Worked with the meeting view, and worked on getting a top level form for that view that would function much like the RIF does. It would be the control center for the making of all the other forms needed for a meeting. First you would create the meeting form. then assign documents to that meeting. and so on. I am working on the macro that will do that, The red and other forms would be created as response docs to this main meeting control form. then they could all be printed out. I will see you in the morning for a brief time and then more on Wednesday. Lets set a time on Friday to invite the staff in to see whatever we have done.
