Chet asked me to let people know that, as of this week (thanks to Chet and the student interns, otherwise known as "Christopher's Whiz Kids"), there is a new database entitled "HSCA-Cross Reference" available to anyone who wants to use it. The database reflects the results of a visual, document-by-document inspection of the public (NARA II) version of the HSCA Numbered Files record series, and lists all those records not currently present in the boxes at NARA II. It is essentially a check on the existing HSCA databases and, hopefully, more accurate. The database has fields for RIF #s, Agency File (folder) Numbers, Box Numbers and Reason/Agency (why the document is withdrawn). Chet is going to cross-reference this database against our Review Track Archive and Consent databases so as to mark those records we've already processed, leaving us a more accurate count of what remains to be cleared. Thanks again to Chet and Christopher, as well as David and Tracy who helped out with computer/password logistics yesterday.
