We have two desserts, two people bringing chips/crackers, drinks, a pasta salad, and plastic utensils/cups. We have four people who've volunteered to drive, though one has expressed serious reservations about his/her vehicle, so we might be able to use one more volunteer. For those who have not yet agreed to bring anything, we need entreë's or food of substance. Or, we could just decide to make this a light snacking party and not have dinner, so to speak. At any rate, that's the latest stuff, dudes.
