Subject: the latest news on the project is: The policy of the research room at NARA is NOT to reserve tables for researchers. The students should not have any trouble finding a place to work if they arrive around 11 AM. Each student will work out of his or her own box. The policy is that two or more people can NOT work out of the same box at the same time. When the students arrive at the research room, they will receive more instructions on how to handle documents from the people at the desk.
