NY 46-4835

DETAILS:

This investigation is predicated upon receipt of a letter dated December 22, 1958, from [redacted] Counsel, State of New York, Department of Labor, Division of Employment (hereinafter referred to as the State Agency). This letter enclosed the State Agency folder for the subject containing a report of investigation by the State Agency and the verbatim transcript of an examination conducted on November 3, 1958, at the State Agency.

b6

On December 30, 1958, SAA FREDERICK J. LONERGAN reviewed the State Agency folder on the subject and determined that JOSEPH MORIARTY, Social Security Number 123-22-5413, who resided at 1823 West 5th Street, Brooklyn, New York, claimed and collected Temporary Unemployment Compensation at the rate of $34.00 a week for the weeks ending July 30, 1958, to September 21, 1958.

The State Agency alleges that the subject misrepresented his claim when he concealed self-employment for nine weeks. The State Agency declared the subject was overpaid in the amount of $306.00. The folder reflects that on December 22, 1958, the subject had refunded $75.00 of this overpayment.

"INVESTIGATION (continued)"

Mr. Moriarty presented to me the stock transfer book, the stock certificate book and the minute book of the Corporation. These books were completely blank and Mr. Moriarty stated that they never did anything as far as bringing these books up to date was concerned as there was only three owners, [redacted] and himself, each alleged to be holding one share of stock. Mr. Moriarty contended that there was no books or records available in the Corporation and the only records of business transacted were the receipts given to customers for clothes left to be cleaned or washed. Almost all of these receipts were in subject claimant's handwriting. Claimant does not at this time deny that he is an officer, stockholder of the Corporation, nor does he deny that he spent considerable time since the inception of the business. He states, however, that the reason that he collected his benefits while so engaged in business was because he believed that he was entitled to it, inasmuch as, he was not making or drawing any money from the business.

"CONCLUSION:"

Based on the above information, subject claimant is deemed to have been an officer, stockholder of an existing active Corporation from at least 2/19/58 and as such is deemed to be overpaid in the amount of $1054.00, including TDC. This case was discussed with Mr. Slavin and he felt that no further investigation was required at this time and he was willing to accept this case as is.

An examination conducted at the State Agency on November 3, 1958, of the subject reflects that the subject was receiving Unemployment Compensation from January, 1958, and claimed Temporary Unemployment Compensation when his Unemployment Compensation was exhausted in July, 1958. The examination reflects that the subject, along with an associate, [redacted], started a laundry and cleaning store in Brooklyn, New York. The examination reflected that the store was started with an equal investment of capital and that MORIARTY was to operate the store and [redacted] was to continue in his employment until a time had been reached that the store made a profit sufficient enough to support both he and [redacted]. The examination reflected that until the store got on its feet [redacted] was to assist the subject financially.

On January 13, 1959, the facts of this case were discussed with Assistant United States Attorney [redacted] Eastern District of New York. [redacted] advised that before rendering a prosecutive opinion she desired to have a report reflecting an interview with the subject.

SUBJECT: JOSEPH MORIARTY
SSN 123-22-5413
FAG; TEMPORARY UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION ACT OF 1958

On January 16, 1959, JOSEPH MORIARTY was contacted at 67-62 4th Avenue, Brooklyn, New York, the location of the cleaning store operated by MORIARTY. MORIARTY was interviewed and furnished the following signed sworn statement:

"January 16, 1958
Brooklyn, New York

"I Joseph Moriarty, being duly sworn do make the following voluntary statement to Frederick J. Lonergan who has identified himself to me as a Special Agent of the FBI. No threats or promises have been made to me to induce me to make this statement. I have been advised that I do not have to make a statement and that any statement that I do make can be used against me or others in a court of law. I have been advised of my right to consult an lawyer.

"I reside at 1823 West 5th Street, Brooklyn, New York and I was born in Brooklyn, on June 27, 1916.

Sometime in July, 1958 my Unemployment Compensation had run out and I had heard that I could claim additional compensation.

NY 46-4835

under the Temporary Unemployment Compensation Act of 1958 and I signed for this. Prior to this I had been drawing Unemployment Compensation from the state. I was out of a job and looking for work, while looking for work I put some money that I had saved with an investment by [redacted] into a cleaning and laundry store. [redacted] and I agreed that I would operate the store and he would continue on his job and would give me some money out of his salary for expenses other than those of the store. That is expenses for food etc. for me and my family, until the business began to make a profit. The business never did make a profit and I never took any money out of the business for personal use. All money collected in the business was used for the business. I never drew any salary or expenses. During this time I told the people at the unemployment office that I was not working and I marked my unemployment book with (N's) to indicate that I had not worked. I thought that this was all right since I was not making any income from the business. I was looking for work during this period but could not find suitable work. I used my savings and bonds for household expenses during this period. I did not think that it was wrong to draw unemployment compensation while I was operating the store at a loss. It was originally planned that if the business began to pay off both of us and would run the store and both draw a salary.

NY 46-4835

[redacted] was then going to resign his job but the business never did show a profit so he kept his job and helped me financially. I am willing to make restitution and I have been since November 1958.

"I have read above statement of this and two other pages. And it is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.

b7C

SYNOPSIS OF FACTS:

Checkers employed at Bull Insular Line Terminal, 20th, 21st and 22nd Streets, Brooklyn, NY, were scheduled to conduct vote for shop steward election during noon on 1/3/51. They did not complete vote at 1:00 PM and were joined by longshoremen in refusing to resume work and work stoppage resulted. By 3:00 PM, checkers completed vote but longshoremen, through the medium of their delegates, voiced refusal to return to job unless paid for period from 1:00 PM. Shipping officials, believing that cost of stoppage was extensive, agreed to pay longshoremen and by 4:30 PM, work was resumed. Cost to company is estimated at $13,000. Interviews and signed statements by shipping officials, longshoremen and checkers are set out. USA, EDNY, declines prosecution because of lack of evidence that work stoppage was result of conspiracy or deliberate action for personal gain or other ulterior motives.

NY 92-146

DETAILS:

The following investigation was conducted by SA [redacted] and the reporting agent:

b6

This investigation is predicated upon information furnished by [redacted] [redacted] Brooklyn, New York, who testified before the New York State Crime Commission at Public Hearing on December 9, 1952, to the following:

b6
b7D

On January 3, 1951, a work stoppage of four or five hours' duration occurred at the Bull Line Terminal after checkers, by arrangement with shipping company, held a vote as to whether an election of a shop steward was to be held. This vote was to have taken place from twelve to one o'clock during the noon hour. At one o'clock, the vote not having been completed, the checkers refused to return to work and the longshoremen stated that they would refuse also until the checkers were prepared to return. After the refusal to work, the union delegates, who were led by JOSEPH MORIARTY, Vice President and Organizer of the International Longshoremen's Association in Brooklyn, succeeded in getting the company to agree to pay the longshoremen for time not worked.

[redacted] informed that the company was forced to meet the demands of the longshoremen and their delegates because, if the company had refused, the work stoppage would have continued and the ships at dock would not have been loaded.

[redacted] advised the Crime Commission that the work stoppage resulted in a net loss to the company of approximately $13,000.

b6
b7D

[redacted] made available to Agents the official log of the Bull Insular Line Terminal, Brooklyn, New York, for the date January 3, 1951, which read as follows:

NY 92-146

"From 1:00 to 4:30 p.m., a work stoppage occurred this date due to jurisdictional dispute concerning shop steward for checkers. All men refused to work until dispute was settled and demanded pay from 1:00 p.m. Work resumed 4:30 p.m. and men were paid from 1:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. although no work was performed."

[redacted] advised Agents of circumstances of above-described situation and furnished the following signed statement as a supplement:

b6

"At Terminal Manager's Office, A. H. Bull and Co. Steamship Lines, 22nd Street Dock, Brooklyn, N. Y.

"I, [redacted] make the following statement to [redacted] who have identified themselves to me as Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. I make this statement voluntarily, having had no threats, promises, or means of duress made to me. I realize that I do not have to make this statement, and that it may be used in a court of law.

b6
b7D

"On 1/3/51 I, [redacted] of the Bull Insular Line Terminal, Brooklyn, N. Y., understood that on this date an election of the checkers' shop steward was to take place between 12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m.

"Upon my arrival at the pier shortly after this time I found that the longshoremen and checkers had refused to return to work.

"Several requests were made to several of the union delegates of the longshoremen to ask the men to return to work but to no avail. The prime delegate was JOE MORIARITY. He in turn worked in conjunction "with myself, [redacted] and our New York officials as to whether or not the company would pay the longshoremen the difference in time between 1:00 p.m. and the time the men would return. I was informed by one of the head delegates, name not recalled, that the longshoremen, as well as the checkers, would not return unless the longshoremen were paid for the time they did not work.

NY 92-146

b6

"I understood the longshoremen had not returned to work because the checkers had not returned, although they could have continued their work in the absence of the checkers.

"This date was on Wednesday which is normally our heaviest work day with regard to the use of checkers. Their absence impeded our work considerably, plus resultant overtime and cost and to the delivering carriers. The steamers "Puerto Rico," the "Suzanne" were at dock; we were delivering cargo for five inbound ships. During the period from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m., approximately 150 trucks were delayed.

"In order to bring about a rapid solution to the prevailing conditions, I telephoned [redacted] Bull Insular Line, to determine his opinion. It was decided that because of the delay to the vessels, the above described circumstances re long truck line, perishable cargoes, either received or in line, the company felt that under the existing pressure it had no alternative but to pay the men as they had demanded.

"It is my understanding the resulting cost to the company from the above described situation approximated $13,000.00.

NY 92-146

"I have read the foregoing statement consisting of two and one-half written pages, and to the best of my knowledge it is true.

"Signed: [redacted]

[redacted] S.A. N.Y.C. F.B.I.
[redacted], SA, NYC, FBI."

b7C

In addition to the above, [redacted] advised that the particular section of the pier on which the work stoppage occurred formally had been opened a few weeks prior to the date of the work stoppage. He could attribute no particular reason or significance to the time of the work stoppage, but speculated that, if it had resulted from a deliberate move on the part of the union, it might have been done so to convince the shipping company it could not operate the pier successfully without the aid of the union.

[redacted] A. H. Bull and Company, Inc., General Offices, 115 Broad Street, New York City, furnished Agents with a similar set of circumstances as were described by [redacted]. In addition, he presented a copy of a letter describing the situation, which was written by [redacted] at [redacted] request and which was sent to Mr. PHIL KING, a representative of the United States Senate Special Committee on March 2, 1951. A copy of this letter reads as follows:

b6

"March 2, 1951

"Mr. PHIL KING

NY 92-146

"Interruption of Work--Bull Line Terminal 20th - 21st - 22nd Streets - Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Dear Mr. KING:

"You visited our office last Wednesday inquiring as to our version of the interruption of work at our terminal on January 3 for the purpose of comparing with a report submitted by an investigator for the Committee, and in compliance with your request, we submit the following - - -

"The clerks and checkers employed by Rowland & Liesegang, with whom we have a contract for clerking, are we understand members of a half dozen or more locals, including Brooklyn, Staten Island, Hoboken and Manhattan. In the morning, there was apparently an inter-union squabble fomented, as we understand it, by the Manhattan faction demanding the election of a new shop steward. The delegates of the Brooklyn locals demurred on the basis that an election for that purpose was only held about a month before. Sometime during the morning, however, it was agreed to hold a new election and the balloting to be done between noon and one o'clock.

"The meeting was not held as scheduled, and at one o'clock, the clerks and checkers declined to return to work until they held their meeting. The 14 gangs of longshoremen who had worked in the morning were ordered to resume work at one o'clock but refused to turn to because the checkers and clerks were not working. The clerks and checkers had their meeting about 2 PM and we were notified at about 20 minutes to 3 that they had settled their differences. It was reported to us that the Brooklyn locals won out by about three votes.

"We immediately ordered the clerks, checkers and longshoremen to resume work but the longshoremen declined unless we would agree to pay them from one o'clock. This we declined to do as their failure to "resume work at one o'clock was in direct violation of our collective bargaining agreement. The clerks and checkers then took the position that they would not return to work until the longshoremen resumed. We explained to the men that in our opinion, their attitude was in violation of our agreements, but if they returned to work, we were perfectly agreeable to permitting the matter to go to arbitration, and abide by the decision, to which they replied that we could accept their demands or else.

"In the absence of [redacted] [redacted] we had several telephonic conversations with [redacted] as well as talks with JOSEPH MORIARTY who was on the scene, telling both of them that this stoppage of work was in violation of our agreement and seeking to have them exert their leadership to prevail on the men to resume work. Work was not resumed.

"Going through all of these futile motions took us up to 4 o'clock. We then inquired if the longshoremen, clerks and checkers would accept orders to report at 7 PM that evening, and we were emphatically informed that they would not do so and neither would they show up at 8 o'clock the next morning unless we acceded to their demands. In the meantime, approximately 250 trucks including many over-the-road units were held up outside our terminal waiting to deliver or pick up cargo. Two vessels were scheduled to sail at 3 PM January 4 including the S. S. PUERTO RICO, a passenger vessel, and another vessel on January 5, and in desperation and decidedly contrary to our principles, we acceded to the demands of the longshoremen, clerks and checkers by agreeing to pay them from 1 PM although work was not resumed until after 4 PM.

NY 92-146

"This interruption in work cost us $13,000.00.

"Very truly yours,

"BULL INSULAR LINE, INC.

b6
b7C

[redacted] could give no explanation for the work stoppage as it had occurred, but he expressed the opinion that the longshoremen had refused to work and demanded pay for time lost only as a result of "spontaneous mob action." He explained that to his knowledge the men were requested to return to work by their delegates but refused to do so because the men believed the checkers who were paid a daily salary would be paid for the time they lost but the longshoremen who were paid on an hourly basis would lose that time.

It seemed to [redacted] that the longshoremen originally had joined the checkers in refusing to resume work because of their sympathy with the checkers in demanding time to hold the instant election.

b6
b7C

[redacted] Superintendent, Bull Insular Line Terminal, residence [redacted], New York, informed Agents of the work stoppage generally as described by [redacted] [redacted] furnished the following signed statement as a witness to the events:

"1/13/53

b7C

"On Wednesday, 1/3/51, I understood that a vote was to be taken for the selection of a shop steward among the checkers. The vote was to occur between 12:00 noon and 1:00 p.m.

"As Pier Superintendent I was called from lunch shortly after 1:00 p.m. and was informed the men had not returned to work as scheduled. I immediately went to the Docks at 21st St., Brooklyn, and learned that the longshoremen had not returned to work because the checkers had not done so.

"The men were represented by about 9 delegates from the various longshoremen and checkers locals from Hoboken, N. J., Staten Island, Manhattan and Brooklyn. These included JOF MORIARITY, [redacted] [redacted]

b7C

"By about 3:00 p.m. the checkers' voting had been completed and I was then informed the longshoremen would not return to work unless they were paid for the time they had not worked -- from 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. The delegates appeared to me to be sincere in their efforts to have the men return to work, but they--the delegates--stated the men refused to return to work without pay for the period 1:00 p.m. to 3:00 p.m.

"I telephoned [redacted] Bull Insular Line, and obtained authority to inform the men that they would be paid.

"On 1/3/51, I, as assistant pier superintendent, Bull Insular Line, 21st St. Pier, Brooklyn, was aware that the checkers were to hold a vote in order to determine if they desired to replace their shop steward, [redacted]. The vote was to be held during the noon hour, 12:00 noon to 1:00 p.m.

"Upon my return to the pier shortly after 1:00 p.m., I found that the checkers had not taken the vote and had not returned to work as scheduled. The longshoremen had not returned to work either because the checkers had not held the vote. [redacted] objected to the vote because charges had not been brought against [redacted] JOE MORIARTY, Chief Organizer, ILA, Brooklyn, said that if the checkers were not allowed to vote, the longshoremen would not return to work.

[redacted] was prevailed upon to allow the vote at about 2:00 p.m. The vote was taken at 2:30 p.m. - 3:00 p.m. As the longshoremen began to return to work -- about 200 - 300 of them -- some of them asked if they were to be paid for time from 1:00 p.m. I do not know who these men were. JOE MORIARTY said he assumed the men would be paid from 1:00 p.m., just as if they had worked without interruption. He asked us if the men were to be paid. We said no and he then told the men.

"Telephone conversations were made between us and our main office at 115 Broad St., NYC, in order to receive instructions as to whether payment would be approved. Meanwhile, the longshoremen delegates, JOE MORIARTY who was the principal representative of the

"Finally a request was made for the men to return at 7:00 p.m. or at 8:00 a.m. the following morning. They refused, and through their spokesman, MORIARTY, stated they would not return to work at all unless paid for time lost from 1:00 p.m. that day.

"Since 1924, during the time I have been with Bull Lines, this is the only instance of this kind that has occurred. At no other time have the men refused to work in violation of their contract, demanded to be paid for time not worked, and have received their pay.

[redacted] had no reason to express for the work stoppage as it happened, but voiced the opinion that physically the longshoremen could have returned to work without the presence of the checkers. However, he believed the longshoremen did not do this because they were sympathetic with the checkers, thinking that by creating the work stoppage any demands made by the checkers would be met by the shipping company with prompt attention.

All of the above-named men advised that in the history of the Bull Insular Line a situation as previously described had never occurred, that is, the employees having been paid for time not worked. They all agreed that the salary given to the longshoremen was done so reluctantly by the shipping company, but it was because of the ships at dock and the trucks at the pier and the perishable cargo waiting to be loaded that the company decided to abide by the demands of the longshoremen.

[redacted]
[redacted] on the pier, Bull Line, residence [redacted] [redacted] New York, informed that he witnessed the work stoppage in question but he could furnish no additional information as to the reason for its occurrence. In [redacted] opinion, the delegates representing the checkers and longshoremen appeared to be sincere in their efforts to persuade the men to resume work.

In order to ascertain the facts of the above situation, the following employees of Bull Insular Line were contacted and are set forth according to their position on the pier located at 20th, 21st and 22nd Streets, Brooklyn, New York:

NY 92-146

All of the above employees furnished details of the instant work stoppage generally in agreement with those furnished by the company officials.

 who described himself, as a union member who attended meetings regularly, said that the men were fully aware that the date of the work stoppage, Wednesday, was a busy one for the shipping company. He said Wednesday normally is the busiest day of the week because it is on that day that ships are at dock ready to be loaded prior to their sailing date on Thursday. He readily admitted that the checkers hold all their elections and other matters of such nature, namely, grievances to be presented or policies to be changed by the company and the union, realizing that the company on its busiest day is at a disadvantage if the men fail to work and it is anticipated by the men that the company more readily will meet their demands.

None of the men contacted informed that they were aware of any collusion, conspiracy or deliberate attempt on the part of their delegates or any other persons to create a work stoppage for the singular purpose of obtaining money from the shipping company.

Each of these men asserted that no physical violence was either threatened or committed to any person or property as a result of or during the instant work stoppage.

None of the men who were contacted, all of whom were witnesses and participants in the work stoppage, were able to name any person or persons who initially raised the question as to whether the longshoremen were to receive pay for the period one o'clock until the time work was resumed.

The longshoremen and checkers informed that it had been their personal assumption that the longshoremen were going to receive their hourly wage for the time that the checkers were holding their vote. Several unidentified men brought up the question to their delegates of whether they were to be paid for the time that they did not work in sympathy with the checkers. The delegates expressed the opinion that they did not know whether they would be paid but felt that, because they did not work, they were not entitled to pay. The men insisted that they should get paid. The delegates contacted company officials on the pier who in turn contacted their main offices in New York City and, after deliberation and after the men through their delegates made it clear they would refuse ever to return to work unless paid, the decision was made to meet the demands of the longshoremen.

Checkers ELIA [redacted] informed that the original purpose of the vote on the question as to whether an election of a new shop steward was to be held had been pending for some months. They said the question had been raised after the present shop steward originally had been elected. ELIA [redacted] believed that the checkers did not care for their shop steward because they believed him to be a "company man." They advised that the question yet has been unsettled and a new election is anticipated in the future.

On January 26, 1953, the facts of instant case were presented to [redacted], Assistant

NY 92-146

United States Attorney, Eastern District of New York, who declined prosecution in view of the absence of any evidence or indications that there was a conspiracy or a deliberate attempt by persons involved to create instant work stoppage for personal gain or other ulterior motives.

On the evening of July 3, 1962, Agents of our Newark Office recovered $2,421,850 in currency, $10,000 in various United States Bonds and miscellaneous stock certificates registered in the name of Joseph Moriarty, several firearms and a quantity of ammunition. This material was discovered by workmen in an apparently abandoned automobile which had been parked in a Jersey City, New Jersey, garage.

The United States Attorney at Newark authorized the issuance of a search warrant, and all monies and other valuables were placed under guarded custody in our Newark Office.

Joseph Moriarty, age forty-seven, has an extensive arrest record for lottery and bookmaking violations in Hudson County, New Jersey. He is confined at the State Prison, Trenton, New Jersey, serving a two-to-three-year sentence for lottery violation. On March 5, 1958, Internal Revenue Service entered judgment in the amount of $160,544 against Moriarty as an assessment for unpaid income taxes. This judgment has an unpaid balance at the present time totaling $158,007.

The garage in which the car and its contents were found had been rented by an individual giving the name of A. Moriarty. Rent for the garage has been paid by a [redacted] New Jersey. One of the occupants of the residence at that address was determined to be [redacted] of Joseph Moriarty. [redacted] was absent from her residence and so has been unavailable for interview up to this time.

We are continuing an intensive investigation of this matter, and you will be advised of all pertinent developments.

Assistant Special Agent in Charge Hinze of the Newark Office telephonically advised, at approximately 4:00 p. m., this afternoon, that they had received information from the Jersey City Police that through a tip, the police had found some additional money in a garage at 47-61 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey. It will be recalled that the large loot recovered by the Newark Office a few days ago was at 123 Oxford, Jersey City, New Jersey. Mr. Hinze stated they have no additional details concerning the additional money recovered but that an Agent is at the Jersey City Police Department and will furnish additional information. The Agent had ascertained that two bags and a box of money had apparently been recovered by the police, along with some "gambling paraphernalia." No further details as to the amount or the possible ownership of this money is known to the Newark Office at this time.

The Newark Office is following up on this information and will furnish the Bureau additional details as soon as they are received.

At 4:10 p. m. ASAC Hinze telephonically advised that the location of this money by the Jersey City Police resulted from a tip that Moriarty and his girlfriend, [] had leased an apartment in Bayonne, New Jersey, about one year ago. Apparently this apartment is unoccupied but possibly used by Moriarty and his girlfriend. Today, the Police Department raided this apartment, found nothing except a receipt for a garage located at 47-61 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey. Based upon this receipt, the Jersey City Police searched the garage and found the money referred to above. It is still not known the amount or any other circumstances. This garage is located in a different section than the previous garage where the money located by the Bureau was found.

Envelope #11 Possible numbers profit and loss during 1949.

Envelopes and packages reflect material that was found together as a unit or group. As is noted, most material consists of short notes or notations as if a reminder for whoever wrote them. On expenditures it is possible that these were later transcribed to a more formal type of entry or record.

The writer of the notes, believed to be MORIARTY, uses many initials, numbers, or letters as a means of identification and there seems no key or system to initials. As reflected in this material and material forwarded on 7/6/62, the bulk of notations pertain to transactions of 1952 or before.

The Laboratory is requested to examine contents for a means of possibly further evaluating the operation of the MORIARTY numbers-lottery organization.

The Laboratory is requested to return envelopes and packages to Newark upon the completion of their examination.

SAC Bachman called this morning concerning a teletype submitted by the Newark Office 7/10/62 in this matter. He referred to the difficulty in placing responsibility for certain of these errors in the fact that to definitely place such responsibility would require that Newark actually observe the initials of the Agents handling certain packages. These packages are in the vaults of two banks.

SAC Bachman advised that the Bureau had observed that he felt this inadvisable since it would require going to the Marshal's Office and to the bank officials. Bachman thereafter stated he possibly could go to these bank vaults without any embarrassment to the Bureau, but he suggested that he could talk with the United States Attorney to insure that such a check would not later cause any problem. Bachman was told specifically that the Bureau, of course, did desire to place responsibility for these errors; however, he should carefully evaluate the possible results of this physical check to determine the identity of the person making the errors and if it could be done without any possible embarrassment then he should do it. However, if there is any question of causing the Bureau embarrassment such as having to later testify as to the reasons for this recheck, then he should advise the Bureau, giving his specific recommendations, based upon the factors at this time. Bachman stated he would do this and would advise the Bureau immediately.

Upon receipt of additional details as furnished by Bachman, we will carefully review them to determine if further action is necessary. Bachman understands that it is his responsibility to gather all the facts for an appropriate evaluation as to whether the recheck of the packages should be made at this time.

With reference to the counting errors in the money recovered by the Newark Office, after a review of the details received from the Newark Office explaining these errors had been made, on the afternoon of 7/10/62 I called the Newark Office. In the absence of the SAC, it was explained to ASAC Hinze that every effort, consistent with possible embarrassment to the Bureau, should be made to fix responsibility for these inaccuracies. Mr. Hinze explained that they had not been able to determine by office records the person responsible for some of the miscellaneous inaccurate counting errors. Further, that in order to fix responsibility it would undoubtedly require the office to go to the United States Marshal and with the United States Marshal representative to physically check the particular packages wherein the errors had occurred in order to determine the initials of the Agents handling them. Mr. Hinze was instructed to fully discuss this with the SAC and that the Bureau should be furnished with a teletype on the evening of 7/10/62 containing full details concerning the placing of responsibility. He was further told that they should give this matter their serious and immediate attention in order that the Director could be furnished with the full details.

ACTION

Upon receipt of the details from the Newark Office, this matter will be thoroughly analyzed and appropriate memorandum submitted.

Newsboy Moriarty

Saving Pennies

in Jail

Federal Men Wait for Him To Claim $2.4 Million Cash

By ROWLAND T. MORIARTY and FREDERICK A. McCORD

(Of The Bulletin Staff)
Jersey City, July 14—For one known as a frugal man and sometimes called tight-fisted, Joseph Vincent (Newsboy Moriarty) could also have a wastrel's way with money.

Moriarty, the self-made proprietor of a $10-million-a-year gambling business, was known say those who mock the provident, to spend all of $5 for a night on the town in Manhattan.

Yet he had moments of amazing prodigality. There was, for instance, the sunny afternoon when a second-floor window of the Moriarty brown-stone front flew open and from it descended a cloud of paper money.

Neighbors and passersby collected about $2,500, and when some of them proffered fistfuls of bills to Moriarty, he said he couldn't take them; he hadn't thrown any money away, it wasn't his.

Wads of Cash

The shower of bills from the Moriarty home coincided with a visit by federal raiders and on such occasions a gambler may have a surfeit of riches; wads of cash may be an embarrassment.

Moriarty later disowned even greater sums of money that seemed to want to belong to him. When other federal raiders found $49,000 in the house on West Hamilton place, he acted as surprised as they were not. Again the money was not his. And he made the same disclaimer when city police found $3,000 in his car one day after he'd been shot at.

But now Moriarty faces the torment of a Midas. Shall he or shall he not claim $2.5 million that federal, state, county and city authorities unanimously say is his.

Most of it was found July 3 in the trunk of the 1947 black Plymouth de luxe sedan Moriarty used to drive to his Manhattan nights.

Jailed But Twice

The rest poured out of two big bags that police found July 6 in a garage from which Moriarty operated his numbers gambling bank under an inspirational sign that kept reminding him and his employees:

"Stay on the ball. Don't fall asleep."

Since then teams of investigators have been calling on Moriarty in the New Jersey State Prison in Trenton, where he is serving a two- to three-year sentence on a gambling conviction.

There are 35 arrests on the four-page record of the 49-year-old man who started climbing the ladder in the gambling business as a bookie in his teens. But it is only the second time he has gone to jail.

His callers have been seeking to press upon him—under some onerous conditions, of course—the $2.5 million. To each the Newsboy gives this stock answer:

Always the Gentleman

"I have no comment to make about the money at this time. I will probably have something to say later. But at this time, gentlemen, I have nothing to tell you."

And he usually concludes:

"You had no reason to make the long hot trip . . . from Jersey City, New York, or Washington, whichever the case may be."

Said one of these callers, Joseph P. Hanrahan, assistant Hudson County prosecutor, after such a frustrating conversation:

"I have never met a more courteous, more genial and more mannered man than Mr. Moriarty. And I have never met a more uncommunicative and uncooperative man."

There is a major obstacle to Moriarty's conceding that what are now popularly called the "Moriarty Millions" are indeed his.

Income Tax Joker

This is the Internal Revenue Service's conviction that when it came to making out his income tax returns Moriarty was as frugal as on dates.

Even before the old car trunk and the garage turned out to be the repositories of the greatest cash hoard ever traced to a gambler, the Government had $355,000 in income tax liens against Moriarty.

After the "Moriarty Millions" were uncovered, the federal agents hastily filed another one for exactly $3,395,665.33. This sum was represented as covering delinquent taxes, fraud penalties and interest for the years 1956-61.

When Moriarty entered the Trenton prison March 15, he came as unheralded by the prison grapevine.

Another Prisoner

The grapevine dismissed Moriarty as "just another working numbers stiff," a word brought with him to jail $88.91. Eight dollars of this pocket money was in pennies. Pennies were the foundation of the "Moriarty Millions," and Moriarty has a regard for them that scornors of his thrift insist is not entirely sentimental. At any rate, he has never been without his stock of pennies since as a boy of six he began selling newspapers to help his widowed mother.

At the age of eight he had a regular newspaper route. At 13, he quit school and shortly thereafter was the proprietor of a newsstand at Grove st. and Newark av.

This was at the busy station to the Hudson Tube, carrying commuters into New York. Across from the station was The Stone, a drinking spot of Prohibition days that has since given way to a small public square. But was then frequented by Jersey City's sporting life.

Beats Delivery Trucks

Moriarty found his first bonanza in The Stone. His evening newsstand trade at a lull, he'd hop the Hudson Tube into New York, bring back bundles of first editions of the morning newspapers and hawk them to the bookies and bettors waiting the race results in The Stone.

Having beaten the delivery trucks out of New York, he sold his newspapers at a premium. But even at that, those to whom he brought good news were grateful tippers. To them he was "Newsboy" Moriarty, and the nickname stuck.

The business expanded.

It became a news agency, and he was employing up to 20 delivery boys. Moriarty made his mother quit working. She had raised her four children by holding two jobs, janitress in a high school and attendant in a hospital.

Loves Family

The Newsboy moved her, his older brother and two sisters from a walkup, coldwater flat, first to an apartment and then to the brownstone front. He was seeing his brother through college, his sisters through high school.

Moriarty was still years from voting age when he began to edge into the gambling racket. He has told probation and prison officials that horse-race bookmakers approached him at his newsstand and asked him to pick up bets and numbers runners solicited his cooperation.

"That's how I got started in numbers," he said. "I did it as a favor . . . and, of course, to make money."

His own numbers bank developed out of this, and within a few years he was known as "the man" for the racket's patronage in the Lafayette, Gammonstown and Hudson Heights sections of town.

Rumpled But Rich

His record includes 25 arrests by Jersey City police, nearly all on lottery charges. Most of these resulted either in the grand jury's returning no indictment or, if it did, being dropped. On four occasions he was fined. The total was $165, an incidental expense for a numbers banker doing a business in the millions.

The Newsboy certainly did not look the part of a millionaire. He was a rumpled, careless dresser, who once admonished one of his numbers bank runners:

"You paid $20 for a pair of slacks! Twenty dollars! Look at these! They cost me $5.93 and they're just as good."

He bought the Plymouth during those postwar years when under-the-table money had to be passed to get a new car.

The costly deal was a constant source of grievance to Moriarty, and he was getting his money's worth from the car. He saw no reason to replace it and was still riding it when he went to jail. But it didn't get much use. In nearly 16 years, Moriarty drove it only 39,992 miles.

5 o'Clock Whistle

He was busy with a thriving business and a taxing one. A numbers banker's hours are not what the title would seem to imply. They are long, and in northern Jersey they are longer than in Philadelphia.

That's because here the winning number of the day is the last three digits of the day's pari-mutuel take at a given track. That's not available until after the last race has been run, usually around 5 o'clock.

After that there's the tedious business of making sure that every bettor who has picked that number has his good fortune recognized and gets his money.

In Philadelphia, on the other hand, the three-digit "hit" number is assembled out of the payoffs on the winning horses of the first three races. Philadelphia numbers bankers, thus, have a couple of hours start on their northern Jersey colleagues.

A Good Reputation

Moriarty became as reputable and respected in his rackets as the heads of legitimate financial institutions, who sit in paneled offices, preside at board meetings and keep hours of 9 to 5. A cab driver who knew him and his banking business well ticked off these reasons for the success that Moriarty now appears reluctant to recognize:

"First of all, he paid his runners and other employees well, often times better than the going commissions in the racket. That helped to keep them honest."

He never declined a bet. He'd take all the layoff money. He said he had big odds going in his favor. You went to Newsboy and got what you wanted.

He was a stickler for having his runners write legibly. No one was going to come to him and say, "Look, I hit it yesterday and you didn't pay." Out came the slip, and there was the number, clear and unmistakable, no 6 that could look like a 3, for instance; no erasures.

Odds Kept 600 to 1

The bookkeeping was clean. Newsboy never welshed on a bet, and he paid off bets in the thousands.

And he never allowed one of his writers to put the arm on a winner for more than the customary ten per cent tip. "When other banks undercut odds he kept them where they'd always been, 600 to 1."

However, in 1947, the year he bought his Plymouth, Moriarty erred on the side of thrift and made a mistake that was going to undermine his institution. The Internal Revenue Service duped him for $28,000 more on his income tax return.

The ordinary rackets impresario would have paid up to keep his tax record clean, but Moriarty, apparently still upset by the price he'd had to pay for the car, chose to fight for the $28,000. He lost, but in the testimony taken from him the service thought it found new trails of inquiry.

Starts Shedding Money

It began keeping a closer eye on his returns, asking more questions. Finally there were the two raids on the house with the brownstone front that impelled Moriarty to begin shedding money. The first liens were a result.

Another result was his conviction for failure to buy a gambler's tax stamp. Moriarty served his first jail sentence, a six-month stretch at the Danbury, Conn. Federal Correctional Institute.

Toward the end of last year Moriarty was again picked up by Jersey City police on a numbers charge. He was freed in bail when on February 20 a detail of state policemen drove up from Trenton.

February, says the Chamber of Commerce, is Jersey City's driest month (2.76 inches precipitation) and coldest month (average temperature 32.7 degrees). It was a cold day for Moriarty when the state police raiders burst into one of his numbers drops and found $6,000 in cash and slips totaling $29,000 worth of numbers plays.

Earns 17 Cents a Day

Moriarty wasn't given a chance to throw the money away. His bail was revoked, and he was sent to the Trenton prison.

There the grapevine's "working numbers stiff" was assigned a familiar task. He was made a prison "runner," a prison messenger. And he was again working for pennies, 17 cents a day.

With Warden Howard Yeager and the guards Moriarty established a reputation for efficiency on the job. Upon his 1,200 fellow inmates, No. 39611 made practically no impression at all. None then knew of "Moriarty's Millions." If they had, they would have found Moriarty's behavior incomprehensible.

With the $88.91 he brought to prison he also brought his old habit of not spending a cent unless he had to. The $88.91 remained untouched in his prison account, and so did the $1.19 prison pay that was added to it every week.

Sweet Tooth

As a free man, Moriarty had been abstemious. He neither smoke nor drank, and though he handled millions in gambling he never placed a bet himself. But he had modestly indulged a taste for candy, cake and pastry.

In prison no one has to spend a cent, and Moriarty didn't. He has been no patron of the prison commissary, not even to buy a chocolate bar.

He has lived for the day each week when chocolate pudding is the prison dessert, and for the day each month when his fiancée, Miss Ann Patrick may visit him.

Thirty-eight-year-old Miss Patrick is small, red-haired and nicely dressed. She and Moriarty have known each other for 12 years and been engaged for three.

On her prison visits, she and Moriarty sit, separated by a glass wall. They talk to each other by telephone.

FBI Does Counting

On July 3, two carpenters hired to repair a row of dilapidated garages in the rear of Oxford av. walked into one of them and found a shabby 1947 Plymouth, one of its wheels gone, the axle resting on a box.

Opening its back trunk, they found two leather overnight bags and a green fishing tackle box. Inside them were banded sheafs of bills that, when counted, totaled $2,421,850. The FBI beat local police to the scene when the carpenters reported their find and did the counting. By the next day, investigators had definitely established the car was Moriarty's and concluded its trunk was the bank he had chosen in preference to one of Jersey City's ten financial institutions.

Moriarty and his fellow convicts got the news over the prison radio the evening of July 4.

Two days later, Jersey City police found the two paper bags filled with $168,675 in another garage, a block from the first. This cache seemed to be even more positively Moriarty's because with it were personal letters addressed to him, government bonds in his name and X-ray photographs of the Moriarty chest. There also was a receipt for the $15 he had paid for the photographs.

But who will get the money? he continues to disclaim it?

First of all, the U. S. Government's income tax liens would appear to give it priority. The two carpenters, as yet unidentified by the FBI, are said to have retained a lawyer to protect their interest as the money's finders.

Each cache has been stored in escrow in banks. It is costing the Federal Government $40 a month to store the $2.4 million. "But," said a spokesman, "I feel sure the Government will be more than compensated for this expense."

Miss Patrick is described as the one disinterested party. She has been quoted as stating:

"I will wait for Joe, with or without the millions."

Moriarty becomes eligible for parole in September. With his prison account untouched and growing by $1.19 a week, he won't leave jail a pauper.

"He is acquiring a little bundle for himself," said Warden Yeager.

Moriarty's car-bank is stored in the police car pound, down by the sewer works. It is not for sale, but there have been several offers.

"These would be buyers," said Lt. John McComb, who is in command at the pound. "I figure to find some hidden panel that might conceal more money."

There is none. We've been over every inch of the car.

Jersey City numbers players have had both good and bad for since Moriarty went to jail.

The count of the big find, said Lt. John McComb, who is a hunch. For days its first three numbers, 242, got a heavy play, and one day it was the "hit." On the other hand, Moriarty's rival bankers have shaved the odds from 600 to 550 to 1.

"Those cheapskates," said one disgruntled player. "If newsboys were around it, wouldn't have happened."

ReButelcall 7/19/62 and mytel 7/20/62.

Mr. David M. Satz, Jr., U. S. Attorney, Newark, today advised SA [redacted] that he received a letter from Attorney [redacted] of Orange, N. J., identical with the one received by the Bureau. Mr. Satz is answering this letter today as he considers questions raised to be a legal matter. He will state in his reply to Attorney [redacted] that he is replying on behalf of the FBI as well as his office.

Mr. Satz advised that he can see no allegations directed against FBI Agents in this letter and he feels the Bureau's interests were protected in obtaining the search warrant at the time the money was seized. He feels any allegations are directed against the workmen involved. Attorney [redacted] has taken no legal action in support of his letter, according to Mr. Satz, and he said that the transfer of the money to the Internal Revenue Service was legally supported by statute.

Mr. Satz further advised that he will not deal with any investigators engaged by [redacted] and will advise them that the records of his office and those of the FBI are confidential. Mr. Satz will furnish the FBI with a copy of his reply together with copies of any further correspondence between him and Attorney [redacted] and will keep the FBI advised of any developments.

Mr. Satz very specifically stated that he believes that the FBI will not be involved in any legal action since all claims of damage will have to be resolved by legal action between the owner and the prospective buyer.

As requested by the Bureau, I am transmitting copies of statements obtained from SAs [redacted] Francis E. Keogh, who were the first Special Agents to arrive at the garage where the money was found. When the Agents arrived at the garage the doors of the garage had already been opened by the workmen hired by the new prospective owner and the workmen had forced open the trunk of the Plymouth automobile found in the garage.

It is readily apparent that our Agents had nothing to do with the original entry into the garage and the car by the workmen. These workmen, seven in number, were present when the Agents arrived and exhibited the money and personal papers of Moriarty to them. In addition to the workmen, there were some neighbors on the property, and shortly thereafter representatives of the Jersey City Police Department arrived with photographers.

In view of the huge amount of money involved and its obvious connection with Joseph Vincent Moriarty, a well known and notorious numbers writer, the Agents removed the bags of money and weapons from the car and garage and placed them in the trunk of the Bureau car which was parked immediately in front of the garage in question. The trunk of the Bureau car was locked and was not re-opened until the money was brought to the Newark Office.

In view of the unusual circumstances involved in this case, it is believed that the Agents acted in an entirely proper manner. They showed initiative and resourcefulness in placing this huge sum of money in the Bureau car and keeping it secure pending a decision as to its disposition. They were under considerable pressure by the local authorities to permit the local authorities to check the money and photograph it. This action ultimately resulted in a tremendous amount of favorable publicity for the Bureau.

No administrative action is recommended.

The Bureau will be kept advised of developments in this matter.

July 20, 1962

I, Special Agent furnish the following voluntary statement:

At approximately 1:45 P.M., on July 3, 1962, Special Agent Francis E. Keogh and I were instructed to proceed to a group of garages at 123 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, to investigate the reported finding of a large amount of money, with the possibility that the money might have been the proceeds of a bank robbery.

In connection with the location of, and the subsequent seizure on an authorized search warrant, the following observations were made and action undertaken by Special Agent Keogh and I:

The undamaged, but dilapidated swinging doors of garage number 48, at 123 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, were opened for us by excited workmen. A 1947 Plymouth automobile was observed in the garage.

One of the workmen opened the trunk of this car which was unlocked. Observed inside the trunk were two traveling bags and two metal containers. The bags and metal containers, which were not locked, were opened by the workmen. Inside the bags and one container was observed a considerable amount of currency. One container contained guns and personal papers of Joseph Moriarty.

In view of the number of persons in the area, and the neighborhood environment, the bags and containers were, for security reasons, placed in the locked trunk of a Bureau automobile parked directly in front of garage number 48. The car, or money, was not then moved until a search warrant was secured and served at 6:00 P.M. on July 3, 1962, at which time the bags and containers were removed to the Newark Office.

No property was damaged by agents and nothing was taken by agents except that described in the search warrant.

The action at the scene of the recovery was taken by the agents in order to fully protect the interests of the United States Government and the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

I, Special Agent Francis E. Keogh, furnish the following voluntary statement:

At about 1:45 P.M., July 3, 1962, Special Agent [redacted] and I were instructed to proceed to a group of garages at 123 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, to investigate the location of a large quantity of money by some workmen.

Upon arrival at this location we were met by a group of nervous, excited, near hysterical workmen who said they had a tremendous amount of "gangster's money."

They pulled open the wooden swinging doors of garage number 48 and pointed out a dusty dilapidated 1947 Plymouth. They opened the trunk of the Plymouth and displayed two bags and two metal boxes. They opened the bags and pointed out large bundles of large denomination bills. One of the other metal boxes also contained a large amount of money and the other one contained guns and personal papers of Joseph Moriarty.

Pursuant to a search warrant authorized by United States Attorney David M. Satz, Jr., all of this money, guns and personal papers were taken.

No property was damaged by Bureau Agents and nothing was taken other than that listed in the search warrant.

It should be noted that while awaiting the issuance of the search warrant, [] who identified himself as the man who had sold the garages, appeared on the scene. The doors on twelve garages had been completely removed at this time and [] made no comments to indicate that he was not aware of the renovation of the garages he had contracted to sell.

With communications dated July 6, 9, and 10, 1962, the Newark Office submitted over 1100 pieces of evidence recovered in connection with this case. Heffeth

Examination in the FBI Laboratory disclosed that this material was prepared in connection with bookmaking or numbers operations. It relates to "books" kept by the person who operates the "bank" and keeps the records. Numbers slips and lists of wagers were not included. Almost all of the handwriting was prepared by one person. This includes a comparison of the papers found among his personal effects on July 3, 1962, with material recovered from the 1947 Plymouth automobile. This handwriting is illegible in places and misspellings and abbreviations are numerous. Included are summary sheets, weekly tally slips, records of money paid to lawyers and others, records of arrests and fines, court costs, adding machine tape, and miscellaneous papers. The dates range roughly from 1931 to 1957. Newark is obtaining known handwriting of Moriarty for comparison.

Included among the records are notations such as "100.00 to two Joes for letting Cha go," "100.00 to two Mcky (Mickey) Mouse Cops," "450.00 and three Bulls," "Caught with bag of stuff," caught him in phone booth picked slip up and said it was his," "HIT 304," "Locked up Tue July 9, 46. 770.00 to for bailing me out," "150.00 to Cop for work he done to get Al out," and "100.00 To EG to let woman out." A

The Newark Office is being advised of the results of this examination by Laboratory report dated July 18, 1962.

Result of examination:

An examination of items Q1 through Q18 disclosed that this material was prepared in connection with bookmaking or numbers operations. It relates to "books" kept by the person who operates the "bank" and keeps the records. Numbers slips as such and lists of wagers were not included. Almost all of the handwriting was prepared by one person. This handwriting is illegible in places and misspellings are frequent. Although codes or ciphers were not used, much of the writing was highly abbreviated, particularly when using names of persons.

Included are summary sheets, weekly tally slips, records of money paid to lawyers and others, records of arrests and fines, court costs, adding machine tape, and miscellaneous papers. The dates range roughly from 1931 to 1957.

Possible associates mentioned in these papers include [redacted] (sometimes given as [redacted]) (possibly [redacted]), [redacted] (possibly [redacted]), and Joe (possibly Moriarty).

Reference is made to my memoranda of July 5 and July 9, 1962, advising of the recovery of a large sum of money and other material by Agents of our Newark Office in execution of a search warrant. This money and other material were found by workmen renovating garages in Jersey City, New Jersey, on July 3, 1962.

Our Newark Office, the United States Attorney at Newark and the National State Bank of Newark, in which the seized money was deposited by the United States Marshal, have received a letter addressed to them by Attorney [redacted] Orange, New Jersey, representing [redacted] and their wives who claim to be owners of the garages involved, in one of which the money and other material were found. The letter demands a complete accounting, inventory and return of all the money and material taken from the garages. According to the letter, it is the contention of the owners that it is their duty and responsibility as owners of the premises to take whatever legal action is necessary to determine the true ownership of the material that was in the garages. A copy of Attorney [redacted] letter is attached.

The United States Attorney at Newark has advised that he will reply to Attorney [redacted] letter since he considers this to be strictly a legal matter.

LINKED TO JAILED GAMBLER

$2.4 Million Cash Found in Car

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 4 (UPI) — The FBI and local police today investigated the discovery of $2.4 million in cash and stolen police records of a jailed gambling czar in an abandoned car.

The money and records were found by two workmen yesterday in a dust-covered 1947 model auto which also contained guns and ammunition. A car in another garage contained gambling equipment.

ANNIVERSARY

The records were a police arrest file on Joseph (Newsboy) Moriarty and Mac Rogers. Ironically, the papers recorded their arrest exactly 11 years ago, July 3, 1951, for possession of lottery slips and bookmaking.

Moriarty, 47, entered the state prison at Trenton last March 3, to begin serving a two-to-three-year sentence for possession of numbers slips.

The workmen were renovating 24 one-car garages when they came across the old Plymouth. They could not resist looking into its trunk and stumbled on the cache in a metal tool box and two leather bags that touched off the investigation by Federal agents, Hudson County and Jersey City authorities.

The FBI took possession of the cash which included $10, $20, $50, $100 and a few $1000 bills, some of it bound in wrappers of a bank.

SIX HOURS

R. W. Bachman, special agent in charge of the Newark FBI office, announced the total of the cache after it had been counted by agents and accountants. The tally took six hours.

Federal agents also seized the guns which included .32, .38 and .45 caliber pistols and a .22 caliber rifle.

The FBI was investigating to determine if there was any Federal violation involved. Mr. Bachman said ownership of the money and the cars had not yet been determined.

The Federal Government could confiscate the money if it turns out to be from gambling operations.

The arrest of records of Moriarty and Rogers were taken over by Hudson County authorities to determine how they had been removed from their files, apparently years ago.

"It's a hell of a place to hide $2 million," said Alfred Jago, chief investigator for the prosecutor's office. "The place was too run down to be used for gambling operations but all the equipment was there."

REGISTRATION

Mr. Sago said that when Moriarty was arrested in 1951 he was in the 1947 Plymouth. Investigators were checking the car's registration to see if it belonged to Moriarty.

"I'll probably be talking to Moriarty Thursday," Mr. Jago said.

At first it was believed the record were in a safe stolen May 9, 1961, from the office of County Prosecutor Lawrence A. Whipple.

But Mr. Whipple said the records "absolutely were not" taken from his safe.

Those files are 11 years old, Mr. Whipple said. "I didn't take office until 1953. Besides, there was nothing of value in the safe."

$2.5 Million Is Found In Old Car in Garage

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 4 (AP) — Two workmen renovating parallel rows of recently sold garages on a quiet street yesterday peered into the trunk of a dusty 1947 car and found almost $2.5 million.

The FBI spent seven hours counting the money.

Cached with the bills were three pistols, ammunition and files stolen from the offices of the Hudson County prosecutor on May 9, 1961. Also found was a quantity of electronics equipment of the type used by bookmakers.

FBI Agent R. W. Bachman said one of the stolen files contained material on a police investigation July 13, 1951, in which Joseph (Newsboy) Moriarty was arrested for bookmaking and possession of lottery tickets in Jersey City. The second file concerned a Moriarty associate.

Moriarty, 47, was picked up that time while riding in a 1947 Plymouth—the same make of car in which the money was discovered. The gambler, known to police as "king of the numbers runners" in Hudson County, was sentenced to a 2-to-3 year prison term last March 2.

Both the FBI and Jersey City police "tumbled into the case" but the FBI got possession of the money by obtaining a war-rrent for its seizure because of a $250,000 lien the Federal Government has against Moriarty for unpaid income taxes.

Mr. Bachman, special agent in charge of the Newark FBI office, said the money was in two large leather bags and a box. Much of it reportedly was bound in wrappers of a Rutherford (N.J.) bank—from which $37,000 was stolen on August 27, 1953, by an armed bandit.

Mr. Bachman said the money totaled approximately $2.4 million, including a few thousand-dollar bills, with the rest in $100s, $50s, $20s and $10s. The guns, wrapped in a newspaper dated 1949, were an automatic pistol, a .45-caliber revolver and a .32-caliber revolver.

The workmen were paid by the recent purchaser of the 24 garages to knock down their folding doors so that sliding doors could be installed. When they came upon the old car—which bore a 1956 inspection sticker but no license plates—they found the trunk unlocked and peered in.

Then they made the telephone calls that quickly brought FBI agents and policemen to the scene.

Investigators found fingerprinting equipment near the car. And in another garage, they found a 1952 auto which contained adding machines, telephone equipment and typewriters—instruments of the bookmaking trade.

Moriarty, whose prison term stemmed from conviction of possession of lottery slips, had been arrested many times and his activities have been the subject of political disputes.

In one of his earliest arrests, in 1947, police seized $27,000 in cash and a quantity of numbers slips in his home in Jersey City.

When they arrested him in 1950, police seized more than $50,000 in cash at the home.

Officials said the workmen who found the money asked not to be identified.

The garage's owner, Frank Munzy, 64, of Weehawken, N. J., was quoted by the New York Daily News as saying his records showed the garage once had been rented by Moriarty. Mr. Munzy purchased the garages on Monday for $5,500.

An FBI spokesman said the money would be turned over to the United States marshal's office in Newark in a few days and that anyone who laid claim to it, either through right of discovery or ownership, would have to prove it in the courts.

$2.5 Million Found in Car

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 3 (AP)—Almost $2.5 million, plus three pistols and a cache of ammunition, were discovered in the trunk of an old car today, the FBI said.

R. W. Bachman, special agent in charge of the Newark FBI office, said a count of the money totaled approximately $2,400,000. He said the money appeared to be legal U. S. currency.

The car was parked in a garage and had no license plates on it.

FIND $400,000 IN CASH IN JERSEY MYSTERY CAR

By JOHN BAIRD

A mysterious cache of money that may total half a million dollars was found in an old Plymouth auto parked in a garage in Jersey City late yesterday afternoon.

Carpenters renovating a block-long string of old garages on Oxford Ave., a cobblestone street between Westside Ave. and Hudson Blvd., in a residential section stumbled on the treasure.

The money—including $400,000 in $1,000 notes, according to early reports—was contained in three tin boxes found in the trunk of the car.

In addition to the $1,000 notes, the boxes contained bundles of $50s and $100s, all tightly crammed together, according to these reports.

The workmen notified both the Newark FBI office and Jersey City police, including Jersey City Chief Austin Conley.

There was a discussion over jurisdiction, and the FBI finally obtained a federal search warrant from U. S. Commissioner Mr. Lester Lynch in Jersey City. They then took the money to their Newark offices to be counted and, if possible, traced.

The local police and the Hudson County prosecutor's office both launched investigations to ascertain whether the money may have been involved in some local criminal activity.

Additionally, the search yielded an old office filing case, containing cards, but there were no immediate clues to the ownership of the car or money.

With reference to Newark's airtel of 7/17/62 in the above-captioned matter, enclosing a letter from [] on the afternoon of 7/19/62, I called SAC Bachman. Mr. Bachman's attention was called to the contents of [] letter. It was explained to him that the Bureau felt the Newark Office should immediately discuss this matter with the U. S. Attorney in Newark. He was further told that he should go over the material with the U. S. Attorney and ascertain what action the U. S. Attorney intends to take in this matter. The Bureau's interest should be secured and the U. S. Attorney's attention should be called to the fact that the Agents in conducting the search, which resulted in the recovery of the Moriarty money, was based on search warrants. The U. S. Attorney should be made completely familiar with the actions of our Agents in this matter; further, Mr. Bachman was advised that records in the form of appropriate statements from Agents should be prepared bearing in mind the contents of this letter.

It was suggested to [] that this appeared to be a legal matter for the U. S. Attorney and dependent upon the U. S. Attorney's actions and recommendations he should be advised that we have not answered this letter at this time.

ACTION:

SAC Bachman was instructed to personally see that the Bureau's interest in this matter was protected and, following his contact with the U. S. Attorney, the Bureau should be promptly advised in detail.

ANTI-RACKETEERING

Reference is made to my memorandum of July 23, 1962, advising of correspondence which was received by our Newark office from Attorney [redacted] on behalf of the property owners involved in the recovery of currency in excess of two million dollars.

b6

On July 25, 1962, the Special Agent in Charge of our Newark office was served with an Order to Show Cause by an employee of Attorney [redacted]. This document indicates that an action has been instituted in Superior Court of New Jersey, Chancery Division, County of Essex, Newark, New Jersey, by [redacted] plaintiffs, versus [redacted] John Doe, [redacted] and the National State Bank of Newark, defendants. This order instructs that Special Agent in Charge Bachman appear in Superior Court, Newark, at 9:30 a.m., August 2, 1962.

The United States Attorney at Newark has advised that he will take immediate steps to have this matter transferred to the United States District Court and will file a motion to have the proceedings instituted in the Superior Court of New Jersey, dismissed.

You will recall that the total monies recovered amounting to approximately two and one-half million dollars were turned over to the United States Marshal at Newark. The Internal Revenue Service subsequently took all of this currency into their custody on the basis of a levy imposed for unpaid income taxes and interest in excess of three million dollars.

A THREE BY FIVE SLIP REFLECTING THE ACTUAL COUNT OF THE BILLS AND DENOMINATIONS WAS PLACED ON TOP OF EACH PACKAGE OF MONEY WHICH WAS INITIALED BY THE AGENT MAKING THE COUNT AND BY THE AGENT WHO CHECKED THE COUNT. THESE THREE BY FIVE SLIPS WERE RETAINED ON THE MONEY AT TIME IT WAS TURNED OVER TO THE USM.

IT IS POSSIBLE TO ASCERTAIN THE IDENTITY OF THE AGENTS WHO MADE THE ERRORS BY RECHECKING THE THREE BY FIVE SLIPS ON THE PACKS OF MONEY. HOWEVER, IN ORDER TO DO THIS IT WILL BE NECESSARY TO GO TO TWO DIFFERENT BANKS WHERE THE MONEY IS STORED, AND LOCATE THE PACKAGES IN QUESTION IN ORDER TO FIND THE IDENTITY OF THE AGENTS. SINCE THIS MONEY IS NOW IN THE POSSESSION OF THE USM IT WOULD OF COURSE BE NECESSARY FOR THE MARSHAL TO VISIT THE BANK WITH BUREAU PERSONNEL. You will recall that Agents of the Newark Office recovered $2,421,850, several firearms and Government bonds totaling $10,000 from a 1947 Plymouth parked in a dilapidated garage in Jersey City, New Jersey, on 7/3/62.

The Newark Office submitted two revolvers, one automatic pistol and one .22 rifle to the Laboratory for examination. These guns were received this afternoon. The serial numbers of the weapons have been searched through the National Stolen Property Index; however, no previous record of the loss or theft of these weapons was found. Test bullets and cartridge cases obtained from the submitted weapons were also compared with all comparable specimens maintained in the National Unidentified Ammunition File but no identifications were effected.

The results of these examinations are being furnished the Newark Office by teletype today.

A major operation of one of the last surviving proteges of political infamy dominated by former mayor and political boss Frank Hague of Jersey City, New Jersey, has been uncovered by Agents of the Newark Office. Acting upon information furnished by workmen engaged in remodeling several dilapidated garages, Agents recovered $2,421,850, several firearms, ammunition, and Government bonds totaling $10,000 in the name of Joseph Moriarty. All of this material was located in the trunk of a 1947 model automobile which was stored in one of the garages rented by Moriarty.

Through our criminal intelligence investigation of the large-scale gambling racket in Hudson County, New Jersey, we have learned that Moriarty long held an exclusive license to operate the numbers lottery and bookmaking in Jersey City. Although arrested on 25 occasions since 1931 for assault, lottery and bookmaking, he had successfully avoided a jail sentence until March, 1962, and is now serving two to three years in New Jersey State Penitentiary. In 1950, Moriarty served a two-month sentence for Federal income tax evasion and again in 1960 he was convicted under Internal Revenue statutes and was sentenced to six months in Federal custody.

We have taken all monies, bonds and weapons recovered into Bureau custody on the basis of a search warrant authorized by the United States Attorney at Newark. On March 5, 1958, a judgment in the amount of $160,544 was entered against Moriarty as an assessment of income taxes. At the present time, he stills owes a balance of $158,007 against this judgment.

We have determined that Bureau files contain no record of the serial numbers obtained from the weapons included in this recovery. The Laboratory will conduct a further examination of the firearms in an effort to trace their ownership and possible involvement in previous crimes.

We have instructed the SAC at Newark to vigorously pursue this investigation in order to obtain legal evidence of Moriarty's propriety interest in this loot and thereby enable the Government to recover all of the monies owed by Moriarty.

Attached is a letter directed to the Attorney General apprising him of the developments in this situation.

Reference is made to memorandum dated July 5, 1962, setting forth facts surrounding our recovery of $2,421,850 in currency and other valuables and weapons which are believed to be the property of Joseph Moriarty, a notorious gambling figure in Hudson County, New Jersey. The Director inquired as to role of New Jersey local authorities.

SAC, Newark advises that the Newark Office received a tip on July 3, 1962, from a workman repairing garages in Jersey City, New Jersey, indicating a considerable amount of money was located in what appeared to be an abandoned car in one of these garages. Based upon this call, the SAC took immediate action to send Agents to this garage where they found the 1947 Plymouth containing the money involved in this case. Again acting with dispatch, our Agents took the necessary steps to obtain a legal search warrant in order to confiscate this loot.

During interview of the owner of the garages, an employer of the workman who notified the FBI, our Agents were advised that the owner had also notified Jersey City Police Chief Conley. He stated he was personally acquainted with Conley and was aware of the fact Moriarty was of specific interest to the local law enforcement authorities. He, therefore, notified Chief of Police Conley. Conley, in turn, notified Hudson County Prosecutor who had handled the Moriarty state gambling case, for which Moriarty is now serving time in the state penitentiary. As noted above, our Newark Office, by acting quickly, had obtained a search warrant enabling us to seize this large loot.

"Newsboy" Moriarty, who is believed to be the owner of this abandoned automobile and this large sum of money, is a notorious figure in Jersey City, New Jersey. He has been arrested by local authorities approximately 25 times since 1931, on various gambling charges. In addition to the interest of local authorities in Moriarty, Internal Revenue Service, in 1960 and 1961, obtained indictments against Moriarty for failure to pay gambling excise tax, assault and attempted bribery of an Internal Revenue Service Agent and failure to obtain a Wagering Tax Stamp. These indictments are still pending in Federal District Court, New Jersey.

ACTION:

67 AUG 1 1962
Our Newark Office is continuing to pursue this matter vigorously in order to run out all possible angles.

- Q19 Letter dated 3/3/50, to Honorable Thomas Madden, U.S. Circuit Court Justice, Camden, New Jersey, from JOSEPH V. MORIARTY, 427 West Street, New York City
- Q20 Three sheets of onionskin paper reflecting listings of bank accounts and various notations

Result of examination:

It was found that the signature "Joseph V. Moriarty" and the names "Joseph V. Moriarty" appearing in three other places on the letter, Q19, the names "Joseph Moriarty" on the listings of accounts, Q20, and the name "Joseph Moriarty" on one of the pieces of paper comprising one part of numerous notes, Q16, were prepared by the person who wrote the signatures on fingerprint cards for JOSEPH VINCENT MORIARTY, FBI#598863. The signatures on these fingerprint cards are too limited for comparison with the other handwriting on Q1 through Q20 although significant similarities were noted among those letters where a comparison was possible.

The handwriting on Q19 and Q20 was prepared by one person. Nearly all of the handwriting on more than 1100 pieces of paper comprising Q1 through Q18 was prepared by the person who wrote the handwriting on Q19 and/or Q20. The handwriting on portions of approximately 30 pieces of paper comprising parts of Q1 through Q18 was not written by this person.

Items Q1 through Q20 are being returned to the Newark Office under separate cover by registered mail. Representative photographs are retained.

attempting to locate all bank accounts and safe deposit boxes belonging to subject to determine if MORIARTY has any money that might be levied against. All information available concerning bank accounts and safe deposit boxes has been furnished to IRS.

On 7/20/62 USA DAVID M. SATZ, JR. expressed the opinion that he feels that this matter comes within the jurisdiction of IRS and that further investigation should be conducted by IRS. He feels that everything that was seized should be turned over to IRS upon completion of the FBI's review and report.

A sample number of serial numbers selected at random were recorded from each bundle of money recovered in instant case. These selected numbers were checked against the cases entitled "UNKNOWN SUBJECTS; ROBERT COSGROVE GREENLEASE, JR. - VICTIM; KIDNAPING - EXTORTION," Newark File 7-269, Bureau File 7-6920; and "UNKNOWN SUBJECT; Robbery of Brinks, Inc., Boston, Mass., January 17, 1950, BANK ROBBERY - ITSP", Newark File 91-541, Bureau File 91-5535, with negative results.

Information from those straps containing identification was recorded and is being maintained in the 1-A section of the Newark file. This information consists generally of the name of the bank, the date, in some instances the name or the initials of the teller, and the name of the company making the strap.

A check of money, as recovered in instant case, bearing the wrappers of the Rutherford National Bank and its various branches all bore rubber stamps, the dates of which were subsequent to the date of robbery of the bank in question. The wrappers containing the money, as recovered in captioned case, were grey in color and manufactured by the Abbott Coin Counter Co., New York.

INFORMANTS

NK T-1 through NK T-7 requested that their identities be concealed because they felt their lives may be in jeopardy, because of possible reprisals for having turned in the money to the FBI. They made this request on 7/3/62 at the time they revealed the money.

DETAILS: A. Search Warrant and Seizure of Property

At about 1:30 PM on July 3, 1962, NK T-1, who identified himself as an installer for the R and K Mockler Overhead Door Company, Palisades Park, New Jersey, telephonically communicated with the Newark Office and advised that he and several other workmen had been installing new overhead garage doors at 123 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, and during the course of their work, had found several bags filled with a large quantity of large denomination bills which he believed to be illegally obtained.

Supervisor [redacted] instructed SA [redacted] and SA FRANCIS E. KEOGH to proceed to the scene to determine if the large quantity of money was there as alleged and if so, whether or not it might be proceeds from any bank robberies. Upon reaching the area of 123 Oxford Avenue, the agents were met by seven rather excited workmen who brought them to garage #48 at this area. Garage #48 was one of 24 garages, 12 on each side of a short alley. All of the garage doors on the west side of the alley had been removed and garage 48 was on the southeast side.

These workmen pointed out to the agents a 1947 Plymouth Sedan which was in a rather dilapidated shape and extremely dusty. They opened the trunk of the car which was unlocked and exhibited two suitcases and two metal boxes. Upon opening these suitcases, they displayed a large quantity of high denomination bills which filled both suitcases to the top. They also opened the one metal tool chest and it was also partially filled with bills and not as neatly stacked as those in the suitcases. The other metal box contained some rags and a stack of bank books. Underneath these rags and wrapped in them, there were also three guns which will be described in detail later in the report.

In view of the apparant large amount of money in these suitcases and metal tool chest, both suitcases and both metal chests were locked in the trunk of the Bureau automobile for security purposes.

Further examination of garage 48 reflected another cardboard box which contained correspondence between the Internal Revenue Division of the Treasury Department and JOSEPH MORIARTY, 18A West Hamilton Place, Jersey City, New Jersey. Included in this correspondence was a letter from Internal Revenue indicating that MORIARTY owed them a sum of upwards of $15,000 and they were placing a lien against him for this amount. Based on the observations, the facts were discussed with United States Attorney DAVID M. SATZ, JR. and he authorized the issuance of a search warrant.

Mr. SATZ authorized this search warrant for the money and the guns and instructed that the other miscellaneous material be turned over to the Jersey City Police Department.

A search warrant was issued on the same date by United States Commissioner [redacted] Jersey City, New Jersey, and based upon this, the two suitcases and the two metal containers including the money and the guns were removed to the Newark Office of the FBI.

Pursuant to instructions of Supervisor [redacted] SA [redacted] and SA FRANCIS E. KEOGH proceeded to 123 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey. Here they were met by seven workmen who were installing overhead garage doors on the 24 garages located at this address. These workmen advised the agents that they had found a quantity of money in the trunk of a 1947 Plymouth Sedan, which was located in garage #48. The workmen pointed out garage #48 and opened the doors.

Examination of this garage by the agents disclosed a dilapidated dusty 1947 Plymouth Sedan with no license plates on either front or rear and no inspection sticker, on the windshield. The right rear wheel of this automobile had been removed and the axle was resting on an empty milk carton. The wheel was laying underneath the car.

At the rear of the car was a cardboard box containing a quantity of obscene and pornographic material. There were numerous New Jersey license plates alongside the wall, the majority of them of the old-type issue which were discontinued in 1957 or 1958. There was also located on the floor of the garage two files which were the property of the Hudson County, New Jersey Prosecutor's Office. These files had numbers on them, one was for [redacted] and the other was for [redacted]. These files dated back to 1951 and contained information concerning the case of [redacted] and their involvement in a lottery slip arrest. Included in one of the folders were numerous cards which appeared to be index cards involving other individuals in various type arrests in Hudson County.

There was another cardboard box containing miscellaneous papers and voluminous correspondence between the Internal Revenue Service Treasury Department and JOSEPH MORIARTY, 18A West Hamilton Place, Jersey City, New Jersey. Included in this correspondence was a notice from the Internal Revenue Service to MORIARTY that a lien had been placed against him by Internal Revenue Service for a sum exceeding $150,000. There was also located a

.22 caliber Remington rifle in a cardboard box. One of the workmen opened the trunk of the 1947 Plymouth and exhibited to agents two leather bags and two metal boxes. He opened the first leather bag and pointed out a large quantity of high denomination bills, neatly packaged and neatly stacked in the bag. One of the bundles on the top of this bag bore a wrapper from the Rutherford National Bank, Rutherford, New Jersey. This bag was an imitation leather traveling bag with two handles and two straps and was opened by a zipper. The bag was dark brown with light brown straps. The zipper ran lengthwise and had a small lock at the end which was not locked. The bag was 20" long, 11" wide and 11" high. In addition to the money in this bag, there was also a package of papers which contained $10,000 in Series D and E Treasury Bonds in the name of JOSEPH MORIARTY and [redacted] miscellaneous correspondence between JOSEPH MORIARTY and [redacted] and others and several bank accounts in the name of [redacted]. Subsequent count of the money in this bag reflected that it contained $1,282,090.00.

The second leather bag was opened by one of the workmen and it was noted that it also contained a considerable amount of high denomination bills neatly packaged and neatly stacked to the top of the bag. This bag was a light brown composition plastic-type zipper traveling bag with a small lock which was also unlocked. It also contained a double handle. The bag was 10" wide, 12" high and 20" long. The zipper on this bag ran lengthwise. This bag contained only money and a subsequent count reflected that it contained $956,060.00. One of the workmen opened the long metal tool chest and it was noted that this tool chest contained money although it was not completely filled.

Examination of the tool chest disclosed that it was a Union chest made by the Union Steel Chest Corporation, Leroy, New York. It was a Super Steel Chest, style Number 6032. There was a handle on top and a metal or plastic handle on one end. There was also a hasp on this chest, but no lock. The dimensions of the chest were 2'8½" in length, 8" in width and 9½" in depth. This chest also contained only money and a subsequent count reflected the amount to be $199,960.00.

A second metal container was located in the trunk and opened by one of the workmen. This container was 21" long, 8½" wide and 7½" deep. The container consisted of two lids which overlapped one another with a metal handle on each lid. In this bag were observed three weapons which were subsequently examined and found to be as follows:

Fabrique Nationale D-Armes De Guerre Herstal Belgique, Browning Patent Depose, .32 caliber automatic pistol, Serial Number 116931. This pistol was in a brown leather shoulder holster. In a pocket on the side of the holster was a clip loaded with eight rounds of .32 ammunition.

A second weapon was found to be a Smith and Wesson 6 shot revolver, .32 long caliber, Serial Number 471.

A third item was found to be a Smith and Wesson DA45 6 shot .45 caliber revolver, Serial Number 8141. On the butt of the gun, there was the following, "U. S. Army, Model 1917, #137894."

Also found in this metal container were three boxes of .22 long ammunition, two boxes .22 short ammunition, and approximately 150 pieces of miscellaneous loose .22, .32 and .38 caliber ammunition.

In this metal container was also located numerous bank books and miscellaneous personal papers of JOSEPH MORIARTY.

Also located in garage 48 in a cardboard container was found a .22 caliber Remington model #34 rifle bearing Serial Number 106536. This weapon was found with the barrel and the stock detached. All the guns were unloaded when found.

The two leather traveling bags, the two metal chests as well as the rifle in the cardboard box were all placed in the trunk of the FBI automobile and locked up for safekeeping and subsequently transported to the Newark Office of the FBI where a detailed examination was made.

Date July 10, 19621

Directly opposite garage #48 on the west side of the alleyway were the 12 garages from which all of the doors had been removed. The first garage in this group, garage #2, contained a 1949 Ford, bearing 1955 New Jersey registration plates HD 3163. This car was subsequently determined to be registered to JOSEPH MORIARTY, 18A West Hamilton Place, Jersey City, New Jersey. At this time, the automobile was completely locked although the trunk was opened. Nothing of significance was located in the trunk. Subsequent examination of the car by the Jersey City, New Jersey Police Department, reflected that there were contained inside a Brandt coin counter, Serial Number 62222, a Remington electric adding machine, Serial Number 95-244821, an Underwood electric adding machine, Serial Number 846177, and an old telephone with telephone number OLdfield 6-7362.

"and hiding of the aforesaid huge sums of money in such a ramshackle garage building such as the above described premises, without associating any identity of ownership or claim of title to the aforesaid funds or the guns or ammunition."

On the basis of the above-described affidavit, a search warrant was issued by U. S. Commissioner [redacted] on July 3, 1962. Prior to the issuance of the search warrant, First Assistant Prosecutor [redacted] [redacted] New Jersey, arrived on the scene and telephonically communicated with U. S. Attorney DAVID M. SATZ, JR. After this discussion U. S. Attorney SATZ advised SA FRANCIS E. KEOGH, who was at the scene, that the money, guns and ammunition as mentioned in the search warrant should be taken by the FBI while all of the other material and records, including the two Hudson County Prosecutor's files should be turned over to the Jersey City Police Department. After the issuance of the search warrant, the owner for the premises of 123 Oxford Avenue could not be located, and the search warrant was tacked to the garage door.

All of the articles mentioned in the search warrant were obtained and an inventory was left at the scene.

E. Interviews of Workmen Present at Discovery of Money

NK 92-1240
JJC:hds

On July 5, 1962, NK T-1 furnished the following information:

On July 5, 1962, he reported [redacted]
[redacted] the R and K Mockler Overhead Door Company to 123 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey. [redacted] workmen were supposed to tear down all of the garage doors on the 24 garages located at this address and install new overhead garage doors. [redacted] workmen had been advised by [redacted] the man who had contracted to do the work at this location, that all of the garages should be empty, and that if there were any materials of value located there which could be salvaged, that the workmen would be entitled to take them.
He and the other workmen started on the garages on the right hand side as they entered the premises and removed all of the swinging wooden doors. Most of these garages were empty although there was an automobile located in one of the garages.
The only thing of value and of interest to the workers was one steel drum which they appropriated and put on their truck.
After finishing the one side tearing down the garage doors, he and the other workmen started on the other side which also comprised 12 garages.

b6
b7c

When they reached garage #43 which had a lock on it as did several of the previous garages, he or one of his fellow workmen knocked off this lock. When they opened the swinging wooden doors, they first noticed the box containing what appeared to be some obscene and pornographic material.
After rummaging through this box, they noticed some photostats of bank books in the names of MORIARTY. They also noticed two files which he described as prison records, one made out in the name of JAMES MORIARTY and the other file he could not recall the name. He and his fellow workmen examined this file and noticed that it contained a record of a gambling charge against MORIARTY by Hudson County which was dated in 1951. In this garage was an old dilapidated dusty 1947 Plymouth Sedan with no license plates. There was also a considerable quantity of junk lined around the walls of the garage.
He said that after looking at the files and realizing that MORIARTY was a gambler, he thought perhaps he might have some money stored in the automobile.

He then looked in the interior of the 1947 Plymouth both in the rear and in the front, under the front and rear seats and in the glove compartment, but found nothing except a small money bag. This money bag was locked and was of the type used to make deposits in night depositories of banks. At this point, it was about noon, and he and his fellow employees sat down and ate lunch.

JJC:hds

At about this time, [] the individual who was purchasing these garages and who had contracted for installing the new garage doors, arrived on the scene, and he and the other workmen showed [] the file on MORIARTY. [] commented that he believed that he was a bookmaker in Jersey City. He again told them that anything of value that they found in the garages they would be entitled to, and he also informed them that he would call the Jersey City PD to have them get rid of the automobiles in the garages since he considered them to be abandoned.

After [] left, he and the other workmen sat down and ate lunch and discussed the situation. He still felt that perhaps there was money in the automobile and again went into the interior of the car and attempted to get into the trunk through the rear seat. Since he was unable to do this, he took a crowbar and hit the lock of the trunk and broke it. He then opened the trunk of the car, which was in garage 43, and noticed two leather bags and two metal containers. There were also two locks on the floor of the trunk of the car. He opened the first leather bag which was a zipper-type bag and saw that it was filled with money of large denominations. He put both hands into the bag and removed several bundles, showing it to his fellow workmen. They all examined the second bag and found that it, too, was filled to the top with bills of large denomination. They next opened a long metal tool box and saw that it was not quite filled with bills. The fourth receptacle, which was also a metal box, appeared to be filled with rags and papers and they did not examine it thoroughly. Seeing this large amount of money, they all became rather concerned and closed the trunk of the car and the garage doors and had a discussion as to what action to take concerning the money. They then decided to call the Federal Bureau of Investigation and have them take over this money. Then he and another one of the workmen went to the nearest available telephone and called the FBI, and reported their find.

Shortly thereafter two agents of the FBI came to the location where he had found the money.

On July 5, 1962, NK T-2 furnished the following information:

On July 3, 1962 he said he left his [redacted] [redacted] with a crew of men and arrived at their work site, a group of garages located at Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, about 9:30 A.M.

He stated the garages at Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, consisted of two rows of twelve garages each. Their work was to rip out the doors and replace them with new overhead doors, and they began ripping out the doors shortly after they arrived. Some of the garage doors had locks on them and they were ripped off. He said shortly before twelve noon they had completed ripping out the doors on one side of the garages, the west side, and were to complete the east side after lunch. He said [redacted] the owner of the garages, arrived about this time and told them to continue tearing down the doors, whether they bore locks or not. Also, he would notify the Jersey City Police to tow away any vehicles in the garages. b6 b7C

He stated one of the workmen entered garage #43 and found some pornographic literature and called this to the attention of the entire crew. The crew entered the garage and in looking underneath the car, a 1947 Plymouth, found a file from the Hudson County Prosecutor's Office with the name MORIARTY on it. One of the men remarked MORIARTY was a bookmaker and jokingly said that his car was probably filled with money.

He stated one of the men used a crowbar and forced the trunk of the car and found two leather bags and one metal chest. This man opened the leather bags and discovered they were completely filled with money, mostly $100.00 bills.

He stated they were frightened and confused at finding so much money and did not know what to do. After a conference of about thirty minutes all agreed they should call the Federal Bureau of Investigation and turn the money over to them. He said about 1:30 P.M., on July 3, 1962, one of his group went to a pay telephone and notified the Newark Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation of their findings. A short time later two Federal Bureau of Investigation Agents arrived on the scene and they turned the money over to them.

NK T-3 was interviewed on July 6, 1962, at which time he stated he had been instructed by his attorney to make no statements.

He was interviewed on July 10, 1962 in the office of his attorney, [redacted] Paterson, New Jersey. He advised that he was a workman on the job at which a large sum of money was recovered on July 3, 1962 from a 1947 Plymouth automobile.

b7C

He advised on July 3, 1962 he was working from 8:00 A.M. to around 4:30 P.M. in the vicinity of 122 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, in which garages were being ripped apart and old doors being replaced with new overhead doors.

He advised that he was working with six others that day.

He advised that around twelve noon the group had knocked off for lunch and that the owner of the garages, [redacted] came around to look the job over.

He advised that it was necessary to remove considerable garbage and rubble from the garage and that [redacted] had instructed to break any locks on the garage in order to get the junk out so that it could be hauled away.

In one of the garages was a 1947 Plymouth that had a locked trunk. The car was to be pulled out of the garage so that it could be disposed of.

He stated that around 12:30 P.M. on July 3, 1962, one of the men opened the trunk of the 1947 Plymouth. He advised that the trunk was probably opened as a matter of curiosity. He stated that at the time the trunk was opened one of the men was not present at the scene.

He stated that the large sum of money was observed in the trunk and that they were uncertain as to what action to take.

He stated that approximately 1:00 P.M. they closed the trunk lid and shut the garage door and moved up to the end of the garage to discuss the matter.

It was decided to call the Federal Bureau of Investigation about the money and according to his knowledge Special Agents of the FBI arrived on the scene about 1:15 P.M. or 1:30 P.M.

On July 5, 1962 NK T-4 furnished the following information. He advised he is employed as an installer at the Mockler Overhead Door Company located on West Ruby Avenue, Palisades Park, New Jersey, where he has worked for the past 11 years.

He advised that he reported for work at Mockler as usual on July 3, 1962, at about 8 a.m. and then reported to the job in Jersey City, New Jersey. He said that he arrived on the job at about 9:30 a.m.

He said that the garages were old and delapidated and located on Oxford Avenue between Hudson Boulevard and West Side Avenue, Jersey City. He said that they started ripping the old doors off the garages and the ones which were locked they had instructions to break the locks and remove the doors anyway. According to NK T-4, nearly all the garages were filled with junk and two or three of them had old cars in them which also appeared to be junk. He said that when they were about three-fourths of the way through taking the doors off the garages, they came to garage Number 48, where there was an old car which appeared to be about a 1946 model and which had one of the wheels off and was propped up on blocks.

NK T-4 said that in this garage and around the car were boxes filled with "girlie" type magazines and that he and all the other workmen stopped working to look at these. He said that this was shortly before noontime and at about this time the owner of the garages, whose name he does not know, came by to see how the job was going. He said that the owner too looked at the magazines and about that time one of the workmen found some "official looking court type papers" on which the name of JOSEPH MORIARTY appeared. According to NK T-4, the name of JOSEPH MORIARTY was recognized by the owner of the garages as that of a Jersey City bookie who had recently gone to jail on a charge of bookmaking. NK T-4 said that shortly after this the owner of the garages left. A little later, one of the Mockler employees made the observation that if MORIARTY was a bookie, maybe there was some money around. He said that the employee started looking in the car and found some old money wrappers but nothing of value. He said that he then left this garage and began eating his lunch and continued looking at some of the "girlie" magazines.

NK T-4 said that the next thing he knew he heard a lot of commotion around the trunk of the old car which was in garage Number 48 and upon getting up and going over to the trunk of same saw all the money which was in a new looking tan briefcase, a tool box and some other box. He said that they, the Mockler employees, were all very excited and did not know what they should do. He said that one of them closed the trunk of the car and the six workmen discussed what they should do. They were undecided as to whether they should call the Jersey City Police or the FBI, but decided to call the FBI because they did not want to receive any publicity. NK T-4 said that they called the FBI and notified them of the find, but called the second time feeling that the FBI may think that they were "kidding" about finding the money. He said that the FBI Agents showed up in a short time.

NK T-4 said that he is fearful for himself and family because of his being involved in finding the money. He is afraid that the underworld may make reprisals against them and he preferred not to give a signed statement concerning the above.

On July 6, 1962 NK T-5 furnished the following information:

He advised that at about 12:15 PM on July 3, 1962, he and his partner arrived at 123 Oxford Street, Jersey City, New Jersey, where they were to assist in replacing about twenty-five new garage doors. On arriving at 123 Oxford Street, Jersey City, New Jersey, they met a fellow employee who asked them if they wanted to see some "girlie books". They said yes and thereafter were taken to garage Number 48 where they observed a number of nudist colony magazines. While looking through these magazines, another employee was browsing through the old car parked in the garage. In the car, he came across a bank book with the name JOSEPH MORIARTY, which indicated thereon there had been an $8,000 withdrawal. He also found a canvass money bag which was locked but which by feeling they could determine that there was no money in the bag. Also observed in the car was a number of paper money wrappers. After finding nothing further inside the car and after a comment by another employee that if there was any money in the car that it would probably be in the trunk of the car, he took a wrecking bar from their tool kit and pried open the trunk lid of the car. Inside the trunk they observed two leather bags and what appeared to be a tool box. He zipped open the leather bag and there they observed a large amount of money. After noting the money and after quite a bit of excitement and conversation among the fellow employees, they closed the trunk lid and for about twenty to thirty minutes they excitedly discussed what they should do with the money. Finally they came to the conclusion that they should call the Federal Bureau of Investigation which was done by one of the employees.

NK T-6 said that the Mochler Company was to install approximately 25 overhead doors for [redacted] whose true name NK T-6 believes to be [redacted] (ph), on a row of old garages located on Oxford Avenue between West Side Avenue and Hudson Boulevard in Jersey City, New Jersey. NK T-6 said that on the morning of July 3, 1962, he went to the job on Oxford Avenue to make sure that the Mochler men got started on the right job. Then he left that job and went on about his business.

NK T-6 said that he knew that there was no water on this job in Jersey City, New Jersey, for the men and decided to return to the job and buy the men something to drink. He said that he arrived there between 1:30 and 2:00 P.M. on July 3, 1962 and when he got there, he found that the men were not working. He said that he knew that something was wrong and when he made inquiry, one of the men told him that one of the other workmen had "been bitten by a rat". The man asked him if he wanted to see the "rat", at which time he indicated that he did. He said that he was taken over to one of the garages in which there was an old car and one of the workmen, whom he cannot remember, opened the trunk of this old car. He said that he saw two leather bags and a long metal tool box, all of which were full of money. He said that he also saw some papers in the trunk of the car which pertained to JOSEPH MORIARTY. He did not further describe these papers. He said that the workman then closed the trunk lid and he learned that the FBI had already been called by the Mochler men. He said that the FBI Agents arrived momentarily and took over.

On July 5, 1962, NK T-7 furnished the following information:

On July 3, 1962 during the course of my regular employment my partner and I were sent to help a crew remove the old doors from a number of garages on Oxford Avenue in Jersey City. We arrived at that location at about twelve-fifteen p.m. at which time the remainder of the crew, consisting of four men were already on the job. Upon arrival those men were looking at magazines that had been found in the next to last garage on the east side of the driveway. There was also an old, dirty, black, Plymouth automobile in this garage. The magazines were in a cardboard carton inside the garage. One of the men found an old canvas bank bag in the garage and made a remark that "there must be some money in this car." One of the men then forced open the trunk of the Plymouth automobile with a pinch-bar. As the door was opened I saw two leather satchels and a long metal tool box. He opened the two satchels and I opened the tool box. All contained numerous bundles of money, I observed twenty dollar bills, one hundred dollar bills and some one thousand dollar bills. We immediately closed the satchels and the tool box. After discussing what our next move would be we decided at my insistence to call the FBI and report what we had found. We then walked about two blocks to a telephone and the call to the FBI was made by the other fellow. We then returned to the garage and waited for the FBI agents to arrive.

The signatures on these fingerprint cards are too limited for comparison with the other handwriting on Q1 through Q20 although significant similarities were noted among those letters where a comparison was possible.

The handwriting on Q19 and Q20 was prepared by one person. Nearly all of the handwriting on more than 1100 pieces of paper comprising Q1 through Q18 was prepared by the person who wrote the handwriting on Q19 and/or Q20. The handwriting on portions of approximately 30 pieces of paper comprising parts of Q1 through Q18 was not written by this person.

J. ADDITIONAL MONEY LOCATED ON JULY 6, 1962, BY JERSEY CITY,
NEW JERSEY POLICE DEPARTMENT

On July 6, 1962, Chief of Police AUSTIN J. CONLEY, Jersey City Police Department, advised SA [redacted] that on that date, the Jersey City Police Department discovered two large grocery bags containing United States currency, ranging from $1.00 to $100.00 bills and a number of coins in garage #56, located at 47-61 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey.

They also discovered 58 large grocery paper bags containing number slips, three adding machines, and a .25 caliber automatic containing a clip with no bullets. The automatic was described as a Galesi-Rigarmi, made in Brascia, Italy, with Serial Number 16569. In addition, a brown manila envelope containing three x-rays of the upper body area taken by [redacted], Jersey City, New Jersey, dated May 20, 1960, was located in the garage. The manila envelope bore the name J. MORIARTY.

Chief CONLEY advised that a count of the money revealed that the total amounted to $168,675.52. The coins, which were included in the total, amounted to $115.52.

Chief CONLEY advised that the State Police had arrested MORIARTY on February 20, 1962, and he was subsequently removed to the New Jersey State Prison at Trenton, New Jersey, on March 15, 1962, and he had not been out of custody during the period from the time he was arrested. Chief CONLEY added that the numbers play found in garage #56 goes up to the date of February 19, 1962, and stops.

K. INFORMATION REGARDING SUBJECT'S GAMBLING ACTIVITIES:

In early 1953, Lieutenant [redacted] in charge of the Gambling Squad, Jersey City, New Jersey Police Department, advised that JOSEPH "NEWSBOY" MORIARTY, 13-A West Hamilton Place, Jersey City, New Jersey, who sells newspapers at night in Jersey City, is active in numbers and horse betting. He advised that in the past, most of the waterfront gambling was booked through MORIARTY.

b6
b7C

Lieutenant [redacted] further advised that one [redacted] Jersey City, New Jersey, was MORIARTY's chief lieutenant. He stated that [redacted] handled MORIARTY's runners and picked up bets from them while MORIARTY personally kept in the background.

b6

On August 1, 1960, NK T-8 advised that JOSEPH MORIARTY was able to pay off large gambling hits. NK T-8 stated that he knew of hits in the amount of $30,000 and $45,000, which were paid off immediately by MORIARTY.

In August, 1960, NK T-9 advised that his contacts indicated to him that JOSEPH MORIARTY, who is known as "NEWSBOY" was arrested during the last week of July, 1960, by Treasury Agents and the New Jersey State Police. NK T-9 advised that his sources indicated to him that MORIARTY was the actual owner of $212,000 recovered by police officers from a raid conducted on a numbers bank in Bergen County, New Jersey. He stated that this numbers bank existed in a private house, owned and operated by a woman. He stated that MORIARTY is considered to be the biggest "layoff" man in the policy racket in the State of New Jersey, and it is conceivable that MORIARTY would have well over $200,000 in his possession to "layoff" on various numbers bets.

On August 18, 1960, NK T-10 advised that JOSEPH "NEWSBOY" MORIARTY was arrested recently by Treasury Agents and the New Jersey State Police in Jersey City, New Jersey, for failure to have a Federal tax stamp and possession of bags of numbers. NK T-10 advised that the place outside of which MORIARTY was arrested is a tavern operated by [] and actually MORIARTY set up this tavern in [] mother's name as a front. MORIARTY has an office in the back of the tavern where he tallies his take of numbers.

b6

NK T-10 stated that MORIARTY has been in the bookmaking business for a number of years in Jersey City, and is known as a "hedger". He explained that MORIARTY takes layoff bets from Hudson County bookies who cannot handle large bets placed on a specific number or horse.

On October 3, 1960, NK T-11 advised that due to recent arrests of JOSEPH MORIARTY, [] combination has been able to pick up 30 per cent of the business that previously had been turned in to MORIARTY.

b6

On October 6, 1961, NK T-11 advised that [] operates the largest numbers operation in Hudson County, New Jersey.

On May 3, 1961, NK T-12 advised that "NEWSBOY" MORIARTY is considered the biggest gambling operator in the Jersey City area.

On June 8, 1961, NK T-11 advised that "NEWSBOY" MORIARTY refused to send a representative to a meeting of representatives of the large numbers banks in Hudson County, which was held recently. At this meeting, it was decided to reduce the payoff odds to 540 to 1. NK T-11 advised that the other banks do not trust MORIARTY and [] has threatened force to bring MORIARTY in line.

NK T-11 also advised that [] (PH), who owns the newstand at the Palace Theater in Jersey City, takes layoff bets from the numbers banks in Hudson County. NK T-11 advised that [] is associated with MORIARTY's operation and will take any size bet on any number.

b7C

NK T-11 advised that MORIARTY controlled one of the largest numbers banks in Hudson County. He stated that

NK 92-1240
JJC:MJ

MORIARTY operates in Jersey City and will handle any size bet on any number. MORIARTY never layoff any of his big bets to any other bank.

On July 5, 1961, NK T-13 advised that he has learned that "NEWSBOY" MORIARTY had secured the services of one [redacted], an accountant in Teaneck, New Jersey, to maintain his gambling records. NK T-13 stated that [redacted]

b7C

On July 13, 1961, NK T-12 advised that JOSEPH "NEWSBOY" MORIARTY, a known book operator in Jersey City, New Jersey, desires to retire from active business due to his recent troubles with the Treasury Department. According to NK T-12, MORIARTY desires to sell part of his business to [redacted]

b6

[redacted] who will handle the business for MORIARTY. NK T-12 advised that the decision whether [redacted] will take over will be decided after July 12, 1961, and if the deal is made, [redacted] will start operating the business on September 15, 1961.

On September 26, 1961, NK T-14 advised that the numbers men wanted to change the payoff odds from 600 to 1 to 500 to 1, but "NEWSBOY" MORIARTY of Jersey City, N.J., refused to reduce the odds and, therefore, the others had to keep the odds at 600 to 1.

On November 21, 1961, NK T-14 advised that "NEWSBOY" MORIARTY at that time was one of the three main numbers operators in Jersey City, New Jersey.

On April 5, 1962, NK T-11 advised that since "NEWSBOY" MORIARTY has been in jail, the numbers bank controlled by [redacted] has taken over the numbers business in Jersey City almost exclusively. The only business controlled by MORIARTY appears to be handled by [redacted] who continues to take large layoff bets for the smaller numbers operators in Hudson County, and who ostensibly is working for MORIARTY.

Background

This legal action was instituted as the result of our recovery of approximately two and one-half million dollars at Jersey City, New Jersey, on July 3, 1962. The Director was advised by memorandum dated July 23, 1962, that [REDACTED] had directed a letter to the Newark Office, the U. S. Attorney at Newark and the National State Bank, demanding return of the money and other valuables. The U. S. Attorney at Newark replied to this letter on behalf of the Newark Office and himself, pointing out to the plaintiffs that all monies recovered by the FBI had been turned over to the Internal Revenue Service, who have filed a lien of approximately three million dollars against subject.

SAC, Newark is being instructed to resolve this matter immediately in discussion with U. S. Attorney and to advise Bureau promptly. The Department will be advised.

Through their attorney the owners of the garage in which Moriarty's cache of money was seized by Newark Agents, under a search warrant, have sent a letter demanding a complete accounting of all property seized, as well as its return. The owners are [redacted] and the demand was made by their attorney, [redacted] of Orange, New Jersey, by means of a letter dated July 16, 1962, addressed to our Newark Office, the United States Attorney at Newark, and the National State Bank of Newark in which the money was deposited by the United States Marshal.

It is recalled that the money attributed to Moriarty was found in an old car in the rented garage. It was discovered by workmen who had been hired by an individual then in the process of purchasing the garages. These workmen were engaged in renovating the garages, which was their stated reason for entering the one in which the money and other materials were found.

In Attorney [redacted] letter he claims that the owners of the premises have a duty to make the formal demand and obtain a complete accounting and inventory in order to determine the true ownership of the property taken and to protect the same from conversion and wrongful taking of all but the true owner. It is alleged that persons on the premises on July 3, 1962, the day the money was discovered, were there without permission and authority and that the owners at no time consented to the removal of any garage doors, other alterations or the removal of any physical items.

The letter from Attorney [redacted] continues to state that the owners are the persons legally obligated to make investigation as to title paramount to theirs, if any, and will take such proper legal action as is necessary in accordance with that duty.

SAC Bachman has discussed this matter with the United States Attorney who has advised that he considers the letter to be strictly a legal matter. He feels that the Government is amply protected by virtue of the search warrant sworn to by Agents prior to seizing the money, and he pointed out that Attorney [redacted] has taken no legal action in support of this letter. The United States Attorney has advised that he will reply on behalf of our Newark Office and himself.

AUG 7 3 05 PM '62

Reference is made to my memoranda of July 5, 9, and 23, 1962, advising of the recovery of a large sum of money and other material by Agents of our Newark Office. This money and other material were found by workmen renovating garages in Jersey City, New Jersey, on July 3, 1962. Subsequently, Attorney [redacted] representing [redacted] who claim to be owners of the garages involved, brought suit in state court demanding a complete accounting, inventory and return of all of the money and material taken. The suit was transferred to the U. S. District Court.

On August 2, 1962, Attorney [redacted] obtained from U. S. District Court Judge Reynier J. Wortendyke, Jr., an order to show cause why the case should not be remanded to state court and, secondly, to take depositions from our Agents.

On August 6, 1962, Assistant U. S. Attorney [redacted] appeared before Judge Wortendyke and opposed the taking of the depositions pointing out to the court that the Government is preparing a motion to dismiss the suit brought by [redacted]. The motion to dismiss is now being prepared and will be filed within two weeks of September 4, 1962, which is the date set by Judge Wortendyke for argument on the matter.

You will be advised of any further developments.

Reference is made to memorandum dated July 23, 1962, concerning a letter which was directed to the SAC, Newark; the United States Attorney at Newark; and the National State Bank of Newark, by an attorney acting on behalf of [redacted] the property where we located approximately two and one-half million dollars on July 3, 1962.

On July 25, 1962, the SAC, Newark was served with Order to Show Cause by an individual employed by the attorney for [redacted] This document indicates that an action has been filed by [redacted] plaintiffs, versus Ralph Bachman, [redacted] John Doe, Richard Roe and the National State Bank of Newark, defendants. The order instructs that SAC Bachman appear in the Chancery Division, Superior Court of New Jersey, Newark, New Jersey, at 9:30 a.m., August 2, 1962, in response to the plaintiffs' plea that the custody of all property, money, valuables, etc., taken from the plaintiffs' premises be returned to them.

The United States Attorney at Newark was promptly advised of this action taken by the [redacted] attorney and the United States Attorney is taking immediate steps to have this matter transferred from the local court to U. S. District Court, Newark, where it properly belongs. The United States Attorney has advised that the Bureau will not be involved in any legal action since all monies and other valuables were recovered on the basis of a search warrant and all of this material was turned over to the United States Marshal and not in Bureau custody at the time that the legal action was instituted.

ACTION

The Attorney General has been advised by memorandum. We will continue to stay on top of this situation to insure that all of the Bureau's interests are secured.

Attorneys for Plaintiffs

STATEMENT OF FACTS

On July 3, 1962, at 127-131 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, an astounding and now notorious event transpired. In the back of an automobile, parked in one of the twenty-five garages, a reported sum of Two Million, Four Hundred Thousand ($2,400,000) Dollars was found.

Plaintiffs are the owners of the subject property. The use of the garages on plaintiffs' land is leased but plaintiffs maintain control over certain physical conditions, in some cases, jointly with the persons leasing said use. Thus, on the day in question, certain workmen allegedly went on the premises to remove the doors to said garages, under claim of right of the owners. Though the owners had the right to allow such work, permission to do so had never been given to these workmen, or alleged workmen, or to anyone.

John Doe and Richard Roe are agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigations, who either were in fact, or were under the direction of, the workmen. Without any search warrant or other legal process a thorough and exhaustive search was made of plaintiffs' premise: doors were dismantled, walls were broken, boxes overturned, and finally, an automobile in garage #48 was forced open in the trunk.

For many years the use of garages ## 2 and 48 were leased for use in the name of "A. Moriarity". The automobile in garage #48 appears to have been owned by one Joseph V. Moriarity, a well known figure currently serving a prison term. The car was reportedly last used by an [redacted] who is likewise reported to have been a friend of the latter, Moriarity. A. Moriarity is dead.

Culminating the trespass upon plaintiffs' land, the destruction of much property thereon, and the crowbar entry into the trunk of said automobile, all without permission of plaintiffs or valid legal process, defendants Doe and Roe (whose names are not now known) seized, inter alia, the contents of the trunk, the large sum of money in question. Also taken was all surrounding evidence and in fact the automobile was likewise taken. Property from surrounding garages were taken and persons have already notified plaintiffs of claims therefore.

All of this valuable property and evidence was seized by the agents of the United States government without any authority and no crimes have been alleged to have been occurring. No one attempts to explain what these alleged, unidentified, workmen were doing on the premises without permission of the plaintiffs nor why they called the F.B.I. Without any legal authority, the trespassers have condemned so to speak the property and taken control of it.

involved, who would not? Before discussing the law involved, we would like to make one observation concerning Plaintiffs' premises because so much of the law in this area concerns an analogous situation, that of safety deposit boxes. Plaintiffs' premises may be analogized to a bank, each garage stall representing a safety deposit box, the use of which has been rented. Certainly, if a bank were to have someone enter its premises, purport to remove the doors of all safety deposit boxes, and ransack the contents, under claim of right from the bank, even though the same was never given, the owner bank would have some duty to protect its depositors. So in this situation, Plaintiffs have both right and obligation to protect the owners of the valuable property seized, conduct a full investigation as to the nature of the said money, both for the County of Hudson and for all possible claimants, and to supervise the proper disposition of the said property.

POINT I

PLAINTIFFS ARE ENTITLED TO IMMEDIATE POSSESSION AND CUSTODY OF ALL PERSONAL PROPERTY WRONGFULLY TAKEN FROM THEIR PREMISES

The distinctions between, and the rights of obligations of a property owner concerning mislaid, lost, or abandoned property are well settled as summarized in Foster v. Fidelity Safe Deposit Co., 264 Mo. 89, 174 S.W. 376, L.R.A. (1916) A655 (Sup. Ct. 1915):

"Now the authorities as a general rule hold that money or other property voluntarily laid down and forgotten is not, in legal contemplation, lost and that the owner of the shop, bank, or other place where it is left is the proper custodian rather than the person who happens to discover it, as well also to all other persons except the owner."

Earlier the Court stated:

"If the money was lost, in a legal sense, Defendant [owner of premises] had no sort of possession of it, and owed no duty towards it; and had no right to question the honesty of the finder. But if Defendant did owe a duty to it, then it was in its custody, and Plaintiff could have no claim as a finder; * * * "

See Foulke v. New York Consolidated Railroad Company, 228 N.Y. 269, 127 N.E. 237, 9 A.L.R. 1384 (Ct. App. 1920); Annotation, Respective rights of carrier, or of one in similar relation to owner, and of finder of property lost or mislaid, 9 A.L.R. 1388; Silcott v. Lost Property, §3, P. 632.

The Plaintiffs in this case are not without serious jeopardy because of the Defendants' unlawful actions. In a very similar case, Roberts v. Stuyvesant Safe Deposit Co., 123 N.Y. 67, 25 N.E. 294, 9 L.R.A. 438 (Ct. App. 1890), we find the Court holding the land owner liable for all losses incurred where it allowed the removal of contents of a box by officers of the law, who even in that case acted pursuant to a search warrant, although it was not a legally proper one. The Court stated:

"We think the Defendant's officers neglected to exercise in the care and keeping of the property which the Plaintiff had confided to their charge that degree of diligence and fidelity to which they were bound by the terms of the contract * * * "

"But in this case the persons who took the property had no process that authorized them to do so, and hence the Defendant had the right to make such resistance to it as it would have had if the same parties attempted to take it without any process whatever; and if overcome by surprise and force, they could pursue and reclaim it by legal proceedings or otherwise in the same manner as if the search warrant had not been procured."

So in this case, the Plaintiffs have not only the right but the duty to regain possession of the seized property as if it were their own. The Defendants are in the position of the extreme case noted by the Court where property was seized without any process whatsoever.

The federal authorities as all other claimants should have made demand upon the Plaintiffs and upon satisfactory evidence of their claim, given the Plaintiffs reasonable time and opportunity to determine what course to pursue and what steps to take to protect themselves and the true owner from said claims.

Whiting v. Whiting, 111 Me. 13, 87 A. 381 (Sup. Ct. 1913).

The Plaintiff is entitled to make a reasonable investigation and if he finds conflicting claims to bring a suit in the nature of interpleader making the different claimants parties. Equity Gaslight Co. v. McKeige, 139 N.Y. 237, 34 N.E. 898 (Ct. App. 1893). An owner acquiesces in claims against said party at his peril. Atlantic & B. R. Co. v. Spires, 1 Ga. App. 22, 57 S.E. 973 (Ct. App. 1907).

Where a trespasser takes possession of property, he acquires no rights whatever therein. Doty v. Hawkins, 6 N.H. 247, 25 Am. Dec. 459 (Sup. Ct. 1833). An owner of property cannot set up title of a third person upon a claim for return unless the owner can prove that the third person had earlier right to the property at the time of his yield of possession. Rosenfield v. Express Co., Fed. Cas., No. 12, 060 (D.C. 1871); Sedgwick v. Macy, 24 App. Div. 1, 49 N.Y. Supp. 154 (Sup. Ct. 1897).

There is no question that the Plaintiffs are entitled to immediate equitable relief. This becomes even more evident under the circumstances of this case where the federal authorities have proven their propensity to act unlawfully, have admitted their selfish and interested claim to said property while conducting an investigation, and have refused to yield to Plaintiffs' rights to conduct a fair determination of the nature and ownership of said money. The Court stated in Lavelle v. Bellin, 121 Mo. App. 442, 97 S.W. 200 (1906):

" * * * We are persuaded that unless the Plaintiff is afforded the remedy claimed, he will be without sufficient protection from the demands of Defendant-claimants, and that he will be harassed by more than one law suit, and subjected to the risk of paying lawyer's fees and costs, for which there would be no remuneration, and, as it is a familiar and well-established principle that equity will grant relief when the party has no adequate remedy at law. * * * "

Thus, the Court granted equitable relief and restraints in a similar situation.

In this case Plaintiffs are entitled to such relief in the protection of not only possible private rights of claiming owners, and not only protection of their own rights against later claims as in the Roberts case, but more importantly, to protect the public rights of the County of Hudson as stated in the Spagnuolo case.

If the money is, as Defendants content, that of Moriarity, how did he get the same? Was it from a rich aunt or was it contraband? As stated in Spagnuolo:

"It is true that the statute, as supplemented, declares that 'said money, currency or cash shall be deemed prima facie to be contraband of law as a gambling device, or as part of a gambling operation.' This declaration of the statute was not and could not be intended to have the effect of leaving the legal title to such money in the gambler or player.

'Money is the sine qua non of a gambling operation. To attempt to ascribe to the Legislature an intent to place money used in gambling in a different category for the purposes of seizure as contraband, from dice, roulette wheels, racing sheets, gambling tables, etc. based on a theory or an academic question as to where legal title to such money rests at a given moment, is an absurdity which we shall not impute to the Legislature.

"The intention of the Legislature in making such a declaration is obvious. It was and is to establish a rule of evidence, by a prima facie presumption to be used in the trial of the claim of a property created by the act. Such presumption placed the burden upon the claimant of coming forward with evidence to overthrow it. Such a presumption is not required for the forfeiture of dice, roulette wheels, etc. because such instruments of gambling speak louder than mere words. Further, for obvious reasons money cannot be destroyed and the State of New Jersey has not the constitutional power to destroy it. Such power is an incident of the federal power 'to coin Money, [and] regulate the Value thereof, * * * ' Art. I. sec. 8, U.S. Const.; Ling Su Fan v. United States, 218 U.S. 302, 31 S. Ct. 21, 54 L. Ed. 1049 (1910); 31 U.S.C.A., §420, et seq.

"The monies seized in this case are admittedly legal tender and the rule is that the taker, holder, or finder, in good faith or by law, of money has a good title thereto against the whole world in the absence of proper and sufficient evidence to prove bad faith on his part. The County of Essex lawfully took possession of this contraband by virtue of the sovereign power of the State of New Jersey, and had good title to the money, from the date of the seizure to the confirming judgment of forfeiture, against the whole world including the owner, Edward Spagnuolo, against whom the United States asserts its lien.

"In the trial below the owner, by his default, admitted that as far as his title and possession was concerned the money was contraband. The claimant, his mother, attempted to prove her title to the property and that the money was not used for gambling purposes. The trial court, on the proofs offered, declared the money to be contraband and entered the confirming judgment of forfeiture under the statute. He had no other alternative. Where a forfeiture is absolute under the statute, as it is here, the judgment of condemnation or forfeiture when entered relates back to the commission of the wrongful act and takes date from the wrongful acts, not from the date of sentence or decree. United States v. 1960 Bags of Coffee, 8 Cranch. 398, 3 L. Ed. 602 (1814); In re Henderson's Distilled Spirits, 14 Wall. 44, 81 U.S. 44, 20 L. Ed. 815 (1872); United States v. Pacific Finance Corp., 110 F. 2d 732 (2d Cir. 1940), and the cases cited therein. Cf. Motlow v. State of Missouri, 295 U.S. 97, 55 S. Ct. 661, 79 L. Ed. 1327 (1935); 51 Harv. L. Rev. 1112."

"Therefore, we must conclude that at the time the jeopardy assessment was attempted to be levied against the particular monies in this case, seized under the circumstances in which they were, title to the property was then in the County of Essex. At most the federal lien could only attach to Edward Spagnuolo's inchoate right to sue for the return of the funds in the event of his acquittal and not to the confiscated funds themselves. The federal lien can rise no higher than the rights of the taxpayer. Bankers Title & Abstract Co. v. Ferber Co., 15 N.J. 433, 441 (1954), and the authorities cited therein.

"The title and possession of the County of Essex was not that of a creditor or a judgment creditor but a title and possession acquired by an exercise of sovereign power, and therefore the case of United States v. Security Trust & Savings Bank, 340 U.S. 47, 71 S. Ct. 111, 95 L. Ed. 53 (1950), is not in point."

The federal authorities initiated their claims and possession unlawfully and seek, presumably, to perpetrate their rights by the very inertia of their unlawful conduct.

We respectfully submit that the Court should grant the relief as requested by the Plaintiffs.

Respectfully submitted,

Background

This legal action was instituted as the result of our recovery of approximately two and one-half million dollars at Jersey City, New Jersey, on July 3, 1962. The Director was advised by memorandum dated July 23, 1962, that [REDACTED] had directed a letter to the Newark Office, the U. S. Attorney at Newark and the National State Bank, demanding return of the money and other valuables. The U. S. Attorney at Newark replied to this letter on behalf of the Newark Office and himself, pointing out to the plaintiffs that all monies recovered by the FBI had been turned over to the Internal Revenue Service, who have filed a lien of approximately three million dollars against subject.

SAC, Newark is being instructed to resolve this matter immediately in discussion with U. S. Attorney and to advise Bureau promptly. The Department will be advised.

Civil Action

RALPH BACHMAN, CHRISTOPHER GROSS, JOHN DOE, RICHARD ROE, : and THE NATIONAL STATE BANK

COMPLAINT

Defendants. :

The Plaintiffs, Irving Brenner, residing at 620 W. 170 Street, City and State of New York, and Martin Brenner, residing at 18 Charles Drive, City of Clifton, County of Passaic, New Jersey, say that:

FIRST COUNT

1. The Plaintiffs are the owners of premises known as 127-131 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, contained thereon are twenty-five garages and a tool shed.

2. The Defendant, Ralph Bachman, is the agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, in Newark, New Jersey and Defendants, John Doe and Richard Roe, are agents for the F.B.I. in the Newark office.

3. The Defendant, The National State Bank of Newark, is a banking corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of New Jersey.

4. Said Defendant, The National State Bank of Newark, has deposited with it, in the City of Newark, New Jersey, for the other said defendants, money and other valuables which are the subject matter of this suit.

5. For many years Plaintiffs leased the use of certain garage stalls, known as #2 and 48 on said premises to one A.
Morarity, and the said rents for the use of the garages have been paid up to, and including, June, 1962.

6. Said A. Moriarity has been dead for many years.

7. On the third day of June certain trespassers and persons, without the permission of the Plaintiffs, including the Defendants John Doe and Richard Roe, and other persons whose identities are likewise not known, but who will be called herein John Smith and Henry Brown, went upon the Defendants' premises and physically forced the removal and forceful entry into the said premises and more particularly garage stall #48 and a certain automobile located therein.

8. The said Defendants, John Doe and Richard Roe, and others took from the premises of the Plaintiffs certain monies and other valuables reportedly having value in the amount of approximately two and one-half million dollars ($2,500,000.00), and wrongfully removed the same from the premises of the Plaintiffs.

9. Said Defendants, John Doe and Richard Roe, likewise forcefully entered and broke into other garage stalls and took or allowed to be taken other goods and valuable things, causing claims and potential claims to be made against the Plaintiffs.

10. On the 16th day of July, 1962, the Plaintiffs served formal demand upon the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the United States Attorney and the Defendant The National State Bank of Newark for the return of custody of said money and other valuables so wrongfully taken.

11. The Defendants have failed and refused to turn over to the Plaintiffs the money and other valuable things deposited and laid upon the Plaintiffs' premises, and formally notified plaintiffs of said refusal on July 21, 1962 by letter annexed hereto as Exhibit "A".

12. The Defendants have no rightful claim to said monies, and have had control of the same wrongfully without accounting to the Plaintiffs or rendering an inventory for the funds thus wrongfully taken.

13. Because of the enormity of the amounts involved, the duty of the Plaintiffs to care for and control said property and to protect same against all others but the true owner until he be found, and the Plaintiffs' duty to make an investigation to find said true owner, Plaintiffs and the true owner will suffer immediate, substantial, and irreparable harm unless said sums be returned to their care, custody and control.

WHEREFORE the Plaintiffs demand judgment ordering the said Defendants, Ralph Bachman, John Doe, Richard Roe, and The National State Bank of Newark, to return to the Plaintiffs' care and custody all property, money, valuables, negotiable instruments, and other things of value taken from the Plaintiffs' premises.

SECOND COUNT

14. The Plaintiffs repeat and reallege all of the allegations in Paragraphs 1 - 13, and make them a part hereof as if more fully set forth.

15. The Defendants have assumed a duty of extraordinary care and trust in wrongfully exercising dominion and control over the above-mentioned property, and in refusing to turn over said property to the Plaintiffs as the owners of the premises on which said property has been laid or misplaced by the true

16. The Defendants, Ralph Bachman, John Doe, and Richard Roe went upon the Plaintiffs' premises without any search warrant, without any legal process, and without any authority, under color of law and authority, and acting as if they had the authority of the United States Government with them.

17. The said Defendants, Ralph Bachman, John Doe, and Richard Roe, unlawfully seized and took from Plaintiffs' premises the above property, and converted the same, against the constitutional rights of Plaintiffs herein, and the duties of the said Plaintiffs to protect said property.

18. Defendant, Christopher Gross, is the Agent in Charge of the Internal Revenue Service, and Director of Internal Revenue in the area of Newark, New Jersey.

19. Thereafter, the Defendants, Ralph Bachman, John Doe, and Richard Roe, turned over said personal property and other valuables to Defendant, Christopher Gross, contrary to rights of possession of the Plaintiffs.

20. Said Defendants, Christopher Gross, and the Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury of the United States of America, has made certain claims against one Joseph V. Moriarity and are claiming that said money belongs to the same said Moriarity and are claiming a right to hold said money until proper legal proceedings can be instituted to fortify claims.

21. Plaintiffs are informed that there are certain other claimants to said monies, contrary to the claims of the Defendants so unlawfully taking, seizing, and controlling the valuable personal property and so long as Defendants control said property and all evidence, things, and surrounding physical property, a proper investigation cannot be made, and Plaintiffs can be subjected to claims, expenses, and costs by said persons.

22. The Plaintiffs are unbiased and disinterested rightful possessors of said property and are proper persons to conduct an investigation between the various conflicting claims to said personal property, and unless Defendants, Ralph Bachman, John Doe, Richard Roe, Christopher Gross, and The National State Bank of Newark, turn over said money to the Plaintiffs for a proper investigation, under the guidance of this Court, instead of under the prejudiced, and interested controlled investigation of said Defendants, the Plaintiffs and the true owners of those claiming under them, or rightful governmental authorities will suffer immediate, substantial, and irreparable harm..

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiffs demand Judgment against the Defendants, Ralph Bachman, Christopher Gross, John Doe, Richard Roe, and The National State Bank of Newark:

(a) ordering them to return to the Plaintiffs all property, money, valuables, negotiable instruments, papers, containers, and other property of an evidential nature wrongfully taken from the Plaintiffs' premises;

(b) enjoining them, until further order of this Court, to keep all of the above mentioned items intact, and in the same manner and form that said items were taken by Defendants, without utilizing, dissipating, disposing of, transferring, paying out, or in any manner exercising further dominion and control over said personal property, money, valuables, and other things so taken;

(c) ordering them to turn over to Plaintiffs all money, personal property, valuables, and all other things so taken from Plaintiffs' premises to be held by them, and to be kept by Plaintiffs, under the control of the Court, until the final hearing of this matter;

(d) declaring and ordering that said personal property, money, valuables, and all other things, in addition to all evidence, inventories, and accountings, be turned over to Plaintiffs for an impartial investigation as owner of the premises.

(e) for damages and costs of this suit.

THIRD COUNT

23. The plaintiffs repeat and reallege all of the allegations in Paragraphs 1 through 22 and makes them a part hereof as if more fully set forth.

24. The nature of said personal property taken and the surrounding circumstances of the taking are such that Plaintiffs must have the exact property taken in the exact condition in which it was taken, and all evidence of surrounding circumstances in the taking, so that Plaintiffs may render a proper investigation.

25. The Plaintiffs have the right to possession of the said money until the true owner may be found or conflicting claims may be adjudicated or determined.

WHEREFORE, the Plaintiffs demand Judgment against Defendants, Ralph Bachman, Christopher Gross, John Doe, Richard Roe, and The National State Bank of Newark:

I, Martin Brenner, of full age, being duly sworn upon my oath, depose and say that:

1. I have read the allegations of the above Complaint and the same are true, of my own knowledge, information and belief.

2. As owners of the premises where mislaid personal property was found I believe it my right and duty to take custody of the same and undertake an investigation to determine the nature of said property, the ownership of the same, and determine with the help of authorities whether the same is contraband which should go to the County of Hudson.

3. At no time have my brother or I ever given permission to the F.B.I., any workmen, or any contracting company and to remove any property or destroy any property.

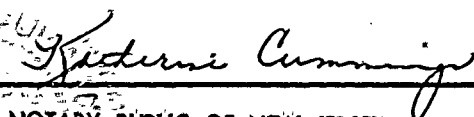

4. Persons renting the use of our garages at 127-131 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey have already made claims of property taken by reason of the removal of garage doors, and a general search of said premises.

5. In order to protect us from possible claims and suits we seek the restoration of custody of said property and all property taken from our land and we shall properly investigate any and all claims made concerning said money.

6. The money and other property and evidence is not properly in the hands of the defendants and they have already admitted an adverse interest in said money which would preclude a fair investigation of the true nature thereof and of the ownership thereof.

Re: 127-131 Oxford Ave., Jersey City, N.J.

Dear [Redacted]

This is to acknowledge on behalf of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and this office your letter of July 16, 1962. You seek, on behalf of your clients, Irving and Martin Brenner and their wives, the return of certain personal property located at the above named premises allegedly owned by your clients.

Please be advised that, based on proof that the personal property belonged to Joseph V. Moriarty, federal authorities by lawful means took custody of such items. The Internal Revenue Service, Department of the Treasury, pursuant to statutory authority, instituted and has completed effecting a jeopardy assessment of the monies belonging to Mr. Moriarty. These monies are in the custody of the Internal Revenue Service for the purpose of satisfying his legal obligations.

Any remedy which you care to pursue should be taken in accordance with appropriate procedures as provided by law. The monies which are credited presently to the accounts of the Internal Revenue Service will be made available, as will any other property belonging to Mr. Moriarty, if it is determined subsequently by a court of competent jurisdiction that part or all of said property should be re-distributed to persons or governmental agencies other than the United States of America.

1-17. We have retained no copies of [redacted] in our files and we will appreciate your cooperation.

This is to inform you that [redacted] and the [redacted] undesignated have been retained by [redacted] custody of large sums of money and other valuables taken at their premises on July 3, 1962.

On their behalf we hereby formally demand return of such property and an accounting and inventory of all things so taken. As owners of the premises we have a duty to take such action, to undertake an investigation to determine the true ownership of the property, and to protect the same from conversion and wrongful taking by all but the true owner.

Since July 3, 1941 we have already received claims from persons using our gauges as to missing and stolen property. We desire to cooperate with you, all law enforcement authorities, and persons possessing stolen goods without property. We have retained an expert in fingerprinting to assist us in our work and we will appreciate your cooperation.

Persons on our premises on July 3, 1962 were there without permission and authority. We have at no time consented to the removal of any garage doors, portions of the walls in garage stalls, or other physical items, by workmen or anyone else. Because this property was taken from our premises without our consent, and we have allowed all the time reasonable for investigation of any federal or other crimes, we must insist that custody of this property be turned over to us immediately.

Since we are the persons legally obligated to undertake investigation as to title paramount to ours, if any, we plan to do so immediately. If we find conflicting claims or any one claim improperly substantiated we shall then taken proper legal action in accordance with our duties.

Aside from our duties as owners of the premises we have observed in the press that some claim is being made to the subject property by the United States Government and feel this is further reason for immediate transfer to us as rightful and important custodians for proper action.

This letter is being delivered by hand and we shall appreciate your immediate advice.

Yours very truly,

In the event it should become necessary to use the signatures on fingerprint cards for JOSEPH VINCENT MORIARTY, FBI#598863, as the known handwriting standards at a possible future trial in this case, the persons who saw MORIARTY write these signatures will be needed as witnesses before handwriting testimony can be furnished. At least two signatures are considered desirable to meet minimum standards. Re: JOSEPH VINCENT MORIARTY;

Date: September 12, 1962
FBI File No. 92-888
Lab. No. D-402432 DL

Specimens received from FBI, Newark, August 29, 1962

- Q19 Envelope marked "MORIARTY's Letter to Judge" which contains a letter dated 3-3-50, which was signed by JOSEPH MORIARTY and addressed to the Honorable THOMAS MADDEN. This letter was previously examined by the Laboratory and was designated as Q19
- Q21 Envelope containing notation "From MORIARTY's home. Raid of 6/61." This envelope contains documents marked M1-CMD through M34-CMD which were seized by Special Agents of the Intelligence Division of Internal Revenue Service on 6-28-61, from the residence of subject in Jersey City, N. J. These documents consist mostly of small white envelopes containing slips of paper with pencil and/or ink notations. Also contained in the envelope is one brown spiral bound telephone and address book. Except for the telephone address book, all the documents mentioned above were found in an alphabetical metal file drawer.
- Q22 Envelope marked "KAISER documents" containing documents marked K1-CMD through K85-CMD which were seized by the N. J. State Police on 7-14-60, at the residence of [redacted]. These documents were contained in an alphabetical metal file drawer except for documents marked K84 and K85, which were found in a waste basket in the kitchen of the residence.
- Qc23 Envelope marked "Photostats of Safety Deposit Box Application Cards and Drivers License of JOE MORIARTY." This envelope contains documents marked S1-CMD through S13-CMD, which are Photostats of application and signature cards in the name of [redacted] obtained from the East River Savings Bank, New York, N.Y., and the Bowery Savings Bank, New York, N.Y. Result of examination:

It was found that the signature "Joseph V. Moriarty" and the names "Joseph V. Moriarty" appearing in three other places on the letter designated as Q19, the names "Joseph Moriarty" on the listings of accounts designated as Q20, the name "Joseph Moriarty" on one of the pieces of paper comprising one part of the numerous notes designated as Q16, the name "Joseph Moriarty" appearing in the space for the name of the payee on a note comprising a part of Q22 (marked K20), and the signature "Joseph Moriarty" on a drivers license comprising a part of Qc23 (marked D1) were prepared by the person who wrote the signatures on fingerprint cards for JOSEPH VINCENT MORIARTY, FBI#598863. The name "Joseph Moriarty" on a piece of paper comprising the numerous notes designated as Q22 (marked K62) was not written by this person. The signatures on the fingerprint cards for MORIARTY are too limited for comparison with the other handwriting on Q1 through Qc23 although significant similarities were found among those letters where a comparison was possible.

Nearly all of the handwriting and numerals on more than 1100 pieces of paper comprising Q1 through Q18 and the handwriting and numerals on more than 450 pieces of paper comprising Q20 through Qc23 were prepared by the writer of Q19, presumably JOSEPH V. MORIARTY. This includes the signatures "George L. Smith" which comprise nearly all of Qc23 (marked S1 through S13). The handwriting and numerals on portions of approximately 35 pieces of paper comprising parts of Q1 through Q18 and Q21 and Q22 were not prepared by this person.

An examination of items Q1 through Q18, Q21 and Q22 disclosed that this material was prepared in connection with bookmaking or numbers pool operations. It relates to "books" kept by the person who operates the "bank" and keeps the records. Numbers slips as such and lists of wagers were not included. The writing is illegible in places and misspellings are frequent. Although codes and ciphers were not used, much of the writing was abbreviated, particularly when using names of persons. Also included are summary sheets, weekly tally slips, records of money paid to lawyers and others, records of arrests, fines, court costs, adding machine tape, and miscellaneous papers commonly associated with "bookmaking" and numbers pool operations.

Items Q19, Q21, Q22 and Qc23 are being returned to the Newark Office of this Bureau under separate cover by registered mail. Representative photographs are retained.

The Plaintiffs, [REDACTED] residing at [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] City and State of New York, and [REDACTED] residing at

say that:

1. Jurisdiction of this court is based, over the continued objections of Plaintiffs, upon the provisions of §1442 (a) (1), Title 28 of the United States Code, as interpreted by the Honorable James J. Coolahan, United States District Court Judge, upon the basis of a verified Complaint filed in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Chancery Division, Docket No. C 3093-61, on July 26, 1962, verified Petition for Removal filed by the Defendant, Ralph W. Bachman in this Court, July 30, 1962, and Plaintiffs' Order to Show Cause why the case should not be remanded to the State Court signed by Honorable Reynier J. Wortendyke on August 2, 1962 and heard by this Court on September 10, 1962.

FIRST COUNT

2. On the 3rd day of July, 1962 and for many years prior thereto, Plaintiffs were the owners of certain premises, and improvements built thereon, commonly known as 127-131 Oxford Avenue, in the city of Jersey City, County of Hudson, State of New Jersey.

3. Located upon said premises were some 25 garage stalls and one tool shed containing varied and valuable personal property belonging both to Plaintiffs and certain other persons in express or implied contractual relationships with Plaintiffs.

4. Within garage stalls # 2 and # 48, over which the Plaintiffs had actual or constructive possession at the time, certain unknown Defendants who have been named herein, Defendants, found two automobiles, to wit: a black Plymouth, 4-door sedan, serial # 11734286, of unknown and unclaimed ownership, in garage # 48; and, a 1949 black Ford, 4-door sedan, serial # NLE2 168698, of unknown and unclaimed ownership, in garage # 2; and further found certain misplaced personal property in and around said automobiles, to wit: approximately two million, four hundred and twenty one thousand, eight hundred and fifty dollars ($2,421,850.00), in certain travelling bags, suitcases, and metal box-like containers, in United States currency of various denominations and amounts; certain pistols and guns, certain legal documents and memoranda, and sundry papers, bank records, securities, and clothing apparently belonging to various and sundry persons.

5. Payment for the use of said garage had not been made for the period of time when said personal property was found and no person did at that time, nor has since, claimed any rights to use or possession therein, contrary to that of the Plaintiffs.

6. The above-mentioned personal property, and in particular the $2,421,850.00, has not been claimed by the true owner or owners, and the Plaintiffs, as owners of the premises, have good title and rights to possession thereof, against all the world, but the true owner or owners, and until the true owner or owners come forward to claim the same.

7. On information and belief, certain persons claim title or right to possession, contrary to the rights of Plaintiffs as owners of premises upon which misplaced personal property was found, to wit: Defendant, [redacted] who was vendee under a contract of sale during the pertinent time herein, with Plaintiffs as venders, of the premises, 127-131 Oxford Avenue; [redacted]

[redacted] the unknown persons finding the aforesaid misplaced personal property on Plaintiffs' premises; John W. Kervick, as Treasurer of the State of New Jersey, for and on behalf of the said State of New Jersey, under certain statutes and laws of the said State of New Jersey; The Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Hudson, in the State of New Jersey, under certain statutes and laws of the said State of New Jersey; and, William V. McLaughlin, Director of the Department of Public Safety of the City of Jersey City, under certain statutes and laws of the State of New Jersey.

8. Further, Defendant, [redacted] without authority, in fact and in law, has purported to vest title in Defendant, Joseph V. Moriarity, acting in an unlawful, unauthorized, and unconstitutional manner in seizing said personal property as if it were the said Joseph V. Moriarity's, when Defendant, Joseph V. Moriarity, does not own said personal property, and in particular the said $2,421,850.00, has not claimed the ownership or right to possession thereof, and has no right, title or interest therein as the true owner or owners of said personal property.

9. The Defendant, [redacted] has no right, title, or interest in said personal property by reason of his contract of sale existing on the 3rd day of July, 1962.

10. The Defendants, [redacted] have no right, title and interest in said personal property because the same was not, in fact or in law, lost personal property.

11. The said Defendant, [redacted] acting for the State of New Jersey, has no right, title, and interest to the said personal property because the same was not abandoned at the time it was found and because of the Plaintiffs' lawful right, title, and interest therein.

12. The Defendant, The Board of Chosen Freeholders of the County of Hudson, has no right, title, and interest to the said personal property, because the same was not confiscated and was not seized during any lawful police activity.

13. The Defendant, William V. McLaughlin, acting for the City of Jersey City, has no lawful, right, title, and interest to the said personal property by reason of the Plaintiffs' lawful right, title, and interest therein, and because they did not acquire possession thereof pursuant to lawful police activity.

14. The Defendant, [redacted] or anyone claiming pursuant to his actions, has no right, title, and interest to the said personal property because he acted without authority and in an unconstitutional manner, and because he acted in concert and conspiracy with Defendants, Ralph W. Bachman, [redacted] [redacted] who, in turn, acted in an unauthorized and unconstitutional manner in seizing and carrying away the said personal property, contrary to the rights, title, and interest of Plaintiffs.

15. Plaintiffs commenced an action in the Superior Court of New Jersey, Chancery Division, on the 26th day of July, 1962, in assertion of their rights, title, and interest, and in protection against possible claims and actions made against them, as the first persons to claim said personal property before any court of competent jurisdiction, and in order to prevent a multiplicity of legal actions in which Plaintiffs would have to participate or defend by reason of the actions of Defendants, Ralph W. Bachman, [redacted]

[redacted] on the 3rd day of July, 1962.

b6
b7C

b6

16. Thereafter, one Benjamin Seidenberg commenced an action in the Hudson County District Court, State of New Jersey, Docket No. 189178, and on information and belief, Defendants, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] have since commenced certain legal actions in which Plaintiffs' rights, title and interest are involved and all arising out of the matters pertaining to Plaintiffs original action, and the unauthorized and unconstitutional actions of Defendants, Ralph W. Bachman, [REDACTED]

17. Unless this court exercises its equitable jurisdiction to restrain a multiplicity of actions, the Plaintiffs will be left without adequate remedy and will suffer immediate, substantial, and irreparable injury.

I, [REDACTED] of full age, being duly sworn upon my oath, depose and say that:

1. I have read the allegations of the above Amended Complaint and the same are true, of my own knowledge, information, and belief.

2. On the 3rd day of July, 1962, I was present on my premises at 127-131 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, and attempted to find out why various persons identifying themselves as agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were on my property and how my property had been defaced and how various garage doors had been removed and other destruction accomplished.

3. This took place at approximately 3 p.m. and the persons identifying themselves as F.B.I. agents refused to answer my questions but instead forced me to undergo questioning and to stay where they ordered me to go, even though I was the owner of the property at the time involved.

4. I have examined an alleged Affidavit in support of a search warrant filed in the United States District Court for the District of New Jersey and the same clearly indicates that the said F.B.I. agents already had seized the property in question, that the ownership of the same was unknown, and that there was no proper justification for said search warrant. (A copy of the Affidavit is attached hereto as Exhibit A).

5. I have already been sued by one user of a garage on the premises because of the activities of the F.B.I. agents and the alleged workmen and persons coming on the property after garage doors were removed and other damages done.

6. I intend to make a proper investigation of the ownership of all personal property seized and to afford all claimants thereof a proper opportunity to prove their ownership as I have been informed is my right and duty to do by counsel.

BACHMAN and SA [redacted] before the expiration of the 20-day period after the commencement of the action.

On August 6, 1962, Judge REYNIER J. WORTENDYKE ordered that the scope of the depositions to be taken of defendants RALPH W. D. FBI LABORATORY EXAMINATION of the*FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

REPORT
WASHINGTON, D. C.

To: FBI, Newark

Date: September 12, 1962

Re: JOSEPH VINCENT MORIARTY;

FBI File No. 92-888

Lab. No. D-402432 DL

Specimens received from FBI, Newark, August 29, 1962

- Q19 Envelope marked "MORIARTY's Letter to Judge" which contains a letter dated 3-3-50, which was signed by JOSEPH MORIARTY and addressed to the Honorable THOMAS MADDEN. This letter was previously examined by the Laboratory and was designated as Q19
- Q21 Envelope containing notation "From MORIARTY's home. Raid of 6/61." This envelope contains documents marked M1-CMD through M34-CMD which were seized by Special Agents of the Intelligence Division of Internal Revenue Service on 6-28-61, from the residence of subject in Jersey City, N. J. These documents consist mostly of small white envelopes containing slips of paper with pencil and/or ink notations. Also contained in the envelope is one brown spiral bound telephone and address book. Except for the telephone address book, all the documents mentioned above were found in an alphabetical metal file drawer.
- Q22 Envelope marked [] documents" containing documents marked K1-CMD through K85-CMD which were seized by the N. J. State Police on 7-14-60. at the residence of [] N. J. These documents were contained in an alphabetical metal file drawer except for documents marked K84 and K85, which were found in a waste basket in the kitchen of the residence.
- Qc23 Envelope marked "Photostats of Safety Deposit Box Application Cards and Drivers License of JOE MORIARTY." This envelope contains documents marked S1-CMD through S13-CMD, which are Photostats of application and signature cards in the name of [] obtained from the East River Savings Bank, New York, N.Y., and the Bowery Savings Bank, New York, N.Y. The drivers license is marked D1-CMD and was seized from JOSEPH VINCENT MORIARTY by SAs of the Intelligence Division of the IRS on 6-28-61.

Result of examination:

It was found that the signature "Joseph V. Moriarty" and the names "Joseph V. Moriarty" appearing in three other places on the letter designated as Q19, the names "Joseph Moriarty" on the listings of accounts designated as Q20, the name "Joseph Moriarty" on one of the pieces of paper comprising one part of the numerous notes designated as Q16, the name "Joseph Moriarty" appearing in the space for the name of the payee on a note comprising a part of Q22 (marked K20), and the signature "Joseph Moriarty" on a drivers license comprising a part of Qc23 (marked D1) were prepared by the person who wrote the signatures on fingerprint cards for JOSEPH VINCENT MORIARTY, FBI#598863. The name "Joseph Moriarty" on a piece of paper comprising the numerous notes designated as Q22 (marked K62) was not written by this person. The signatures on the fingerprint cards for MORIARTY are too limited for comparison with the other handwriting on Q1 through Qc23 although significant similarities were found among those letters where a comparison was possible.

Nearly all of the handwriting and numerals on more than 1100 pieces of paper comprising Q1 through Q18 and the handwriting and numerals on more than 450 pieces of paper comprising Q20 through Qc23 were prepared by the writer of Q19, presumably JOSEPH V. MORIARTY. This includes the signatures [redacted] which comprise nearly all of Qc23 (marked D1 through D15). The handwriting and numerals on portions of approximately 35 pieces of paper comprising parts of Q1 through Q18 and Q21 and Q22 were not prepared by this person.

An examination of items Q1 through Q18, Q21 and Q22 disclosed that this material was prepared in connection with bookmaking or numbers pool operations. It relates to "books" kept by the person who operates the "bank" and keeps the records. Numbers slips as such and lists of wagers were not included. The writing is illegible in places and misspellings are frequent. Although codes and ciphers were not used, much of the writing was abbreviated, particularly when using names of persons. Also included are summary sheets, weekly tally slips, records of money paid to lawyers and others, records of arrests, fines, court costs, adding machine tape, and miscellaneous papers commonly associated with "bookmaking" and numbers pool operations.

Items Q19, Q21, Q22 and Qc23 are being returned to the Newark Office of this Bureau under separate cover by registered mail. Representative photographs are retained.

Seven Stake Claim

Finders Would Keep $2.4 Million

Seven men who found the much-claimed $2.4 million in the trunk of a car in a Jersey City garage filed a suit today in Federal Court for a declaratory judgment of ownership in case the true owner does not come forward within a reasonable period.

Plaintiffs are John J. Saracena, Joseph Louis, Edward Schies, Charles Gottschalck, Robert J. Scimone, Joseph E. Schies, Jr. and John Wojcecki. They say they found the money last July 3 while replacing old doors on garages at 123 Oxford Ave., Jersey City.

Named defendants are plaintiffs in other suits filed in Federal Court for possession of the money. One is Director Chris L. Gross of the Internal Revenue Service, who alleges the money belongs to Joseph (Newsboy) Moriarty of Jersey City.

Has Possession

Gross has possession of the money on liens amounting to $3 million, which he charges Moriarty owes in income taxes, interest and penalties.

The complaint, filed by Joseph Harrison, Newark attorney, says the plaintiffs notified the FBI of their find so that the government agency could take possession of the money for safekeeping until the real owner was found.

True ownership has not yet been established, the complaint says. It asks the court to fix a reasonable time for the owner to appear, and to declare the plaintiffs the owners under the "finders-keepers" rule if nobody asserts ownership.

Plaintiffs also want the court to enjoin all defendants from prosecuting claims in their own suits until the plaintiffs' rights are determined.

Other Defendants

Other defendants named in the new suit are Moriarty, the State of New Jersey, Hudson County, and Irving and Martin Brenner, who said they were the owners of the garage when the money was found.

Although Moriarty has made no public claim of ownership, there have been unconfirmed reports that he has made a claim for the money with the Internal Revenue Service. Gross said that Moriarty filed a tax return for 1961 but that its contents are confidential under the law.

Moriarty was sentenced in Hudson County last March to 2 to 3 years in State Prison on gambling charges. He was removed to the Hudson County Jail last week pending trial in Federal Court on charges of violating the wagering tax law in the operation of a numbers business.

ReBuairtel 9/27/62.

On this date, USA DAVID M. SATZ, JR. advised that he considers the amended complaint to be a "shot gun" type complaint in a futile attempt to keep this case in court. He stated that AUSA [redacted] in asking for dismissal of this case will again deny accusations against the FBI and attack the veracity of the complaint as he has done in the past.

Statements obtained from SAS FRANCIS E. KEOGH, [redacted] and [redacted] are enclosed.

Allegations made in the amended complaint are obviously unfounded and are merely an attempt by the plaintiffs to prolong this action. Statements obtained from SAS indicate that plaintiffs are misrepresenting the facts in this case for their own benefit.

No administrative action is being recommended.

On July 3, 1962, during the early afternoon hours, I was sitting in a Bureau car between the two rows of garages located at 127 - 131 Oxford Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey. My duty at this time was to maintain a watch of the three or four boxes and pieces of luggage located in the luggage compartment of a Bureau car parked directly in front of me. I had learned a short while earlier that these boxes and luggage contained a vast sum of money and that I was to remain at that location awaiting further instructions. The Bureau car directly in front of me was under the supervision also of Special Agent Francis E. Keogh.

An individual, whom I later determined to be a [redacted] [redacted] appeared at the scene and after walking by both Bureau vehicles wandered freely in and out of the various garages, all of which were open. I did not watch [redacted] too closely but noticed him standing before several of the garages and in a little while observed him sitting in the back seat of the Bureau car in front of me with Special Agent Keogh, who was in the front. In several minutes, Special Agent Keogh called to me. As I approached the side of Special Agent Keogh's car, he stated that the individual with him was the owner of the garages and that the garages were being rented for him by the Napp Realty Company, which was located several blocks away. Special Agent Keogh requested that I accompany [] [] to the realty office to check their records in an effort to determine the individuals renting the garages at that address.

b6

[] invited me to ride with him in his car to the realty company, which I did.

When we arrived at the Napp Realty Company, located on Westside Avenue, Jersey City, New Jersey, [] accompanied me inside and requested of someone there that the rental records be made available to me. After being assured by the officials of the realty company of their cooperation, [] indicated that he must leave and the agent thanked him for his cooperation.

At no time while I was with [] did he ask any questions as to why the agents were at the garages, or in any way try to find out the purpose of the check with the Napp Realty Company. At no time was [] restrained or detained and his conversation with me was friendly and respectful at all times.

In July, 1962, a civil action was instituted in Superior Court, State of New Jersey, by [redacted] alleged owners of the property where Agents recovered approximately $2,500,000 on July 3, 1962. Subsequently this action was transferred to the jurisdiction of the U. S. District Court at Newark and is scheduled to be held in the immediate future.

The plaintiffs, [redacted] have now filed an Amended Complaint, again naming Special Agent in Charge Bachman; Special Agents [redacted] and Francis E. Keogh, who obtained the search warrant and effected the recovery of this loot; and other Governmental officials involved in the custody of these moneys as defendants. It is readily apparent from a review of this document that the plaintiffs' attorney, [redacted] has left no legal stone unturned in his attempt to overturn the action taken by Internal Revenue Service in confiscating the entire $2,500,000 on the basis of unpaid income tax and penalties on the part of Joseph Moriarty.

In pursuit of this legal action, the plaintiffs' attorney has alleged in this complaint that the Agents who took custody of the money, bonds and weapons had restrained [redacted] from exercising his rights and duties as owner of the property in that he was not permitted to enter and inspect the garage area.

In response to Bureau instructions, the Newark Office has obtained signed statements from the three Agents who were assigned to handle this matter. In each instance the Agents have stated that [redacted] had appeared at the garage property on July 3, 1962, and was informed as to the identity of the Agents. He was permitted free access to the property and displayed a very cooperative attitude toward the Agents. In fact, he volunteered to accompany an Agent to the realty office in order to obtain a list of the tenants who rent space in the various garages.

The U. S. Attorney at Newark has advised that he considers this Amended Complaint to be a "shotgun" type complaint filed in a futile attempt to keep this case in court. The U. S. Attorney is

On 10/9/62, AUSA [] advised that the FBI was not included in the suit brought by Hudson County on 9/24/62 in Superior Court of New Jersey, Hudson County, to recover the money. The enclosed memo from Mr. McAndrews to Mr. Evans, dated July 30, 1962, recommends the recording of a recovery of $2,438,110 in captioned case. This is the money discovered by workmen in the apparently abandoned automobile which had been parked in a Jersey City, New Jersey, garage. Special Agents of the Bureau seized this money on July 3, 1962. On July 9, the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) filed a lien against the money and on July 16 took custody of it.

Mr. DeLoach feels that the Bureau is not entitled to claim this recovery since we were notified by another party that this money had been discovered. He also feels that the IRS will claim this recovery as a statistical accomplishment inasmuch as that agency will determine the final disposition of the money. He feels that the IRS is in a much stronger position than the Bureau in claiming this recovery as a statistical accomplishment since the Bureau was merely a relay in the machinery which eventually caused the IRS to take legal steps and legitimately claim the money for the U. S. Government.

Mr. Belmont feels the recovery should be recorded since, following a tip, the Bureau subsequently took possession of the money on a search warrant and thereafter turned it over to the Treasury Department.

I feel this is a legitimate statistical item and should be recorded. Our long existing rule has been that recoveries are recorded as statistical accomplishments whenever they are a direct result of Bureau activity or are physically accomplished by our Agents. While final disposition of this money will undoubtedly be determined through court action, the fact remains that Special Agents of this Bureau did seize the money and turn it over to the IRS.

RECOMMENDATION:

That a recovery of $2,438,110 be recorded in this case for the Newark Office.

This memorandum is submitted for the purpose of recording the recovery of $2,438,110 by the Newark Office on July 3, 1962.

After obtaining a search warrant, which was authorized by the U. S. Attorney at Newark, Agents seized $2,438,110 in U. S. currency, U. S. Savings Bonds valued at $12,396.93 and stock certificates representing a value of $890, which had been stored in a garage in Jersey City, New Jersey. Through a review of material contained in this same automobile and through interview with associates it has been determined that all of the money and other valuables are the property of Joseph Moriarty, one of the principal bookmakers and numbers writers in Hudson County.

On July 9, 1962, the Internal Revenue Service filed a lien in the amount of $3,422,792.66 against the money and valuables recovered in satisfaction for unpaid income tax and interest by Moriarty. On July 16, 1962, Internal Revenue Service took custody of all of the valuables recovered.

ACTION

It is recommended that the amount of $2,438,110 be recorded as a statistical accomplishment since this amount represents a recovery by the U. S. Government.

Re FBI Laboratory reports dated 7/18/62, 7/24/62 and 9/12/62.

AUSA [] advised today that he will want to utilize testimony of the FBI document examiner in connection with the IRS case against subject. Subject is being tried for failure to register and purchase a wagering stamp; for willful failure to pay and file a Wagering Excise Tax Return; and attempt to bribe a federal officer. Trial is scheduled for October 23, 1962.

AUSA advised that he has to establish that items Q21 in referenced Laboratory reports was written by MORIARTY. He is doubtful that he will be able to use Q19 to establish this although he stated he may attempt to use it.

On 10/16/62 AUSA [] requested that attempts be made to locate additional known handwriting of subject.

On 10/16/62 SA ROBERT F. VAN ARSDALL obtained a letter of subject which was on file with the Classification Officer, New Jersey State Prison, Trenton, N.J. This letter is to be returned.

On 10/17/62 AUSA [] furnished evidence received from [] Special Agent, Intelligence Division, IRS, which was obtained during arrest of subject in June, 1961. AUSA requested Laboratory examination of this material as he wishes to utilize it in the trial.

Your airtel dated October 19, 1962, was received after this examination was completed. All examinations in this case were conducted by SA Fred M. Miller of the FBI Laboratory. Since item Q19 can no longer be used as the known handwriting of Joseph V. Moriarty, and since item K6 is inadequate for this purpose, it seems unlikely that AUSA [redacted] can use the testimony of SA Miller. As pointed out in the attached report, the signatures on fingerprint cards for Moriarty have only limited value. Result of examination:

It was found that most of the handwriting, hand printing and numerals on Q24 through Q27 were prepared by the writer of Q19. Q19 is a letter dated March 3, 1950, to Judge Thomas Madden, signed "Joseph V. Moriarty." It was previously found that nearly all of the handwriting and numerals on more than 1,100 pieces of paper comprising Q1 through Q18 and the handwriting and numerals on more than 450 pieces of paper comprising Q20 through Qc23 were prepared by the writer of Q19, presumably Joseph V. Moriarty. This includes the signatures [redacted] which comprised nearly all of Qc23 (marked S1 through S13).

It was found that the name "Joseph Moriarty" on the listings of accounts designated as Q20, the name "Joseph Moriarty" on one of the pieces of paper comprising one part of the numerous notes designated as Q16, the name "Joseph Moriarty" in the space for the name of the payee on a note comprising a part of Q22 (marked K20), and the signature "Joseph Moriarty" on a driver's license comprising a part of Qc23 (marked D1) were prepared by Joseph V. the writer of K6. These identifications are also valid when based on the signatures on fingerprint cards for Joseph Moriarty, FBI#598863. No additional identifications can be made of the remaining questioned items, including Q21, on the basis of the known handwriting of Joseph Moriarty designated as K6 when K6 is used either alone or with signatures on fingerprint cards. $2.4 Million Is Claimed By Racketeer

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 29 (UPI)—Numbers kingpin Joseph (Newsboy) Moriarty has claimed ownership to a $2,421,850 cash hoard found in a Jersey City garage last summer. Government attorneys disclosed today.

A 1961 income tax return filed by Moriarty was presented at his trial on charges of attempted bribery of tax agents and Federal tax evasion. The return listed more than $2 million in income from "other sources" for the year.

The cash hoard was discovered by two workmen last July in the trunk of an abandoned car parked inside a garage. Until the tax return presentation, Moriarty had neither publicly claimed nor disclaimed ownership of the money.

The Internal Revenue Service took custody of the money because of income tax liens amounting to $3 million against Moriarty.

Moriarty, reputed czar of a widespread lottery operation, was in state prison at the time serving a 2-to-3-year term for a previous numbers conviction. That sentence ends in 1964.

Newark has advised that Special Agents [redacted] and Francis E. Keogh, of that office, have been requested to furnish affidavits to the Newark U. S. Attorney's office which will refute the allegation that they acted on behalf of Hudson County in seizing money in captioned matter.

This relates to a civil suit filed by Hudson County, New Jersey, authorities in U. S. District Court of New Jersey to recover the major portion of $2,438,110 in cash which was picked up by Newark Agents on July 3, 1963, at an old garage used by the subject in Jersey City, (Hudson County) New Jersey.

The civil suit complaint alleges that Hudson County law enforcement officials permitted this money to be taken by FBI Agents only on the assurance it would be held for the County of Hudson. This is not true. No Bureau Agent agreed to such a course of action. In this case, the Agents, acting pursuant to a telephone call, went to a garage in Jersey City, New Jersey. Upon arrival, the Agents were invited into the garage by certain workmen, apparently in control of the premises. The workmen told the Agents that while cleaning out the garage they discovered a cache of money, among other articles of personal property. Following an accounting and inventory of the property and examination of documents, the property was determined to belong to Joseph V. Moriarty, a convicted gambler who was serving a prison sentence. Immediately thereafter, Agents turned the money over to the U. S. Marshal for the District of New Jersey. Before the money was taken from the garage, Internal Revenue Service advised that Moriarty owed the U. S. Government a large sum of money for unpaid income taxes. The action taken by the Agents was upon the full authority of the U. S. Attorney's office.

Although the Hudson County suit charges many things in its complaint to recover, there is no other FBI interest. The FBI has not been named as a party to the suit. Further hearings have been postponed until June 22, 1964.

ACTION:

If you approve, the attached airtel will be sent to the Newark Office authorizing Agents [redacted] and Keogh of that office to furnish the affidavits to the U. S. Attorney's office as requested.

COOLAHAN, District Judge:

This matter was opened to the Court upon plaintiffs' motion for summary judgment as against defendants, State of New Jersey, City of Jersey City, Irving and Martin Brenner, Frank Manziano and John J. Saracena, et al. No relief is being sought against the District Director of Internal Revenue, Chris L. Gross.

It is the movant's basic contention that the above named parties have no real interest in the proceedings and should be dismissed therefrom. Plaintiffs contend that there is no genuine issue of material fact as regards these claimants and the motion should be granted as a matter of law. (All references in this Opinion as to the defendants generally exclude Gross).

The subject matter of the suit at Bar grew out of the discovery of a large sum of currency in the trunk of an old Plymouth automobile in a private garage in Jersey City on July 3, 1962. The plaintiff, Hudson County, asserts it is entitled to the money under the New Jersey Statute relating to the forfeiture of contraband, i.e., in this case money, used in a gambling operation. The defendant Gross claims to be entitled to the money on the grounds that it represented the Government's property by virtue of Federal Tax Liens.

The remaining parties (comprising the remainder of the defendants) represent every conceivable type of interest which may be legally cognizable in the proceedings.

The State of New Jersey asserts that if the money is not claimed by any person as owner it would escheat to the State under common law principles or under the appropriate escheat Statute, N.J.S.A. 2A:37-29, et seq.

Utilizing N.J.S.A. 40:47-20 the City of Jersey City contends the money should be paid into the Police Pension Fund since it is "unclaimed moneys."

Defendants, Irving and Martin Brenner, were the holders of legal title to the garage premises in which the money was discovered. They contend the money was misplaced and had not been claimed and they should have the right to protective custody of the currency pending proper claim and identification by the true owner. They argue their title is superior to all but the rightful owner and that it is their duty to hold same in their custodial care.

Defendant Manziano was the equitable owner of these same garage premises and claims that as such he was entitled to this "abandoned" money left there by any prior owner or occupant.

Defendants Saracena, et al were the working men who entered the premises to replace broken garage doors. It was these individuals who actually "found" the money after breaking open the trunk of the car and notified the authorities. Their claim seems to be based on the assertion that they are finders of the currency and until it is legally established to whom it belongs their right is superior to all others. These defendants have filed a separate action seeking relief as against the defendant, Chris L. Gross.

As the above narration points out the claims involved run the gamut of every conceivable maintainable argument. Apparently, the size of the money and the nature of its discovery engenders all possible claims in the hopes that even the smallest chance at the jackpot is better than none at all.

In analyzing the material actually submitted before the Court we find that one Joseph V. Moriarity by way of his 1961 tax return, filed July 3, 1962, has claimed the money as being his property. The Internal Revenue Service has always functioned under this impression and a receipt for that sum of money was sent to Moriarity from that Agency. The depositions of the Attorney who prepared this return, Herbert Zuckerman, tends to establish that Moriarity has in fact claimed this money. Furthermore, admissions filed in the matter show that while Manziano and the workmen were on the premises the floor of the garage in which the car was housed contained various papers including subpoenas bearing Moriarity's name.

In opposition to the above material and the movant's argument the defendants contend that there is an issue of fact existing in the case as to who actually owned the money. They contend that this issue prohibits the grant of summary judgment in the matter.

The State of the Case before this Court pits the information gleaned from affidavits, depositions, tax return and admissions as against the unsubstantiated vague allegations in the claims of the various defendants. It is their position that the plaintiffs have not established that the money was truly the property of Moriarity.

All the defenses alleged including the defendant Manziano's claim that the action should have been brought in the County Court are all unsubstantiated and merely are attempts in endeavoring to preserve the claimant's status until the very end of this litigation.

In considering the material available to the Court we find the record reveals that Joseph V. Moriarity had a criminal record dating back from at least December 26, 1930 and continuing until the time of the finding of the moneys in question. This criminal record pertained to his participation in the gambling business. As a matter of fact on September 29, 1960 agents of the United States Government entered his home in Jersey City on a search warrant and seized cartons containing packets of current lottery slips, adding machines, records and wager paraphernalia and secreted currency in excess of $50,000.00 cash. (See United States v. Joseph V. Moriarity, 327 F.2d 345 (3rd Cir.1963).

The Government agents had observed Moriarity carrying on his gambling activities in certain areas in Jersey City, over a considerable length of time, while under surveillance.

When the F.B.I. came upon the scene in the instant case, they discovered two suit cases and a tool box full of currency, three guns, miscellaneous papers and letters bearing reference to Moriarity.

At the time of the seizure of the money in question Moriarity was then serving a prison term at the New Jersey State Prison for violation of the gambling laws to which term he had been sentenced on March 2, 1962. Existent at the time were other indictments for violations of gambling laws.

In the adjacent garage at the same address the Police Department of Jersey City discovered a 1949 car apparently belonging to Moriarity and items of personal property, such as coin changers, adding machines and other paraphernalia connected with gambling articles, together with another large sum of money. Moriarity was for years a well known large scale gambling operator. As above mentioned, two cars were found in adjoining garages, one belonging to Moriarity and the other, in which the subject money was found, registered in the name of Anne Petrick, a known girl friend of Moriarity.

This Court is satisfied that it has enough material in the record to currently decide that Moriarity had effectively claimed the money. It is not necessary for Moriarity to file an official claim in the proceedings. It is quite understandable in view of his past experiences with the law that he would not now come in to make a formal claim in a Court proceeding. In past cases of this nature in the State Courts there was no compulsion upon the owner to actually appear in Court and claim the money. Moriarity had a constitutional right to remain silent and has invoked the Fifth Amendment in his deposition. Therefore, his claim must be judged by his other actions, all of which are consonant with his ownership of the fund.

In weighing the aforementioned material against the unsupported allegations of the various claimants this Court is convinced that their claims must fall. See Fed. Rule Civ. Pro. 56(e). The money cannot have been said to be unclaimed or abandoned within the legal sense necessary to enable the various defendants to prevail. Their presence in the litigation would only serve to hamper and restrict the Court proceedings and becloud the actual legal issues contained therein. This matter will now be able to resolve itself into a contest between the County and Federal Officials, both of whom have asserted clear, authoratative claims to the fund. A trial including fringe claimants would serve no real purpose either to the Court or the litigants themselves. More than mere speculation is required to rebut factual material presented. Chesapeake & Ohio Ry. Co., v. International Harvester Co., 272 F.2d 149 (7th Cir. 1959). Consequently, in light of the foregoing discussion and the lack of factual opposition put forth by the defendants, this Court will grant the plaintiffs' motion for summary judgment as against all defendants, other than Chris L. Gross.

Let an appropriate order be submitted.

The "Newark Evening News", 11/15/66, reported that on that date USDC Judge JAMES A. COOLAHAN granted a summary judgment which was sought by First AUSA [redacted] to dismiss the State of New Jersey claim to the MORIARTY money. New Jersey State Deputy Attorney General [redacted] maintained that the state was entitled to the money on grounds that it was apprehended in the garage. However, AUSA [redacted] contended that litigation last year dealing with documents and personal property confiscated with the money clearly showed that the money belonged to MORIARTY. Judge COOLAHAN agreed that this contention that public policy demands that the state should be barred from arguing the same issue of ownership which was decided last year by the court. The article in the Newark paper states that no trial date has been set for the contest between the IRS and Hudson County for the money.

On 4/23/69, USA DAVID M. SATZ, JR., advised as follows:

The trial transcript in the case entitled Treasurer of the County of Hudson, and County of Hudson, Plaintiffs, vs. Two Million, Four Hundred Thirty Eight Thousand, One Hundred and Ten Dollars, and all Persons Interested Therein, Defendants" has been received. Mr. SATZ is in the process of preparing a post trial memorandum for submission to United States District Court Judge JAMES A. COOLAHAN.

He noted, however, that arguments in this case will probably await the decision of the New Jersey Supreme Court in a similar case involving $168,000 of subject's money found by the Jersey City PD. He estimated that the court's ruling would probably be made in June, and that court action in the larger amount will not be taken for at least 90 days. He stated that he will promptly advise of any developments occurring sooner.

This case being placed in a pending inactive status with a tickler set to recontact USA August 1, 1969.

The Bureau was previously advised that workmen tearing down several garages in the Journal Square section of Jersey City, N.J., discovered 2.4 million dollars in what appeared to be an abandoned car in one of these garages. It was subsequently determined this money belonged to subject and in 1962 the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) instituted suit to obtain these funds to satisfy tax liens against subject in the amount of 1.4 million dollars.

On 5/26/70, Federal Court Judge JAMES A. COOLAHAN decided "there is no question about the fact the money was MORIARITY's and there is no question about the fact MORIARITY had no other job at the time but being a gambler, but gambling money is forfeitable money." Judge COOLAHAN therefore ruled the IRS could not claim any of the money and he directed it to be turned over to the Hudson County, N.J., authorities.

No further investigation being conducted by Newark in this matter.

'Newsboy' Money In Bank

By DANIEL HAYS

Evening News Staff Writer

Jersey City's Joseph "Newsboy" Moriarty didn't stash all of his millions in car trunks. Some of his coin has been resting quietly for the last 10 years in a New York bank. The fabled numbers kingpin's latest money repository came to light this week when officials at the Union Dime Savings Bank advertised a list of depositors, including Moriarty, as "entitled to unclaimed property."

The names of Moriarty's two sisters, Ellen and Margaret, also appeared along with 150 other depositors who are listed as the owners of "amounts of 25 dollars or more."

If Moriarty's track record is any indication the odds are he won't be showing up. The 58-year-old bachelor once denied ownership of $2.4 million that was discovered July 3, 1962 in an auto parked in an Oxford St. garage.

Hudson County and the federal government have been fighting a legal battle ever since over who should get that haul and Moriarty himself has filed a tax return listing the cash as "other income."

Moriarty, who once gave his occupation as "newspaper distributor" made his last reported appearance at a New York bank in 1961 when he arrived at the East River Savings Bank.

According to testimony in federal court, Moriarty had the bank drill open two safe deposit boxes for him that were listed in the name of George Smith. Then he left happily with two large, well-stuffed paper bags.

The accounts which appeared in the advertisement were listed to Ellen Moriarty of 1651 Pavonia Ave., Jersey City, and Joseph Moriarty, in trust for Margaret Moriarty, 18A West Hamilton Place. The second account erroneously gave the address as Staten Island.

Bank officials when contacted told a reporter they could not reveal the size of the accounts but they seemed interested in the owner. Their advertisement said "any information that will assist us in locating any of the persons listed or their heirs will be appreciated."

The FBI when asked about the accounts also seemed interested and so did a member of the Internal Revenue Service. In 1946 federal investigators discovered 50 bank accounts with Moriarty's name and got him on an income tax evasion charge for which he served two months. They are currently demanding that Moriarty pay $14 million in back taxes.

In 1964 he served a year in federal prison for failing to buy a federal gambling tax stamp.

He returned to Jersey City on his release and has been leading a quiet life ever since. According to one report he was also said to have purchased a home in Brick Township.

According to the bank's advertisement the money will be paid "on or before Nov. 31 next to persons establishing to its satisfaction their right to receive the same. If no one picks up the cash by Nov. 10 the money will be turned over to Arthur Levitt, the New York State comptroller.

At this point Levitt looks like a winner.

that the County adopted and ratified the seizure that took place. The defendant-movant thus is not entitled to summary judgment, especially where, under State law, the commission of the offense, rather than the seizure, is the gist of the claim of contraband.

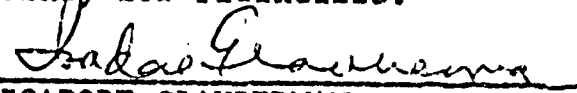

As to the remaining points raised by the District Director, we have shown (Point I, supra) that federal law permits this action to be maintained against the District Director even though the money itself is now in the United States Treasury.

For the foregoing reasons, defendant's motion for summary judgment must be denied.

COUNTER-STATEMENT OF FACTS

Plaintiffs, the County of Hudson and [] [] submit the following brief in opposition to defendant [] motion for summary judgment.

b6
b7C

The nature of the proceeding.

This case involves the ownership of $2,438,110, in cash, discovered in private garages in the City of Jersey City. Plaintiffs commenced the within action in the State court, seeking to obtain an adjudication that the County of Hudson was entitled to said money because it was used by one Joseph V. Moriarty, a convicted gambler, as part of his gambling operation and was thus contraband and forfeited to the County under State law. (N.J.S., 2A:152-6, et seq.)

Moriarty was made a party to the proceeding. Others who had in one form or another asserted "claims" to the property were also served, including defendant [] District Director of Internal Revenue. He was made a party defendant by reason of the assertion by his Department of a lien for internal revenue taxes against Moriarty. The action was then removed to this Court by the Director.

Aside from his removal petition, the Director has filed no pleadings in this action. The only matters raised in his removal petition relate to his Department's collection of its tax lien against Moriarty. The petition is devoid of any allegation whatsoever with respect to the circumstances under which the money was discovered, or how it came to be in the possession of the F.B.I. agents in the first place.

Pursuant to leave granted, plaintiffs have filed a supplemental complaint, which although it seeks the same relief as the original complaint, further alleges that: (1) since the filing of the original complaint, Moriarty has been convicted of violating the gambling laws on diverse dates, including the very date that the money was discovered (13); and (2) County law enforcement officials permitted the money to be taken by F.B.I. agents only on the assurance that it would be held for the County of Hudson (16).

Moriarty has failed to answer or otherwise respond to plaintiffs' claim. By his default, he has admitted that as to his title and possession of the money, it was in fact contraband. See Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546, 559 (1954).

As to the facts.

It must first be observed that although the Director is the moving party, he has not filed any answer. Nor has he filed any affidavits in support of his motion. Plaintiffs, however, have filed affidavits in opposition, from which the following facts appear:

On the afternoon of June 3, 1962, two automobiles were found in private garages in Jersey City. In and around these cars there were many items of personal property, including apparatus used in connection with gambling. From miscellaneous papers and letters found in the garage, it appeared that the cars, and the other personalty, belonged to one Joseph V. Moriarty, a convicted gambler. In the trunk of one of the cars was found a large amount of currency, later ascertained to be $2,438,110.

Various law enforcement officers of the County of Hudson and City of Jersey City, in furtherance of their duties with respect to enforcement of State gambling laws, were summoned to and arrived at the scene. These officers included the First Assistant Prosecutor of Hudson County, the Chief Investigator on the Prosecutor's staff, the Chief of Police of Jersey City, and the Deputy Chief of the City's gambling squad. From the surrounding circumstances, including their prior knowledge of Moriarty's gambling activities, these officers concluded that the discovered property, including the currency, was subject to seizure as contraband and they were going to seize the money and other property pursuant to State law.

However, F.B.I. agents were already on the scene and, although no federal search or arrest warrant had been obtained, they had already taken the money from the trunk of the car. They had not removed the money from the scene, but instead were awaiting instructions from the United States Attorney.

The First Assistant County Prosecutor then spoke by telephone with the United States Attorney and told him that the local officials were going to seize the money for violation of the gambling laws. He was then advised by the latter that the United States Government's only interest in the money was based on the fact that the Government then had a tax lien of about $240,000. It was finally agreed between them that the F.B.I. agents would be permitted to take the currency to their offices in Newark to be counted, accompanied by, and in the presence of, representatives of the County Prosecutor's office and the Jersey City Police Department. This agreement was based upon the assurance of the United States Attorney that the excess over the $240,000 would be returned to the Hudson County Prosecutor.*

Before the money was physically removed from the scene, Prosecutor was contacted and he agreed to the foregoing arrangement and authorized the local law enforcement officials to proceed on the understanding as related to him. b6

The Jersey City Police physically seized all the other gambling paraphernalia, including the automobiles, as contraband. The currency, however, was taken to the F.B.I. offices in Newark, and was counted, in the presence of representatives of the Prosecutor's office, and the Jersey City Police Gambling Squad.

* The United States Attorney in so doing followed the well-settled principle that federal law requires its agents to return money to which the Government is not entitled. The United States does not sanction unwarranted zeal in the collection of tax revenues. See Bull v. United States, 295 U. S. 247, 260-261, 79 L.Ed. 1421, 1427-8 (1935); United States v. State National Bank, 96 U.S. 30, 24 L.Ed. 647, 648 (1878); Stuart v. Chinese Chamber of Commerce, 168 F.2d 709, 711-12 (9th Cir. 1948) (discussed in detail at Pb.13-16, infra.)

The County and local officials would not have permitted the F.B.I. agents to take the money away from the scene but for the representations and assurances of the United States Attorney, as set forth above.

Two days later, on July 5, 1962, the United States Attorney communicated directly with Prosecutor [] and confirmed the aforesaid arrangement, assuring the Prosecutor that the excess over the $240,000 lien would be returned to the County Prosecutor.

b7C

As appears from the removal petition, it was not until July 16, 1962 that, in disregard of the foregoing, the money was turned over by the United States Marshal to the Collector of Internal Revenue, and thereafter deposited in the National State Bank of Newark. Yet, as late as July 20, 1962, the Government, through the United States Attorney, recognized that although the moneys were then "credited to the account of the Internal Revenue Service," they would be:

" ... made available ... if it is determined subsequently by a court of competent jurisdiction that part or all of said property should be re-distributed to persons or governmental agencies other than the United States of America." (emphasis added.)*

* See Exhibit "A" annexed to complaint of []

It is precisely such determination that the plaintiffs seek in the within action.

SUMMARY OF ARGUMENT IN OPPOSITION TO MOTION.

The substantive issues which will ultimately have to be determined are (1) whether the money seized on July 3, 1962 was contraband under State law, and (2) if so, can the Government assert a tax lien with respect to that money. The instant motion, however, is in no way addressed to either issue. Rather, it is based on the Director's procedural and jurisdictional assertions that (1) plaintiffs have not "complied" with the pertinent New Jersey statutes (Point I); (2) the suit is in reality one against the United States, which has not consented to be sued (Point II); and (3) the action must be dismissed because it seeks relief "which cannot be granted" against the District Director (Point IV).*

We will presently demonstrate that each of the grounds is without merit. As to the District Director's first contention, we will demonstrate that it is not only based upon an erroneous conception of State law, but further that it disregards the actual facts surrounding the discovery of the money, as set forth in plaintiffs' affidavits. We will show that plaintiffs' affidavits at the very least raise genuine factual issues which preclude the granting of summary judgment.

As to his remaining contentions, it will be demonstrated that 28 U.S.C. §200 is clear statutory authority for the maintenance of this suit against the District Director, notwithstanding that the money has been "covered into the Treasury." We will show that under the cited statute the instant suit is not a suit against the United States and that a judgment against the District Director will be anything but nugatory.

A R G U M E N TPOINT I.

THE FACT THAT THE MONEY HAS BEEN "COVERED INTO THE TREASURY" IS NOT A BAR TO SUIT AGAINST THE DISTRICT DIRECTOR, 28 U.S.C., § 2006.

We shall deal first with the jurisdictional contentions raised by the District Director (Points II and IV of his brief). The Director argues that (a) the instant suit is in reality a suit against the United States, which has not consented to be sued (Point II, Db6); and (b) the action must be dismissed because it ultimately seeks relief against the Director which "cannot be granted" (Point IV, Db14).

His position in both respects is based on the fact that the money is now "covered" into the United States Treasury.

The District Director's contention completely ignores 28 U.S.C., § 2006, which reads as follows:

"Execution shall not issue against a collector or other revenue officer on a final judgment in any proceeding against him for any of his acts, or for the recovery of any money exacted by or paid to him and subsequently paid into the Treasury, in performing his official duties, if the court certifies that:

"(1) probable cause existed; or

"(2) the officer acted under the directions of the Secretary of the Treasury or other proper Government officer.

"When such certificate has been issued, the amount of the judgment shall be paid out of the proper appropriation by the Treasury."

The foregoing statute has uniformly been held to permit recovery against the District Director for moneys already deposited by him into the United States Treasury. Thus, in De Lima v. Bidwell, 182 U.S. 1, 179, 45 L.Ed. 1041, 1049 (1901), the Supreme Court held:

"The fact that the collector may have deposited the money in the Treasury is no bar to a judgment against him, since Rev. Stat. § 989 [now 28 U.S.C., § 2006] provides that, in case of a recovery of any money exacted by him and paid into the Treasury, if the court certifies that there was probable cause for the act done, no execution shall issue against him, but the amount of the judgment shall be paid out of the proper appropriation from the Treasury."

In Moore Ice Cream Co. v. Rose, 289 U.S. 373, 77 L.Ed. 1265 (1933), Justice Cardozo reviewed the history of cited statute, pointing out that while the practical effect of the statute was to convert a suit against the Collector to one against the Government, nevertheless Congress had clearly authorized such suits even though the money had been covered into the Treasury. The Court stated (289 U.S. at 380):

"As the law stood before later statutes, the taxpayer's protest was notice to a Collector that suit was about to follow, and was warning not to pay into the Treasury the moneys collected. Statutes first enacted in 1839 and progressively broadened made it the duty of Collectors to pay the money over to the Government, whether there had been protest or no protest. At first this was thought to have relieved them of personal liability but later acts of Congress established a different rule, though maintaining the duty to make remittance to the Treasury. Along with the duty there went a pledge of indemnity by the Government itself, a pledge not absolute, it is true, but subject to a condition. The condition was that a certificate be granted by the court either (a) that there was probable cause for the act done by the Collector or other officer, or (b) that he acted under the directions of the Secretary of the Treasury or other proper officer of the Government. In that event no execution was to issue upon the judgment, but the amount of the recovery was to be paid out of the Treasury. The pledge of indemnity was carried forward into the Revised Statutes with only verbal changes (Rev. Stat. § 989), and stands upon the books today. U.S.C. title 28, § 842 [now § 2006]. The effect of the certificate, when given, is to convert the suit against the Collector into a suit against the Government." (Citations omitted.)

And, in United States v. Kales, 314 U.S. 186, 199, 86 L.Ed. 132, 141 (1941), the Supreme Court stated:

"As the congress had enacted provisions for indemnification of the collector by the Government, the implication necessarily arose that the taxpayer could maintain an action against him."

The foregoing principles are not restricted to taxpayers' actions. Third parties may likewise sue the Director personally and thus challenge his very right to have levied on the property ab initio.

In the often cited case of Stuart v. Chinese Chamber of Commerce, 168 F.2d 709 (9th Cir. 1948), Federal Narcotics Agents arrested one "Thet," and searched his house, discovering some $32,000 in a safe, which was "taken" as evidence by the Agents, and "seized" by the Collector of Internal Revenue. Delinquent assessments had theretofore been made against Thet for unpaid taxes amounting to over $25,000. A narcotics' tax in the amount of $8,100 had likewise been levied against him, which was satisfied out of the seized money. The balance was then applied by the Collector against Thet's unpaid income taxes. Thereafter, plaintiffs laid claim to the moneys asserting that Thet (the taxpayer) was not the owner of the money but was holding it for them. They sued the Collector for recovery of the money taken from Thet. The District Court found plaintiffs' claim to be true and entered judgment against the Collector.

On appeal, the Collector contended that the District Court had no jurisdiction because the fund which the Court ordered to be paid by him had been "covered and deposited into the Treasury of the United States prior to the institution of the proceedings." The Circuit Court of Appeals made short shrift of the Collector's contention, stating(at p. 713):

"The fact that the Collector may have deposited the money in the Treasury is no bar to a judgment against him. Section 842, Title 28 U.S.C.A. [the predecessor to 28 U.S.C. § 2006] provides that, in case of a recovery of any money exacted by him and paid into the Treasury, if the court certifies that there was probable cause for the act done, 'no execution shall issue against such collector or other officer, but the amount so recovered shall, upon final judgment, be provided for and paid out of the proper appropriation from the Treasury.'"

The Court of Appeals, after quoting from United States v. Kales, supra, held (at p. 714):

"Thus it will be seen that Congress has devised by appropriate legislation the means of protecting not only the rights of a taxpayer but also to indemnify the collector on a certificate of probable cause against a personal judgment for illegally exacted taxes. We are not directed to any law which would deny the same protection to a non-taxpayer from whom moneys have been illegally seized, nor would good conscience sanction such procedure." (Emphasis added.)

The Court in Stuart also severely criticized the Collector and his agents for their unwarranted zeal in retaining moneys which they had no right to keep, stating (at p. 711-712):

"While the legality of the 'seizure' in question was not challenged by the appellees in the lower court, a consideration of the record would lead us to believe that the Collector and his agents have gone to unnecessary lengths to retain the moneys which admittedly do not belong to the taxpayer, Thet., and have been adjudicated to be the property of the appellees. That the government does not sanction zeal of this kind on its behalf by its agents was long ago expressed by the Supreme Court in Bull v. United States, 295 U.S. 247, 261, 55 S.Ct. 695, 700, 79 L.Ed. 1421, through Mr. Justice Roberts:

'* * * The United States, we have held, cannot, as against the claim of an innocent party, hold his money which has gone into its treasury by means of the fraud of its agent. [case cited] While here the money was taken through mistake without any element of fraud, the unjust retention is immoral and amounts in law to a fraud on the taxpayer's rights. What was said in the State Bank Case applies with equal force to this situation. "An action will lie whenever the defendant has received money which is the property of the plaintiff, and which the defendant is obliged by natural justice and equity to refund. The form of the indebtedness or the mode in which it was incurred is immaterial.

* * *"

And, the Court reiterated that the Internal Revenue laws are not intended to be used by the Collector as a "sword for private aggression." (at p. 712).

The Stuart case has recently been cited with approval by the Third Circuit in First National Bank of Emlenton, Pa. v. United States, 265 F.2d 297 (1959).

There, the District Director levied a distraint for taxes, pursuant to which he seized and sold certain equipment of the taxpayer. The First National Bank held a valid chattel mortgage on this property.

Although the Director was advised that the chattel mortgage was prior to some of the tax liens foreclosed, he nevertheless appropriated the entire proceeds of the sale for satisfaction of the tax liens, and covered the money into the Treasury. The Bank thereupon sued the United States, seeking to recover that portion of the proceeds of the sale to which the Director was not entitled. The suit was dismissed by the District Judge on the grounds of sovereign immunity. The Court noted, however, that the appropriate remedy was a suit against the District Director himself, which the Bank could still bring. The District Judge held (161 F.Supp. at 847, 848):

"There are any number of cases in the books indicating that a taxpayer or a lien holder or other person having an interest in the subject matter of the sale has brought suit against the Collector....

"The conclusion must be that the district courts have jurisdiction to entertain civil actions against Directors of Internal Revenue but there is no authority under the law to sue the United States."

The Court of Appeals affirmed, stating (265 F.2d at 300):

"The district court in its opinion in this case pointed out that in numbers of situations rather similar to this one the aggrieved person has maintained a a suit against a Director of Internal Revenue, but that this is in legal contemplation different from a suit against the United States. E.g., Rothensies v. Ullman, 3 Cir., 1940, 110 F.2d 590; Szerlip v. Marcelle, D.C.E.D.N.Y. 1955, 136 F.Supp. 862, Stuart v. Chinese Chamber of Commerce, 9 Cir., 1948, 168 F.2d 709. While we cannot adjudicate a matter which is not before us, we do note that nothing appears here which suggests that such a remedy was not available to the appellant or that such a suit would even now be untimely." (Emphasis added.)

Decisions sustaining the right to maintain suit against the Director under circumstances similar to those at bar are legion. In addition to the cases cited above, see, e.g., Gerth v. United States, 132 F. Supp. 894 (S.D.Cal. 1955); Cosulich Line of Trieste v. Elting, 40 F.2d 222 (2nd Cir. 1930).

We deem it unnecessary to dwell upon the authorities cited in the Director's brief, for none of those cases involve suits against Directors of Internal Revenue. Whatever may be the rule as to suits against other government officers, such as the Secretary of the Treasury,¹ the War Assets Administrator,² the Manager of a Regional Office of the Veterans Administration,³ or the Secretary of Agriculture,⁴ by virtue of 28 U.S.C., § 2006, suit can be maintained against the Director of Internal Revenue, even though the subject matter of the suit is money that has already been covered into the Treasury.

This Court has already held that it has jurisdiction to entertain this suit to determine who is entitled to the money. Should the Court ultimately adjudicate that the County of Hudson's claim to the money is meritorious, the resulting judgment against the District Director can be satisfied from the Treasury under 28 U.S.C., § 2006.

POINT II

PLAINTIFFS ARE ENTITLED TO MAINTAIN THIS ACTION TO ESTABLISH THAT THE COUNTY OF HUDSON IS ENTITLED TO THE MONEY AS CONTRABAND UNDER STATE LAW.

Hudson County claims that under State law, Moriarty by using the money in his gambling operation, forfeited it to the County as contraband. Plaintiffs have brought this action to enforce that claim.

The District Director's motion for summary judgment (unsupported by affidavits, or even an answer to the complaint) does not assert that the money was not contraband, or that it was not used in Moriarty's gambling operations. Rather, he argues (Point I) that, as a matter of State law, plaintiffs cannot maintain this action because the moneys have not been "seized or captured...by local or state law enforcement officials in connection with any state or local police action" (Db5).

Plaintiffs' affidavits, however, submitted by the County and local officials who were actually at the scene on July 3, 1962, establish that: (1) the County and local officials arrived at the scene "in connection with local police action," i.e., enforcement of the State's gambling laws; (2) said officials were going to seize the property discovered in the garages, including the money, as contraband under State law, but F.B.I. agents, with no apparent authority to do so, had already taken the money from the automobile; (3) they had not removed it from the scene, but instead were awaiting instructions from the United States Attorney; (4) the First Assistant County Prosecutor, who was on the scene, spoke to the United States Attorney and informed him that the local officials were going to seize the money and take it into their custody for violation of the gambling laws; (5) the United States Attorney stated that the Government's only interest in the money was to protect its existing tax lien (of about $240,000); (6) to avoid an unseemly hassle over custody of the money, it was then agreed between the First Assistant Prosecutor and the United States Attorney that the F.B.I. agents would be permitted to take the money to Newark to be counted, and that the excess over the lien would then be turned over to the County Prosecutor; (7) only after that agreement was reached did the County officers permit the F.B.I. agents to remove the money from the premises and take it to their Newark offices to be counted; and (8) County and local officers were dispatched to Newark to witness the counting.

We submit that under New Jersey law these official acts constitute sufficient "compliance" with the relevant statutes to enable the County to maintain this action, which, as this Court has already held, is a proceeding against the Director to establish plaintiffs' claim to the money on an in personam basis (see opinion denying remand, pages 5 and 6).

In Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, 16 N.J. 546 (1954), the New Jersey Supreme Court held: (1) the New Jersey statutes provide for an "absolute" forfeiture; and (2) the event which gives rise to the forfeiture is the unlawful act itself, from which time the County is vested with title to the contraband property. The Court stated (at p. 559-60):

"Where a forfeiture is absolute under the statute, as it is here, the judgment of condemnation or forfeiture when entered relates back to the commission of the wrongful act and takes date from the wrongful acts, not from the date of sentence or decree. United States v. 1960 Bags of Coffee, 8 Cranch. 398, 3 L.Ed. 602 (1814); In re Henderson's Distilled Spirits, 14 Wall. 44, 81 U.S. 44, 20 L.Ed. 815 (1872); United States v. Pacific Finance Corp., 110 F.2d 732 (2d Cir. 1940), and the cases cited therein. Cf. Motlow v. State of Missouri, 295 U.S. 97, 55 S.Ct. 661, 79 L.Ed. 1327 (1935); 51 Harv. L. Rev. 1112.

"The established rule is that the forfeiture becomes absolute at the commission of the prohibited acts and the title from that moment vests in the state or government in all cases where the statute in terms denounces the forfeiture of the property as a penalty for a violation of the law, without giving any alternative remedy or providing any substitutes for forfeiture or allowing any exceptions to its enforcement, and that in all such cases it is not in the power of the offender or the former owner to defeat the forfeiture by any subsequent transfer of the property, even as to a bona fide purchaser for value, without notice of the wrongful acts done or committed by the former owner." (Emphasis added.)

The United States Supreme Court, in applying federal forfeiture statutes, has consistently held that the questions as to whether the forfeiture is "absolute," and as to what event gives rise to the forfeiture and divestiture of title, are purely matters of statutory construction. As stated in United States v. Grundy & Thornburgh, 3 Cranch 337, 351, 2 L.Ed. 459, 463 (1806):

"Where a forfeiture is given by a statute, the rules of the common law may be dispensed with, and the thing forfeited may either vest immediately, or on the performance of some particular act, as shall be the will of the legislature. This must depend upon the construction of the statute."

In many Supreme Court decisions, Federal forfeiture statutes have been held to be absolute. Thus, in United States v. 1960 Bags of Coffee, 8 Cranch 398, 405, 3 L.Ed. 602, 605 (1814), (cited in Spagnuolo, supra), the Court stated:

"In the eternal struggle that exists between the avarice, enterprise and combinations of individuals on the one hand, and the power charged with the administration of the laws on the other, severe laws are rendered necessary to enable the executive to carry into effect the measures of policy adopted by the legislature. To them belongs the right to decide on what event a divesture of right shall take place, whether on the commission of the offense, the seizure, or the condemnation. In this instance we are of opinion that the commission of the offense marks the point of time on which the statutory transfer of right takes place." (Emphasis added.)

Similar holdings were later expressed by the United States Supreme Court in Gelston, et al v. Hoyt, 3 Wheat. 246, 310-311, 4 L.Ed. 381, 397 (1818); The Caledonian, 4 Wheat. 100, 4 L.Ed. 523 (1819); Wood v. United States, 16 Peters 342, 348, 10 L.Ed. 987 (1842); and Taylor et al v. United States, 3 How. 197, 205-6, 11 L.Ed. 559, 562 (1845).

Where forfeiture is absolute under the statute, and arises with the commission of the offense itself, the means by which the property was initially seized or captured is of "no consequence" to the rights of the condemnor. Wood v. United States, supra (16 Peters at 359).

It thus has uniformly been held that the Government may adopt and ratify the seizure of any party, no matter how unlawful or unauthorized. In The Callaghan, supra, the Supreme Court stated (4 Wheat. at 102):

"It is a general rule that any person may seize any property forfeited to the use of the government either by the municipal law or by the law of prize, for the purpose of enforcing the forfeiture. And it depends upon the government itself whether it will act upon the seizure. If it adopts the acts of the party, and proceeds to enforce the forfeiture by legal process, this is a sufficient recognition and confirmation of the seizure, and is of equal validity in law with an original authority given to the party to make the seizure. The confirmation acts retroactively, and is equivalent to a command."

Accord: Galston, et al v. Hoyt, supra (3 Wheat. 310);

Taylor v. United States, supra (3 How. 205).

Adoptive seizure has uniformly been applied to permit the United States to "adopt" and "ratify" seizures made by state and local law enforcement officials. Thus, in United States v. Story, 294 Fed. 517, 519 (5th Cir. 1923), the Court stated:

"The machinery...relating to the forfeiture of the offending vehicle, can as well be set in motion by a seizure of state officers, as can the prosecution of the offending person be commenced by an arrest of the person by state officers and state examining magistrates....The regularity of the seizure is not a necessary condition to a condemnation of the things seized, providing there is sufficient ground for an adjudication of a forfeiture. Property may be seized by a private person, acting at his peril, and, if a cause of forfeiture is shown to exist against it, condemnation will follow, notwithstanding the seizure was by an unauthorized person." (citing The Caledonian, Wood v. U.S. and Taylor v. U.S., all supra.)

The Story case was approved by the United States Supreme Court in Dodge v. U.S. 272 U.S. 530, 71 L.Ed. 392 (1926). There, the First Circuit Court of Appeals had held that the federal government, by instituting the forfeiture proceedings, "ratified and adopted" a seizure made by municipal policemen. 11 F.2d, at 522. The Supreme Court affirmed.

Justice Holmes speaking for a unanimous Court, stated (272 U.S., at p. 531-2):

"The circuit court of appeals...held that the government might adopt the seizure and give it retroactive effect..."

"The circuit court of appeals relied on the often quoted language of Mr. Justice Story in The Caledonian, 4 Wheat. 100, 4 L.ed. 523, to the effect that anyone may seize any property for a forfeiture to the government, and that if the government adopts the act and proceeds to enforce the forfeiture by legal process, this is of no less validity than when the seizure is by authority originally given....The owner of the property suffers nothing that he would not have suffered if the seizure had been authorized....We can see no reason for doubting the soundness of these principles when the forfeiture is dependent upon subsequent events any more than when it occurs at the time of the seizure."

For other cases sustaining forfeitures under Federal laws by "adoption" of seizures made by local police officers, see United States v. One Studebaker Seven-Passenger Sedan, 4 F.2d 534 (9th Cir. 1925); Two Certain Ford Coupe Automobiles vs. United States, 53 F.2d 187 (5th Cir. 1931); Harman vs. United States, 199 F.2d 34 (4th Cir. 1952).

There are especially cogent reasons for applying that doctrine in the instant case. Here, there is not only a subsequent ratification by institution of proceedings to enforce the forfeiture, but the local officials were going to seize the property in the first place. They refrained from reducing the money to their exclusive possession only because the United States Attorney assured them that the money would be returned to the custody of the County Prosecutor.

The County thus laid its claim to the money before it was ever removed from the scene. Since the County clearly did not intend to surrender its claim to the money, the arrangement with the United States Attorney resulted in the F.B.I. agents becoming the County's instrumentality for seizure. That is why representatives of the Prosecutor's office and of the Jersey City Police's Gambling Squad were dispatched to witness the counting of the money.

The foregoing facts, if not tantamount to an actual seizure on behalf of the County as a matter of fact, at least constitute an adoption and ratification of the seizure.

Moreover, as pointed out above, under State law the forfeiture is complete under the statute upon the commission of the offense. The County's right to the property thus arises from the unlawful use itself, and not from the seizure. Spagnuolo v. Bonnet, supra (16 N.J. at 559-60); Kenny v. Wachenfeld, 14 N.J. Misc. 322, 323 (Sup.Ct. 1936). It follows that "seizure," in the sense of actually reducing the res to the exclusive physical possession of County officers, while arguably necessary for an in rem condemnation by a state court, is obviously not a sine qua non of the County's right to maintain an in personam action to establish its substantive claim that the money is contraband.*

If the money was in fact contraband when seized, it became eo instante forfeited to the County. The fact that Federal agents were permitted by the County Prosecutor to take temporary custody of the money cannot operate to change the contraband nature of the money, or to revest Moriarty with title. This is especially so under the circumstances of this case, where the Federal agents were only permitted to take the money because the County officials trusted the United States Attorney to see to it that the money was redelivered to the County Prosecutor.

* This is implicit, moreover, in this Court's determination that it does have jurisdiction to adjudicate the County's claim on an in personam basis.

Nor could the fact that the District Director subsequently levied on the money and covered it into the Treasury affect the County's substantive right. See Point 1, supra. As noted in Stuart v. Chinese Chamber of Commerce, supra, the Director may not use the taxing power of the United States as a "sword for private aggression" (168 F.2d at 712).

It is respectfully submitted that plaintiffs are entitled to assert the County's substantive rights to the money in this proceeding. The County is entitled to a trial on the merits on its claim that the money was contraband under New Jersey law.

POINT III

PLAINTIFFS' PLEADINGS AND AFFIDAVITS RAISE MATERIAL ISSUES OF FACT PRE-CLUDING THE GRANTING OF SUMMARY JUDGMENT

Summary judgment under Rule 56 is not intended to be applied so as to deprive litigants of the right to a full hearing on the merits. Krieger v. Ownership Corp., 270 F.2d 265 (3rd Cir. 1959). Such motions can only be granted where:

"...the pleadings, depositions, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law." Rule 56(c).

The facts set forth in plaintiffs' affidavits clearly raise factual issues requiring a trial. Those affidavits establish that plaintiffs can maintain the instant action to obtain a determination of the County's right to the money.

As to the first point raised by the Director, we have shown (Point II, supra) that plaintiffs' affidavits establish that the money was seized either actually or constructively on behalf of the County, or at the very least,

1. At all times hereinafter mentioned, I held the office of Chief Investigator on the staff of the office of the Prosecutor of Hudson County. My duties as such included investigation of violations of the gambling laws of the State of New Jersey within said County of Hudson. Any and all actions taken by me as hereinafter set forth were done in my official capacity and in furtherance of my duty as a law enforcement officer of the County of Hudson.

2. On July 3, 1962, as a result of a phone call I received from Chief Austin J. Bonley of the Jersey City Police, I went to the location known as 127-31 Oxford Avenue, in the City of Jersey City, arriving there at about 7:30 P.M.

3. Chief Conley advised me that a large amount of money had been found in the trunk of a Plymouth car which had been stored in one of the garages in said location.

4. Chief Conley pointed out that garage to me. On the floor of said garage were numerous papers addressed to Joseph Moriarty. Chief Conley also pointed out, in an adjacent garage, items of personal property such as coin changers and adding machines which are used in connection with gambling activities. Said Joseph Moriarty was known to me and Chief Conley to be a convicted gambler.

5. Chief Conley and I discussed seizing the money and other property pursuant to the gambling laws, and I attempted to contact [redacted] Prosecutor of Hudson County, at his home in Jersey City. I was told that he had left for the shore. I then contacted [redacted] First Assistant Prosecutor, and told him about the discovery of the money and other property, and gave him the location.

6. [redacted] arrived at the location at about 5:15 P.M. I told him that an F.B.I. agent was then talking on the telephone to United States Attorney, David M. Satz, Jr. at a private home across the street. I thereupon took [redacted] to said home and he spoke to Mr. Satz.

7. Shortly thereafter, [redacted] advised Chief Conley and myself that he told Mr. Satz that the money should be turned over to us for violations of the gambling laws, and that Mr. Satz was going to call him back.

8. About twenty minutes later [] was told that Mr. Satz wanted him on the telephone, and he went back to the house.

9. Shortly thereafter, [] returned and told Chief Conley and me that he had worked out an arrangement with Mr. Satz whereby the F.B.I. agents would be permitted to take the money to their Newark offices to be counted in the presence of the representatives of the Prosecutor's office and the Police Department, and that the excess over the amount of the tax lien that the Federal Government had against Moriarty of about $240,000 would be turned over to the Hudson County Prosecutor. [] also told us that Mr. Satz had told him that he didn't want the law enforcement agencies to get into a hassle over the money and that he thought it advisable that the money should be brought to the Federal Building in Newark, because they had better facilities for taking care of same. [] [] also told us that Mr. Satz had told him that in any event he would speak to [] on Thursday, July 5th.

10. [] then instructed me to try to contact [] at the shore, which I did. [] then spoke to the Prosecutor, after which he told us that he had advised [] of the arrangement that had been worked out with Mr. Satz and that it was satisfactory to [] he pinned to the door of the garage where the money had been found. Annexed hereto as Exhibit "A" is a copy of said search warrant.

11. Thereafter, at approximately 6 P.M., an F.B.I. agent arrived at the garage with a search warrant, which warrant

12. Thereafter, and pursuant to the instruction of [redacted] I, representing the Prosecutor's office, and Sergeant [redacted] of the Jersey City Gambling Squad, representing the Jersey City Police Department, accompanied the F.B.I. agents to their offices in the Federal Building in Newark. We arrived at about 7 P.M. We personally witnessed the counting of the money, which did not terminate until about twelve midnight.

1. At all times hereinafter mentioned, I held the office of First Assistant Prosecutor of the County of Hudson. The duties of said office included enforcement of violations of the gambling laws of the State of New Jersey within said County of Hudson. Any and all actions taken by me as hereinafter set forth were done in my official capacity and in furtherance of said duty.

2. I have read the complaint and supplemental complaint filed in this action on behalf of the County of Hudson and [REDACTED] of the County of Hudson. I know of my own knowledge that the following events occurred on the afternoon of July 3, 1962, at the location known as 127-31 Oxford Avenue, in the City of Jersey City, County of Hudson.

3. As a result of a phone call that I received from [REDACTED] Chief Investigator of the Hudson County Prosecutor's Office, I proceeded to the aforesaid location arriving on the scene at approximately 5:15 P.M. on July 3, 1962.

4. I was advised by [REDACTED] that a large sum of money had been discovered in the trunk of a 1947 Plymouth car that was stored in one of the garages. Various and miscellaneous papers, documents and letters also found in the garage showed that the automobile and property, including the money, belonged to one Joseph V. Moriarty, who was then an inmate of the New Jersey State Prison and was a convicted gambler. I was also advised that other items of personal property, including apparatus adapted to or used in connection with activities in violation of the gambling laws of the State of New Jersey, had been discovered in an adjacent garage.

5. also told me that one of the agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was then across the street in a private home and was talking on the telephone to United States Attorney, David M. Satz, Jr. b6 b7C

6. I thereupon went to said home and spoke to David M. Satz, Jr., United States Attorney, and advised him that we were going to seize this property, including the money and take it into custody for violation of the gambling laws. Mr. Satz advised me that the Federal Government has a lien against Mr. Moriarty for taxes. He asked me to let him check this out and he would call me right back.

7. He called me back about twenty minutes later. At that time, I again insisted that we were going to seize this property, including the money, on behalf of the County. Mr. Satz answered that the Federal and County law enforcement agencies should not get into a hassle over the money, and that from what he had been told by his men, there was a considerable amount of money involved, and that the Federal Government had better facilities to take care of the money. Mr. Satz specifically stated to me that the Government's only interest in the money was to protect its tax lien for about $240,000., and that if I would let the Federal agents take the money to the Federal Building in Newark where it could be counted, he assured me that the excess over the latter amount would be turned over to [redacted] Mr. Satz further stated that in any event, he would speak to [redacted] on Thursday morning, July 5th.

b6

8. Based upon the foregoing, we agreed that the F.B.I. agents would be permitted to take the money to their offices in Newark to be counted, and that they would be accompanied by representatives of the County Prosecutor's office and of the Jersey City Police Department.

9. After said telephone call, I thereupon went across the street, back to the garages and informed [redacted] and Mr. Austin J. Conley, Chief of the Jersey City Police, of my conversation with Mr. Satz.

10. Thereafter I spoke to [redacted] at his home in Manasquan, New Jersey, and advised him as to the above occurrences and the arrangement made with the United States Attorney Satz. [redacted] instructed me to proceed in accordance therewith and said that he would speak to Mr. Satz on Thursday, July 5.

b6

11. I thereafter instructed [redacted] to accompany the F.B.I. agents to their Newark office, to represent the Hudson County Prosecutor's Office and witness the counting of the money. Chief Conley similarly dispatched Sergeant [redacted] [redacted] of the Jersey City Gambling Squad to accompany the F.B.I. agents.

12. I therefore state that the F.B.I. agents were permitted to take the aforesaid money to their Newark offices to be counted solely on the basis of the aforesaid arrangement with and representation by Mr. David M. Satz, Jr., United States Attorney.

5. Thereafter, on July 5, 1962, I spoke to David M. Satz, Jr., United States Attorney, on the telephone, and we confirmed the above described arrangement. Mr. Satz, among other things, specifically confirmed the fact that after the amount of the Government's tax lien, which was about $240,000, was deducted, the balance of the moneys would be returned to Hudson County.

6. Joseph V. Moriarty was, to my knowledge, at that time, then in the New Jersey State Prison serving a term for violation of the gambling laws, to which term he had been sentenced on March 2, 1962. I arrived at said location about ten or fifteen minutes later. I was informed that in the trunk of a 1947 Plymouth car, stored in one of the garages at said location, there had been discovered two suit cases and a tool box full of currency, as well as three guns. From miscellaneous papers and letters found in the garage, it appeared that the car and money were the property of one Joseph V. JOSEPH VINCENT MORIARTY
ASCERTAINING FINANCIAL ABILITY

A source who is in a position to furnish information advised on May 5 and 8, 1967, that Joseph Vincent Moriarty, who he knows as "newsboy" Moriarty, is now running a large scale numbers action from a downtown Newark apartment building. The source advised that he is not positive of the exact apartment but knows that Moriarty very seldom, if ever, leaves his apartment.

Source stated that any attempt to contact Moriarty at this apartment would without doubt cause him to move his numbers action to another location and would definitely compromise the position of the source. Source advised that he will continue his efforts to ascertain the exact location of Moriarty as well as information regarding any vehicle that Moriarty might be using.

Another source who is in a position to furnish information advised on May 25, 1967, that he could furnish no information regarding Moriarty. He stated that the last information he had concerning Moriarty was that Moriarty had been vacationing in Florida.

NK. 182-60

Picayune, Miss.

September 15, 1970

To the Chief of Police, Jersey City, New Jersey

Dear Sir:

Could you help me? I always ask myself when I am in a situation that I cannot solve---If I were [redacted] what would I do? I don't know anything about your state as I have never been fortunate enough to visit it. I have run upon a brick wall, so to speak, and don't know what to do but to appeal to someone like you. Will you please help me?

In 1951 my daughter [redacted] was working in Fort Worth, Texas where through a mutual acquaintance she met Mr. Moriarty, his brother and his girl friend, who was working as a nurse at the time. There was a dope ring operating in Fort Worth at the time and the boy she was going with at the time was mixed up in it. He was stationed at Carswell Airforce Base. My daughter knew too much--she was being chased and threw out all her identification papers, including her money and wallet--stopped at the place where her girl friend worked, gave her my address and told her to get in touch with me if she didn't report to work the next morning as her life was in danger--she didn't report for work the next morning so her friend called me in Columbia, Miss. and I went to Fort Worth. My daughter had been doped, raped and beaten. The police found her roaming the streets late at night so full of dope that the doctor said her eyes looked like pin points. I found evidence in her suitcase--asked her questions, then went back to Fort Worth, gave the district attorney what information I had, went to Carswell Airforce base and gave them what information I had uncovered, but my husband came home from Guam in the Pacific, where he was working and wouldn't let me go back--said if I learned too much my life may be in danger--so drop it right where you left off.

The information she gave me each time I found out was true as I checked it out, but she also told another daughter and me in July 1951 what I am going to relate to you-----

I met Moriarty, his brother and girl friend, whom I already stated was working as a nurse. He told me he was in the rackets but was tired of it and was going to get out as he didn't care anything about money and had more than he could spend in his lifetime. He was separated from his wife and had two sons. He bought a second hand car and paid cash for it but had it registered under his girl friend's name. He was going to take it, gather up all his money and leave the states for an indefinite time before he returned. She said this to another daughter and me--I know you won't believe this but before he left we went to a lawyer and he put $60,000 in a fund in a bank in my name but told me I could not draw it out for 10 years then I would be a wealthy woman, but due to what happened to me I can't remember what bank it was put in. He saved my life and if it hadn't been for him I wouldn't be alive today. He had peculiar looking eyes like he could hypnotize you--they were very dark and magnetic--I could never forget those eyes.---all these 19 years she still says the same. She married, moved to Alaska, where she was living when the news came out in the papers about him. My daughter remembered what [redacted] had told us --cut out his picture and sent it to [redacted] in Alaska. [redacted] had always called him [redacted]. Her sister asked her if she knew this man--[redacted] wrote back that is [redacted] but where in the heck did you get his picture.

b6
b7c

b6

OK 192-60

What she told us in 1951 was so simular I couldn't help but believe her as all other things she had told me after checking out were true.--but the question was--how could she get in touch with Mariarty? She works six days a week as a waitress, doesn't make much money, but has to work to help make a living. She has two teenage daughters; who need their mother very bad--they are just at the age to get into trouble as she has never had the chance to be a real mother to them.

I am a widow--my time is my own, but due to my health and age I cannot work and have only survivors social security to live on. She thinks her money is in /Austin or Fort Worth. I went to Austin August 6th. this year intending to go on to Fort Worth if I did not get results in Austin. I found there were 17 banks in Austin, stayed two days and nights, found out the job was too much for me to handle alone. I went on the bus, so I returned back home on the bus as my money was running short I figured I better get back home while I could--but I haven't given up--I'll still search and search and try to help my daughter all I can---If you wont help me somehow I'll go on and on.

While I was in Austin searching Inside Dective came out with the In at the Finish story where Mr. Mariarty has kept silent but I seriously hope if he did what my daughter says he did that he will get in touch with me then I will get in touch with Gay and if he really did leave her money that she can find it--only he can supply that answer.

You must know the county shariff of Hudson County and he in turn must know where Mariarty lives. I would like the county sheriff of the county where Mr. Mariarty lives to deliver my letter in person to him because if he is still living with the woman he was living with then she doesn't like my daughter and I am sure he would never get my letter if she got it first.

If you don't want to do this please send me mr. Mariarty's address and I would send him a registered letter(Personal).

Would you please do this for me? It would be a God send if you did.

My daughter needs to quit working and take care of her teenage girls. She has had to work at such work since she was 15 years old has never had a chance to be a real mother to her children.

I have gone as far as I can to help her--I don't know where to go from here--Will you please take the ball from here--I am so tired---I thank you and may God bless you if you will.

Thanking you very much, I remain,

Picayune, Miss.

Dear Mr Mariarty,

Did you meet a girl by the name of [redacted] in Fort Worth, Texas in the spring of 1951.? She told her sister and me in 1951 about meeting you, who she called [redacted] your brother and your girl friend, in Fort Worth, Texas. You told her you were in the rackets but were getting out of it because you were tired of it and had enough money to last you a lifetime anyway. She said before you left Fort Worth that you went to a lawyer, had papers drawn up and left her a large sum of money in some kind of an account in a bank but you told her she could not draw it out under ten years, by then you== she would be a wealthy woman.

b6
b7C

[redacted] went through a great tragedy and said that you saved her life and if it hadn't of been for you she'd be dead and not here right now. I made three trips back to Fort Worth on things she told me and found all of them to be true.

b6

If you did put any money in the bank for her please write me, her mother, [redacted] Picayune, Miss. 39466 and I will get in touch with her--the name of the bank, what kind of an account and what city it is in.

You and you alone can do that---She has been working as a waitress for the past 25 years, is not well and has two teenage daughters, who need their mother very bad. If you did this God Bless You and please get in touch with me. Thanking you very much, I remain,

Moriarty flees abductors after a roughing up

By GORDON BISHOP

Joseph V. Moriarty the ex-numbers czar from Hudson County who hid $2.4 million in paper bags in the trunk of a car in 1962, escaped from three kidnapers yesterday after they tortured him with a blowtorch in a futile attempt to get him to tell where his "secret millions" were stashed.

The bizarre plot unfolded at 4:30 yesterday morning at the Whippoorwill Motel on Route 9 in Howell Township, where Moriarty, 60, sought refuge after running for more than an hour away from a house in which his abductors had chained him to a chair and beat him fiercely — but the former gambling operator refused to talk.

Moriarty was treated for extensive injuries at hospitals in Ocean and Hudson counties before being taken by police to his sister's home in Jersey City last night to recover from the harrowing ordeal.

State Police Sgt. Joseph Kobas said Moriarty gave the following account of what happened:

At 10:30 Wednesday night, he was walking along Bergen Avenue in Jersey City when he was accosted by "several men" (at least three) who grabbed and shoved him into a nearby vehicle.

A hood was placed over his head and when it was taken off about an hour later, Moriarty found himself in the cellar of a house.

The assailants chained him to a chair, handcuffed his wrists and started slapping and hitting him, demanding to know where he hid all his money.

When he wouldn't talk, the trio lit a blowtorch and gradually began to burn his hands, not seriously just enough to try to frighten him.

They finally left him alone and one man stayed behind in the cellar to keep an eye on Moriarty. The watchman drowsed and Moriarty managed to loosen the chain and sneak out of the cellar without disturbing the sleeping guard.

When he stopped running and walking, he was exhausted, and he staggered into a motel, where the clerk immediately called police.

Sgt. Kobas said the call was registered at 4:30 a.m. yesterday. Six hours had elapsed from the time Moriarty said he had been kidnaped.

Police said he identified himself as Joseph Moriarty, 60, of West Hamilton Avenue, Jersey City. They took him to Paul Kimball Hospital in Point Pleasant, where he was examined and treated for lacerations of the skull, bruises on the face, jaw and body. Moriarty, Kobas said, signed his own release papers from the hospital and asked to be taken home.

* * *

Deputy Chief Patrick McGee of Jersey City drove to the Howell Township State Police barracks in Monmouth County and brought Moriarty home. They arrived in Jersey City shortly after 1 p.m. Moriarty was examined again at Jersey City Medical Center, and released.

McGee said Moriarty was in no condition to undergo, "intensive interrogation", by police to determine who his abductors might be. "We'll try to question him Friday (today)," McGee said.

State Police are searching the Howell area, using the motel as the center of a five-mile radius in which the house would have to be located. Moriarty said he ran and walked for almost an hour-and-a-half and police estimated he could have covered a distance of some five miles, at the most.

McGee said he will ask Moriarty to give him a description, if he can, of the house, as well as the men who beat him up.

* * *

McGee said he would like to take Moriarty back to Howell to see if he can recall the neighborhood he ran through during the night.

On July 3, 1962, three workmen, found more than $2.4 million wrapped in paper bags in the trunk of a car parked in a garage on Oxford Avenue, Jersey City.

The money was identified as Moriarty's but the reputed numbers king made no attempt to claim it and denied ownership.

After a long legal battle between the United States government and Hudson County over "Moriarty's millions," the courts finally awarded the money to the county in 1967.

Last year, the Union Dime Savings Bank of New York advertised a list of depositors "entitled to unclaimed property." The list included the names of Moriarty and two sisters who were said to be among 150 other depositors who own "amounts of $25 or more."

Neither bank officials nor the FBI would disclose how much were in the accounts.

'Newsboy' Moriarty Thwarts Brutal Kidnapers-Assailants

By ROBERT ADAMS

The rugged little man, Joseph "Newsboy" Moriarty, was hit twice over the head, once Wednesday night on a Jersey City street and the second time in a car on his way to an unknown destination.

Later while lying a prisoner in a strange house, handcuffs and tape linking his hands together, with a mask covering his face, he was tortured when his kidnapers applied a blowtorch to his face and hands. During these "sessions" he was also beaten severely about the face.

But some hours later, while his captors were sleeping, Moriarty, former "numbers king" of Jersey City, slipped the mask off his face, chewed through the tape binding his hands, and managed to escape from the house, still wearing the handcuffs.

During his captivity, "Newsboy" later told police, he kept saying his prayers and said to himself over and over again: "They can't kill me!" After his escape from the house in Howell Township, "Newsboy" stumbled into a nearby motel where the desk clerk summoned state police. He was immediately taken to Paul Kimball Hospital in Lakewood, where he was treated for his injuries.

Joseph Moriarty

At this time, Jersey City police were notified and Deputy Chief Patrick A. Gee, commander of detectives; Sgt. Arthur Meese and Detectives Kevin Moran and William Hamilton sped to the hospital.

Signed Self Out

But in the meantime, the rugged little man had signed himself out of the hospital.

State police, accompanied by the Jersey City police contingent, then drove "Newsboy" to Jersey City Medical Center, where doctors again examined his injuries.

But the rugged little guy shortly signed himself out of that hospital. At the present time his whereabouts are officially unknown. Police say that he is "staying with relatives somewhere."

The strange drama began at 10:30 p. m. Wednesday night when two, "possibly three" black men accosted Moriarty on Bergen av., Jersey City, hit him over the head with a blunt instrument and dumped him into a car.

The drama ended at 4 a. m. yesterday when "Newsboy" managed to elude his captors and flee to the motel.

During the torturing sessions, Moriarty told police, his captors kept demanding to know, "Where's the money?" "Where's the money?"

Still Able to Talk

The former numbers king kept repeating over and over that he didn't have any money, police said.

"He was frightfully tortured," a police officer said, "He was very badly burned on the hands and face and his eyes were very red." But he was still able to talk and he was able to walk, as his escape indicates.

Police declared Moriarty will never be able to identify his assailants since he never was able to get a really good look at them.

"Newsboy" first came into public prominence in July of 1962 when $2,438,110 in cash was found in a public garage on Oxford av., Jersey City, and later traced to him. At the time, police said—several carpenters, working in the garage, opened the trunk of a car owned by "Newsboy" and found the hoard.

The garage was one of three rented by Moriarty for $30 a month. When the hoard was discovered, "Newsboy" was serving a two-to three-year prison term in Trenton state prison for violation of the anti-gambling statutes. Moriarty never claimed the cash as his.

The informant is aware [REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

[REDACTED] (LNU) is a negro male, approximately 35 years of age, tall, medium-heavy build, wears his hair short, sharp dresser. three or four years ago worked full time in the [REDACTED] at the candy store. He is a peddler of swag and about a year ago took a bust for numbers on the phone. He is the man that indicated that [REDACTED] operation have stops in East Orange, Plainfield, and Newark. [REDACTED] has estimated that the numbers play in the Ocean Ave. and Jackson Ave. area (commonly known as the Hill) at between 75 and $100,000 a day. One of MORIARITY's stops is a hardware store with a candy store next to it on Jackson Ave. owned by a lady named [REDACTED] who recently took a fall. That one stop did an average of $5,000 a day numbers play because [REDACTED] was the pickup man there.

Our Newark office has submitted an affidavit setting forth probable cause justification for the interception of wire communications emanating from three telephones located in Jersey City, New Jersey.

Information developed through extensive investigation, informants and previous court-authorized intercepts have determined that Joseph Vincent Moriarity and his associates are engaged in an illegal numbers operation in violation of the Illegal Gambling Business statute.

This affidavit has been carefully reviewed and it is believed to satisfy the requirements of Title III in applying for a court order. The probable cause is ample and the activity to be covered is of major importance.

ACTION:

Attached for your approval is a letter to the Attorney General transmitting copies of the proposed affidavit and requesting his authority to file the affidavit with the United States District Court, District of New Jersey.

An article appearing in the October 4, 1972, edition of the "Hudson Dispatch," Union City, New Jersey, daily newspaper, captioned, "Government Wins Uncontested Suit-Moriarty Owes 1.5 million dollars Tax," reflects that JOSEPH "Newsboy" MORIARTY owes the Federal Government 1.5 million dollars in unpaid income taxes for the years 1960 and 1961.

NK 182-60

United States Attorney for New Jersey, [redacted] [redacted] announced on October 3, 1972, that his office had won a no defense civil judgement of $1,514,868.63 against subject MORIARTY.

b6
b7C

On October 5, 1972, subject MORIARTY was released on his recognizance by Judge JEREMIAH J. O'CALLAGHAN in Municipal Court, Jersey City, New Jersey, to await a hearing at a later date. This was the result of MORIARTY's arrest by detectives of the Jersey City, New Jersey Police Department on Wednesday, October 4, 1972, on gambling charges. When detectives searched MORIARTY's car, they allegedly found three bags of lottery slips with numbers play totalling $673.20 and $2,225.02 in cash.

On October 10, 1972, the United States Supreme Court ruled in favor of the Federal Government in its ten year battle with Hudson County for possession of the 2.4 million dollars, which was found in the trunk of a car, and which allegedly belonged to subject MORIARTY.

On January 11, 1973, Lieutenant [redacted] Jersey City, New Jersey Police Department, advised that JOSEPH MORIARTY was indicted by a State Grand Jury in Trenton, New Jersey, for assaulting a State Police Detective on April 18, 1972, while being placed under arrest. [redacted] advised that MORIARTY was also indicted and charged with conspiracy and possession of lottery slips.

b6
b7C

Lieutenant [redacted] advised that the MORIARTY case was allocated to Hudson County for trial by Superior Court Judge FRANK J. KINGFIELD.

Department Attorney [redacted] Newark Strike Force, advised on January 11, 1973, that he continues to review evidence developed in the previous court authorized [redacted] [redacted] to determine whether sufficient evidence was developed to seek indictments on this matter for violations of the Federal gambling laws.

b3
b6
b7C

NK 182-60

[redacted] advised that if insufficient evidence has been developed to enable Federal prosecution, he will consider furnishing the evidence developed, with permission of the court, to local authorities for prosecution.

The informant stated that MORIARITY is paying 550 to one on a hit plus a salary to individuals within his group who act as controllers. According to the informant, in his opinion, MORIARITY has reached the point where he is paying so much of his intake to his people just to be the "boss", that he is not making any money to speak of despite his volume.

The informant stated that a lot of MORIARITY's people are "robbing" him by slipping in winning numbers, getting excessive extensions of credit, and borrowing from him and never repaying.

The informant stated that if and when MORIARITY is confined, drastic changes will come. He believes many of MORIARITY's controller-level people will merely "sit" on as much of their own action as they can handle and forget about "edge-offs". He noted, however, that there is very great possibility that "mob" people will move in and take the operation over, thereby being able to cut the payoff back to the 500 to one they were paying before having to go to 550 to one to compete with MORIARITY.

Synopsis: MORIARITY observed making rounds driving a rented car in Jersey City. Jersey City Gambling Squad advises that MORIARITY is of prime interest and that they are closing in on one of his controllers. MORIARITY continues to reside with a girl friend. On 9/25/74, the Appellate Division, NJ Superior Court, ordered a re-trial for MORIARITY on a previous charge.

DETAILS

On September 4, 1974, Lieutenant [redacted] Gambling Squad, Jersey City Police Department, advised that his squad has been concentrating on the MORIARITY operation and is close to arresting one of his controllers. [redacted] stated he would keep SA [redacted] up-to-date on their progress in this matter.

b6
b7C

Detective [redacted] SIU, Jersey City Police Department, advised on September 25, 1974, that MORIARITY lives either on Van Ritman Avenue or Warner Street, with a girl friend. [redacted] further advised that MORIARITY finishes his pick-ups around 2:30 am, returns to one of these residents until late the next afternoon, drives to a phone booth at Stuyvesant Avenue, at Kennedy Boulevard, every day, between 4:30 and 5:30 pm, to call his controllers to say he is making his rounds.

On September 25, 1974, the Appellate Division of Superior Court of New Jersey, ruled that MORIARITY must be retried on a charge of possession lottery paraphernalia. This stems from a 1973 charge which was dismissed when the jury could not reach a verdict. Possession of the case was remanded back to Hudson County Court for retrial due to the improper dismissal of the case by Judge JOSEPH HANRAHAN.

NEWARK FILE 182-60

[redacted] on 1/20/75, advised that captioned subject is presently on trial in Hudson County and is letting it be known throughout the gambling circle in Hudson County that he is giving up his numbers operation. This fact has caused consternation amongst the policemen in the Jersey City Police Department who have for years been shaking down MORIARITY's runners and controllers. b7D

The informant advised that MORIARITY is in fact dumping many of his large but unprofitable accounts because of his inability to control the cheating going on and his inability to collect from the better. MORIARITY is not getting out of the gambling business and will continue to maintain key accounts. The informant noted that MORIARTY has taken back most of the black numbers operators that he had given "notice" to a few weeks ago. The informant stated that MORIARTY had previously told these individuals that he was getting out of the business, but began taking their numbers "lay-off" once again within a few days.

The informant stated that he has no idea how MORIARTY's business will be conducted while he is hospitalized and speculated that the black operators may well have to hold their action until MORIARTY is once again available.

According to the informant, the numbers business in general in Jersey City, is suffering at present due to the present lack of protection from local law enforcement which has made it increasingly difficult to secure sitters who fear arrest.

He has entered the hospital where he intends to remain as long as his doctor orders it. He has made his accounts available to only his most trusted lieutenants for the continued running of his limited gambling operation. It is to be noted that the informant has previously reported that MORIARITY's numbers business is approximately one third of what it previously was.
