Subject: dialing in

Kermit will need to use his laptop and have access to a dialout line, Tracy if he could use the phone line plugged into your computer for his laptop that would be great, A second poss. is to use the phone line in Eileens office for her fax machine. I will work to have a new phone line installed at kermits desk for the next Board meeting. We dismantled our internal mail system and opted for the University system. If he uses his notebook computer it should already have the two available numbers on it, but I will provide the information again below. Windows 95 installation Control Panel/Network - make sure dial-up adapter is installed Control Panel/Network - make sure tcp/ip for dial-up adapter is installed Dial-up networking - make sure this is installed and configured with either or both of these numbers: 614-722-9800 30 minute line 614-722-9900 6 hour line Again, this information has already been installed and configured on Dean Hall's notebook. Obviously he will need Eudora to access his email, which is also installed and configured. And he can also use FTP to access his data files on our Novell network. The address for our server is hums1.cohums.ohio-state.edu. When prompted for a name and password, he uses his network login name and password. The program puts him right in his home directory \users\admin\kermith\ and from there he can access word processing documents, etc. This of course is available after making the connection to the university. Please feel free to call or email me directly with any problems. Sincerely, Michael J.
