of assassination is obviously a two-pronged subject, ours and 1 2 theirs. We spent countless hours over the years trying to determine the parameters of how far the Soviet service was 3 willing to go. This was partly a question of assessment, 4 5 this was partly a question, to put it just as bluntly, of self-protection. 6

7 I will try to summarize what I think are fair conclusions. In the field of political assassination, although I cannot 8 document this by evidence, I have no question but what the 9 Soviet service has, does, and will continue to use the tool of 10 assassination to accomplish political gains inside and outside 11 of the USSR. In the intelligence field, I think you have to 12 make was distinction, the distinction roughly -- and I'm over-13 simplifying this slightly -- but a distinction into perhaps 14 three classes. 15

One, their own ethnics or nationals. Secondly, indigenous 16 agents of third countries. And thirdly, the recognized official 17 staff officers of other intelligence services. 18

During the seven years that I spent in Ber in, which was 19 the longest continuous period that I was exposed in depth to 20 Soviet Executive Action, we lost a great many Russians, a great 21 many Germans, a certain number of Czechs, Poles and other 22 nationalities. 23

Mr. Schwarz. When you say you lost Russians, you mean 24 Russians who were working with the United States? 25

1	Mr. Schwarz. Anyway, it exists, as a combination.
2	Mr. Harvey. In other words, if you want to put it in just
3	these blunt terms, it would have been a lot easier for the KGB
4	to assassinate me in West Berlin than it would have been for
5	me to assassinate my opposite number in East Berlin, in the
6	Soviet Embassy across the border.
7	Mr. Schwarz. In describing the Soviets, you distinguish
8	between political assassination, direct agents of the United
9	States, and finally the emigres and foreign nationals.
10	Mr. Harvey. And also well, not foreign nationals, but
11	emigres and Soviet nationals.
12	Mr. Schwarz. That's what I meant. Soviet nationals.
13	Mr. Harvey. The most merciless, the field where they are
14	the most merciless are their own defected agents, of course.
15	Mr. Schwarz. Now, to your knowledge, has the United States
16	ever assassinated a defected agent or a third country?

20	Mr. Harvey. To my personal knowledge, no.
21	Mr. Schwarz. What about persons who are third country

10	Mr. Harvey. No, it does not.
11	Mr. Schwarz. Instead, it cites the obtaining of code
12	and cypher materially.
13	Mr. Harvey. Which, I would like to point out, was a
14	perfectly legitimate objective and was not in a sense, a cover
15	story except that if this project had gone so far as to the
16	actual recruitment of any agent for assassination or the target-
17	ting of any target or the mounting of any operation, it would

l	Mr. Schwarz. You mentioned QJWINN. Was QJWIN (an agent
. 2	who you did hold in reserve for possible use in connection
3	with the Executive Action program?
4	Mr. Harvey. No, QJWIN is an agent that I considered for
5	possible use and used for a limited period through Arnold Sinter
6	for the spotting of individuals with criminal and underworld
7	connections in Europe for possible multi-purpose use, none of
8	whom were ever advised of the use, none of whom, as far as I

10	Mr. Schwarz. But the multi-purpose use included as one

12	Mr. Harvey. Only the sense that had we ever been saddled
13	with a flat, if you will, command performance on assassination.
14	I might have considered the people spotted by WIN as possibil-
15	ities.
16	But, you see, before anybody that is ever spotted is
17	approached for any operation and particularly and please, I
18	don't mean to sound pedantic on this, I don't mean to is
19	actually approached, there is a long period of assessment,

21	mechanism never actually went that far, as far as I know.
22	I only know of one use made by QJWIN until we terminated
23	him some months later, I don't remember the exact date. It was
24	before I went to Rome. I know it was in connection with an
25	operation in the Congo that was not an assassination operation

9	assassination and assassination techniques. There was also a
10	discussion on a number of other things that were of particular
11	and specific interest to the communications intelligence field
12	and the clandestine service's responsibilities aspects, if you
13	will, and as best I can recall this conversation, this was a

Now, the material commencing on handwritten page 4 and commencing in the middle of page 3 of the Senator's 3 notes, reflects in your judgment the conversation that you had 4 with man Subar and it is his notes about that conversation, is 5 that right? 6 Mr. Harvey. That is my best guess. 7 It may also, however, include his own thinking and so forth. 8 I doubt if it includes -- it certainly would not include any 9 specific discussions, I don't think, with other officers, 10 because Arnoud Sulver was under specific instructions not to 11 discuss this as such with anybody else, at least without clearing 12 it with me first. 13 Mr. Schwarz.
