Subject: NARA and Security Classified Files record series
I've talked -- in chronological order -- to Matt, Kris and Steve about whether or not NARA wants to now refer this record series. All three believe that this step would be duplicative of our efforts and hence counterproductive. So they're not going to do it and are happy to have us handle them as we intend to. Reading between the lines, I would venture to say that the only reason Steve would even have considered conducting a referral at this late date would be simply so NARA could say they've done it. Upon reflection, Steve thought this an insufficient reason. This is not to say that Steve would not appreciate discretion on our part relative to our pointing out too often or too loudly that NARA should have accomplished the referral some time ago.
