PMSubject: VanHoesen Interview ArrangedI just spoke with John VanHoesen (he pronounces his name "Van Heusen") and he says that traffic around Cobb Island is a nightmare on Fridays, and would be very bad for us.
He highly recommended Wednesday, September 25, so I accepted.Our goal is to arrive at his house at Cobb Island at about 11:00 A. M. next Wednesday. He said that he did receive our earlier mailing.Directions follow:Exit Beltway going south at route 5;get on route 301;follow 301 south, until we turn onto route 257 (last left turn before the Potomac);go about 11 miles on route 257;turn right onto route 254;go about 1.5 miles;go across a bridge;he lives at 17551 Oriole Drive--his house has a flagpole and a wheel chair ramp out front.He says that for a person accustomed to the drive it takes about 1.5 hours...for newcomers, maybe 2 hours. END
