Subject: Status of LBJ Library Document Review
As of this date, 50 documents appear to be "open in full." The "open in full" pile is in a separate container (a box lid). Large piles await further review by State, NSC and OSD. I know for a fact that Hugh Woodward (State) is coming back next Wednesday to attack the remaining pile of LBJ for DOS, and Ralph Novak from OSD (who has the biggest pile of LBJ to review) said he would return next week also, to attack the LBJ OSD backlog. (As you know, Ralph could only attend for one half-day session, due to conflicting prioritites, but I am confident he will come over next week and catch up, since he did that once before). I left a voice mail with Lisa Salvetti, inviting her to come over when she can and attack the NSC backlog. Thank you for your outstanding and professional preparation prior to this session; the accuracy of perceived equities you identified on the worksheets materially assisted our sorting and distribution, and as a result the speed with which the documents moved during the session. Thanks also for your assistance in keeping the documents sorted and moving during the review session.
