Subject: Supreme Court records
To memorialize our conversation this morning:Steve Tilley told me yesterday that Barbara Rust at NARA's Southwest Records Center is sending him photocopies of all the Federal Court cases that arose from the Garrison matter. Steve encountered a problem with the Supreme Court clerk's office (Mr. Plotkin) with the one and one-half boxes of briefs from a case Clay Shaw's attorney's filed on his behalf post mortem.According to Steve the Supreme Court sent the pleadings file from the case to NARA but will not send the briefs. Mr. Plotkin is refusing to copy or microfilm the briefs file at the Court and will not allow the boxes to go to NARA for them to copy/film them. Steve said that intervention by the Review Board is the only way to get the records, or copies, into the Collection.
