Subject: Re: Federal Agency Record Tracking Chart

Thank you. I found it just where you said it would be!!

Tom's correspondence files (by Eileen's desk) should contain the master copies of all correspondence from the public. When I created the A&R Federal Agency Record Tracking Chart, I copied certain letters from those files to help A&R follow up on leads. So, the filing cabinet by my desk should have letters from the public as they are referenced in the chart, but it probably won't have the enclosures that came with the letter. Hope this answers your question.

Laura - I pulled the files I needed from you cabinet to begin investigations on some of the 'local' sources of assassination records mentioned by researchers who've written with recommendations. Paul Hoch's November 28, 1994 letter mentions an enclosure of an old Dallas Times Herald newspaper article, but the article is not in the file. Would enclosures have been separated at some point in the filing system? Do either of you know where I should look for it? thanks.....
