Subject: JZ statistics

This is a confidential matter. Please do not discuss it with anyone else. In some of my discussions with Joan, she has suggested that she reviewed on Review Track a significant number of FBI documents. I had been under the impression, through my conversations with Phil and David, that Joan had strongly resisted reviewing documents and that she had in fact done very few. I would like to be fair to Joan and make sure, as best I can, what work she is actually performing. Do you have a way of determining answers to the following: 1. how many FBI documents total Joan reviewed on Review Track 2. the time period during which she reviewed the documents (e.g., as a hypothetical, "Joan reviewed 95 FBI documents in May 1995, 110 in June 1995, etc.") 3. during the time period for which Joan reviewed documents, how many did Phil review during the same period (e.g., as a hypothetical: "Joan is recorded as having reviewed documents between March and September 1995. During that period she reviewed 634 and Phil reviewed 812.") 4. can you think of any other ways that we can obtain accurate statistical information about the quantity of Joan's work from the computer?
