Subject: our true name
I've noticed your door sign and also heard you introduce yourself on the telephone today as calling from the "US Assassinations Review Board." There is no "U.S." in our name. I find that saying I'm calling from the John F. Kennedy Assassination Records Review in Washington, DC is the best way to introduce myself. I say it slowly enough to let the person understand what I'm saying. For subsequent conversations Tom's style is accurate and effective "I'm calling from the JFK Review Board in Washington."
