 David, thanks for the message. I assume that if tourists pay for the deluxe version they can be shipped to Bethesda and watch while their brains are removed. The Groden deposition is scheduled to be resumed in Dallas next week. I hope to see you in LA next month. Best, Jeremy

 Jeremy: Maybe you already knew about this, but on the off chance you did not, I'm forwarding this item, just emailed to me. I gather that this is Groden's new source of income in Dallas. David----- Forwarded Message -----

 Dear Group, This was faxed to me from Dallas: Friday, August 9, 1996 Dallas Morning News by Steve Blow HISTORICAL RE-ENACTMENT IS NO JOY RIDE The tour guide opened the rear door of the convertible limousine and said, "I would suggest the presidential seat...." I settled into the right rear seat and felt a little shiver. Images of a smiling president in that spot came to mind. And, of course, the Zapruder film. I don't know. You make the call. Is this historical re-enactment? Or creepy commercialism? Yes, you can now ride through Dealey Plaza in a Lincoln Continental limousine just like the one carrying President John F. Kennedy on that fateful day. The $25 tour is the brainchild of Dallas native Paul Crute. He's the one who found the replica '62 limosine--authentic from the fluttering flags on the front fenders to the step for Secret Service agents on the rear bumper. STARTING THE TOUR Mr. Crute was at the wheel as we left downtown to begin my tour. In the front passenger seat was famed assassination researcher Robert Groden. He has moved to Dallas to act as technical and historical adviser to the tour. "We'll go straight to Love Field, where the narrated portion of the tour begins," Mr. Crute said. Sitting back there in that open-air limo, I felt a mixture of embarrassment and fascination -- and an acute awareness of just how vulnerable the president was that November noon. Everywhere we went, people turned and stared. Some pointed. Some smiled. Some just looked dumbfounded. A man in a Toyota rolled down his window and yelled, "Hey, is that THE car." "No, Record
