Subject: Re: Postal Service Compliance

Yes, I think we should have a military follow-up. There is a possibility that some of this material we are discussing is still classified and I urge everyone to be particularly careful.

In terms of locating additional records (and in addition to sorting out the status of previously requested accessions, which Sheila Allen and Joe have been discussing), Joe recently wrote a memo raising the possibility of a mail cover on Oswald when he was in the Marines, and therefore the possibility that postal or military records might document such a mail cover. Joe's memo, as I recall, has been disseminated (at least electronically) to Jeremy and me. Joe, it might be a good idea to give Ron a copy as well. Jeremy, do you think it makes sense for the military team to try to follow up for any Marine or ONI records that might be on point?
