Subject: long distance phone call
Yesterday, I unthinkingly made a personal long-distance phone call without charging it to my personal calling card. The number I called is (804) 924-8959. I'm pretty sure that I put on my own calling card the other calls I've made in recent days to "(804) 924-" numbers (UVA Law School in Charlottesville), but if more than one call to such numbers appear on the statement, then in all likelihood they are all my calls. Sorry for the slip-up. I assume the procedure is just to wait for the monthly bill and reimburse the agency when it arrives, but let me know if there's anything else I should do.
