-----For those that missed the CBS special "Cronkite Remembers" that aired opposite the Super Bowl last night, perhaps the strongest comments made by the "most trusted man in America" concerned the JFK assassination. In essence, Cronkite said that there was no assassination conspiracy and those that write about conspiracy theories are essential perpetrating a fraud on the American public. He explained that CBS News, back when it was an excellent news organization (my comment, not his), had spent $1 million on an investigation to prove the Warren Commission report was wrong. He said that the final resolution supported the Commission report. CBS is offering transcripts of the show if any of you are interested. On a completely unrelated note, Doug should be interested in Cronk's comments on the space program.
