Subject: Red Issue Documents

Body: I have reviewed the documents that are ripe for Board action. I'm not sure that I agree with the designation of the red issues. I take it that you want to signal to the Board that the Secret Service is likely to appeal not that there are novel issues here. I'm not sure that a review of the documents themselves will inform the Board in any significant way. I would be inclined to designate them as yellow issues. What do you think?
