Subject: Re: Gum Shoe Issue 43 - Autopsy Photos, X-Rays, Autopsy Material

The first thing that comes to mind is David Lifton's book, The Best Evidence.(I have a copy of it out of Eric's library. I'll bring it in tomorrow for you). He has tracked down and analyzed as much as anyone else on the autopsy materials. I would add that Burke Marshall dismissed him in rather short order by Lifton's account. The other place to look before calling Burke Marshall is the Secret Service Official Case File at College Park, which contains original material regarding doctors' reports, receipts, and diagrams. There is additional Secret Service material in their HSCA collection, which is currently being reviewed --and not yet transferred to the Archives--by Latita Roseboro (Secret Service FOIA person). We have some of the identification forms describing autopsy material in the FBI mobile unit office. There will be additional material from the Secret Service on their contacts with Dallas doctors in the months to come, I hope. But it's not worth waiting for right now.To: Phil Golrick/ARRB, Joan Zimmerman/ARRB, Dennis Quinn/ARRBcc: Jeremy Gunn/ARRB, David Maxwell/ARRB From: Anne Buttimer/ARRB Date: 07/20/95 10:47:35 AMSubject: Gum Shoe Issue 43 - Autopsy Photos, X-Rays, Autopsy MaterialFor Joan and Dennis, I've left a printout of this issue on your desk.Joan/Phil - May I have your suggestions for obtaining the Secret Service records?Dennis - May I have your suggestions for obtaining the US Navy Medical Corps records?
