Subject: Sixth Floor

I have been thinking about our "friends" at the Sixth Floor Museum since our call yesterday. I note the following:1. It took them a long time to send us an inventory.2. The inventory appears to be incomplete.3. After I made initial contact with Parkland hospital, they squeezed their way in and, apparently, obtained materials that had been tentatively promised to us.4. I have no confidence that they are a legitimate archive making records fully available to the public -- note the difficulty we have had even learning we they possess.5. We have attempted to be helpful to them but have received no reciprocal help.6. As I recall, from your earlier meeting with them (last year?) Marion Ann Montgomery stated that I (Jeremy) had called people and threatened them -- when I had in fact never spoken at all with the person or persons she mentioned.7. Our mandate is to make assassination records available to the public.8. We have a very favorable decision from the Fifth Circuit, which includes Texas. The Chambers of Judge Higgenbotham, who was on our panel, is in the Federal Courthouse in Dallas.Because they have not shown themselves to be helpful and because they have apparently interefered with our legitimate work, I think we should now pursue the Sixth Floor vigorously. I Steps: First, await their sending the revised inventory.Second, -- if it is not sent within a reasonable time (I leave this to your judgment), I think we should subpoena: (a) complete inventories, (b) all medical and autopsy records of Tippett, Oswald, Ruby, and JFK (if any), (c) schedule their deposition -- if the inventory is sent, we should examine it with care to determine whether it appears to be complete.Third, after obtaining the inventory, consider whether we should subpoena other materials.Your thoughts?
