Subject: Re: Library books

Body: Eric, the next time you're at LOC, could you check to see if Paul Tibbetts ever published an autobiography? He piloted the Enola Gay over Hiroshima; more importantly, for our purposes at least, he was one of the regular duty officers in the Pentagon's National Military Command Center around the time of the assassination. (His signature is on some of the cables coming out of the Joint Staff in the wake of JFK's murder.) If he's ever written his autobiography, I'd be curious to see what he says about the assassination.
