Subject: Medical/Forensic/Secret Service evidence

Because you are working on areas that necessarily overlap, it might be useful to consider the best ways to avoid unnecessarily duplication. Unless you have better ideas, I would suggest that Dennis and Tammi take principal responsibility for identifying all medical and forensic evidence respectively and then tracking the chain of custody of the evidence. Once it is determined that the Secret Service obtained custody, Joan will become responsible for tracking the evidence until, if ever, it leaves Secret Service custody. It will be helpful, I presume, for Dennis and Tammi to give Joan lists of what they have identified, showing when the evidence came into the possession of the Secret Service. If Joan should identify evidence that is not on the Dennis/Tammi lists, she should be sure to let them know. Let me know if you have a better idea for dividing up responsibilities.
