Subject:	Who's Who
Body:	On your next trip to the Library of Congress, could you check some old Who's Who entries, aeronautical engineering directories, etc. for Clarence L "Kelly" Johnson and Ben R. Rich. These guys were both chief engineers at Lockheed and ran the Skunk Works . Johnson from the mid 40's to the mid 70's and Rich from the mid 70's to early 1990's. Johnson died circa 1990 and Rich circa 1994. They both won numerous aeronautical engineering awards for their work on the U-2 and other spy planes. Johnson was awarded a Presidential Medal of Freedom. I am looking for any information (like last known address, children, etc) that might help us find their widows Nancy Johnson and Hilda Rich. We are hoping to look through their personal papers.
