Subject: Redaction corrections at IP

I think you are right. As the number of documents and the number of new reviewers have grown, so too have the number, variety, and complexity of corrections to the monthly stacks of documents at IP. This is really your department and I don't have the several hours needed to work on them each time I go out there. I looked at 30-40 documents from the January stack yesterday. I'll tell Bonnie to hold future corrections until you visit IP. You probably will have to go out there every other week since even one document holds up a shipment. Bonnie already has a two inch stack of corrections from the February documents and more are added by the reviewers every day.
