Subject: Un-Conference Call

Because Henry and I were the only two available for the call today, we merely exchanged a few war stories and disbanded. We considered establishing several new policies, but our natural timidity overcame us. I will give you a few short updates that I would have made:1. PFIAB. I prepared a several-page response to the Rudman letter, and sent a draft of it to Bill Leary. He was going to attempt to use it to see if he could get PFIAB to move. Both he and Steve Garfinkel see no reason why PFIAB should not comply. I have not heard back from Bill.2. NBC/Sheridan. In the status conference yesterday, Judge Jackson said he wanted the parties to work matters out. He seemed impatient with the case, although it has taken only about 15 minutes of court time.3. Connick. As you know, we finally won the Connick case. Connick has agreed to turn the records over to us. I have spoken with Camille Buras in his office and we are working out a time for the transfer within the next two weeks.4. Burton. As far as we know, the meeting with Burton is still on.5. Schiller. DOJ has still not issued the Schiller subpoena. However, Gary Grindler, with whom Kim and I met has apparently reversed the decision of the Federal Programs Branch and agreed to issue it. I was asked to supply some additional information this morning. The AG needs to sign off on the subpoena.6. USSS appeal. We have submitted our response to the Secret Service's appeal. By arrangement, we gave the USSS our draft which, I believe, completely undercuts the USSS position. We have not heard back from the USSS. If they decided to continue with the appeal, we will submit the final drafts.7. NARA has been extremely remiss in not responding to our requests for updates on the ballistics testing and the Manchester notes. I have now left four messages in the last three weeks.
