Subject: Dallas Municipal Archives
Dallas. Attached below are the earlier minutes I found on the Dallas Municipal Archives Photographic Collection. We had gotten the price range from the Dallas Archives for them to do the copying. Then, we discussed with them having the National Archives copy the photo collection in Washington. The Dallas Archives agreed, but said that someone would have to accompany the negatives to DC. According to my last memo on 8/8/96, I recommended having the appropriate National Archives person talk to the Dallas Archives person about the Collection and if the National Archives was satisfied, then we should go forward with making the necessary arrangements. I was not part of discussions regarding the cost involved for the Archives to do the project or how long it would take. My 2/27/96 e-mail below indicates that you were going to talk to Steve Tilley about the Archives doing the work. My 8/8/96 memo below also dealt with other Dallas matters and the their status at that time. I'll talk to you soon.

Introduction
 This memorandum describes the status of matters related to the trip to Dallas we took in late April/early May and makes suggestions for action. Sixth Floor Museum Dallas Trip Action: You, Jack and I met with Sixth Floor Museum representative. The Museum agreed to send us an inventory of their holdings. Status: As you are aware, the Museum has not sent us an inventory of their holdings. Any further internal discussions with regard to the Museum is not really possible until the inventory is provided to us. Suggested Action: Request the list from the Museum again. In addition, we want to make arrangements to get a complete set of photos from the defunct Dallas Times Herald. These photos are controlled by the Sixth Floor Museum. Dallas Municipal Archives Dallas Trip Action: I met with Cindy Smolovik, the Dallas Municipal Archivist, (214) 670-5270, and reviewed the collection of Dallas Police Department photographs related to the assassination of President Kennedy. The originals are "retired" and in special storage. I reviewed the copy collection that an archival photographer put together. For many reasons, this collection is better than the collection of originals. For example, for some photographs there were no negatives, for some negatives there were no photographs and with some negatives the Dallas Police did not print all of the information. In addition, the original negatives have deteriorated and would not produce the best photographs. The Dallas Municipal Archives worked with the archival photographer to put together as complete a set of photographs as possible. Status: The City Secretary Robert Sloan agreed that we could have the Dallas Police Department photograph collection Record
