Graboske delivered two boxes of records to Tim Wray of the military team. Preliminary review by Barger and Rosen indicates that the records are from Marine units and are from the time period of the Cuban Missile Crisis of October 1962. There are briefing booklets on Cuban order of battle, Cuban government and military leaders and personnel, codes of conduct for US personnel when ashore in the Caribbean nations on shore leave, and other assorted records. The records are unclassified; it is not known at the present time whether they have ever been available to the public. A call to Graboske is planned for first thing Friday morning to determine this.
