Subject: Rockefeller Commission Papers at the Library of Congress

I reviewed the index to Rockefeller Commission papers at the Library of Congress. The index discloses, on its face, that there are materials relating to the Kennedy assassination. There are other materials listed which may or may not be assassination related (for example, listing of transcripts or interviews). The Library of Congress finding aid states that , with the exception of one file series, the materials duplicate the materials at the Ford Library. Nonetheless, it would seem to be ideal if some of the assassination-related Rockefeller Commission materials at the Library of Congress could be opened for the public. We should get together to determine how we should address these records, which have mostly CIA equities.
