Subject: FYI only

First, as you no doubt realize, my earlier e-mails can be ignored, having been superceded by our phone conversation of earlier today. Second, for what it's worth, I don't believe I received any direct deposit money in my DC account today. So that probably means (though I'll check again later and let you know if there's a change in status) you'll be getting an actual check for me at the office next week. Which is fine... Carolyn has agreed to continue feeding me at least 'til then!Thanks again.
