Subject: Re:

I got a copy of Anna's fax and was as mystified as you. It appears as though she does not understand the issue. She clearly missed the point about Congressional input. We could discuss this during the conference call, but it might be less threatening to Anna if you were to call her and set her straight in a less public forum. Her comment that we did not discuss this enough is odd. She should be referred to Jeremy's testimony at the Hearing in which he laid out the consequences of a taking and indicated that it would not require a particularized appropriation from Congress. I had a small argument with Anna about the whole appropriation question. I cautioned her not to see an expenditure out of the takings fund as somehow not costing the taxpayers any money. And I said that when the fund is empty, Congress would have to fill it up again.

We are just giving the Congress an opportunity to take action if they so wish! This again is rather amazing. Should I try to talk with her? Send me a reply at Judge.John.Tunheim@usdcmn.org Thanks.
