Subject: R & A aids

To some of you, this is just a reminder, but it may be news to others. Up-to-the-minute versions of each of the sections of the Research and Analysis Handbook (i.e., the large black binder containing the chronology, the glossary of abbreviations, etc.) are available for you to read and print out (but not edit) in the wordperfect directory r:\aids. It has been some time since any of these sections were printed out and systematically distributed, so the hard copies in your black binder may not contain recently-entered information. If you find some or all of these sections particularly helpful, you may want to print those sections and insert them into your black-binder hard copy.
