Subject: HSCA effort next week

Jeremy is interested in doing a push next week in order to actually get a batch of HSCA documents to the Board for its next meeting. In order to do this, his idea is to focus (next week) exclusively on privacy-restricted documents (since the Board has settled its position on privacy issues, these will be "green light" documents) which were HSCA generated and which involve no other-agency equities. Thus, we won't have to solicit input from anyone in advance of the next Board meeting, and the Board can just act on them. Jeremy said he intended to draft others (he referenced the FBI team, in particular) to work with me on this effort, and I (sorry) suggested you might be especially well-suited to help -- given your history with NARA and your solid relationships with Matt/Kris. He agreed and indicated he'd talk to you/Phil about it. In the event you do get the nod, I'd like to talk to you about how we might go about it. I've talked to Steve T. and Matt this afternoon and I think we'd be able to get into the vault Monday afternoon and Tuesday. In the meantime, Jeremy will be at Archives II with Steve on Monday working out longer-term details regarding getting some of the HSCA collection up here in our SCIF, etc. -- but I think we should assume that, for next week at least, we'll be working out of the vault. Thanks. Hope this isn't bad news.
