Subject: Warren Commission Summaries
Chet, On the summaries that the Indiana contingent are working on, I am listed as the author of most of the entries. While I was final editor of the summaries, I did not write them, and it seems unfair to have me receive credit for their work. I know we cannot give individual credit to the authors, as they are not official staff members, but I was wondering if it were possible to remove the "author" line from the entries. I will still have final responsibility for the final content of the database anyway, and I would feel better if I didn't get credit for work I didn't do. Thanks.
