Subject: Re: Authorization to talk to agency personnel
It seems to me that in the case of former agency personnel, it would be preferable in all cases to deal directly -- without agency intervention. There is no obligation for us to inform a former employer if the former employee has no problem in dealing directly with us. In cases where an individual requests a go-ahead or a release from their former agency, we should arrange it. For current employees, we will need to go through the agencies.
