Subject: Final Report - JFKL

I am attaching a draft copy of my section in Chapt. 6 that addresses the Manchester business. I don't know whether we need to duplicate the effort or not, but since it was in the Chapt. 6 outline, I just followed my orders. I have a few other comments and ideas for your section as well Oral histories - at the end of your write up, I wonder about inserting: "In many cases the Library did not send the entire oral history to the JFK Collection, even if it was open in full at the Library. The Library did send the portions of the histories that discussed the assassination or were relevant to the assassination. The Kennedy Library also released the Teddy White Camelot papers which contained the notes of his interview of Jacqueline Kennedy for his article for LIFE magazine. (Need to check date) Evelyn Lincoln papers, although the JFK Library sent certain of Evelyn Lincoln's records to the Collection, it initially selected only those items which made direct references to the assassination. Upon further review of these materials, the Review Board also designated all log books, daily diaries and appointment books as assassination records. These were then sent to the collection.
