Subject: Additional Information Regarding Potential White Holdings
An anonymous person called the JFK Library last week, and advised Frank Rigg, of the JFK Library staff that White had dictabelt recordings of President Kennedy's telephone conversations (the description is a virtual match of what we have on the cassette tapes, so the source has good information), in addition to other materials. Perhaps most important of what the caller claimed was the following: Among the textual materials is a file on the Dallas trip containing seating plans for the various events and motorcade arrangements for the various locations. One of these documents bears a handwritten reference to a "bubble top." This description appears to match what we have heard from other sources and is obviously very important to us. The caller made other claims that we can talk about at some point, but I was very interested in the additional information provided above.
