David: Many thanks for that most informative update on a variety of topics. I look forward to learning more during your briefing at the meeting, and I'm looking forward generally to the meeting! Did you find my comments on Anna's odd message at all helpful?BillTo: JRTUNHEIM <JRTUNHEIM@AOL.COM>, Text/PlainContent-Transfer-Encoding: quoted-printableI wanted to get this to you by the end of the week. I will prepare and send a draft meeting agenda on Monday after the staff's pre-meeting meeting.1. AppealsA.

CIAThe CIA would like to meet with the Board on Tuesday at 11:00 AM to provide information on two issues that were involved in documents from the last meeting.B. FBIThe FBI informed us earlier in the week that they intend to proceed with their appeal (an earlier draft of which you have read). We met with FBI representatives today to give them some examples of where information that they are seeking to postpone has already been released. I believe that they were surprised by some of it. They will meet with Shapiro who will make the final decision about whether to proceed with the appeal.White House CounselJeremy and I met with Marvin Krislov's replacement, Steve Neuwirth and got the familiar message that it would be terrific if the Board and the FBI could work things out. Although Neuwirth was somewhat distracted, I got the impression that he would be good person to work with. C. Secret ServiceThe Secret Service announced that they are inclined to appeal several records from the last meeting on two grounds. We have sent them some already released Secret Service materials that should discourage them from appealing some of the records, but it is possible that they will appeal some documents, primarily on privacy grounds. Joan has been active in preparing materials for a possible response to an appeal.2. TeamsA. CIA TeamMary has been involved in lengthy and detailed discussions with CIA's Historical Review Group on specific Board decisions from the last meeting. CIA team as a whole has been rereviewing records from the last meeting, as well as those prepared for the last meeting but not yet voted on by the Board, to bring all of these records into conformity with the most recent Board guidelines. CIA team has now begun to review the last part of the Oswald file for Record
