Subject: Light Bulb

Body: I just had an idea. USMC has always denied any investigation after the assassination into Oswald's activities at Atsugi. On the other hand, I recall one of our first memos to Stewart Aly referred to recollections of USAF personnel who claimed to have flown such an investigating team to Japan. Here's the idea: Let's place an ad in the classified section of Navy Times soliciting input from any former USMC or USN personnel who participated in or have knowledge of such an investigation. (We might also consider Leatherneck, or any other USMC professional journals.) I realize this idea rests on the dubious assumption that marines can read, but . . .
