Subject: Garrison family records
My memory is slipping in old age, I guess, but Bill Davy told me yesterday that Lyon does not have all of his father's papers. His brother Everard (he's a lawyer in Seattle) has about three boxes, one of which is newscippings, one of which is the entire transcript from the motion to dismiss the perjury charge against Clay Shaw, and the last is a lot of handwritten notes by Garrison investigator William Gurvich, made before Gurvich defected.Davy said he found out about this because Lyon told him his brother had the stuff. Everard was willing to let Davy see what he had. If you talk to Lyon this week to make arrangements for next week I thought you'd want to know about this.
