control as a Chieu Hoi and wishes to bring the six US PWs with him.

(b) [REDACTED] is currently performing duty from 2,200 to 2,400 as guard over PWs. There are two other guards. The only other force in the vicinity is a local force VC Platoon some distance away. [REDACTED] will dispose of the two guards, cut the chains which secure the PWs during the hours of darkness and lead them over land to the Mekong River (a distance of three to four kilometers) where [REDACTED] will be waiting with a seven-meter sampan to move them all down river to the border.

(c) Preliminary planning is being conducted with a view to use of USN River Patrol Boats in conjunction with helicopter gunships to rendezvous with [REDACTED] at the border, off-load the US PWs, [REDACTED] from the sampan which would then be sunk, and return to [REDACTED] which is the staging area for the patrol.

(d) Detailed planning and coordination will be conducted early next week with a view toward execution late in the week. In the meantime, a pistol with silencer and chain cutting tools capable of being smuggled by [REDACTED] into the camp are being obtained.

(b) At first on the 19th SAR was again activated on MAGIC STONE 404. The rescue helo was subsequently shot down while attempting to get in position for the pickup and SAR was again suspended.

(c) JPRC explored the feasibility of employing the Fulton Recovery equipped C-130 aircraft for a night pickup, and it was determined to be not feasible due to the heavy concentration of AW/AAA/SAM in the immediate vicinity.

(d) Contact was maintained with the downed pilot through the 19th and on the morning of the 20th. Two A4s picked up two JPRC M4-A survival kits at DaNang and delivered them to the site of MAGIC STONE 404 at 210015H.

(b) A detail analysis of the photographs will be made.

(2) Operation BANDITO

(a) No contact has been made with [REDACTED] of Hoa Hao or [REDACTED] of the Khmer Serei since 5 August.

(b) CO, Region IV 135th MI GP has been requested to develop new sources or means of communicating with the Hoa Hao and Khmer Serei units who allegedly hold the US prisoners.

(3) Operation LUCKY LEAF

(a) This operation is scheduled to be conducted on 1 October under control of SA IV CTZ. The postponement from the previously scheduled date of 13 September was made to permit additional time for planning and rehearsal by personnel who will conduct the operation.

(b) The tentative plan is to use Special Forces personnel to assault and secure the camp while a reserve force is kept in position to react immediately to the needs of the situation.

(4) Operation SAHARA

(a) The source, [REDACTED] was unable to locate the PW camp on a photographic mosaic of the area.

(1) Operation BANDITO

(a) This operation was dropped from the active list of projects on 3 October 1967 because no contact could be made with the original source, [REDACTED] and a suitable source could not be recruited to re-establish contact with the Hoa Hao or Khmer Serei units in Cambodia.

(b) On 23 October 1967, a new source came to the attention of JPRC. [REDACTED] states that he was sent to Saigon to contact representatives of the Vietnamese government for the purpose of negotiating an agreement to return a 620 man Hoa Hao Unit, now located in Cambodia, to government control. [REDACTED] has been at this effort in Saigon since 15 May 1967.

(c) The documents carried by [REDACTED] appear authentic. [REDACTED] alleges that the Hoa Hao unit holds eight US personnel. For this reason, and because of the similarity between this and the past history of BANDITO, this development will be explored further by JPRC.

(2) Operation WAYFARER

(a) Since 9 September 1967, there have been 11 reports of US POWs being sighted in Dinh Tuong Province.

(b) Each report refers to two or three US POWs being escorted by a heavily armed VC force.

(c) In an attempt to increase the collection effort, and fix the location of the POWs, a JPRC representative will brief representatives of the intelligence collection agencies operating in the area of the reported sightings.

(a) On 22 November 1967, two reports were received of sightings of US POWs in the WAYFARER area on 15 November 1967. Both sights were of US POWs-being moved under VC guard.

(b) On 25 November 1967, a report was received of a lone US POW being held in a cottage in a hamlet reported to be protected by two VC companies.

(c) In both above instances it was not possible to take action since the source's information was dated.

(d) Attempted recovery operation in the area would be extremely difficult for the following reasons:

1. It is difficult to obtain detailed timely information on US POWs in the area since the area is under VC control.

2. The US POWs appear to be heavily guarded by the VC.

3. It is difficult to fix the location of the US POWs since a majority of the reports received since 9 September 1967 indicate they have been observed moving under VC escort. They do not appear to be kept in the same area for more than a few days and there is no indication of a permanent POW camp in this area.

A suitable location in SVN, near the SE NAN River border with Cambodia will be proposed as the site of the exchange, or negotiations if required. The letter further stipulates that should he agree to the exchange or to negotiate the exchange, each delegation shall not exceed ten men; each delegation will display a white flag of truce, and the display of National Flags will be prohibited; the combat forces of either side may be no closer than 5 kilometers from the exchange site; that the exchange or negotiations will be without ceremony and that photography will not be permitted.

g. (TS) JPRC EVALUATION, 1967

1. (TS) CINCPAC Joint Survey Team

a. In November 1967, a Joint Survey Team convened at CINCPAC Headquarters to undertake a comprehensive study of MACSOG programs. The team conducted a survey of the JPRC, its activities, plans and programs, and provided the following conclusions and recommendations concerning the Center:

"CONCLUSIONS

"(1) The new JTD, modified to retain the one O4 intelligence officer space, will be adequate to accomplish the JPRC mission.

"(2) The terms of reference provide adequate authority for the JPRC to perform its functions and discharge its responsibilities.

"(3) Sufficient communications facilities are available to the JPRC to permit the full scope of operations envisioned by the mission.

"(5) The largest single problem in location and recovery of detained US/FWMAF personnel is the lack of timely and accurate intelligence data.

"(6) The JPRC is operating in accordance with the terms of reference issued by CINCPAC, as approved by JCS.

"(7) The present JPRC has very high potential, competent, well qualified leadership, and all personnel possess the required skills and are well motivated toward the mission.

"(8) Escape and Evasion programs conducted by the services in SEASIA are progressing in a satisfactory manner. JPRC is monitoring these program closely in an attempt to standardize casualty/MIA/detainee reporting procedures.

"(9) The JPRC post-hostilities plan (now in draft form) is adequate, and will fulfill the prisoner debriefing requirements.

"RECOMMENDATIONS

"(1) That the O4 intelligence officer's position be retained vice the O3 recommended in the new JTD.

relating to confinement and movement of US/FWMAF detainees. To this end, MACSOG should coordinate with 7AP to arrive at a mutual agreement on sorties, data to be collected, area of interest, etc. If required, a SICR should be issued to obtain this data.

"(3) That COMUSMACV design a standard procedure for casualty/MIA/detainee reporting and the maintenance of personal data files (photos, authentication systems, emergency addresses, etc.) for use by all services in SEASIA.

"(4) That the JPRC continue in its present line of endeavor. It serves an extremely useful purpose in that no other organization or agency provides a central point or focal point for data on MIA/detainees in SEASIA.

"(5) That MACSOG explore the feasibility of developing singleton agent assets specially qualified and trained for introduction into NVN for the purpose of penetrating POW camps for intelligence purposes and to persuade selected POW guards to defect with prisoners, or permit clandestine operations within the prison."

b. COMUSMACV's comments on the above recommendations were as follows:

"(1) Recommendation: COMUSMACV should take action to:

Retain the 04 intelligence officer's position in the new JTD vice the recommended 03.

MACV Comment: Concur. A change request will be forwarded as soon as the proposed MACSOG JTD, dated 30 Oct '67, is approved.

"(2) Recommendation:

[REDACTED] relating to confinement/movement of U.S./ FWMAR detainees.

MACV Comment: Concur. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] was forwarded from MACV to CINCPAC on 12 Jan 68, stating the requirement for increased intelligence collection relating to confinement or movement of prisoners of war.

"(3) Recommendation:

Design a standard procedure for casualty/MIA/detainee reporting and for the maintenance of personnel data files for use by all Services in Southeast Asia.

MACV Comment: MACV non-concurs in the CINCPAC/JCS Joint Survey Team recommendation that a standard procedure for casualty/MIA/detainee reporting and for the maintenance of personal data files for use by all services be established in Southeast Asia. Each military service has developed procedures and forms to satisfy their particular requirements. The information required by the JPRC is contained in all three formats; therefore, a standardized form is not required.

"(4) Recommendation:

Explore the feasibility of introducing singleton agents into POW camps in NVN to persuade guards to defect or permit clandestine operations within the prison.

MACV Comment: MACSOG has evaluated the feasibility of introducing singleton agents into POW camps in NVN. Such an operation is feasible if qualified personnel can be recruited. Existing TIMBERWORK(2) Teams are not considered capable of such operations at this time."

2. (TS) AD HOC Evaluation Group

a. COMUSMACV, in December 1967, formed an AD HOC Evaluation Group (AHEG) to examine the operations of MACSOG and determine whether the results achieved were commensurate with the resources committed to its support. The Evaluation Group's evaluation of the JPRC is contained in Tab 5.

b. Aware of the survey of MACSOG conducted in November 1967, the AHEG related their conclusions and recommendations to those of the CINCPAC Survey Team. Conclusions and recommendations of the AHEG which pertained to the JPRC are provided below:

"(1) Conclusions: The AHEG concludes that:

"(a) JPRC mission and terms of reference are appropriate and adequate.

"(b) The organization and manning level of JPRC as provided for in the JTD submitted for approval is adequate. Personnel assigned are highly qualified and motivated.

"(c) Procedures for obtaining resources for recovery operations and for conducting and coordinating operations are adequate.

"(d) Intelligence received by JPRC has not been adequate for successful recovery operations primarily because collection has not been sufficiently responsive.

"(e) The key element in recovery operations is timely and reliable intelligence. Further, that the absence of this element is at the heart of our lack of success to date. Analysis of the collection effort reveals three areas in which improvement may be possible.

"1. Emphasis on low-level agent potential to collect information on US PW locations within RVN.

"2. Increased emphasis on collection outside of RVN.

"3. Focusing of the total MACV effort through provision of an overall, coordinated PW information collection program.

"(TS) COMUSMACV Letter of 17 March 1968; Subject: Report of Review of MACSOG Programs (C)

"(2) CINCPAC Conclusions/Recommendations:

"(a) The AHEB offers the following in consideration of the CINCPAC Joint Survey Team conclusions:

"1. Conclusion: The new JTD, modified to retain the one D-4 Intelligence Officer space, will be adequate to accomplish the JPRC mission.

"COMMENT: Concur

"2. Conclusion: The terms of reference provide adequate authority for JPRC to perform its functions and discharge its responsibilities.

"COMMENT: Concur

"3. Conclusion: Sufficient communication facilities are available to the JPRC to permit full scope of operations envisioned by the mission.

"COMMENT: Concur

"4. Conclusion: [REDACTED]

Use an additional source of information on prisoners/MIA personnel. Systems should be used in suspect areas in SVN and LAOS to locate prisoners and to gather information on prisoner movements.

"COMMENT: All systems with a capability to collect against known potential sources of US PW information are appropriately tasked. No diversion or concentration of any specific system is considered useful. The present effort is productive and rapid (38 significant reports in the period October-December 67). Responsible personnel are alert to the criticality of this problem and accord it all the emphasis possible.

"5. Conclusion: The largest single problem in location and recovery of detained US/FWMAF personnel is the lack of timely and accurate intelligence data.

"COMMENT: Concur

"6. Conclusion: The JPRC is operating in accordance with the terms of reference issued by CINCPAC, as approved by JCS.

"COMMENT: Concur

"7. Conclusion: The present JPRC has very high potential, competent well qualified leadership, and all personnel possess the required skills and are well motivated toward the mission.

"COMMENT: Concur

"a. Conclusion: The JPRC post-hostilities plan (now in draft form) is adequate and will fulfill the prisoner debriefing requirements.

"COMMENT: Concur

"(b) The AHQ offers the following in consideration of the CINCPAC Joint Survey Team Recommendations:

"10. Recommendation: That the O-4 intelligence officer's position be retained vice the O-3 recommended in the new JTD.

"COMMENT: Concur. A field grade officer is required for an advisory and coordination role on a recovery operation. Three officers are needed for necessary flexibility

"11. Recommendation: [REDACTED] suspect areas to collect intelligence data relating to confinement and movement of US/FWMAF detainees. To this end, MACSOG should coordinate with 7AF to arrive at a mutual agreement on sorties, data to be collected, area of interest, etc. If required, a SICR should be issued to obtain this data.

"COMMENT: Concur. See comment on conclusion above.

"12. Recommendation: That COMUSMACV design a standard procedure for casualty/MIA/detainee reporting and the maintenance of personal data files (photos, authentication systems, emergency addresses, etc.) for use by all services in SEASIA.

"COMMENT: The desirability of such a program should be examined carefully before implementation to be sure that the gains that might accrue are worth the cost of the effort.

"13. Recommendation: That the JPRC continue in its present line of endeavor. It serves an extremely useful purpose in that no other organization or agency provides a central point of contact or focal point for data on MIA/detainees in SEASIA.

"COMMENT: Concur. However, the provision of a focal point for information is secondary to its potential as a recovery agency.

"14. Recommendation: That MACSOG explore the feasibility of developing singleton agent assets specially qualified and trained for introduction into NVN for the purpose of penetrating POW camps for intelligence purposes and to persuade selected POW guards to defect with prisoners, or permit clandestine operations within the prison.

"COMMENT: Concur.

"(3) AHEG Recommendations: It is recommended that:

"(a) CINCPAC Joint Survey Team recommendations as concurred in by this group be approved.

"(b) Steps be taken to focus ARVN attention on the collecting of information on US PWs; that this collection effort be given priority over all but the most urgent tactical requirements; that US advisors to ARVN intelligence officers at Corps level and below be directed to press this program, and that they be provided the means to induce aggressive agent and agent penetration operations to recover PWs within RVN.

"(c) A conference be conducted by COMUSMACV involving all potential collectors of US PW information in LAOS, CAMBODIA and NVN to determine improved means and coordination on measures required for developing greater emphasis on this program.

"(d) MACV J2 prepare an overall, coordinated collection plan or program of overriding priority for PW information."

PART V. JPRC HISTORY - 1968 ()

A. (TS) ORGANIZATION

1. (TS) Based on the previous years' experience in operations, the Center's JTD was revised in 1968. It downgraded the Chief, JPRC billet from an 06 to an 05 grade; and upgraded the Operations/Plans position from 04 to 05. Further, a stenographer (E5) and a yeoman (E5) were added to the Staff.

2. (TS) The JTD, in December 1968, was as follows:

Title	Service	Grade
Chief	AF	05
Opns/Plans Officer	AF	05
[REDACTED]	A	03
[REDACTED]	N	04
[REDACTED]	A	04
[REDACTED]	A	E8
[REDACTED]	A	E7

B. (TS) EVASION AND ESCAPE

1. (TS) Survival Kits. As the result of lessons learned from after action reports, the survival kits were modified to provide the evader with all essential items of equipment consistent with his capability to carry it. Those items which could be pre-packed into a rucksack without increasing the possibility of damage were packed to enable the evader to quickly recover the items and leave the vicinity of the drop.*

2. (TS) [REDACTED]

3. (TS) Briefings. In 1968, JPRC representatives continued to present briefings on the JPRC mission, organization and personnel recovery capabilities to aircrews and E&E personnel of the 7th Air Force, 7th Fleet, and Army Aviation Groups. Live demonstrations of the Fulton Recovery System were included in the briefings.*

C. (TS) REWARD PROGRAM

1. (TS) North Vietnam

a. As part of the continuing program to publicize the Reward Program for the recovery and return of missing US personnel, 4.65 million reward leaflets were wind drifted into the coastal plain of NVN on the night of 25 January 1968. The area covered was from Phu Dien to Dong Hoi and along Highway 7 between Muong Sen and Cua Rao. Plans were made to drop an additional 14 million in these same areas during the following month utilizing C-130 aircraft based at Ubon, Thailand.

b. In July 1968, the Joint Chiefs of Staff requested comments and recommendations from CINCPAC on the desirability of continuing the reward Leaflet Program in NVN. This request was generated in view of the negative results, up to that time, and the fact communist films on US PWs had made extensive propaganda use of the unsuccessful efforts on the part of the US to buy freedom for downed aircrews through the Reward Program.*

c. CINCPAC, in reply to the request from the Joint Chiefs of Staff, recommended that the reward leaflet program in NVN be continued, and based this recommendation on the following rationale:

"(1) Dissemination of the Reward Program to US combatants provides each man with the knowledge that efforts are being made to assist him should he become an evadee or PW. Additionally, it ensures that the NVN populace is aware of the program.

"(2) The leaflet drops in NVN will probably not aid significantly the return of downed pilots because of the internal security and population control exercised by the Government of North Vietnam (GNVN). However, the fact that the GNVN finds it necessary to counter the leaflet drops with a psychological program of their own, attests to their concern on the attempts on the part of the United States to convert their population.

(TS) JCS Msg, 262159Z Jul 1969

~~TOP SECRET~~

F-131

"(3) Discontinuance of the program would have an adverse effect on the morale of US pilots held in NVN since propaganda films indicate they are aware of the program. If the Reward Program were stopped, Hanoi would impart this fact to US prisoners in an effort to create a feeling of hopelessness."

2. (TS) South Vietnam. As a means of stimulating the Reward Program in SVN, the JPRC, in March 1968, determined that leaflet drops should be made in target areas where intelligence indicated PW camps might be located. Subsequently, leaflets were delivered over selected targets in SVN in 1968.

3. (TS) Cambodia. In order to enlist the assistance of the Cambodian people living along the SVN border in rescuing allied personnel from enemy detention camps, the JPRC instituted a Cambodian leaflet program. The leaflet drops were conducted from within SVN by wind drifting leaflets along target tracks that ran through populated areas and communication routes in Cambodia.

4. (TS) Laos

a. A psychological program to advertise the JPRC Reward Program in Laos was initiated in October 1968. It was determined that the basic media would be a series of leaflets targeted on segments of infiltration trails in Laos.*

b. The US Mission in Vientiane, in November 1968, disapproved the leaflet program in Laos and stated that:

"For a variety of internal political reasons and the probability of increasing the jeopardy of the downed U.S. pilots in Laos, we do not want any reward leaflets addressed to the problem of U.S. captured personnel in Laos produced or dropped at this time."

5. (TS) Reward Payments. A review of the weekly BRIGHT LIGHT message reports indicates that the following rewards were distributed in 1968:

Collection Requirements 19

1. ~~(TS)~~ Mindful of the requirement to continuously publicize the need for information relative to the identification, location, and recovery of missing and captured personnel, COMUSMACV, in March 1968, published a more comprehensive Prisoner of War Specific Intelligence Collection Requirement (SICR D-7CX-20000) which superseded SICR D-1E6-14883. So that the JPRC could receive intelligence information rapidly enough to react to it, collectors, under MACV control, were tasked by the new SICR to report PW intelligence information directly to the Center by the most expeditious means consistent with security and the value of the information. 20

The SIR, in turn, was translated into Vietnamese for distribution within the Republic of Vietnam Armed Forces.* A copy of the SIR is contained in Tab 6.

E. (TS) LAOS JOINT MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

1. (TS) Operation TEXAS CREST

a. On 27 February 1968, nine crewmen bailed out of a Navy aircraft that was shot down over Laos. During the search and rescue (SAR) operations (TEXAS CREST) being conducted by JSARC, seven of the crewmen were rescued by helicopter. An eighth crewman was contacted by voice radio, but could not be picked up because of helicopter hoist problems and impending darkness. The ninth man was not contacted.

b. JSARC launched another recovery force at first light on 28 February; however, no contact was made with the eighth crewman, and it was assumed he had broken or lost his radio during the pickup attempt on the previous day. JSARC decided that a limited ground search would be required, and requested the JPRC provide them a BRIGHT LIGHT team for this purpose.

c. Because of the delay encountered in obtaining clearance

Initially, the team was landed in a secondary SAR area because of bad weather at the bailout site. Due to heavy fire, the team was extracted. In the afternoon of the 29th, the team was again launched but returned to Nakhon Phanom, Thailand when the area where the survivor had been seen on the previous day could not be accurately relocated. The SAR was subsequently terminated due to the lack of an objective.

2. (TS) Revision of Agreement

a. As a result of Operation TEXAS CREST, the JPRC initiated a proposal that the Joint Memorandum of Agreement with the 7th Air Force and the American Embassy, Vientiane be revised. The JPRC pointed out that the agreement overlooked the operational situation where the JSARC had to employ ground search teams to carry out its rescue mission. It was recommended that the agreement be rewritten to permit the JPRC to furnish ground search teams to the JSARC on an emergency basis without further clearance but with the understanding that close coordination would be established as soon as possible.*

b. Following working level discussions, the Joint Memorandum of Agreement was modified to permit the JPRC to furnish a ground search team for SAR employment in Laos, on request, prior to termination of SAR efforts.

F. (TS) OPERATIONS - 1968

1. (TS) Operational Procedures. MACSOG, in January 1968, by means of an internal directive, updated SOG branch and section responsibilities and procedures for implementing personnel recovery actions. The directive is found in TAB 7 and is provided for purposes of future analysis. In accordance with the MACSOG internal organization, and as listed in the directive, the JPRC is OP-80, the Operations and Training Division is OP-30, and the Ground Studies Group is OP-35.

2. (TS) Field Operations

(a). Subsequent to the tasking of intelligence collectors in the field to provide the JPRC with PW information by the most expeditious means, the center began to receive a great volume of tenuous information on PW sightings within a few hours after it had occurred. This brought to light the problems of rapid operational reaction required to exploit this type of training information. Formerly each operation was carefully planned with confirmed intelligence along traditional lines, and no PW operations could be conducted without JPRC coordination and approval. This type of exercise yielded virtually no results. Analysis showed that the enemy was taking advantage of planning delays, and was moving prisoners whenever a security leak was suspected.

(b). In April 1968, COMUSMACV issued a new policy ^{change} encouraging field commanders to be alert to the possibility of taking immediate action to recover captured U. S. personnel when sufficient information was available. The fact ^{that} escaped PWs might be able to lead the first forces they contacted to the location where other PWs were being held, was sighted as an example of perishable information, since a situation of this kind offered

F-136

~~TOP SECRET~~

the best, and sometimes, the only possibility of recovery. 1

As an additional means of encouraging rapid reaction to 2 highly perishable PW intelligence, COMUSMACV, in April 1968, 3 cancelled the requirement which required prior approval of 4 the JPRC before recovery operations could be conducted. * 5

(c). Encouraged by several very successful recovery 6 operations following the policy change in April, COMUSMACV, 7 in September 1968, re-emphasized the importance of field 8 forces to take immediate action to recover PWs whenever 9 sufficient evidence was available.  10

3. (TS) Review of Operations. In a review of operations con- 11
ducted prior to, and during 1968, MACSOG concluded that: 12

"a. Prior to 1968, JPRC had conducted 16 PW recovery operations with only one success wherein 20 Vietnamese prisoners were recovered. 13 additional raids were cancelled because intelligence could not be sufficiently developed. It was evident that information reporting was too slow and inaccurate, and operational response was even poorer. Too much time was spent in trying to develop a classical intelligence case and a traditional operation with detailed planning and rehearsal. In the spring of 1968, the JPRC policy was redirected toward faster inputs and immediate local exploitation of the information acquired. The intelligence collection effort was significantly increased and broadened to include all agencies in SEA. The result has been that in 1968 JPRC has conducted 32 PW recovery operations with 8 successes yielding a total of 155 SVN military and political prisoners. Only one operation was cancelled for lack of intelligence development.

"b. In the field of post-SAR operations for the recovery of evading aircrewmembers, JPRC opportunities have continued to decline with the increase in SAR capabilities. Prior to 1968, JPRC had executed 13 post-SAR missions with 5 partial successes. 5 live aircrewmembers and 13 bodies were recovered. In 1968, air activity over hostile territory was sharply curtailed and SAR forces achieved an in-flight refueling capability. The result has been that in 1968 JPRC had only 5 post-SAT alerts and completed but two missions. Although 5 bodies were recovered from a downed helo in Cambodia, restrictions against launching recovery missions against known PW camps in Cambodia remained in effect."

4th Infantry Division Negotiations

(1) A JPRC representative visited the 4th Infantry Division at Pleiku and was briefed on the status of this activity.

(2) A NVN soldier captured approximately two months ago has agreed to carry a message to the B-3 Front Commander. A suitable backup courier is on hand, and all documents and plans have been prepared to carry out the operation. However, CG, 4th Infantry Division considers it advisable to wait until after TET to release the messenger. JPRC concurs.

b. Recovery Operations, 8-15 January 1968

(1) On 031300H Jan 68, [REDACTED] Co, 3/60 Infantry, 9th Division, disappeared from his guard post in the vicinity of [REDACTED]

(2) On 081400H Jan 68, [REDACTED] was sighted in VC hands in the vicinity of [REDACTED]

(3) Intelligence agencies in the Dong Tam - My Tho area intensified their collection efforts. 2nd Brigade, 9th Division, at Dong Tam was briefed on the available information and agreed to conduct a recovery operation if a suitable opportunity arose.

(4) On 10 Jan 68 a JPRC representative, [REDACTED], departed for Dong Tam to act as liaison between JPRC and 9th Division.

(5) The situation did not develop to the point that an operation could be conducted.

(6) At 121115H Jan 68, an armed helicopter from the 114 Assault Helicopter Company attacked a sampan at coordinates [REDACTED] that contained [REDACTED] and two VC guards. [REDACTED] was recovered, one of the guards was killed, and the other guard probably escaped.

(7) [REDACTED] was taken to the 24th EVAC hospital at Long Binh. He did not receive any wounds or injuries and his present health and welfare is good. He is being debriefed by agents of the 525th MI Group.

c. Recovery Operations, 16-22 January 1968*

(1) Operation OLD CROW

(a) This is an opening and closing report.

(b) At 141759H an EB 66 [REDACTED] was shot down at approximately [REDACTED]. Four EWO crewmembers ejected from the bomb bay, followed by three crew members from the pilots compartment. Weather precluded immediate recovery attempts.

(c) A SAR helicopter, [REDACTED], crashed at 151727H while en route to the area in which [REDACTED] crew members were suspected to be downed. By 171440H Jan 68 all five crewmen of [REDACTED] and three of the seven crewmen of [REDACTED] had been recovered. SAR efforts continued, but were hampered because of weather.

(d) At 191200H Jan 68, Chief, SOG, approved proposal to use two BRIGHT LIGHT teams to search the areas in which the [REDACTED] crewmen were downed. [REDACTED] 7th AF, was briefed on the proposal and approved the allocation of air assets to support the operation.

(e) At 200910H two CH-3 helicopters with BRIGHT LIGHT teams aboard, departed Nakhon Phanom (NKP) for the insertion area. While en route, one helicopter was forced down by mechanical difficulties. Landing was made at [REDACTED] (THAILAND), and the other aircraft set down nearby. A spare helicopter arrived and both teams proceeded on their mission. After landing for fuel at LIMA SITE 36 (L-36) in Laos, the helicopter continued. Teams were unable to find suitable landing site in the target area. Fuel supply and approaching darkness forced the helicopters to return to NKP via L-36. Mission was to be attempted again on the 21st.

MISSION WAS TO BE ATTEMPTED AGAIN

(f) Mission was not executed on 21 January because of bad weather and additional planning necessitated by lack of landing site and hostile fire encountered the previous day. At 211700G a meeting was held by JPRC task force commander at NKP to determine if all elements involved in the operation could support the proposed concept. The representatives of the helicopter unit, who were responsible for insertion of the teams into the target area, could not support the concept as proposed because of hoist limitations of CH-3 helicopters. Since no suitable alternatives were available, a decision was made to cancel operations.

(g) On 22 January a strong radio signal was received from the target area and a rescue helicopter was sent to investigate. As the JOLLY GREEN made its approach to the area, it came under extremely heavy ground fire. It is suspected that the area is now under positive enemy control, and that the remaining crewmen of PREVIEW 01 are in their hands.

(2) Operation BLACK KNIGHT. Phase I of this operation (Intelligence collection) is continuing. Several promising contacts have been established with local fishermen and businessmen who operate in the area in which CPT Rowe is suspected to be held. This effort is being conducted with as much caution as possible so as not to disclose the special interest involved.

(3) Operation TEAMSTER

(a) The suspected PW campsite at [REDACTED] was kept under surveillance during the period 17-19 January by a PRU unit. No enemy activity was observed.

(b) This operation is being dropped from the active list of projects.

(4) Operation DAMP ABBEY. There have been no new developments in this operation, and it is being dropped from the active list of projects.

(5) Return of [REDACTED]

(a) At the time of this report we have unconfirmed and incomplete information that two U.S. personnel, [REDACTED] USMC, and [REDACTED] US Army have been returned to U.S. control. [REDACTED] was captured on 14 May 1967 in the vicinity of [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] on 28 December 1966 in the vicinity of [REDACTED]. Both individuals are reported to be undergoing medical treatment in the 2nd Surgical Hospital, Chu Lai.

(b) The individuals were recovered in the vicinity of Tam Ky. Whether or not they were released voluntarily by the VC, or recaptured by U.S. action has not been determined.

(6) Return of [REDACTED]

(a) On 22 January 1968, [REDACTED] previously reported KIA on 7 January 1968, and [REDACTED] reported MIA on 7 January 1968 were returned to USMC control at Danang.

(b) The men allegedly escaped when their VCA guard fell asleep.

(c) Both men are in good physical condition and are undergoing debriefing at Headquarters, III MAF, Danang.

(b) [REDACTED] was captured 14 May 1967, and [REDACTED] 28 December 1966. After initial medical examination and an overnight stay at Chu Lai where they were interrogated for tactical information, [REDACTED] was transferred to III MAF, Danang, and [REDACTED] to 24th Army Evac Hospital at Long Binh. Both were under MI escort.

(c) Initial debrief indicated that both men had been led away from their prison camp and walked for eight days before being released. They stated that they knew nothing of other U.S. PWs or the location of their camp. However, about 25200H under detailed examination, [REDACTED] changed his story and admitted walking only four days from the camp, and stated 10 other U.S. PWs were in the camp. He could identify three, and confirm the death of another.

(d) At 262100H, when confronted with this evidence, [REDACTED] also changed his story. He produced a written list naming 10 U.S. PWs alive in the camp, confirmed the death of another (same man as [REDACTED] named), and gave information which may lead to identification of a caucasian living with the VC guards at the camp.

(e) Efforts are continuing to determine the location of this camp.

(2) Proposed Release of Pilots by NVN. A meeting was held at Tan Son Nhut AB at 291530H Jan 68, to discuss plans for handling [REDACTED] who allegedly will be released by NVN in the immediate future. Participants included representatives from JPRC, 7th AF E&E Office, 7th AF Information Office, NAVFORV, and Det 5, 6499th SAG.

(3) Operation NINE LIVES (4th Infantry Division Negotiation.) This operation was initiated on 30 Jan 68, with the release of a NVA prisoner with a message for the B-3 Front Commander from CG, 4th Division suggesting a battlefield exchange of PWs.

e. Recovery Operations, 31 January - 5 February 1968*

Operation NINE LIVES

(1) A PW, PVT Nguyen Van Be, 3rd Battalion, 174th NVA Regiment, captured on 15 November 1967, in the battle for Dak To, was released at 0850 hours, 30 January 1968, at coordinates [REDACTED]. The PW carried a letter from the CG 4th Infantry Division to Commander B-3 Front.

(2) The letter stated that the CG 4th Infantry Division was prepared to execute a direct exchange of one NVA officer and eight NVA enlisted men for one U.S. Warrant Officer and eight enlisted men held captive by the B-3 Front. Also the CG 4th Infantry Division stated he would be prepared to negotiate. The CG B-3 Front could communicate his reply by either messenger or radio. Radio frequencies, dates (1 Mar to 7 Mar 68) and time for communications were included.

(3) The PW was instructed to deliver the letter personally to the CG B-3 Front. When last observed the PW was walking at a quick pace west on Highway 512 towards the Cambodian border.

(b) The plan was to insert the team at the location of the known downed crewman on 28 February to conduct a limited area ground search and extract the team the same day. A delay was encountered in obtaining permission from AMEMB Vientiane and permission was finally granted for operations on 29 February.

(c) A team was inserted briefly in the morning of 29 February at a secondary landing zone because of bad weather in the prime search area. They were extracted because of heavy fire in the LZ. The primary area was searched for three hours from the air in the afternoon but the survivor's location could not be pinpointed sufficiently to warrant insertion of the team.

(d) The SAR effort was terminated at 1700H on 29 February because of lack of objective (no contact since 27 February). The BRIGHT LIGHT teams were returned to Danang 292230H.

(e) Special reconnaissance will be flown over the area continuing through 6 March in order to detect evidence of survivors. JPRC is prepared to immediately launch teams to the area if the crewmen are located. Steps are being taken to streamline procedures with Vientiane in order to expedite such emergency assistance to JSARC.

The validity of the story will be confirmed if the names of the US PWs are received.

JPRC will provide assistance as required.

(4) Operation DADE BEACH

(a) On 28 March, JPRC received information that an RF soldier had escaped from a PW camp in the vicinity of [REDACTED]. The RF soldier stated that he had seen two US soldiers at the camp and was willing to lead a recovery force to the camp site.

(b) A JPRC representative went to Danang to coordinate a BRIGHT LIGHT operation. SOG forces were alerted, and were moved to an area from which they could be launched into the target area. Planning continued through 29-30 March. The source made an aerial reconnaissance and confirmed the general location of the alleged camp. Insert of a BRIGHT LIGHT team was scheduled for 31 March with appropriate reaction forces standing by.

(c) On 29 March, a US Marine patrol was operating approximately 4-5 kilometers north of the suspected camp site. Enemy activity forced them to deviate from their planned patrol route, and they traversed the area which the BRIGHT LIGHT team was scheduled to search. At the suspected site they found an abandoned bivouac site.

(d) The Marine patrol conducted a thorough search of the area in which the camp was suspected to be, further search was considered unnecessary and this operation was terminated.

(a) The operation was scheduled to begin on 14 May, but was delayed because of the physical condition of one of the two escapees who was to accompany the recovery force.

(b) During the delay the escapees were interrogated in greater detail on their knowledge of the exact location of the cave in which [REDACTED] were alleged to be held. The escapees admitted that they had never actually seen the cave as they had claimed earlier. They had been told about the cave, but they knew its general location. They were positive that the three civilians were there, and that they could lead a recovery force to the site.

that they could lead a recovery force to the site.

TOP SECRET

(c) At approximately 191000H May 68, a six man team (4 PRUs, one escapee, and one PF soldier) was inserted at coordinates [REDACTED]. Their mission was to infiltrate to the cave, neutralize the guards, and call for helicopters to evacuate themselves and the recovered prisoners to safety. A reaction force was available to assist as needed. All team members were dressed as VC to facilitate their movement in the area. It was estimated that the infiltration would take six or seven days.

(d) The teams movements were restricted from the outset because of extensive enemy activity in the area. The team made contact with an enemy unit on the night of May 20. Because the team's presence in the area had been compromised, and their movements so restricted, they requested that they be withdrawn. The team was exfiltrated at 210915H May.

(e) Alternative approaches to the problem are being examined.

u. Recovery Operations 22-28 May 1968

(1) Operation DAYTON INDIAN. The 11 AGR contacted [REDACTED] the plantation director, on 24 May. He had not been able to recontact the VC during the past week because of enemy activity. He will continue efforts at negotiations for PW release.

(2) Operation RAYBURN CANE.

(a) The PRU team inserted at [REDACTED] on 191600H May 1968 to infiltrate to the cave in which the civilians [REDACTED] were alleged to be held was exfiltrated on 210915H May because of enemy activity in the area.

(b) The team and the ex-PW were extensively debriefed. Intelligence personnel concluded that the three UW PWs had been moved in April from the camp at [REDACTED]. Their route of movement was along the stream between [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. Additionally, the cave in which the three were supposed to be held was in the vicinity of [REDACTED] rather than at BP [REDACTED].

~~TOP SECRET~~

(c) On 250900H May, two Special Forces (CIDG) recon teams, led by US personnel, were inserted in a landing zone at [REDACTED]. Their mission: reconnoiter the stream from [REDACTED]. One of the teams will recon the cave site at [REDACTED]. A reaction force is available if needed.

(d) Both teams have made frequent sightings of enemy forces. On the afternoon of 28 May, one of the recon teams became heavily engaged with an enemy unit. A platoon-size reaction force is being committed to assist them in breaking contact. The other team continues its mission.

(3) Recovery Operation near My Tho

(a) On 24 May, information was received that an unknown number of US personnel were being detained by a VC unit in the vicinity of [REDACTED]. On 25 May, a VN source reported that he could lead a force to a location at [REDACTED] where several US and VN personnel were being held prisoner.

(b) The 9th Infantry Division conducted a recovery operation in the vicinity of the above coordinates. The VN source accompanied the force. The operation was terminated on the evening of the 25th with negative results.

V. Recovery Operations, 29 May - 4 Jun 1968*

(1) Operation RAYBURN CANE

(a) On 29 May, the reaction force that had been committed to replace one recon team recovered two VN PW on a trail, vicinity [REDACTED]. On 30 May, these individuals led the force to a PW camp at [REDACTED] where two VN PW were recovered and one VC guard was KIA. The force was then led to a deserted PW camp, vicinity

[REDACTED] Later in the afternoon while searching the area, two more individuals who were identified as VN PW were recovered and another PW was found hiding in a cave. Finally, on 31 May, three more PW were recovered as the team prepared for extraction from an LZ at [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] The force and PW were extracted on 31 May.

(b) After debriefing at Ban Me Thuot, it was determined that the recovered PW had not seen [REDACTED] since shortly after the PRU raid on 8 April when the Americans were moved to another camp. All of the PW were employed as farm laborers by the VC and had been held at the camp at [REDACTED] until they fled during the attack by the reaction force on 30 May. The PW had been afraid to escape because the VC told them they would be killed by the Americans.

(c) On 30 May, the second recon team was exfiltrated after six days on the ground. It was replaced by a platoon-size force accompanied by one of the original ex-PW sources. Shortly after the force left an LZ at [REDACTED] they recovered a PW who was recognized by the source. These two individuals then led the reaction force to a PW camp, vicinity [REDACTED] and a cave used as a PW camp at [REDACTED]. Both were deserted, but the camp had been recently occupied and had three buildings still under construction. The force was extracted on 31 May.

(d) As a result of the operation, 11 PW were recovered, two VC were KIA and one weapon taken. Five of the recovered PW had been village officials. Two of the PW camps at [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] were destroyed. There were no friendly casualties.

(e) This area remains of intense interest to the JPRC. It is a known VC PW detention area and the VC are unlikely to leave the area since the valley running from [redacted] to [redacted] is a major source of food and water. Although the American PW were not recovered, it is felt that they are still in the area since at last report, they were in poor physical condition, and the VC will probably keep them near the food and water supply. Efforts will continue to localize PW camps within the area.

(2) Recovery Operation by 173d ABN BDE

(a) On 24 May, JPRC received information that on 19 May, two US negro PW were seen at [redacted]. On 28 May, a company of the 173d ABN BDE conducted an assault into the area. No PW were found, but 11 detainees were taken. One of them stated that one US PW had been there, but had been moved to [redacted] 10 days ago.

(b) On 30 May at 1200H, two companies of the 173d ABN BDE made a combat assault on An Do. No US personnel were found, nor was any evidence located that would verify the reported information.

(c) Although this operation was fruitless, the quick response by the 173d ABN BDE to this perishable information was laudable. Such operations in accordance with recent MACV PW recovery instructions will insure a higher probability of success in future recovery efforts.

(3) Return of [redacted]

(a) [redacted] and [redacted] USMC, were captured by the VC on 301045H May 68 in the vicinity of [redacted]. They were moved to an area in the vicinity of [redacted]. The men escaped at about 010900H June 68 under cover of an ARVN attack, and made their way to the ARVN unit who returned them to US control.

w. Recovery Operations, 5-11 Jun 1968*

(1) Operation DAYTON INDIAN. No new developments. This operation will be placed in inactive files until the VC contact the plantation director again.

(2) Operation PREBLE RIDGE

(a) There have been repeated reports of US PW being held in several camps along the Song Giang River, west of Quang Ngai. Up to 18 US may be held between [REDACTED] and [REDACTED].

(b) A JPRC representative is in Danang coordinating plans for the insertion of recon teams into this area. These SOG teams will be supported by reaction forces from the American Division when required. Tentative insertion date is 13 June.

x. Recovery Operations, 12-18 Jun 1968

Operation PREBLE RIDGE

(1) Four recon teams were inserted in separate AO vicinity [REDACTED] on 15 June. All four came under enemy attack on 16 June and were extracted.

Friendly 1 WIA, enemy 2 KIA. No evidence of PW camps located.

(2) Since area appears to be enemy base camp, Americal Division is planning to sweep area. They will have secondary mission to recover US PW. JPRC representative is participating in planning for operations

z. Recovery Operations, 26 Jul - 2 Jul 1968

Operation PREBLE RIDGE

(1) The Americal Division is conducting a battalion-sized operation through the PREBLE RIDGE AO. Known as VANCE CANYON, the operation commenced at the east side of the area on 21 June and will last as long as operations in the area are productive.

(2) During the first week's operations, there was light enemy contact. An arms cache was captured at [REDACTED] on 26 June. Total results for the week were: friendly - 5 WIA; enemy - 6 NVA KIA, 46 individual weapons and nine crew-served weapons were captured. No PW camps were located.

Operation PREBLE RIDGE. The Bn operation conducted by the American Division in the PREBLE RIDGE AO was terminated this week with no further significant contact. No signs of recent PW activity were found, and this area has been removed from the high probability PW camp areas.

bb. Recovery Operations, 10-16 Jul 1968

(1) [REDACTED] Operation. On 9 July an element of the 5th Special Forces Group conducted an operation against a PW camp alleged to hold 26 PW including an ARVN officer. The position of the camp [REDACTED] was reported by an alleged escapee on 7 July and was confirmed by a US FAC. The PW camp was found as described; however, it had been abandoned.

(2) 25th Division Operation

(a) On 9 July, the JPRC received reports concerning an underground bunker at [REDACTED] alleged to hold 20-40 US and GVN PW, and coordinated the planning of a recovery operation with the 25th Division.

(b) Operation commenced at 161200H July with 4/23D Mech attacking from the road in the vicinity of [REDACTED] to seize the PW camp.

(c) The source who provided the information is accompanying the attacking force. At the time of this report, the force had not located the alleged came site.

cc. Recovery Operations, 17-23 Jul 1968

(1) 25th Division Operation

(a) The operation by 4/23D Mech to locate an alleged underground PW bunker was conducted on 16-July in the vicinity of [REDACTED] with negative results. The source accompanied the APCs but was unable to locate the bunker. He stated that he believed the PW camp to be 2 km further NE.

(b) Another sweep was conducted on 20 July in the vicinity of [REDACTED] with negative results. The 25th Division is conducting other operations in this AO and will be alert to recover the PW if located.

(2) Operation MILWAUKEE ROAD

(a) On 21 July, the JPRC received a report of two separate sightings of three Caucasian PW in the vicinity of Quan Loi [REDACTED]. A JPRC representative arrived at Quan Loi on 22 July, and it was decided to launch a recovery operation on 23 July using a platoon of PRU and a platoon from SOG assets. The 1st Bde, 1st Inf would provide a company, reaction force, and artillery and air support.

(b) The operation commenced at 230630H, with two platoons landed by helo at [REDACTED]. A Montagnard source accompanied the force, which proceeded with light enemy contact toward the objective. At 231330H the force located an enemy base camp at [REDACTED] consisting of 14 buildings and 15 to 20 bunkers with blankets, tools and medical supplies. The camp contained no PW and only a two or three-man guard force.

(c) As of the time of this report, preparations are being made to extract the forces.

dd. Recovery Operations, 24-30 Jul 1968*

(1) Operation MILWAUKEE ROAD

(a) The base camp located at [REDACTED] had been abandoned within the hour. The PRU and SOG teams were extracted by 231700H and the base camp was destroyed by artillery fire.

(b) The Montagnard source and guide was debriefed on the evening of 23 July. He was very frightened by the helo ride and shooting, but affirmed that they had reached the base camp where the PW had been sighted five days previously.

(2) 173d ABN Operation

(a) On 28 July, the JPRC received information that sources of the 173d ABN BDE had reported the presence of four US POW in the Cay Giap Mountains [REDACTED]. The 173d ABN BDE has planned and started an operation to recover the PW.

(b) At 290300H two seven-man long-range patrols (LRP) were inserted by boat at [REDACTED]. The teams are to infiltrate to two camps reported at [REDACTED] respectively. As of the time of this report, the LRP are proceeding normally and have made no contacts.

(c) Artillery, gunships, FAC and a company reaction force are available for support. If the LRP operation fails to locate the PW, it is planned to insert two PRU for additional reconnaissance.

ee. Recovery Operations, 31 Jul - 6 Aug 1968*

(1) 173d ABN BDE Operation

(a) The first LRP completed its mission to investigate alleged PW activity at [REDACTED] on 3 Aug with negative results, and was extracted.

(b) The second LRP located an occupied enemy camp at [REDACTED] on 2 Aug. One VC who awoke and discovered the LRP was silently killed. The team investigated their target at [REDACTED] with negative results. On 3 Aug the team returned to the camp at [REDACTED] finding it just abandoned. A building was found that had been used to house PW. GI socks and a web belt were found indicating presence of US PW. A list of 99 VN PW and other documents were taken.

(c) On 4 Aug a BN cordon and search operation was conducted at Kuan Vinh village with negative results.

(d) Additional agent reports located possible PW activity at [REDACTED]. These sites will be investigated during the next few days. The abandoned PW camp will be placed under surveillance by 7 Aug. A JPRC representative is at Bong Song to assist in planning further recovery operations in this area.

(2) 11th LT INF BDE Operations

(a) JPRC received information on 2 Aug that an agent had reported a PW camp on 31 July alleged to contain 30 US and 25 ARVN PW at [REDACTED]. The camp was reported to have been active about one month, and the source was willing to guide a recovery operation.

(b) The 11th LT INF BDE conducted a company airmobile assault on 4 Aug, landing at [REDACTED]. The source led them down several trails, but became disoriented and lost. The company searched the entire valley to the south without enemy contact, and was extracted at 041600H at BS 5864.

ff. Recovery Operations, 7-13 Aug 1968*

Operation CUSTER LANCE (Formerly 173d ABN BDE Operation)

(1) Company cordon and search operations were conducted on villages at [REDACTED] on 7 - 11 Aug. No prisoners were found, and detainees questioned provided no new information on PW locations.

(2) Five LRP are engaged in searching for reported PW camps throughout the mountain area. The abandoned PW camp at [REDACTED] was placed under surveillance on 7 Aug. Two Sandia seismic detection devices were emplaced near the camp on 12 Aug.

(3) The 173d ABN BDE forces were augmented by two BRIGHT LIGHT teams of 12 men each on 9 Aug. One team is attempting a military prisoner snatch in an AO vicinity [REDACTED] and

gg. Recovery Operations, 14-20 Aug 1968*

Operation CUSTER LANCE. The two BRIGHT LIGHT teams were extracted 16 Aug upon completion of their missions and returned to Danang on 17 Aug. The 173d ABN BDE continues to monitor the Sandia devices, and to keep the PW camp at [REDACTED] under surveillance. Operations in and around the Cay Ciep Mountain area will continue for another week in attempts to localize any US PW.

hh. Recovery Operations, 21-27 Aug 1968

Operation CUSTER LANCE. The 173d ABN BDE has thoroughly searched the area and believes the enemy forces and PW have moved out. The PW camp located at [REDACTED] was the only evidence of US PW found. All forces have been removed from the Cay Ciep Mountain area because of other operational commitments. However, the Sandia devices near the abandoned PW camp are being monitored from the air, and a reaction force is available if the enemy returns.

Operation CRANBERRY BOG

(1) On 28 Aug, JPRC received a report from Can Tho that two Vietnamese escaped from a PW camp at [REDACTED] on 27 Aug, and alleged that the camp contained 35 VN prisoners and eight US PW. The camp was guarded by only eight VC. A JPRC representative was flown to Can Tho.

(2) A Provincial Reconnaissance Unit (PRU) raid was planned for the night of 30-31 Aug. The raiding party consisted of one US SEAL PRU Advisor, the two escapees, and one PRU. Special equipment was provided by JPRC including radios, IR strobe lights, a small life-raft, explosive bolt cutters and starlight scopes. The team was inserted at 1800 in an ARVN outpost at [REDACTED] about 3000 meters from the PW camp. At midnight, they began their infiltration to the camp under cover of a US PAC employing the starlight scopes. The raft was used to transport the radios and weapons across the river to the PW camp.

(3) At dawn, a reaction force of 60 PRU was airborne in helos near the camp site, and was supported by four gunships. The raiding party attacked the guards and killed two VC while the others ran. The reaction force landed and cordoned off the area. A total of 49 VN prisoners, mostly ARVN and RF-PF, were found shackled and standing in trenches filled with water chest deep. They were liberated, and interrogated immediately regarding the US PW. There were no friendly casualties.

(4) It was determined that the US PW has been removed from the camp on 28 Aug by an estimated enemy Bn, and taken in an unknown direction. A search of the area revealed no clue as to the fate of the eight US. Detailed interrogation of the VN prisoners is continuing. The two sources were rewarded by CORDS for their services.

Operation DOGWOOD KNOT

(1) On 13 Sep, JPRC received information that two US PW were being held at [REDACTED] They are kept in a hut at night along the RVN side of a stream that is the border between Cambodia and RVN. In daylight hours, they are dispersed in sampans on the river.

(2) Reportedly, one of the VC guards wants to defect with the PW, but is unable to get them away from the village. The source was returned to the area to gain further intelligence.

(3) Planning is underway for a recovery operation in the early morning hours of 19 Sep whether the source returns or not. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] A company-sized CIDG unit will be landed immediately by helo to search the huts along the stream. Suitable air assets and reaction forces are available to support the mission.

ll. Recovery Operations, 18-24 Sep 1968

(1) Operation DOGWOOD KNOT

(a) The operation planned for 19 Sep was canceled because of dated intelligence, inundated landing zones making an airmobile assault marginal, and the likelihood of enemy fire support from and PW removal to the Cambodian side of the stream.

(b) On 21 Sep, new intelligence was received when the agent returned from the village at [REDACTED] The two US PW have been moved to the vicinity of a Cambodian

(c) The agent has returned to the area and was instructed to try to have the sympathetic guard bring the US PW out for the reward money. The agent is due to report out on 24 Sep.

(d) Attempts are being made to confirm the presence and obtain the identity of the two US alleged prisoners. The area is under close surveillance in the event the prisoners are returned to RVN, and plans have been formulated for a recovery operation. Because of the thin intelligence and the 11 Americans still detained in Phnom Penh, no clearance for an operation into Cambodia is sought at this time.

(2) Operation AZALEA CREEK

(a) A female prisoner escaped from a VC prison camp vicinity [REDACTED] on 17 Sep. The camp was alleged to hold 70-100 VN prisoners and two US PW. The source was willing to guide a recovery operation.

(b) A JPRE representative was sent to Can Tho, Bac Lieu, and Ca Mau to coordinate the operation. After necessary coordination with SA IV Corps, 21st ARVN Div, SA An Xuyen Province and the Province Chief, an operation was launched at first light 21 Sep.

(c) A RF Company with US advisors and command element was landed by helo. Tactical air and naval gunfire support were available but not required. The camp was located, but had been abandoned. Further ground search located 25 Vietnamese prisoners hidden in elephant grass and guarded by one female VC.

(d) The guard and three VC suspects were captured, and the prisoners liberated. Debrief of the prisoners reveals that the operation was compromised. The VC removed the prisoners at midnight before the operation in two groups. The second group of about 20 VN PW was moved toward the U-Minh forest, and was not found. The prisoners had heard of two US PW being kept in the area, but had never seen them. There were no casualties.

(3) Operation CUSTER LANCE. The 173d ABN BDE continues patrol activity in the Bong Son area to investigate spot reports of US PW in the area. The Sandia devices which were planted at the abandoned PW camp at [REDACTED] on 10 Aug are still active and being periodically monitored from the air.

Operation SAGINAW LAKE

(1) On 10 Sep, the 11th Armored CAV REG received information that a PW camp was located in an enemy base area vicinity [REDACTED]. Agents were sent to gain confirming information. On 27 Sep, additional information was reported from two different sources, alleging the presence of nine US PW, a hospital, ammo plant and supply area which is heavily defended.

(2) Detailed planning and coordination is underway for a multi-battalion cordon and search operation to recover the PW and destroy the base camp. JPRC is participating in the planning and will provide special teams and equipment to secure the PW if required.

nn. Recovery Operations, 2-8 Oct 1968

(1) Operation SAGINAW LAKE

(a) Planning for this operation continues. On 2 Oct a JPRC representative visited the 11th Armored CAV REG to assist them in formulating a concept for the operation. The tentative plan envisions a multi-battalion cordon and reaction force to exploit intelligence of the target area obtained by Special Forces or PRU recon teams. A target date for execution of this operation has not been established at this time due to other tactical priority missions.

(a) On 5 Oct, the Vinh Binh PRU conducted a unilateral prisoner recovery operation against a VC camp at [REDACTED].

(b) The camp location was provided by a woman who received a clandestine message from her husband who was being held in the camp. She reported the information to a PRU soldier who passed it to his US advisor.

(c) This operation resulted in the recovery/liberation of 27 VN prisoners. There were no friendly casualties.

(d) Detailed debriefing of the recovered prisoners is being conducted to determine possible knowledge of US PW in the area.

(e) This is the third successful recovery operation conducted in the Delta in little over a month.

oo. Recovery Operations, 9-15 Oct 1968*

(1) Operation SAGINAW LAKE. Planning responsibility has been shifted to CQ 1st INF DIV because of the scale of the required operation. Current concept calls for verification of PW camp positions by PRU recon teams followed immediately by cordon and search operations, extraction of any PW located, and destruction of the enemy base area. This target will not be struck until after 20 Oct due to prior commitments.

(2) Operation SAGE BRUSH

(a) On 15 Oct, JPRC received information that a VC PW camp was located at [REDACTED]. The source, the wife of a VC guard, alleged there were five US and 80 VN PW in the camp guarded by 40 VC. One of the US is reportedly a

(b) A JPRC representative was flown immediately to Ca Mau where IV Corps representatives were planning for a recovery operation. The concept is not firm at this time, but will involve a PRU raiding force supplemented by other IV Corps assets. This operation will be conducted ASAP.

pp. Recovery Operations, 16-22 Oct 1968*

(1) Operation SAGINAW LAKE

(a) Since 17 Oct, three attempts have been made with PRU recon teams to confirm the location of the PW camps. In one case, the PRU team leader was killed, and the camps have not been confirmed.

(b) Further attempts are being made to insert recon teams in the area. CG 1st DIV is prepared to conduct the operation as soon as verification of the PW location is achieved.

(2) Operation SAGE BRUSH

(a) A recovery operation was conducted on 18 Oct at the alleged PW camp at [REDACTED] A 120-man PRU force with US leadership searched the area for four hours without locating any PW or enemy activity. A VC village was located 2 km from the site with only women and children present. The village fortifications were destroyed, with no casualties on either side.

(b) Extensive debrief of sources, guides and village residents is being conducted in order to determine the causes and motives for the apparent deception and

(a) The II FFV LRRP Company has been committed to the recon mission for this operation. The operation commenced on Oct with the insertion of four teams for an estimated three day mission. An air cavalry reaction force is available, and up to two battalions can be committed from the 1st Division if recon results warrant exploitation. A JPRC rep has been present at all planning meetings, and the LRRP have been furnished silenced/weapons and chain cutters.

(b) Two of the LRRP's made contact with enemy forces of unknown size shortly after insertion and required extraction. The other two teams are still on the ground and are operational. The two extracted teams will be re-inserted today.

(2) Operation JUNIPER BERRY

(a) On 27 Oct JPRC was advised that a woman had escaped from a PW camp at [REDACTED] on 24 Oct. The camp was alleged to contain 1 U.S., 56 ARVN, and 20 civ prisoners, and to be guarded by 12 V.C. AJPRC rep was flown to Can Tho, and a PRU operation planned for 28 Oct.

(b) The escapee, the wife of the Chief of Staff (ARVN) for Ba Xuyen Province, would not accompany the raid. At 0800 on 28 Oct a force of 50 PRU was landed on the target without opposition. Some bunkers were located, but it did not appear to be a PW site. The force was moved to [REDACTED] a more likely looking area, and two VC were detained. The area was searched from the air and ground until 1030 when all forces were extracted. A detailed debriefing is underway.

(1) Operation SAGINAW LAKE

(a) Four LRRP teams were maintained on the ground in the AO from 29 Oct through 3 Nov. They thoroughly searched the area finding enemy patrols, fighting positions, and other evidence of enemy occupation but no large camps or facilities.

(b) A conventional battalion sweep of the area commenced on 5 Nov and will be terminated on 6 Nov unless results warrant a larger effort.

ss. Recovery Operations, 6-12 November 1968 **

(1) Operation SAIGNAW LAKE. A battalion sweep through the AO was completed on 6 Nov. A small abandoned enemy camp was located, but no evidence of a PW camp was found. This operation is terminated.

(2) Operation RAYBURN CANE III

(a) Further information has been gained from an escapee from the camp complex in eastern Darlac Province. There are three possible camp sites where three U.S. missionaries may be held. An operation has been planned to search for the camp in the vicinity of [REDACTED]

(b) A special leaflet has been produced designed to encourage aid to the missionaries. These leaflets are mixed with regular reward and Chieu Hoi leaflets, and are to be dropped in the base area complex on 12 Nov.

(c) A special recon team of 15 men will be inserted on 16 Nov with a planned search mission of three days. Air support and a company reaction force will be provided by I FFV. URC-64 radios, M-79 pump guns, a silenced M-16 and special signalling equipment were provided through JPRC.*

(1) Operation RAYBURN CANE III.

(a) Additional questioning of source and visual recon flown 15 Nov indicate source escaped from camp at [REDACTED]. This is in the immediate area of three PW camps located on Operation RAYBURN CANE II in May 68, indicating that the PW camp complex has been reoccupied.

(b) A special recon team of three U.S. and 12 indigenous members was inserted at [REDACTED] at last light on 17 Nov. They are proceeding toward the objective area with no enemy contact during first 48 hours. The team is prepared to continue until PM 21 Nov and a company reaction force is standing by for insertion if an occupied PW site is located.

uu. Recovery Operations, 20-26 November 1968 **

(1) Operation RAYBURN CANE III.

(a) This operation was terminated 211150 Nov when the recon team was extracted after being compromised and tracked by enemy forces. While making the 201700 Nov radio contact the team had established a small perimeter vic [REDACTED] when two VC scouts walked up on the team and observed them. The two VC scouts turned and ran down the trail before the team could react. Shortly after they were compromised the team heard two shots which are normally used by the VC in that area to sound an alarm.

(b) The team had observed a large VC village approx one kilometer west of their compromised location and they felt an enemy search force would soon saturate the area. An extraction was requested.

(c) The PAC on station selected an extraction LZ but the team was unable to reach the LZ before dark. They selected a secluded area to await first light and as soon as the morning haze lifted on 21 Nov the team was extracted from [REDACTED] without incident.

(d) A plan is being developed to infiltrate Montagnard scouts into the area to determine if the U.S. prisoners were moved as a result of the recon team being observed. When the PW camp location has been confirmed, a follow-up operation is planned.

(2) Operation NORFOLK TAR.

(a) An NVA rallier who turned himself in to the 1st Cav Div last week has disclosed the location of a PW camp at [REDACTED]. The camp is reported to contain two U.S. and at least eight ARVN prisoners. Polygraph tests indicate the source is probably telling the truth.

(b) Source believes he can guide a recovery to the camp and has volunteered to accompany U.S. forces on this operation.

(c) Co A, 5th Special Forces Group has developed a concept of operation and will execute a recovery attempt as soon as the concept is approved by II FFORCEV. The JPRC will continue to monitor this operation and will provide assistance as required.

vv. Recovery Operations, 27 November - 3 December 1968*

(1) Operation NORFOLK TAR.

(a) The operation was approved and supported by II FFV. Co A, 5th SFQ was to conduct the raid on 1 Dec after infiltration of a recon team on the night of 30 Nov. There was a Bn from the 1st Cav Div and one Troop of Air Cav as reaction force.

(b) The recon team was inserted at 2300 on 30 Nov and was accompanied by the Hoi Chanh. After moving toward the objective for two hours, they observed a line of 25 to 30 flashlights moving abreast towards them. Artillery was called in and the lights went out. About 30 minutes after the artillery ceased the lights went on again and continued to close. The recon team returned to the LZ and was extracted, 1 and Spooky (AC-47) was called in on the search party. 2

(a) Because of the compromise and the OB indicating 3 two NVA regiments in the area, the assault was terminated. 4
The source refused to return to the area. Co A, 5th SFG 5 plans to redevelop the target area when enemy action 6 subsides. 7

(2) Operation SAGE BRUSH II. 8

(a) On 18 Oct 68 a PRU force raided an alleged PW camp 9 at [REDACTED] The source for this operation was reporting 10 hearsay evidence of a PW camp in the area, and had not actually 11 seen the camp. The camp was not found on the raid. 12

(b) On 1 Dec an escapee from the same camp was re- 13 covered by the PRU. He has been extensively interrogated 14 and polygraphed. He was in the camp at the time of the 15 October raid, and heard the loudspeaker aircraft which were 16 employed. He estimates the actual camp position about 1500 17 meters from the raided site (about [REDACTED]). This source 18 confirms that there are three U.S. prisoners in the camp. 19

(c) Planning is underway for a second recovery operation 20 in the next 72 hours. A JPRC representative is present, and 21 special equipment will be furnished. 22

(3) Recovery of Bodies from Helo Crash. 23

(a) On 27 Nov a UH-1 from the USAF 20th Helo squadron 24 was shot down in Cambodia at [REDACTED] with 10 persons on 25 board. Five men were rescued alive by another helo from 26 the 20th squadron. The remaining five were believed killed 27 in the fire. 28

(b) On 29 Nov a recovery team was inserted at the site. 29
After checking for booby traps and finding no sight of enemy 30 activity, the team recovered the remains of five persons. The 31 team was extracted without contact. 32

(1) Operation ELM STREET

(a) ELM STREET is the code name which has been given to the pending operation being developed by IV Corps Hq and the Ministry of Chieu Hoi in Kien Giang Province.

(b) Information obtained on 16 Dec indicates there are probably six U.S. prisoners being held in the camp instead of the four prisoners previously reported.

(c) The VC platoon leader has been provided with a small camera and a note book with instructions to obtain pictures of and biographical data on the prisoners.

(d) Negotiations will continue in an attempt to effect their release.

(2) Operation SAGE BRUSH II

(a) Information is still filtering out of the area in which this operation was conducted. Local inhabitants have stated that seven VC cadre were killed by the gunships at [REDACTED] They further stated that the prisoners were moved because of a planned naval operation in the area. They said they had no forewarning of the recovery operation.

(b) Documents captured during this operation consist of notebooks, memoranda, personal letters, interrogation reports and PW rosters as well as rosters of the VC Security Section in Cai Nouc District and other Security Agencies of Ca Mau Province, and VC MR-3. In addition, the PW camp SOP and regulations, interrogation instruction booklets and VC EEI were among the captured documents. Initial readout of these documents reveal there is a complex of six separate camps in the area containing 444 prisoners. A detailed readout of these documents is in progress.

(c) It is believed the prisoners will be moved to a new location as a result of this operation. PRU assets are acceptance of them as Hoi Chan.

(c) At the last meeting between Chieu Hoi officials and KKK representatives no mention was made of VC elements being involved in the rally or of enemy held U.S. PW.

(2) Operation SEATTLE FAIR

(a) A 525 agent from Phan Thiet, who operates in the vicinity of [REDACTED] reported 13 U.S., 16 ROX, 1 Filipino and numerous VN PWs were located in the vicinity of Ong of the enemy's installations in the area. Allegedly this force was moved out of the area on 20 Dec till afternoon of 22 Dec. NADPhan Thiet decided that they would react to this information on 20 Dec.

(b) NAD initiated planning immediately and noticed the JPRC with an intent message on 21 Dec. JPRC reps were dispatched and attended a final mission briefing at 211600H Dec. IFPV designated Task Force South as the Command element.
In order to accomplish the mission before the 302 VC Bn returned to the area the action team had to be inserted,

Operation SAGE BRUSH II was conducted but was based on what 14 was thought to be more current intelligence. There was negative 15 enemy contact during instruction and very few people were 16 in the objective area. The reported camp was not found. 17
One VC hospital, completely stocked with medical supplies and 18 equipment was found. One cache consisting of an 82mm mortar 19 and seven rounds of mortar ammunition was also found in the 20 area. There were no friendly casualties. No personnel were 21 recovered. 22

PART VI. JPRC HISTORY, 1969

A. (TS) ORGANIZATION

JPRC Missions/Functions

1. (TS) In June 1969, MACSOG published an Organization and Functions Manual which set forth the mission and functions of the Center. The JPRC is identified within the MACSOG organization as Recovery Studies Group, MACSOG-80, and under JPRC Director is divided into Administrative, Intelligence and Operations Sections.

2. (TS) Tab 8 contains the mission of the Center and the functions of the Director and the Intelligence and Operations Division as prescribed in the manual.

B. (TS) EVASION AND ESCAPE (E&E)

1. (TS) Survival Kits

a. The Seventh Air Force, in coordination with the JPRC, took steps, in 1969, to update and incorporate recommended changes in the E&E aerial delivery kits.

b. It was determined that two kits would be pre-positioned at both Danang AFB and Nahkon Phanom RTAFB. [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

2. (TS) [REDACTED] Debriefing

a. On 31 December 1968, [REDACTED] escaped from the VC after having been a prisoner for five years. The information provided by [REDACTED] was determined to be invaluable in assisting the JPRC to develop guidance and procedures for future recovery operations.

C. (TS) REWARD PROGRAM

1. (TS) Program Review. In conjunction with JUSPAO and the Psychological Directorate of J-3, COMUSMACV, the JPRC, in June 1969, began a long-range review of the PW psychological operations and reward program for the purpose of making the entire program more effective. Major areas to be reviewed were media, themes, target audience, and locale. It was expected that this review would take several months to accomplish and could produce a more comprehensive program.

2. (TS) Reward Payments. JPRC records indicate that during the first six months of 1969, the following rewards were paid as part of the reward program.

a. A Vietnamese farmer received $400 for recovering the remains of [REDACTED], 1st Cavalry Division, who had been MIA since 1 April 1968.

b. A Vietnamese farmer was paid $400 for recovering the remains of [REDACTED], 9th Infantry Division, who had been MIA since 19 February 1968.

c. A reward payment of $100 was made to a Vietnamese civilian who located the remains of [REDACTED] US Navy.

d. [REDACTED] who recovered the bodies of two Air Force officers found at an A-26 crash site were paid $400.

D. (TS) OPERATIONS

1. (TS) Field Procedures. In 1969, field force commanders promulgated standardized procedures in order that recovery operations for PWs could be launched with a minimum loss of time. These steps were initiated as the result of the COMUSMACV policy change which encouraged field commanders to be alert to the possibility of taking immediate action to recover PWs when sufficient information was available. Tab 10 is an example of a directive of this type which was published by Headquarters, I Field Force, Vietnam.

2. (TS) MACSOG Support of JPRC. Because of the continuing difficulties encountered in coordinating conventional force operations, MACSOG, in July 1969, tasked each of the three command and control (C&C) Detachments to be prepared to provide, on call, an exploitation force of up to one company of men to conduct PW recovery operations.* The TOR which established this additional support to the JPRC by MACSOG forces is contained in Tab 11.

3. (TS) Chronology of Operations, 1969. Following is a chronology of recovery operations and related activities during the period 1 January 1969 to 2 September 1969 as reported by the JPRC.

a. Operations, 1-7 Jan 1969

(1) Operation ELM STREET

(a) [REDACTED] a USAID employee, was in contact with the alleged VC camp commander on 3 Jan and the defection of the VC guards with five US PWs was "arranged" for 041430 Jan. (b) The VC commander said he would ignite a yellow smoke grenade at 1430 hours to mark his and the PWs location. The C&C helicopter would land at that location, covered by gunships and LOHs, pick up the defectors and the PWs and take them to Ha Tien. . . .

(c) To avoid an ambush and to provide a force to sweep the area once the pickup had been made, a reaction/recovery force of one CIDG company would be available from the Ha Tien Special Forces camp.

(d) At 041430 Jan, the recovery helicopter was over the target area but there was no signal from the ground. At 1500 hours, the CIDG company was inserted, the area was sealed off and a thorough search of the area was conducted. The area is flat, relatively open with very little cover or concealment for a camp. The sweep revealed that there was no camp nor people in the target area.

(e) [REDACTED] and his "assets" could not explain why there was nothing in the area or why the pre-arranged "defection" did not materialize.

(c) The information pertaining to camp locations provided by MSG FITZER who was released in Oct 67 was extremely accurate.

(d) The lessons learned from the initial debriefing are being collated by JPRC and forwarded to field units.

(a) On 1 Jan 69, the VC returned SP4 BRIGHAM, SP4 JONES and PFC SMITH to US control

(b) Initial debriefings by 525th MI Group and JPRC representatives disclosed the following:

1. During their detention, they observed or heard mentioned 10 other US prisoners. There is some confusion as to the names of these 10 PWs and the 525th MI Group is developing this list.

2. [REDACTED] appeared to be highly confused concerning dates, times and locations. Based on the initial debriefings, it appears they will have only limited knowledge or information that will assist the JPRC.

b. Operations, 8-14 Jan 1969*

(1) Attempt to Recover Downed USAF O-1 Pilot in IV CTZ

(a) On 11 Jan 69 at approximately 1630 hours, the JPRC was notified by JSARC that O-1 BIRDDOG was either shot down or crashed in the IV CTZ at [REDACTED]. The crash site was approximately five kilometers NE of Cao Lanh. A JOLLY GREEN which was on the scene, inserted a PJ who reported that the pilot [REDACTED] and a Vietnamese backseat observer were not in the aircraft nor in the immediate area of the crash site. He reported the O-1 was not heavily damaged; there was no apparent battle damage and he did not see any blood in or around the aircraft. A recovery force of one RF/PF company was on the ground to guard the aircraft and to search the area for the missing crew.

(b) The JPRC took immediate action to notify NAVFORV of the situation to alert all Navy vessels in the area of the possibility that the O-1 crew might have been captured, in which case they would probably be moved by sampan. A reward leaflet drop was requested and flown over the search area. The ground search continued until dark.

(c) At approximately 1610 hours 12 Jan 69, LTC LONG, Deputy G-2, IV CTZ, telephoned JPRC and stated that contact had been made through friendly villagers by the captors of [REDACTED] and the ARVN observer and that they were willing to release them for three million piasters each. A representative from JPRC was sent to Cao Lanh to attempt a negotiation for the release. [REDACTED] JPRC, arrived at Cao Lanh at 121815 Jan and coordination was initiated. ARVN agents were sent out to establish contact with the captors and to arrange details for a meeting. The 44th STZ planned an operation to seal off the area of interest in the event the negotiation failed. At 0900 hours 13 Jan 69, [REDACTED] and an ARVN interpreter flew to an outpost north of Cao Lanh to attempt to locate the enemy negotiator or a liaison party to establish contact. Upon landing at the outpost, the ARVN company commander of the outpost stated that two of his agents had spotted the body of an American in the vicinity of [REDACTED] and they were sure that it was [REDACTED] notified [REDACTED] PSA, of the situation. One company was inserted into the area and the body was recovered at 131050 Jan. Apparent cause of death was multiple gunshot wounds. The ARVN Lt is MIA.

(2) 25th Infantry Division Operation. The JPRC is dropping efforts to have an operation conducted in the 25th Division AO to recover five US and an unknown number of ARVN PWs reported at [REDACTED]. The initial intelligence on this target was obtained on 30 Nov, but the 25th Div has not been able to mount an operation due to the enemy threat to Tay Ninh City. Chances for a successful operation at this late date are remote.

(3) US PW Sighting in III CTZ

(a) On 9 Jan 69, the JPRC received a report from IFFV rated C-3 with information on a possible sighting of three US PWs in Bo Trenar Hamlet, Phouc Long Province at [REDACTED]. The source reports there are only six enemy guards with the prisoners.

(b) The JPRC has recommended to II FFV that a recovery operation be conducted in that area using PRU or Special Forces assets. This target is within five kilometers of the Bu Dop Special Forces camp.

(1) Operational Planning for Recovery of US PWs in III CTZ. The JPRC received a message from USAINTC (Port Holabird) re: the debriefing of [REDACTED] who was released by the VC on 1 Jan 69. [REDACTED] stated that his first place of confinement was in a cave at the base of either Nui Ba Den or Nui Cau. This was the third unrelated report of a VC PW camp at one of the above locations. As many as five US PWs have been reported in the same general area at [REDACTED]. On 18 Jan, the JPRC sent a message to II FFV recommending a recovery operation be conducted against this target. Coordination has been effected between JPRC, II FFV and Co. A, 5th SFGA to conduct a recovery operation between the period 25-29 Jan.

(2) US PW Sighting in III CTZ [REDACTED] G-2, II FFV reports that these PWs have been moved to an unknown location.

(3) Movement of US PWs into Cambodia

(a) Since the escape and recovery of [REDACTED] the JPRC has received several unconfirmed reports of US PWs being moved into Cambodia.

(b) It is too early to verify these reports or to conclude that as a result of [REDACTED] escape, the enemy is attempting to preclude friendly recovery of US prisoners by moving them across the border. However, US field commanders are being alerted to this possibility.

d. Operations, 22-28 Jan 1969

(1) NUI BA DEN Operation

(1) On 24 Jan 69, the female Hoi Chanh knowledgeable of the PW cave at Nui Ba Den was escorted by JPRC personnel from the National Chieu Hoi Center in Saigon to Co. A, 5th SFGA in Bien Hoa. She was interrogated by Co. A personnel and will stay there for several days. Co. A has conducted a visual reconnaissance (VR) with the male Hoi Chanh and plan to conduct a VR with the female Hoi Chanh as soon as possible.

(b) Also on 24 Jan 69, JPRC personnel accompanied by personnel from Hq, 525th MI Group, visited the 3d Bn (Provisional), 525th MI Group and tasked their assets with the mission of determining if the cave installation in the Nui Ba Den area is still active.

(2) Prisoner Sightings. Information has been received that on 23 Jan 69, a large group, exact number unknown, of ARVN and two US prisoners were in the vicinity of Tan Thanh(H) [REDACTED] Tan Hoa(V), Giong Trom(D), Kien Hoa(P). Reports have been received of a VC PW camp in the vicinity of [REDACTED], but this is the first report of US PWs in the vicinity. On the request of 4th Groups G-2, a JPRC representative departed on 28 Jan 69 to coordinate a rescue operation.

e. Operations, 29 Jan-4 Feb 1969*

(1) NUI BA DEN Operation

(a) The recovery operation against the Nui Ba Den cave installation is planned for 8 Feb 69. It has been reported that there are six US PWs being held in the cave and they are guarded by an estimated force of 50 VC.

(b) Co. A, 5th SFGA will attack this target with one reinforced mobile Strike Force Co. The 25th Inf Div will provide one battalion as a ready reaction backup force.

(c) The insertion of the Special Forces recovery force will be preceded by a CS gas strike five minutes prior to target time.

(d) It is anticipated that the majority of the enemy's early warning posts in the target area will be neutralized shortly before insertion of the recovery force.

(e) Representatives from the JPRC will accompany the recovery force and the C&G element to assist in any was possible.

(2) Recovery Operation in KIEN HOA Province. On 30 Jan, word was received from an agent in the vicinity of the reported PW camp [REDACTED] that the US prisoners had been moved to an unknown location. Planning for this operation was stopped pending further information on the new location of the US PWs. Intelligence collection effort on this target will continue.

f. Operations, 5-11 Feb 1969*

(1) NUI BA DEN Operation

(a) On 4 Feb 69, Do Van Ba, the male source, was administered a polygraph examination at Co. A, 5th SFG. The test was conducted in the Vietnamese language with the assistance of a Vietnamese interpreter. Source was tested to determine whether or not he has knowledge of five US PWs being held by the Viet Cong.

(b) During the pre-test interview, source was required to cover his entire background, his story about his VC activities, and his story concerning the US PWs. After relating his story twice, he started changing minor details and later started changing major details. He was then interrogated and confessed that he had never been a VC and that he fabricated the entire story of the US PWs. He confessed that he had never seen any PWs and had never been to a cave on Nui Ba Den. He had heard rumors of five US PWs being held on Nui Ba Den and when he was turned over to the 25th Infantry Division, he embellished on the story

J. Operations, 5-11 Mar 1969*

(1) Recovery Operation in III CTZ

(a) 1st Infantry Division received several reports that the enemy had a PW camp site vicinity [REDACTED]. They worked on developing this information on 4-6 Mar 69.

(b) Combat response was taken to exploit this information on 6-8 Mar 69 through use of ambush and reconnaissance in force. No evidence was found to suggest that a PW camp was ever located near [REDACTED]

(2) [REDACTED] a German

(3) Four US Aircrewmembers Held by Cambodia. A representative from the Australian Embassy in Phnom Penh briefed AMEMB Saigon and selected MACV personnel on the status of [REDACTED]. He believes that these men will be released shortly after the Cambodian Government receives President Nixon's message.

K. Operations, 12-18 Mar 1969*

(1) [REDACTED] Sighting. A [REDACTED] was sighted in Laos in the vicinity of [REDACTED] by the AAIRA from Savannakat on 13 Mar 1969. Jprc notified 4802 JLD and JSARC to be alert for the [REDACTED] and to attempt to confirm and make contact with the evader. On 14 March an A1 was directed into the area. The pilot located the [REDACTED] and confirmed that there were several people in the area. On 16 March 4802 JLD identified the evaders as FAR personnel, soldiers and dependents gathered for evacuation.

(2) Possible US Prisoner Sighting by One of Four US Crewmen Released by Cambodia. While [REDACTED] was being led into what appeared to be a VC training camp, approximately 20-27 miles northwest of Go Dau Ha, he observed three persons of large build with sacks over their heads and their hands tied. Because of their size, [REDACTED] thought they might have been US PWs.

(2) Potential Hoi Chanh and 21 US PWs Held in Cambodia

A Vietnamese civilian who claims to be a VC liaison agent in the Chau Doc area of IV CTZ has contacted the National Chieu Hoi Center in Saigon and reported that his brother is a PW camp commander in Cambodia. The agent stated that he and his brother desire to Chieu Hoi with seven (7) security guards and 21 U.S. PWs allegedly being held in the camp. Representatives from JPRC and the Chieu Hoi ministry met with the agent and he claims to be able to provide JPRC with a list of names of the prisoners to include date and place of capture. When and if the agent can provide the information, to establish his credibility, a firm plan will be formulated and a specific date selected for the rally attempt. IV CTZ G-2 advisor, IV CTZ Joint Intelligence Center and the C.O. Co D, 5th SFG were briefed on 26 June on the possible requirement to support a pickup operation.

FROM

For many years the North Vietnamese authorities with the support of international communism have been plotting to dominate South Vietnam by force. The Army and people of South Vietnam, with the help of allies and friends, are fighting to defend their freedom.

Some soldiers of Vietnam's allies have sacrificed their lives in support of the people's struggle against communist totalitarianism. Some allied soldiers are held prisoners illegally by the communist Vietnamese forces. Friends, please help these allied soldiers, rescue them from enemy detention camps. Bring them or give information of their location to a district or provincial chief's office of the RVN, or to an ARVN or US military Post.

BACK

Your action will earn the gratitude of all freedom-loving people. Your action will also be richly rewarded, and your safety will be assured. 1. For rescuing allied personnel and returning them to safe bases you will be rewarded with 600,000$VN. 2. For giving information enabling ARVN or US forces to free these men from communist detention camps you will be rewarded with 60,000$VN. 3. For giving exact information of the location of allied prisoners held by the communists you will be rewarded with 18,000$VN after your information is authenticated.

JOINT MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT

1. INTRODUCTION: Recent efforts to recover downed aircrewmembers in Laos point out the need for some standardization of procedures among Joint Personnel Recovery Center, U.S. Embassy Vientiane, and [REDACTED]. Although each rescue or recovery effort must be handled as the individual tactical situation requires, certain communications, control and support requirements remain the same.

2. PROCEDURES: In normal circumstances, SAR missions in Laos are accomplished by the air rescue resources of 7th/13th AF based in Thailand and deployed in forward areas of Laos. Coordination for the use of these assets in the case of aircrewmembers downed in Laos is effected between 7th/13th AF headquarters in Udorn and [REDACTED] Vientiane, acting for U.S. Embassy Vientiane. Occasionally, when special circumstances warrant, rescue is effected under [REDACTED] helicopters with air support assets either from Thailand or from Laos. It is only when these several resources are unable to accomplish rescue that the Joint Personnel Recovery Center (JPRC) is brought into action.

[REDACTED] Experience thus far has shown an almost immediate need for three or four CH3C helicopters and a flight of A1E or A-26 escort aircraft. Such aircraft must be available on an alert basis and backed up with spares. Since operations of this nature inevitably last for several days, it will also be required that 7/13 AF make air support, including close air support, available as requested throughout the operation. Succeeding day's operations will be coordinated with 4802 JLD on a daily basis and resources should be allocated as required from Vietnam based aircraft as well as Thailand based aircraft.

2. (TSL) Organization:

a. The JPRC is a major element of MACSOG and the Chief of JPRC reports directly to Chief, SOG.

b. The JPRC is organized into three branches: Intelligence Branch, Operations and Plans Branch, and a Support Branch. The JPRC is currently authorized five officers and three enlisted men. A modified JTD has been submitted based on the past years' experience in operations. The currently authorized JTD and the proposed JTD are shown below:

Present JTD				Proposed JTD
TITLE	SVC	GR	NR	SVC	GR	NR

[REDACTED]	A	E7	1	A	E7	1
Yeoman			0	N	E5	1
TOTAL EN: 3				5

The JPRC is presently organized and functions along the lines described above. JPRC is considering recommending that the proposed intelligence officer, O3, be upgraded to O4 in order to have three field grade officers so that at least one will be available to go to the scene of an operation to act as an advisor and coordinator. The Chief and one alternate are SI cleared and their freedom of travel is restricted. It is considered desirable to have a field grade officer as an advisor on an operation.

3. (TSL) Resources Available/used/needed:

a. No forces for recovery are assigned to or under the OPCON of JPRC. However, two reconnaissance teams from those used in SOG cross-border operations are maintained on alert status to provide a ready reaction element.

b. Forces under OPCON of MACSOG are used for operations whenever possible. When larger forces are required or the situation indicates,

TOP SECRET

F-233

other MACV elements are tasked as appropriate through COC. Primary forces for recovery operations are those assigned to MACV. If additional forces beyond MACV capabilities are required, they may be requested from CINCPAC.

c. For recovery of US personnel in IV CTZ, II FFORCEV is tasked to provide forces since there are no US troop units under control of SA IV CTZ. An OPLAN 10-67 of 31 July 67, delineates tasks and responsibilities of CG II FFORCEV which include provision of up to one infantry battalion and two assault helicopter companies to be provided to OPCON of SA IV CTZ; one infantry company within 12 hours and one battalion within 24 hours.

d. Communications available to JPRC are adequate and include a secure voice telephone circuit between JPRC and the Joint Search and Rescue Center (JSARC) at Tan Son Nhut. The many and varied communications channels and points of contact available to MACSOG make SOG an ideal organization to control the JPRC.

e. The current arrangement for providing forces for JPRC operations appears logical and appropriate.

4. (TSL) Planning/Coordination:

a. Recognizing that each operation is unique, planning for a recovery action follows this general pattern:

(1) JPRC receives information or intelligence concerning location of a PW camp or other significant indicator. Information may be received as a spot report from a field unit or as the result of an interrogation of a captured VC or a CHIEU NOI rallier.

(2) An area study is conducted for other information about PWs in the immediate area of the alleged camp.

(3) If the source is available for interrogation, a polygraph is requested. This is coordinated through 525th MI Group.

(4) If necessary, REI are sent through MACV J2 to collection agencies operating in the vicinity of the suspected PW camp.

(5) Photograph and/or IR imagery is requested, normally through 7th AF.

(6) When sufficient information is available to indicate that a PW camp is located in a particular area, JPRC presents this information to MACV COC and recommends that the senior US tactical commander in the area be tasked to evaluate the information to determine if a raid is feasible. If a recovery operation is feasible, the commander in the area is tasked to conduct the recovery operation.

TOP SECRET

F-234

Tab 5 to

b. Coordination and liaison is accomplished by JPRC as follows:

(1) Liaison/coordination is maintained with AMEMB, SAIGON. Through these agencies the JPRC is able to maintain the necessary in-country liaison with other agencies such as the National Police, CORPS, and USAID. Points of contact include the Political Office of the AMEMB; FVN, LAOS, and CAMBODIAN Affairs Office, JUSPAC; and the Office of Special Assistant, SOA. No contact is maintained with other country agencies in South Vietnam.

(2) No permanent liaison is maintained with out-of-country agencies; however, frequent contact is made with AMEMB in VIENTIANE and BANGKOK as well as CINCPAC, PACAF, PACFLT, 7AF, and 7TH Fleet.

(3) A MACV letter of 14 January 1967, subject: Command Relationships, describes the in-country relationships between SOG and the senior US tactical commanders within the CTZs. As a matter of practice, JPRC keeps COC and key officers in each CTZ informed as possible operations within RVN become apparent. This liaison has served to permit senior US commanders to plan ahead as operations develop and to a large extent avoid sudden and disruptive drawdowns on their combat operations. MAC COC indicates this coordination has improved considerably in the past year.

(4) Areas of operation and agencies with which JPRC coordinates recovery operations are:

(a) South Vietnam: with AMEMB, SAIGON prior to initiation.

(b) LAOS: with AMEMB, SAIGON, and approved AMEMB, VIENTIANE and CINCPAC prior to initiation. If THAILAND based forces are involved, recovery operations will also be coordinated with AMEMB BANGKOK prior to initiation.

(c) North Vietnam and CAMBODIA: with AMEMB SAIGON and approved by CINCPAC prior to initiation. If overflight of LAOS is involved, coordination with AMEMB VIENTIANE is necessary.

(5) JPRC also monitors the Escape and Evasion (E&E) program in Southeast Asia on a careful and continuous basis. JPRC has influenced and made contributions to this program in the following areas:

(a) Monthly code letter. The JPRC is responsible for the selection and publication of the monthly code letter used as a recognition symbol by evading air crewmen without radio communication.

~~TOP SECRET~~

F-235

~~TOP SECRET~~

(b) Survival Kits: Survival kits, capable of being delivered by either high or low performance aircraft, have been prepositioned in five locations in SVN and two locations in THAILAND. These kits contain items that would assist individuals in their evasion efforts. JPRC is responsible for designating the contents of these kits, recommending preposition sites, supervising packaging, and kit replacement, and for delivery of kits to the preposition sites.

(c) [REDACTED]

(d) Reward Leaflet Program: The Reward Leaflet Program is also a JPRC directed activity. Some 41.5 million leaflets have been dropped in RVN and LAOS. Plans are being made to expand this program to include a CAMBODIAN language leaflet. A leaflet program for the SVN/CAMBODIAN border area should commence sometime in February.

5. (ISL) Conduct of Operations/Coordination:

a. As pointed out earlier, operations are normally carried out under the operational control of the senior US tactical commander in the area.

b. Coordination with agencies outside the tactical commander's sphere of influence is accomplished by JPRC. Such coordination may include:

(1) Requesting assets from MACV or CINCPAC that are not available to the local commander, such as naval support, special type weapons, and specially trained personnel.

(2) Coordination with other agencies such as AMEMB SAIGON, or VIENTIANE, JCS and CINCPAC.

(3) Arrangement for evacuation and treatment of returnees. JPRC also coordinates hospitalization, evacuation and debriefing arrangements directly with the component commands.

c. After a raid has been conducted, plans call for evacuation of returnees to a point designated by the component command, where they undergo preparations for evacuation to CONUS. Returnees are debriefed by intelligence personnel from their service. A team, usually consisting of two men, will usually accompany returnees to CONUS. A JPRC representative is present at the initial debriefing to determine returnee knowledge of other PWs.

~~TOP SECRET~~

[REDACTED]

a. Throughout the conduct of these operations, JPRC is responsible for keeping higher headquarters informed.

6. (TSL) Results Obtained:

Since activation, the JPRC has been involved in 53 individual operations. These have included six raids against PW camp sites, five reconnaissance patrols against suspected PW camp sites, and four search operations to recover downed pilots. The raids and reconnaissance patrols have recovered no US personnel, but the four search operations resulted in the recovery of the bodies of two pilots and the recovery of five downed airmen. Twenty GVN nationals held prisoner by the VC were recovered during raids against two of the camp sites. On 8 November 1967, JPRC coordinated a rescue effort in LAOS that resulted in the recovery of four US personnel. Six US KIA were also located in the area. These six had previously been listed MIA as a result of the same incident (Missing and Captured Personnel in SEA are at Inclosure 1).

a. The essential nature of the JPRC operation makes cost a secondary consideration. Actually the cost has been negligible unless the forces used in the several rescue operations are considered. In some instances battalion sized forces with helicopter support were employed with no results. This will undoubtedly happen again in the future because of the nature of the targets.

b. Operational expenses of JPRC less the forces committed have been insignificant. $253.75 has been paid under the reward program. Small incidental expenses for special items such as bolt cutters, hacksaws, and weapon silencers have been incurred.

8. (TSL) PSYOPS: The JPRC is supported in its reward leaflet program by JUSPAO who designs the leaflets, by MACVPD who is responsible for delivering the leaflets, by 7th PSYOPS Group who prints them, in coordination with 4th PSYOPS Group who is responsible for final packing of leaflets before they are delivered by 7AF. JPRC coordinates its PSYOP program primarily with MACPD and JUSPAO.

d. JPRC is in close daily contact with the most important sources of intelligence: MACJ2, the Joint Search and Rescue Center (with whom a secure telephone link has been established), CAS in SAIGON and VIENTIANE, 525th MI Group, Detachment 6, 6499th Special Activity Group, MACV COC, 7AF TACC, 7th Fleet CIC's, and US Embassies in Southeast Asia. Close coordination is maintained with all components of MACV both in gaining information and in keeping the components informed of PH intelligence in their areas.

10. (TSL) Future Plans:

11. (TSL) Discussions:

a. The mission and objectives of JPRC appear to be adequately stated and complete. Terms of reference provided by CINCPAC provide sufficient authority for JPRC to conduct its mission. The priority that has been afforded to JPRC efforts, to include the provision of forces let, as indicated by operations conducted, been sufficient. Whenever an operation has been indicated the response by all concerned has been rapid and marked by thorough cooperation even to the point of standing down combat operations to permit use of essential resources.

b. The organization of JPRC and its location within MACSOG appears appropriate to the nature of the operations and the availability of communications and liaison facilities afforded. The proposed JTD changes will improve the capability of JPRC to perform its mission.

c. The resources available appear to be adequate in that virtually any resources within MACV can be provided as required and are furnished on the highest priority basis.

d. Planning and coordination procedures appear to have been worked out over the time since formation of JPRC to a point where the operations can be conducted with relative smoothness and a minimum of turbulence in other combat operations. Coordination with MACV COC and the components has reached a point where JPRC keeps all concerned informed of possible pending recovery operations so that preparations can be phased rather than to present a last minute disruption of other activities.

e. Results obtained have been low. However, this is not an indication of weakness in the system. Rather it can be traced primarily to the lack of timely, accurate intelligence due in large part to the precautions taken by the enemy for security of PWs.

(2) The second area is in collection outside of SVN. Here again, the problem appears to be emphasis and motivation. Means to achieve emphasis and motivation among potential collectors in LAOS, CAMBODIA, and NVN need to be found.

(3) Third in this area is the apparent need for an overall coordinated collection plan or program established by MACV J2 which would tie together all possible collectors of PW information, establish appropriate priorities and wide-range effort on this problem.

12. (TSM) Conclusions: The AREG concludes that:

a. JPRC mission and terms of reference are appropriate and adequate.

b. The organization and manning level of JPRC as provided for in the JTD submitted for approval is adequate. Personnel assigned are highly qualified and motivated.

c. Procedures for obtaining resources for recovery operations and for conducting and coordinating operations are adequate.

d. Intelligence received by JPRC has not been adequate for successful recovery operations primarily because collection has not been sufficiently responsive.

e. The key element in recovery operations is timely and reliable intelligence. Further, that the absence of this element is at the heart of our lack of success to date. Analysis of the collection effort reveals three areas in which improvement may be possible.

(1) Emphasis on low-level agent potential to collect information on US PW locations within RVN.

(2) Increased emphasis on collection outside of RVN.

(3) Focusing of the total MACV effort through provision of an overall, coordinated PW information collection program.

13. (TSL) CINCPAC Conclusions/Recommendations:

a. The AREG offers the following in consideration of the CINCPAC Joint Survey Team conclusions:

Conclusion: The new JTD, modified to retain the one O-4 Intelligence Officer space, will be adequate to accomplish the JPRC mission.

COMMENT: Concur.

Conclusion: The terms of reference provide adequate authority for JPRC to perform its functions and discharge its responsibilities.

COMMENT: Concur.

Conclusion: [REDACTED]

COMMENT: All systems with a capability to collect against known potential sources of US VJ information are appropriately tasked. No diversion or concentration of any specific system is considered useful. The present effort is productive and rapid (38 significant reports in the period October-December 67). Responsible personnel are alert to the criticality of this problem and accord it all the emphasis possible.

Conclusion: The largest single problem in location and recovery of detained US/FMMAF personnel is the lack of timely and accurate intelligence data.

COMMENT: Concur.

Conclusion: The JPRC is operating in accordance with the terms of reference issued by CINCPAC, as approved by JCS.

COMMENT: Concur.

Conclusion: The present JPRC has very high potential, competent well qualified leadership, and all personnel possess the required skills and are well motivated toward the mission.

COMMENT: Concur.

Conclusion: Escape and Evasion programs conducted by the services in SEASIA are progressing in a satisfactory manner. JPRC is monitoring these programs closely in an attempt to standardize casualty, MIA/detainee reporting procedures.

COMMENT: Concur.

Conclusion: The JPRC post-hostilities plan (now in draft form) is adequate and will fulfill the prisoner debriefing requirements.

COMMENT: Concur.

b. The ANTC offers the following in consideration of the CINCPAC Joint Survey Team Recommendations:

Recommendation: That the O-4 intelligence officer's position be retained vice the O-3 recommended in the new JTD.

COMMENT: Concur. A field grade officer is required for an advisory and coordination role on a recovery operation. Three officers are needed for necessary flexibility.

Recommendation: [REDACTED]

ment and movement of US/FILIPF detainees. To this end, MACSOG should coordinate with 7AF to arrive at a mutual agreement on sorties, data to be collected, areas of interest, etc. If required, a SICR should be issued to obtain this data.

COMMENT: Concur. See comment on conclusion above.

Recommendation: That COMUSMACV design a standard procedure for casualty/MIA/detainee reporting and the maintenance of personal data files (photos, authentication systems, emergency addresses, etc.) for use by all services in SEASIA.

COMMENT: The desirability of such a program should be examined carefully before implementation to be sure that the gains that might accrue are worth the cost of the effort.

Recommendation: That the JPRC continue in its present line of endeavor. It serves an extremely useful purpose in that no other organization or agency provides a central point of contact or focal point for data on MIA/detainees in SEASIA.

COMMENT: Concur. However, the provision of a focal point for information is secondary to its potential as a recovery agency.

Recommendation: That MACSOG explore the feasibility of developing singleton agent assets specially qualified and trained for introduction into NVN for the purpose of penetrating POW camps for intelligence purposes and to persuade selected POW guards to defect with prisoners, or permit clandestine operations within the prison.

COMMENT: Concur.

14. (TSL) ANEG Recommendations: It is recommended that:

a. CINCPAC Joint Survey Team recommendations as concurred in by this group be approved (see para 13b above).

b. Steps be taken to focus ARVN attention on the collecting of information on US PW's; that this collection effort be given priority over all but the most urgent tactical requirements; that US advisors to ARVN intelligence officers at Corps level and below be directed to press this program, and that they be provided the means to induce aggressive agent and agent penetration operations to recover PW's within RVN.

c. A conference be conducted by COMUSMACV involving all potential collectors of US PW information in LAOS, CAMBODIA and RVN to determine improved means and coordination on measures required for developing greater emphasis on this program.

d. MACV J2 prepare an overall, coordinated collection plan or program of overriding priority for PW information.

DIRECTIVE
NUMBER 500-1

23 January 1968
(SOG - OP-80)

ACTIONS TO SUPPORT OP-80 REQUIREMENTS (U)

1. (U) PURPOSE: To develop responsive procedures for implementing personnel recovery actions.

2. (S) GENERAL:

a. It must be realized that the facts and circumstances associated with each recovery operation may and probably will be different than the previous or next recovery operation. Therefore the instructions in this directive are general in nature and will have to be tailored to each specific recovery operation. It is imperative that all personnel involved in a recovery action be aware of the necessity for an expeditious, well planned response. Advance preparation, insofar as possible, should be taken to preclude time consuming delays at critical times to insure proper coordination and supervision of actions taken.

b. OP-80 will provide command and control for the operation, OP-30 will provide or arrange for required air support, and OP-35 will provide ground forces. Other sections will provide support as required.

3. (S) RESPONSIBILITIES: The following responsibilities are listed to provide all concerned with the tasks each Branch/Section will be expected to execute.

a. OP-80.

(1) Alert OP-30 (Operation and Training Division) and OP-35 (Ground Studies Group) to pending recovery operations as soon as the requirement is known.

(2) Coordinate with OP-30 and OP-35 in formulating the proposed recovery plan.

(3) Provide task force commander for execution of approved recovery plans, and advise OP-30 of additional requirements or changes in plans. Central control point will be established at SOG CCO.

(4) Conduct briefing of approved plan for all task force elements assigned.

(5) Provide guidance to all concerned regarding procedures for processing recovered personnel.

* This directive supersedes MACSOG Directive 500-1, 10 January 1967.

(6) Coordinate and establish liaison with U.S. and Allied departments and agencies to insure additional supporting forces are obtained when required.

(7) Insure that appropriate embassies have approved BRIGHT LIGHT team staging through their areas of interest when required, and necessary notification and coordination is accomplished.

(8) Insure that adequate quantities of emergency equipment/supplies rigged for paratroop to personnel to be recovered are prepositioned at designated locations.

b. OP-30:

(1) Provide direction to the appropriate operations sections as to actions to be taken.

(a) Establish liaison with appropriate agencies to insure that correct lines of communications are established for expeditious response to air support requirements. The following procedures pertaining to the Seventh Air Force have been established:

1. Out-of-Country Support:

a. Call 7AF Commander Operations Center (AUTOCSEVCCG 3405 or Talk Quick 412) and ask for the Senior Controller. Inform the Senior Controller that a BRIGHT LIGHT requirement follows, outline the situation and inform him when air support is required.

2. In-Country Support: For immediate action requests, call 7AF TACC Command Post (Talk Quick 416) and ask for the Senior Controller. Outline the situation and inform him what air support is required.

(2) Monitor actions taken to insure they are executed properly and expeditiously.

(a) Upon notification that a recovery operation is to be executed, OP-32 will take the following actions:

1. Assign an Air Liaison Officer to OP-30 to monitor, advise, supervise, and respond to air support requirements.

2. Submit air support requests to Seventh Air Force Command Post which may include but are not limited to:

a. Transport (fixed wing/helicopter)

b. Forward Air Control

3. Provide transportation for OP-80 task force control party and airlift of OP-35 forces as required.

4. When required, provide a tactical air liaison representative for support to C & C Detachment during the conduct of recovery operations.

c. OP-35:

(1) Train reconnaissance teams and command and control party to qualify for execution of personnel recovery missions.

(2) Upon receipt of order to execute a recovery mission execute the following actions:

(a) Alert C & C Detachment to designate forces to execute the mission.

(b) Insure that the designated forces are equipped with identifying bands and English language cards.

(c) Request that the Intelligence Division provide available maps, order of battle, and current intelligence in mission area.

(d) Provide OP-30 with air support requirements.

(e) If required, request that OP-30 provide a tactical air liaison representative to assist the C & C element.

(f) Designate a mission project officer and advise all concerned.

(g) Request that OP-80 conduct the necessary coordination and arrange necessary clearance for personnel and/or equipment into other countries concerned.

(h) Coordinate with Chief, Communications Branch and insure that required communications equipment accompanies reconnaissance team or will be available at the launch site.

(i) Deploy team as expeditiously as possible.

d. Intelligence: Provide available maps, order of battle, and current intelligence as requested by OP-30, OP-35, and OP-80. Coordinate requests for aerial reconnaissance.

e. Communications: Provide communications equipment and facilities as requested by OP-30, OP-35, and OP-80.

4. (U) REPORTS: It is the responsibility of the senior OP-80 representative to insure that periodic reports are submitted through available communications channels, to the Chief, SOG. Reporting times or frequency are not specified; however, reports should be submitted on a timely basis to keep all concerned apprised of the current status of operations.

RECOVERY STUDIES GROUP (MACSOG-80)

MISSION

1. (S) To act as the staff cognizant agency and joint coordinating authority within MACSOG for post-search and rescue personnel recovery operations and as such develops requirements for collection of intelligence and other data necessary concerning detained and missing personnel.
2. (S) To assist in providing guidelines for debriefing of recovered personnel.
3. (S) To provide E&E briefing data to component commands and interested agencies.

FUNCTIONS

DIRECTOR

1. (S) Advises the Chief on all matters pertaining to the recovery of US and allied personnel.
2. (S) Supervises the operations of the Recovery Studies Division.
3. (S) Develops plans and procedures for search and recovery operations and Escape and Evasion programs within the theater of operations.
4. (S) Acts as coordinator during recovery operations involving air, ground and naval recovery forces.

INTELLIGENCE SECTION

1. (S) Develops requirements for collection of timely and accurate intelligence and other data required for personnel recovery operations.
2. (S) Collates, analyzes, evaluates and maintains intelligence files concerning detained and missing personnel.
3. (S) Develops operational intelligence and prepares studies of areas of interest to the Recovery Studies Division to determine the feasibility of initiating

REGULATION
NUMBER 381-3

27 February 1969

MILITARY INTELLIGENCE

Procedures for Recovery of FVMAF Prisoners of War (POWs)

1. (C) PURPOSE: To standardize procedures in order that recovery operations for FVMAF POWs can be launched with a minimum loss of time.

2. (C) BACKGROUND: Experience gained from conducting POW recovery operations indicates that Viet Cong POW camps are vulnerable to swift, well planned airborne raids wherein complete tactical surprise is achieved. Viet Cong POW camps are generally guarded by a very small force, but achieve their security by virtue of their positioning, usually deep within VC base areas. The VC normally rotate POW camps through pre-selected positions at about thirty-day intervals, or whenever they believe the camp location has been compromised by an escapee, Hoi-Chanh or VR flight.

3. (C) INTELLIGENCE:

A. Definitions:

(1) Perishable intelligence is that intelligence which must be reacted to immediately or its value is lost.

(2) Non-perishable intelligence is that type of intelligence to which reaction operations are not inhibited by restrictive time frame.

b. The best intelligence is that intelligence which is derived from someone who has had access to the camp; e.g. escapees, guards or laborers who are willing to lead a reaction force back into the area.

4. (C)

Reg No 331-3, HQ I PFORCEV, APO San Francisco 96350, 27 Feb 69 (Cont'd)

e. A comprehensive interrogation/debriefing guide is recommended for use to interrogate HOI CHANHS and POWs and to debrief escapees. Such a guide is attached at inclosure I.

5. (C) GUIDANCE: All substantive intelligence reports of POW camp locations will be reported by Flash message to addressees indicated:

a. COMUSMACV (ATTN: JPRG)

b. CG, I PFORCEV

c. DSA, II CTZ

d. 525th MI Group

e. [REDACTED]

f. If U.S. prisoners are involved, the subject of the message will be "BRIGHT LIGHT". The urgency of expeditiously reporting perishable intelligence, such as information obtained from escapees, cannot be over-emphasized.

g. [REDACTED] USA representatives should be informed immediately to determine whether they have additional information or have assets that can confirm or procure more information.

h. Follow-up action should be initiated immediately to fully develop the SET. Extreme caution must be exercised from the outset to prevent compromising the operation. U. S. unilateral action at this stage is recommended.

i. G2 will notify JPRG, MACV, and arrange for JPRG representation as required.

6. (C) NOFORN OPERATIONS:

a. Based on the intelligence generated, immediate operational planning is initiated unilaterally by the designated tactical commander or Province Senior Advisor, in coordination with U. S. military advisory staffs [REDACTED]. Primary reaction forces to be considered are U. S. troop units or [REDACTED] because of inherent rapid reaction capabilities and their ability to preserve the security of the operation. Camp and Mobile Strike Force units (CSF/MSF) from Company B, 5th Special Forces Group Airborne should also be considered as a ready reaction force.

Internal routing instructions will be included as follows: COMUSMACV for JPRG, MACJ21, MACJ22, CG, I PFORCEV for G2; 525th MI Group for M/CPIB. Notes: Recovery proposals should NOT be included in intelligence messages. Messages pertaining to proposed operations should be forwarded to CG, I PFORCEV only.

b. The major tactical unit commanders, or the Province Senior Advisors in the province where U. S. forces are not present will appoint a Task Force and U. S. commander to serve as the overall coordinator and to initiate tactical planning.

c. The recovery task force commander and the air mission commander will conduct a joint aerial reconnaissance of the area to select the landing zone. Extreme caution must be exercised to prevent compromising the operation.

7. (C/NORMAN) 1 FFORCEV/II CTZ SUPPORT:

a. Upon receipt of substantive intelligence reports of POW camp locations by the G2, 1 FFORCEV, the major unit commander or Province Senior Advisor will be alerted by HQ, IFFORCEV of an impending operation. A JPRC representative will be requested, through MACV-TOC, to come to Headquarters, IFFORCEV.

b. The 1 FFORCEV TOC will monitor the operation.

c. An After-Action Report will be prepared by the Task Force Commander upon completion of the operation. (AVPA-GB)

e. MACSOG-35 will identify the force to be employed and the external fire support assets required.

f. MACSOG-32 will identify air asset requirements based on MACSOG-35 force input; lift to launch points will normally be from SOG assets, while raid lift will be provided from field force assets.

g. The C&C Commander will provide an operations officer to JPRC for planning and coordination when an operation is pending.

h. JPRC will designate the TF Commander.

i. Coordination and liaison with external forces will be the responsibility of JPRC.

4. ~~(TS)~~ FORCES: Primary forces for PW recovery operations are one Exploitation Company at each C&C, to be designated by each C&C Commander. This force may be composite and formed from platoons available at any given time. All C&C Exploitation Forces will be trained and prepared to conduct PW recovery missions on call.

a. The PW recovery role will be in addition to other responsibilities.

b. Forces will operate as presently constituted and equipped.

c. PW recovery force assets will be drawn from more than one C&C if the situation dictates.

d. When forces in addition to those under MACSOG operational control are required for PW recovery, supporting forces will be requested from COMUSMACV resources.
