As I just told Brian over the phone, I will be in Washington for 48 hrs. or so next week: probably from late afternoon Tuesday through sometime Thursday morning. I was intending to see if any of you would be interested in either lunch on Wednesday or a happy hour beer/whatever on either Tuesday or Wednesday. I'm juggling a couple other things as well, but let me know if anyone's interested and I will make it a priority. Not to worry if spouses, canine companions and other obligations prevent participation in any kind of semi-official get together: pursuant to an HSCA-related phone conversation with Brian, I will definitely be stopping in the office on Wednesday so I'm sure to see you all no matter what. It will be very good to see all of you, however briefly!
