Subject: Report: groom radiant; bride tall, dark, and handsome
(AP, Mission Hills, KS). The bride's beautiful dog, bedecked in a lovely flower necklace, led the procession of well wishers at the Mission Hills wedding on Saturday of Laura Denk and Jon Tuttle. Escorted to a forward pew by an immacualtely-tuxed usher, the dog barked only once during the ceremony. The darkly tanned bride, Laura Denk (known to friends as "Laura"), did her "I do's" between vociferous coughs. (The coughs stopped abruptly when the ceremony ended. Hmmm.) There was singing, praying, reading, kissing, and clapping as the bride and groom were joined for life. At the reception following, the bride and groom were feted with rounds of toasts. Most percipient was the toast of Laura's brother Ryan, who offered but one piece of advice to his new brother-in-law: "DON'T LET THAT DOG DIE."
