Subject: Re: federal directories, manuals

Body: I have spoken to Tracy about this. All of the Government directories (there are about three different types published) are available at the GPO Store. When I mentioned this to her she said they(GPO, I assume) were in the process of updating their version. Anyway, I feel as strongly as you that we should have a few of these available around the office. Maybe your E-Mail will get a better response than my nagging
