HEEEEEEEELLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLLOOOOOOOOOOOOOO!!! difrisco baby!! How's it going? What's new in Washington? All is well here in the frozen north, although I've been spending far too much time in the Garbrecht Law Library! Thanks for the e-mail. It's good to hear from you, and equally good to hear that they've placed a competent fact-finder within the melee of the JFK assassination investigation. I finally have faith in our government! As I'm sure you've deduced, I'm having a great time back here in the Pine Tree State. Besides studying, I manage to find time for mountain biking, hunting, running, and of course.... drinking. Portland actually has quite a night life, and some of these law students are pretty rowdy, so I've managed to make it out a couple nights a week for some drinks. Additionally, many of my former high school classmates manage to find their respective ways to my apartment while they're home. This, too, makes for further rowdiness. So, my life really hasn't changed all that much, despite a little more studying and a lot more Maine! Well, this is the story of my yet brief law school career. Write when you get the chance and fill me in on any further details of Washington life. Tell Tim et. al. that I said hello. Take it easy, and party hard at homecoming for me! Hugs and kisses, Mike.
