Subject: Reading Room Materials
When we met last week re: the Public Reading Room materials, I told you that there was no rush to get the binders finished. That was true at the time. However, we have just received a Freedom of Information Act request from Joe Backes requesting information about everything that is available in our Reading Room. This means that we will need to get the material ready and into the Reading Room some time in the near future. No need to panic -- as long as everything is completely done (including the index that I am doing) and in the Reading Room by this Friday (Aug. 25), we should be okay. As far as I know, I will be here all week -- except tomorrow from 8:30 until 3:00 (I have to go to a FOIA Seminar) to answer any questions you may have.
