I will keep your comments on the complexities of locating relevantmilitary records in mind. I need some time to digest your remarks beforeresponding. In the meantime, however, I would like specific confirmation onwhether it is okay for me to circulate your letter. (An e-mail reply wouldbe fine.) I assume that the letter is technically "open in full," but since I aminterested in communicating with the staff informally as well as formally,I want to ask - just in case you did not expect some of the informationthat letter to be circulated at this time. In addition to your general comments on finding military records,which will be of interest to various colleagues, I know several people whowill be pleased to hear that you have located and interviewed Edward Coyle,and who would hope to see some of the results of that work as soon aspossible.Thanks again,Paul L. Hoch
