In reference to the verification of the birth of the subject as shown in the report of SA JAMES J. FILES dated December 26, 1957 at Chicago:

Investigator JOHN J. BURKE, Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), Chicago, advised that he concluded that SAMUEL GIANCANA was born at Chicago, Illinois on May 24, 1908, based on birth certificate 5915 and Baptismal records of Holy Guardian Angel Church. These records both reflect the birth of a son to the subject's parents on May 24, 1908. Even though there is a discrepancy in the names, BURKE believes this discrepancy arose from the fact that the birth certificate was filed by a midwife some time after the event.

The delayed certificate filed by the subject in 1957, also varies, but BURKE pointed out that a routine check of the Bureau of Vital Statistics records at Chicago would not have disclosed certificate 5919 and that undoubtedly subject's lawyer located this only after having submitted the affidavits supporting the delayed certificate. BURKE advised that INS has closed its deportation case on the strength of the above verification of birth.

Arrangements have been made to monitor the account of the subject at the Oak Park National Bank on a monthly basis.

Regarding information furnished by CG 5951-C in May, 1954, as was reported in re report under the caption T-9 on page 15, this informant was recontacted by SA ROBERT J. DENEEN on February 7, 1958. She advised that in using the word "syndicate" when discussing the positions of TONY ACCARDO, TONY CAPEZIO and SAM GIANCANA in May, 1954, she could have had in mind no more exact meaning than that which is in general use by the newspapers. That is simply that a smaller group of individuals seem to dominate vice in general in the Chicago area. The informant stated the use of the word "syndicate" was not meant to indicate that she could positively state that there is any formal organization.

with a chain of command or definite assignment of responsibility to each member. She stated that underworld characters now seldom use the term "syndicate". When referring to the undefined powers in vice in the Chicago area, they currently speak of "the outfit".
