CONSOBINATION

On 1/20/59, Confidential Informant MM 639-S (134-6356) advised that Carmen Villamia, wife of Mario Villamia*, talked to Juanita Castro, sister of Fidel Castro, while recently in Havana. Carmen informed Juanita that MM 639-S was put out of Cuba by Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz. Juanita, who was a friend of informant, talked to Raul Castro concerning this. Raul was upset by Diaz' action; as informant was highly regarded by Raul.

CIA furnished a copy of the undated de-briefing memorandum of Olga Georgina Goicochei Salas (105-129981) who stated that she and her husband were eating in the Pekin Restaurant, Vedado, Cuba, in March, 1959, when Fidel Castro entered. It was then that she learned of Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo's interest in the revolutionary activities of other countries. She indicated that she asked Castro for weapons with which to aid the anti-Somoza guerrillas in Nicaragua. Castro instructed him to see Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz then Air Force Chief, and to take 800-odd weapons which Diaz Lanz had available. X

On June, 10, 11 and 12, 1959, Captain Francisco Rodriguez Y Tamayo, (105-78976) Cuban Army Captain, and his attorney cousin Francisco Maria Rodriguez Couceiro, stated that Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz was sympathetic with the anti-Castro movement and that they both knew that Diaz Lanz was in fear of his life. They stated that recently Diaz Lanz took leave from the Air Force, claiming to be sick with typhus. They believed that Diaz Lanz was suspected of sabotaging an airplane carrying Raul Castro which crashed in the Cuban marshes approximately three weeks before.

It was noted that leading collaborators who were secret members of the Crusade of Revolutionaries Against Communism (no date) included Diaz Lanz.

MM 635 advised on 6/16/59 that Major Juan Almeida, who fought with Fidel Castro in the Sierra Maestra, as of above date, was Acting Chief of the CAF in the absence of Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz, who went on sick leave recently. On 6/15/59, Diaz asked Almeida for his office back and he replied that Diaz would have to wait until the Cuban Army and Air Force were united under Castro. Diaz was anti-communist and pro-US. In the absence of Diaz, Almeida removed between forty and forty-three pilots and co-pilots from the Air Force. Diaz decided to stay with the Air Force thirty days more and then reaccept leadership only on the condition that he would not serve under Raul Castro. Air Force staff members loyal to Diaz planned an emergency escape from Cuba. Castro informed Diaz to get the Air Force ready for an attack on the Dominican

During the first part of July, 1959, Armando Carmelo Lopez Frega (97-3863) advised that several individuals were ordered back to Cuba for questioning. Lopez believed that this questioning was intended to determine the extent of sympathy toward Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz, former Chief of the FAR who fled from Cuba on 7/1/59, charging that the Castro Government and military forces were communist-influenced. Lopez stated that Jorge Merlo, former Chief of Maintenance of the fighter squadron of the FAR, was a friend of Pedro Diaz.

The following references in the file captioned "CP, CUBA", set forth information regarding the activities of Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz during the approximate period 6/26/59 to 8/23/59, in Cuba. Diaz Lanz was replaced as Air Force Commander because he was anti-communist. The "Sierra Maestra" newspaper criticized the US for inviting him to testify before one of its committees. He fled Cuba and came to the US and was thereafter condemned by the communists as a traitor.
